

"The Electric Company"

Why Car Fares Light and Power Are Cheap

Our hydro-electrical development has been so great that the products of that development have become cheap.

The water has been harnessed. The initial expenditure was great, but the cost of operation has been reduced to the minimum. The result is that Seattle is a city of cheap power, so cheap that, before people realize it, electric current will be serving every domestic and industrial need for energy, light and heat.

That Seattle is a city of cheap power, brilliantly lighted, has unsurpassed car service, and is destined in the near future to make electricity its house servant, is directly due to the development of great water powers by this company.

GOVERNMENT PLEDGES AID IN REBUILDING OF HIGHWAY TO RAINIER

Forestry Department Assures Representative of Seattle-Tacoma Committee That $12,700 Will Be Expended.

HARD SURFACE ROAD TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Pierce County to Give as Much or More Than Amount Donated by Uncle Sam to Keep Great National Park Open.

that of no other in the United States. Chief Forester Graves, after hearing the arguments of the representative of the Seattle-Tacoma committee, which is composed of representative business men, announced that the $12,700 balance now in the fund derived from the sale of timber cut in the Rainier National Forest Reserve would be spent in building a hard-surfaced road from the western limits of the forest reserve to the western boundary of the park. The distance between these points is three and one-quarter miles and the present highway is impassable for any type of vehicle so deep is the mud.
Pierce County to Aid.
With the announcement that the forestry service will contribute $12,700, comes the assurance of another $12,700 and possibly more from Pierce County for the same project. The amount of $25,400. The money probably will be turned over to the superintendent of the Rainier National Park, who will direct its expenditure.
The forestry service money will be forthcoming just as soon as title is obtained to the three and one-quarter mile stretch of road. The road to the entrance to the park is in such a state of disrepair that it is impossible to land and the signature of only one more settler is needed. The government demands a sixty-foot right-of-way and will be ready to disburse the money as soon as the property is deeded to the county or to the federal government.
The members of the Seattle-Tacoma Rainier National Park committee are highly elated over the decision of the chief forester and the work of obtaining title to the right-of-way for the road will be undertaken at once so that the construction can be completed before the tourist season opens.
But for the assistance of the forestry service the park necessarily would have been kept closed this year.

Road Set of Mud.
The three and one-quarter miles of highway between the park and forest reserve boundaries has been transformed into a sea of mud underlain by deep layers of heavy timber during the fall and winter months. No vehicle can now pass over it and the road will have to be rebuilt.
The business interests of Pierce County have agreed to contribute a sum equal to that appropriated by the government and possibly more to the construction of the road. It is practically certain that a hard-surfaced highway will be built.
Favorable action by the forestry service resulted from the efforts of the Seattle-Tacoma committee. When Mr. Lancaster to the national capital to fight for recognition for the Rainier National Park. He advised Chief Forester Graves of the absolute necessity of immediate assistance and won his point.
He then enlisted the support of the Washington delegation in Congress, which resulted in the introduction in the Senate last Saturday of an amendment to the national park bill appropriating $12,700 for the construction and extension of roads and trails in the Rainier National Park.

Quickly Disperses Stomach Distress

Whatever the Trouble, it Disappears in Five Minutes After Taking a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

All of the unpleasant sensations attendant upon eating too heartily are almost instantly relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

Heaviness of the Stomach from Undigested Food Quickly Relieved by a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet.

When you take food into a stomach that is tired and over-taxed, the gastric juices do not form fast enough to digest it properly. So the food becomes sour and at once begins to throw off gases. Your stomach becomes inflated just as surely as if you attached a toy balloon to a gas jet. Then the gases and foul odors issue forth and pollute your breath. Your tongue quickly becomes coated and you can taste the foulness that is within you.

Now all this condition is changed almost instantly by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. This little digester gets busy at once—supplies all the digestive elements that were lacking—digests the food in a jiffy and sweetens and refreshes the mucous lining of the stomach and bowels and restores peace and content. One grain of a single ingredient in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet will digest 3,000 grains of food. This saves your stomach and gives it the rest it needs. All muscles require occasional rest if they are ever over-taxed. The stomach is no exception to this rule. Try a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and you will wonder how you ever got along without them. They are sold at 50 cents by all druggists everywhere.

POSTMASTER DISCUSSES PARCEL POST RULES

A new ruling by the postoffice department whereby printed matter of certain kinds may be transmitted by parcel post under the same rates as foodstuffs and other materials was announced today by Postmaster George P. Russell at the postoffice at Seattle. The ruling, which is effective immediately, straightens out many misconceptions that might have existed concerning it. The widening of the parcel post to include printed matter was made known to the local postoffice officials through the receipt of an order from James J. Brit, third assistant postmaster-general at Washington, D. C., this morning. Under the new ruling catalogues, letters and billheads, order forms, check books and many other business forms may be sent by the cheaper rates of the government service.

The new ruling, as announced by Postmaster Russell, will be made still broader by the postoffice department at a later date, to embrace second and third class matter, including newspapers and periodicals. Because of the great growth of the parcel post at Seattle, the present temporary equipment is being broadened and new methods are under consideration for handling the business. Substitutes are being employed to aid the regular carriers in handling the largest packages, while the existing parcels are being delivered to the carriers with the ordinary mail. Packages, both outgoing and incoming, at the postoffice, have run at different times as high as $900 a day; although the average, according to Postmaster Russell, is $300.

Much misunderstanding, according to Postmaster Russell, exists among farmers concerning the ruling which permits seeds, cuttings and plants to travel by parcel post. All plants susceptible of propagation, according to the regulation, are sent at a special rate, regardless of distance. This rate is 1 cent for two ounces, the zones having nothing to do with it. Dried plants, or the man discovered dead yesterday morning behind a saloon here was positively identified yesterday afternoon as Otis Shelly, a farmer living at Thomas. A post-mortem examination by Dr. E. H. Bradley last night showed that Shelly had died of an epileptic fit.

DEAD MAN IDENTIFIED

DESCHANEL GOES INTO PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST

PARIS, Wednesday, Jan. 15.—Paul Deschanel, who was yesterday re-elected president of the chamber of deputies, has declared himself last night as a candidate for the presidency of the republic. The other candidates who have been announced so far are Premier Raymond Poincaré and former Premier Felix Ribot, while Jules Pams, minister of agriculture, Antonin Duboud, who was re-elected yesterday president of the senate; Jean Dupuy, minister of public works and Theophile Del Caesse, minister of marine, unofficially are in the running.

There is some talk now that Leon Bourgeois may be induced to stand at the last moment as a compromise candidate, if only to serve for several months, until the European crisis is ended.

As if seeking to answer the criticism who have been accusing him of reactionary tendencies, M. Deschanel in his inaugural address, in which he lauded the achievements of the parliament in the last three years, urged Frenchmen to go on improving the parliamentary system. He declared that the republic was not a thing to be destroyed, but a thing to be improved. He said that the republic was not a thing to be destroyed, but a thing to be improved. He said that the republic was not a thing to be destroyed, but a thing to be improved.

A tumult broke out in the chamber, but M. Deschanel raised his voice above the din, saying: "Yes, it has cost us too dearly ever to tempt us to begin over again."

Great applause followed the remark. After declaring that France's work in behalf of society was allowed to be the conditions of the poor, and old age pensions, would remain an imperishable honor to the third republic, M. Deschanel dwelt upon the external political situation and expressed the belief that the world could reasonably hope that the Balkan crisis would not drag the powers into a conflict which none desired.

Another feature of the day was an animated conversation in the lobby of the Senate between Premier Poincaré, M. Briand and Minister of Justice and former Premier Clemenceau. It is understood that M. Clemenceau reproached the ministers for the recent attitude of the cabinet with respect to the reinstatement of Dr. Pavy de Clans and declared openly that he intended to vote for M. Dupuy.

Louis Pavy voiced in the chamber the evident trend of public opinion in the Senate. He declared that the president of the full exercise by the President of the prerogatives allowed by the constitution which in the past has been frowned upon by precedent. He suggested that the President should send messages to Parliament and in other ways take an active part in governing the nation.

The parties and group making up the republican majority in the Chamber and Senate still caucus today to decide on a candidate to support in the Versailles Congress to be held Friday.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS GREATER ATTRACTION

Cadet Hall, Scheduled for Gymnasium on February 14, Given Way to Basketball Contest.

Athletics won the popularity contest over society at the University of Washington today when the managers of the cadet hall, which was previously scheduled for the gymnasium on February 14, the date of an intercollegiate basketball game, postponed the campus military dance until March 7.

The dance committee changed their date, they admit, because the student body expressed the opinion that they would rather watch the basketball five clash with the Oregon Agricultural College quintet than glide over the polished floor of the gymnasium.

If Washington had broken its contract
