COLONEL ROOSEVELT, REPUBLICAN, SLATED FOR 1916 NOMINEE

President Wilson and Democrats Closest to Him, See Opponent in Mighty Hunter in Next Campaign.

BULL MOOSE WILL BE THING OF PAST

Former Executive Has Learned That Progressive Party Is Doomed and It Is Believed He Will Turn Back.

By W. W. JERMANE. WASHINGTON, Friday, April 18.—Theodore Roosevelt for president in 1916, as the nominee of the Republican party.

That is the way things are likely to turn in the next presidential campaign, is the belief of President Wilson and some of the Democrats who are closest to him, and they discuss the outlook rather freely with some of their callers. As for the Progressive party, it has no future, the Democratic leaders believe, and they say this has been especially apparent since the poor showing made by that party in the recent campaign in Michigan. The Progressives, with Colonel Roosevelt as their nominee for the presidency, carried Michigan by 70,000 last November, and a couple of weeks ago they were a poor third in a campaign for minor state offices, the Republicans carrying the state very handsily.

Here is the way the Roosevelt end of this story is outlined by men who have the confidence of President Wilson. Whether in what they say they reflect the President's views must be a matter of speculation, but their point of view is interesting just the same. "President Wilson and Colonel Roosevelt stand for practically the same things politically, aside from the tariff. There is not enough difference between them to warrant discussion. But Colonel Roosevelt has a decided advantage over the President, because he is not in office, and therefore is not charged with responsibility for legislation. The President is in office, and is thus charged. Obviously, he will make mistakes. Not only that, but he will not get everything that he will ask for, nor will he always get it in just the way that he will want it.

Colonel Roosevelt will, at the proper time, enumerate the mistakes of the present administration, and say that the trouble with Wilson has been one relating to methods. "Give me control of the government," he will say, "and my program will get results when Wilson has failed to get them."

Where They Differ. On the tariff, Colonel Roosevelt is a protectionist, while President Wilson is a very low tariff Democrat, as has been evidenced by the tariff bill which he has endorsed. If following the enactment of the new tariff law, there should be something of a sag in business, as has been the case nearly every time the tariff has been revised since the Civil War, the tariff revision being a notable exception—Colonel Roosevelt will add protection to his other campaign cries, with more or less success.

By 1916 perhaps a majority, and even more, of the voters will have provided for the direct election of their delegates to national conventions. Since the Civil War, the tariff revision being a notable exception—Colonel Roosevelt will add protection to his other campaign cries, with more or less success.

SOLDIER ESCAPES FROM GUARDS AT VANCOUVER

Shots Fired at Fleeing Prisoner Miss Him and He Returns Later to Steal Horse.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Friday, April 18.—Frank Anthony, formerly of battery F, Second Field artillery, U. S. A., sentenced to one year for insubordination, escaped from his guards yesterday afternoon and, though he was fired on, escaped. At 10 o'clock last night he returned to the barracks, and attempted to steal a horse, but the sentry discovered him and fired several shots at him in the darkness. Several parties of soldiers are out searching for the fugitive.

A hobo gave way to his wrath. As he fell in the mud on a path. But he ran like a deer. When a man standing near suggested clean clothes and a bath.

TURNOW, MAD OUTLAW OF WYNOOCHE, DIES AT VICTIMS' SIDE

Bullet From Rifle of Deputy Sheriff Quimby Ends Career of Man With at Least Six Deaths Charged to Him.

FAITHFUL DOGS STAND GUARD OVER BODIES

When Montesano Posse Reaches Scene of Final Tragedy Hounds Are at Side of Slain Trappers.

MONTESANO, Wash., Friday, April 18.—John Turnow, slayer of at least six men, and who terrorized the Wynooche Valley for two years, is dead. Deputy Sheriff Giles Quimby, who brought word of the killing of Louis Blair and Charles Lathrop by the mad outlaw, fired the shot that ended the career of the maniac, for the sheriff's posse, when it arrived at the lonely spot in the deep forest, thirty-five miles from here, found the bodies of the two trappers and that of their murderer.

Turnow killed his twin nephews, John and Will Bauer, two years ago, following his escape from a sanitarium in Portland. A year ago he slew Deputy Sheriff Al Elmer and Colin McKenney, who were sent out to capture him.

Turnow was shot twice, once in the shoulder and once through the head. It is believed that one of his victims caused the fatal wound. Quimby stated that he fired the shot through the head that killed the madman.

Blair and Lathrop for more than a year had been on Turnow's trail for the purpose of capturing him. The latest news from the scene was received here early this morning when assessor James W. Frisken's men, who were on their way to get them.

Lathrop died instantly. Wiley says who fired the shot which entered Turnow's shoulder had not been determined when he left the scene, but probably will not be until after the bodies are brought out and an autopsy is made.

Blair was shot twice through the body and Lathrop was killed instantly. The bullet which entered Blair's shoulder was the only wound on the bodies of the men, and this fact gives ground to the argument that either Blair or Lathrop fired one or two shots at him about the time that Turnow killed the trapper.

Blair's testimony that accounts for the failure of Turnow to riddle the bodies of his victims with bullets, was that the automatic pistol after he slew them and bears out the contention of Quimby that Turnow never saw him at any time during the battle which raged. It is also the best evidence that Turnow's wound in the shoulder is the result of a bullet fired from either Blair's or Lathrop's gun, as had he shot them dead and been hit later he would have known that there were others in the party and would have refrained from firing his last shot at the writhing bodies on the ground, but would have sought cover and endeavored to escape or else would have attempted to locate Quimby.

Well-Protected Camp. This fact cannot be fully determined until the bodies are brought out, but it will be some time before the battle took place under practically the same conditions that prevailed when Turnow slew the two trappers. Sheriff Elmer and McKenney, his cabin on shaking down being erected in the middle of a windfall, fallen trees making a clearing which gave Turnow a clear view and prevented his being surprised, and also made his but a short shot.

The shooting of Blair and Lathrop took place just inside the clearing, but between Turnow and his victim lay a fallen hemlock tree. The tree that sheltered Turnow was but eighteen inches in diameter and was so small that Blair had to stand sideways to hide himself. The trappers approached the spot cautiously and were in a crouched position when the outlaw shot from behind the tree, bringing Blair to the ground. That Lathrop shot from the tree is little doubt, as an examination of his gun revealed the fact that it had been used this day.

The tree which sheltered Turnow was badly chewed up by bullets from Quimby's 30-30 rifle, which shows how close the bullets were striking about the outlaw.

Quimby says that he was never out of ammunition, but that his carbine magazine only carried seven shots and as soon as he had emptied it he slipped it and reloaded.

Change for Worse In Condition of Pontiff Reported

ROME, Friday, April 18, 11:50 a. m.—A report gained circulation shortly before noon that the Pope's condition had taken a very sudden turn for the worse. At the hour of this dispatch it is impossible to verify the report.

The prostration and exhaustion of the Pope are undoubtedly augmented, and according to those about him, the truth is that he may die at any time or may even linger on for months.

TOKYO, Friday, April 18.—The situation brought about by popular resentment to the proposed California law against the sale of automatic weapons is becoming increasingly serious. War talk is prevalent. A mass meeting today, composed for the most part of irresponsible persons, demanded the most extreme measures of retaliation by Japan. The singing of war songs aroused intense feeling during the gathering.

Lured by the promise of an immense fortune in return for the expenditure of a few thousand dollars, to be used in the "liberation" of a boyhood friend from "a Spanish prison," Frank Johnson, 79 1/2 Weller Street, made a daring trip to the European nation and has returned to this city a sadder but wiser man. He was a victim of the notorious "Spanish prisoner" swindle.

Two Enterprising Women Lock Police Out of Big Monument for Hour and Shower Literature on Crowd.

SPECTATORS DON'T APPRECIATE HUMOR

LONDON, Friday, April 18.—Two enterprising suffragettes took possession this morning of the monument which stands near the northern approach to London Bridge, and commemorates the great fire which destroyed the city of London in 1666.

Ascending to the topmost balcony, they displayed two flags and an immense banner in the suffragette colors, on each of which was written in white colors on a black background, "Victory or Death."

Having securely fastened the flags to the railings surrounding the balcony, the women padlocked themselves inside the tower, preventing the police from ascending the winding staircase of 345 steps leading to the top.

NEW TRIAL ASKED BY DEFENSE WHEN VERDICT IS READ

Seattle Financier Will Fight Conviction on Charge of Aiding Insolvent Bank to Keep Doors Open.

VERDICT COMES AS SHOCK TO ATTORNEYS

Findings of Jury Are Entirely Contrary to What Majority of Those Who Heard Trial Anticipated.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Friday, April 18.—Jacob Furth, chairman of the board of directors of the Seattle National Bank, charged with aiding and abetting William E. Schrieker, former president of the LaConner private state bank, in accepting deposits, knowing the bank to be insolvent, was found guilty as charged by a jury in the superior court here at 10 o'clock this morning.

A motion for a new trial was made. The verdict was wholly opposite to the anticipated result and came as a complete surprise, rendering the defense attorneys speechless. The jury deliberated nine hours and from the start stood with its majority for conviction.

Jury Sings Hymn. The trial covered ten days and was given to the jury at 3:02 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Inside the jury room the deliberations started with an ensemble hymn, "There's Not a Friend Like the Lowly Jesus" floating out into the street. While the crowd filtered out into the street, the state's attorneys were the only persons remaining in the courtroom. As the hours dragged along into the night those who kept a vigil outside the jury room were convinced that a complete disagreement would result.

At 9 o'clock this morning, however, the foreman of the jury, W. C. Gilchrist, stepped upon the door and announced that a verdict had been reached. The jury retired at one o'clock last night and continued its deliberations at 7:30 o'clock this morning. At 8:40 o'clock the principals, the clerk and a crowd of spectators breathlessly awaited the appearance of the jury and after the customary formalities, the clerk called the verdict, "Guilty as charged." When polled the jury was unanimous for conviction.

Defendant Is Calm. The defendant accepted the situation calmly and gave no outward signs of perturbation, but his city counsel, E. C. Hughes of Seattle, was absolutely crushed by the verdict. He sank toward the table, his head in his hands, and was overcome by his emotions. The ultimate result was for the defendant to be committed to the county jail. When polled the jury was unanimous for conviction.

Special Prosecutor Augustus Bradley voluntarily allowed the heavy bail bond to continue pending the passing of sentence. The jury returned its verdict at 10 o'clock. The jurors apparently agreed not to give details of their discussion, although they conceded that the majority of them were unanimous for conviction from the start. Their discussion of the evidence led to many heated arguments and several ballots were taken before the ultimate result was for conviction. The presence of a woman upon the jury is said to have delayed the final verdict some extent.

What effect the conviction of Furth will have upon the trial of R. T. Ankney and his counsel, however, are to be tried as co-conspirators under the same evidence, remains to be seen. Ankney was arraigned for April 24, and that of Kelleher during the May term of court. Both defendants are officials of the Seattle National Bank, and their names were often introduced in the testimony which was laid before the jury in the Furth trial.

Kelleher In Attendance. Mr. Kelleher has been in attendance upon Mr. Furth throughout the ten days of the trial and his counsel made two strenuous attempts to have the Kelleher trial set for May 1. The court, however, has crowded the local superior court docket, and it is likely that the Kelleher trial will not be held until late in next month.

William E. Schrieker's private bank at La Conner spread consternation among the former depositors of Seattle County on April 16, 1912, when it failed to open its doors and declared bankruptcy. Its liabilities in excess of assets was said to reach nearly half a million dollars. In presenting its case the state alleged that Furth was a personal friend of Schrieker's since 1888. Schrieker carried heavy accounts at all times with the bank, a national, which was his city correspondent bank.

MASS MEETING DEMANDS EXTREME RETALIATION

seizure of the Philippines and Hawaii and, at the same time, denounce the Japanese government's submissive attitude.

It is said changed conditions in Japan render it impossible for the government to restrain the newspapers and the lower classes.

The Japanese government considers the present anti-Japanese movement in California as most dangerous, and is faced with the problem of how to meet it in a most unwise position owing to the unwillingness of the federal government at Washington to intervene and the impossibility of introducing counter measures here.

Japan's Action Determined.

In the event of the passage of an alien land-holding bill through both houses of the California Legislature, Japan will issue an ultimatum demanding the Japanese foreign land ownership bill of 1910 and will apply to the federal government at Washington for permission for Japanese to become naturalized citizens of the United States.

At the great mass meeting of protest held here last night, there was a hysterical outburst. The speaker, Deputy Matsumura urged the dispatch of a Japanese fleet to California as the first step toward the annexation of an absolutely equal footing in the United States.

M. Matsumura, an editor of the Japan Times, deprecated the constant visits here of American peace apostles, "when their own country is in a state of such a state of peace."

Other fiery orators insisted that the questions between Japan and America had better be settled now, once and for all. Otherwise, they said, the result would lead at last to the arbitration of war.

Firebrands Seek to Mould Opinion.

Twenty thousand people listened to the remarks of the firebrands who apparently are engineering a campaign to mold public opinion in Japan.

The foreign land ownership bill passed by the Japanese Diet in March, 1910, prohibits foreigners, except under certain restrictions, from owning land in Japan and they may not own land at all in Saghalien, Formosa, Hokkaido, or the fortified zones. This law has never been officially promulgated.

ITALY INTERESTED IN ALIEN LAND STATUTES

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 12.—Italy is studying the provisions of the pending alien land laws in California on Italian and their interests in that state is expected to be quickly followed by similar inquiries from other governments who have subjects engaged in the situation. The purpose which might be affected by such legislation, intimations already have been received from the Japanese government.

Diplomats here point out that the Maffei incident in Louisiana, Harrison's administration established the inability of the government to exercise any control of the situation in such questions. About all Secretary Bryan can do at this juncture is to assure his questioners that the California legislation, as officials here hope to see it finally framed, will not affect their subjects injuriously.

President Wilson's announced selection of George W. Guthrie to be ambassador to Japan is taken with a measure of relief by those interested most vitally in the situation. Mr. Guthrie probably will soon be nominated and on his way to Tokio. American interests in the situation have been strongly urged that an ambassador be appointed to handle the situation. Anderson, who has just returned home.

PROTEST CAUSES DEBATE IN CALIFORNIA SENATE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Friday, April 12.—Another telegram from Tokyo, protesting against the enactment of an anti-alien land law by the California Legislature, was received by the Senate this morning, and called forth a sharp debate. Senator Birdsell, B. Sanford, Democrat, and Senator W. Thompson, administration leader and co-author with senator Birdsell of the revised land bill.

The message which was addressed to Lieutenant-Governor Wallace, was as follows: "Methodist missionaries urge defeat of anti-Japanese legislation. Situation serious."

When it had been read by the clerk, Senator Thompson moved that it be printed in the journal. Senator Sanford protested.

"I move that this Senate send a message to Mr. Harris telling him to attend to his own business. California can attend to hers without advice from Japan," he said.

Senator Thompson was on his feet in an instant.

"There is but one man on this floor who would demean himself by making such a motion," he cried.

Senator Sanford then explained that he was "tired of all such messages," adding that if this was to be printed in the journal, he would have letters and telegrams, taking the opposite view of the situation, that he wanted printed also. He was in a state of indignation and the Harris message was ordered printed.

Varying Comment.

News of the growing disquiet in Tokyo met with varying comment here today.

"Just the usual bluff," was the comment of Senator John B. Sanford, Democrat, when he read the dispatches. "In favor of telling Japan to mind her own business, and let California mind hers."

Senator Birdsell and Thompson, administration leaders and coauthors of the amended Senate bill now pending in the upper House, admitted they regarded the situation as serious.

There can be no objection by the Japanese to the enactment of the anti-alien land law, said Senator Thompson this morning. "For it treats alike all those who are ineligible on the ground that it is in line both with national policy and the statutes of many of the states."

An indication of the effects of the proposed legislation upon foreign capital is contained in a letter received today from Charles White Mortimer, British vice-consul in Honolulu. The letter, in part, is as follows: "Within the past few days, I have completed the examination of the title to some oil property in Kern County, which an English company intended purchasing for $2,000,000. I have advised them not to buy and I think the deal is off."

A score of similar letters and telegrams are pouring into the capital. Governor Johnson refused today to discuss the measures now before the Legislature.

AUBURN!

Take any Interurban car tomorrow or Sunday morning—any hour—and come to Auburn. You can then see with your own eyes—and seeing is believing. The N. P. R. R. has spent three millions here. Hundreds of expert mechanics, engineers and railroad men will make their homes here. The town is "on the jump" if ever a town was. Seventy-five cents' car fare, the price of a round trip ticket, will put you on ground where you can make money and made it reasonably fast—for Auburn is

"The City of Certain Profits"

Terminal Park is the only residential section of Auburn with shade trees, sidewalks, water-free park and playgrounds. There is no addition anywhere quite so attractive. The Auburn people are buying lots themselves. And it lies only four minutes' walk from the great N. P. roundhouse, machine shops and great yards. Only four minutes, do you get that? We sold eight thousand dollars' worth of property in the park since last Friday. We shall sell another three thousand tomorrow. We have four bungalows under construction now and contracts for four more. If ever a man had a chance to buy anything and make money that chance is here and now.

Choice of Any Lot in Terminal Park for $10 Down and $5 or $10 a Month

There are no vacant houses in Auburn—there are no vacant rooms. The male element is packed three in a bed and two beds in a room. These are facts—not real estate advertisements. You can prove the truth of these few remarks for 75c, the cost of a round trip ticket to the fastest growing town in Washington.

And if this advertisement points the way for you to get a start, to increase the earnings of a few dollars, to save money, why you'll be glad to pay your carfare.

Come Tomorrow or Sunday On the Interurban

The street cars transfer you to the Interurban without charge from any part of Seattle. The transfer you get is accepted as 5c part of your fare, so that 75c brings you from your home to Auburn, and in less time than it takes to go to the University or to Green Lake. Our automobiles will meet every car—look for them—jump right in and see the fastest growing city in the state. Invest if you decide—it's up to you. For this property is selling so fast that we don't have to coax anybody to buy. And we're not going to. If we shouldn't sell a lot this property will go on increasing in value year after year. The only purpose in selling eighty lots is to finance the building of forty bungalows in Terminal Park—bungalows that sell before the roof is on.

The case is plainly stated—not overdrawn—no "hot air" in this. We simply invite you to come, and if you are disappointed in the outlook—if it isn't all you expected and more, we will pay your fare and give you jurymen's wages for your time spent in this city.

from the top of the monument narrowly missed injuring a number of spectators.

The police had to eventually requisition the services of a locksmith to force the door at the bottom of the shaft. When the police appeared in the street escorting the women who had defied them so long, the spectators became so threatening in their attitude that the constables were compelled to return the women back to the monument until reinforcements arrived.

Save Women From Mob.

A force of more than 100 policemen was required to protect the women from the angry mob.

Both the suffragettes were stylishly dressed and appeared little concerned by the excitement they had raised. They were released a short time after they reached the police station.

Two militant suffragettes, now in prison have been identified as the women who were seen in the vicinity of the mansion of Lady Amy White when it was burned to the ground on March 20.

Mrs. Flora Drummond, the militant suffragette leader, and George Langhorne, a former Socialist member of Parliament, appeared at Bow Street police court today to answer summonses under the statute of Edward VIII charging them with inciting to crime and misdemeanor. They were remanded until April 26 on promising not to participate in any meetings in the interval.

It is stated on apparently good authority that the government has at length determined on drastic repression of the militant suffragettes. The Women's Social and Political Union, their central organization, is, it is said, to be declared an illegal body; the headquarters are to be closed and the funds are to be attached.

The committee has agreed to listen to ten-minute speeches from ten suffragist orators, one from each state where women vote and one from Alaska.
