MARKETS OF THE WORLD

HEAVINESS SETTLES DOWN ON WALL STREET

Few of Leaders Yield More Than Fractionally, but Dullness Following Coalers Decline Indicates Uncertainty.

CANADIAN PACIFIC ADVANCES 3 POINTS

Specialties and Some Obscure Issues Are Up Point, While American Tobacco Is Off Almost Three.

NEW YORK, Monday, Aug. 19.—Further unexplained selling of Reading and Lehigh Valley, which later spread moderately to other stocks, turned the course of today's market from mere irregularity to heaviness. Few of the leaders yielded more than fractionally, but the dullness that followed declines in coalers indicated a degree of uncertainty.

Canadian Pacific, which was heavy in the final days of last week, rose 3 points, with a 2-point advance in Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie.

Specialties and some obscure issues, including American Can, Bethlehem Steel, Texas Company and Distillers were up a point and American Tobacco was off almost 3.

Bonds were irregular.

On better support coaler stocks regained some of their forenoon loss, while other active stocks also made full recovery. A 10-point decline in General Chemical was recorded.

Trading became duller in the latter part of the session, with prices showing little change from the midday recovery, except Reading, which again eased off.

The market closed irregular. Extensive buying of Steel enlivened the last hour with improvemnt in other stocks. Large offerings soon checked the rise, however, with general recessions from the top.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Monday, Aug. 19.—Wet weather was a factor in strengthening wheat today. Opening figures were ⅛c lower to ¼c higher and the firmness held through the early trading. December started at 93⅛@93¼c unchanged to ⅛c lower, touched 93⅜c and rested at 93c½.

The market fell off later, increasing offerings and weakness of corn being factors. The close was steady, at nearly the low level. September finished ¾@⅞c lower at 92⅝@½c, the low point, after touching 93½c.

High temperatures, rain and liberal crop offerings of corn started that cereal unchanged to ⅝c lower. December opened unchanged to ¼c off at 54c to 53¾c and for a time kept within the opening figures.

Buying demand continued slow and speculative selling helped bear down on prices. The close was steady and near the bottom. December closed ¾c lower at 53¼c, the bottom price.

Good commission buying gave oats an upturn in the initial trading, the start being from unchanged to ¼c higher. The list weakened later with corn and some selling pressure. December started unchanged to ¼c higher at 32⅞@33⅛c and quietd at 32⅝c.

Little demand was observed for provisions and trading was moderate in volume. The list started from 10c off to 2½c higher. October products were at $18.15@18.17½, 7½c to 10c down for pork; lard, $11.07½, 7½c off and ribs $10.95, 5c lower.

IRON MARKET AGAIN STRONG AND ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Monday, Aug. 19.—Activity and strength again were the main features in the iron industry last week. Railroad car orders were disappointing, but it is said that orders for 3,000 additional cars were placed in the Central West, making a total of 12,000 bought since August 1. Later rail orders placed for this year's shipments aggregated more than 30,000 tons.

The Canadian Northern ordered four locomotives from Montreal shops and is negotiating for eighty more.

There was a revival in steel building contracts last week and the railroads placed more orders for steel bridges.

The principal local building contract was for a twenty-story office building, requiring 5,000 tons of steel shapes. It is estimated that the Equitable Building will require about 35,000 tons of steel.

Some large contracts for steel bars were placed by automobile manufacturers and shipyards, aggregating 15,000 tons for this year's delivery.

PRUNES ARE MOVING IN WALLA WALLA VALLEY

WALLA WALLA, Monday, Aug. 19.—Prunes are on the market in shipping quantities and from now until they are all out of the way they will occupy the center of the fruit stage in this section.

Early pears and peaches are coming on in good quantities, but the prices are far from satisfactory. About fifteen or twenty cars of summer apples were shipped during the week. Plums are appearing and crabapples are in abundance.

"Have you been away for your summer vacation?"

"No," replied Mr. Growcher. "My observation is that when a small town hasn't any commercial prospects or natural advantages they make a summer resort of it."

JAPANESE STRAWBERRY FARMERS TO ORGANIZE

Complete Change in Methods of Aliens Who Control Industry on Vashon Island Result of Bad Season.

J. P. POWLES CHOSEN AS ASSOCIATION MANAGER

Orientals Hereafter Will Follow Up-to-Date Rules in Planting, Cultivating and Marketing Fruit.

Complete reorganization of the strawberry industry of Vashon Island will be completed next Wednesday, when the Berry Growers Union of Vashon Island will be formed and articles of incorporation filed. The forty-five Japanese producers on the island, who suffered disaster the past season, due to unseasonable rains and poor management, will undertake to recoup their losses next year, adopting modern methods of finance and management, and better standards of cultivation and production.

The new organization, a result of the work of several prominent Seattle Japanese business men, will be an exclusively Japanese organization, although J. B. Powles, a well known Seattle commission merchant, will be its manager. Under Powles' direction, a superintendent will be employed who will direct the work of planting and cultivation this winter and will superintend the picking, packing and marketing next Japanese Have Control.

The Japanese heretofore have controlled 80 per cent of the island strawberry production. The hard luck they suffered the past season has forced them into the new organization and the plan is to pool the product of the berry gardens and market them next year through Seattle commission houses.

Powles said today that, whereas last year and the year before the island growers received from 80 cents to $1.06 a crate, with even better results in 1909, the average net return last season was only 40 cents a crate. He also said that the white berry growers would be invited to form an association and cooperate with the new organization.

A new variety of berry, especially suited to this climate, has been discovered by Powles and will be planted on Vashon Island. The berry bears the name "Klondike" and keeps longer and is finer looking than any of the old varieties.
