NINE JUNIOR COEDS BECOME TOLO GIRLS

Women's Senior Honor Society at University Opens Doors to Students Who Have Made Good Records.

NEW MEMBERS WILL BE INITIATED NEXT WEEK

All Nominees Have Been Prominent in Athletics, Social Affairs, or Studies at State Institution.

Nine junior coeds of the university were today selected for membership in the Tolo Club, women's senior honor society, comprising girls who have made records both in scholarship and in women's activities at the university. The honored coeds are: Ruth Axtell, Mary Bush, Inez Cook, Blanche George, Gladys Grier, Laura Hurd, March McLaughlin, Hazel Randolph and Eleanor Stephens.

Miss Axtell, whose mother is Mrs. Frances Axtell, state representative from Whatcom County, has been active in class and Women's League affairs, and was a member of the varsity ball committee. She is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Miss Bush, who is president of the campus Young Women's Christian Association, is a member of Pi Beta Phi. Inez Cook recently defeated for the secretaryship of the Associated Students, although she has been a leader in coed circles.

Miss George is newly elected president of the Women's League, a member of the junior prom board, and of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Gladys Grier was a member of the student conference committee and belongs to the Delta Gamma sorority.

Laura Hurd, a varsity coed debater and winner in women's athletics, is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

March McLaughlin is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Hazel Randolph, another member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, is vice editor-elect and an associate editor of the present Daily and Evening Star.

Eleanor Stephens, a former president of the University Y. W. C. A., is in the east which will stage "The Lottery Man" as the junior class play Saturday night. She belongs to the Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

The new Tolo girls will be initiated next week. Present members of this honor society are: Grace McLean, Hazel Learned, Helen Pinkerton, Bertha Banks, Lorraine Thorpe, Lottie Tretholme, Lucille Thompson, Nellie Higgins, Beryl Dill, Lovina Wilson, Mildred Boring and Louise Smith.

A. B. ERNST BANQUETED BY PRESIDENT CHEASTY

Retiring Member of Park Board, Who Will Become Member of State Commission, Guest of Honor.

A. B. Ernst, who retires from the Seattle park board to become a member of the state industrial insurance commission, was given a banquet by President E. C. Cheasty of the park board at the Savoy Hotel last night. Samuel Hill was toastmaster. Among the speakers were: Former Mayor William Hickman Moore, "Reminiscences of 1908-13 and the Appointment of Messrs. Ernst, Cheasty and Cheasty to the Park Commission," Mayor George F. Cotterill, "Park Development in Seattle," East, Present and Future," R. H. Thomson, "The Work of the Park Department From an Engineering Standpoint," A. B. Ernst, "Reminiscences of Seven Years' Service as a Park Commissioner." Mr. Cheasty praised Mr. Ernst very highly for the service given the city in the last seven-year incumbency on the board.

Those present were: Mayor George F. Cotterill, William Hickman Moore, Samuel Hill, R. H. Thomson, Park Commissioners E. C. Cheasty, J. W. Pringle, J. P. Donohue, Ferdinand Schmitz and Otto Rosenfeld, J. Fredrick Dawson, of Olmsted Brothers, and the following park department officials: J. W. Thompson, superintendent; Roland Cotterill, secretary; F. L.

PERSONAL OPINION OF THIS ELDERLY WOMAN

Plant Juice Proved to Be of So Much Merit in Her Case That She Endorses It.

Among the Seattle ladies who have tried Plant Juice and found it good is Mrs. A. N. Pettigrew, who resides at 116 Twenty-ninth Avenue. She says:

"I have only used one bottle of Plant Juice and it surely has helped me. Of course at 78 I do not expect to be made young again, but I felt as though there was something somewhere, if I could only find it, that would relieve me of my stomach and liver troubles. My liver has given me considerable trouble for a good many years. Last fall I had a severe attack of biliousness and have not felt well all winter. Plant Juice has helped me from the very first dose and I think it is just what I needed."

Plant Juice is a vegetable remedy that has proved of great benefit to elderly and aged as well as the younger generation. As a general tonic, vitalizer and invigorator it is without an equal. It tones up both mind and body and gives energy and strength. Those who suffer from poor circulation, impoverished blood, low vitality, indigestion, gas or bloating after meals, headache, dizzy spells, a feeling of faintness or weakness, hot flashes, pains across back or in the joints and under the shoulders will find quick and permanent relief in the use of Plant Juice. Try it and see for yourself. The Plant Juice man is at the Owl Drug Co., 3rd and Pike Street. Get a bottle from him and if it does not help you he will give you money back.

BIG DAMAGES ASKED

Suit against the Puget Sound Traction, Light & Power Co. to recover $15,000 damages for personal injuries was instituted yesterday in the King County superior court by William A. Snyder. The suit is the outcome of an accident on a street car that occurred on March 26, 1913.

PATRIOTISM IN MORGAN BIGGER THAN POLITICS

Col. George Harvey Relates How Financier Pledged His Every Influence and Resources for Country.

LAST WORDS HE HEARD FROM GREAT MAN'S LIPS

Insight Into Character of Departed Millionaire Given by Recital of Incident Following Recent Election.

NEW YORK, Friday, May 9.—"When you see Mr. Wilson, tell him for me that if ever there should come a time when he thinks any influence or resources that I have can be used for the country, they are wholly at his disposal."

These, the last words of J. P. Morgan, spoken to Col. George Harvey the day before Mr. Morgan sailed for Europe never to return alive, were related last night in an address by Colonel Harvey before a gathering of bankers and other representative men at a dinner of the Trust Companies of America. Mr. Morgan was a Republican, and in the words of Colonel Harvey, not only "regarded the political views advanced by Mr. Wilson with honest apprehension, but never considered the Democratic party capable of governing this nation." His message to the new President, Colonel Harvey cited as measuring the depths of the man's patriotism.

Mr. Harvey said: "The election had taken place, the inevitable had happened, and, using Speaker Cannon's phrase, Mr. Wilson had become Mr. Morgan's President as much as mine—perhaps, in fact, a little more. Anyhow, there was no constraint upon me regarding the country and I naturally spoke hopefully of the prospect of the coming administration."

"Suddenly turning, those piercing eyes on me, Mr. Morgan said: 'Recalls Harvey's Speech. "Do you remember that American speech you made in London?" I remembered very well. It was not a speech—only a few remarks at the close of a private dinner in reply to an Anglicized syrophant who had mistakenly thought to curry favor with Mr. Morgan by speaking contemptuously of Mr. Bryan, who on the preceding day, as it happened, I had introduced to him at a reception."

"And do you recall," he asked, "those lines from Scott that you quoted when 'That Man—I can hear now the emphasis upon those two words—When That Man had left the room?'"

"I did, of course, and began to repeat: 'Breathes there a man with soul so dead, Who never to himself hath said—'"

"I hesitated for a moment and the succeeding words came from the big armchair, with odd distinctness: 'This is my own, my native land.'"

"Then quietly Mr. Morgan asked if I could recall the remaining lines and I quoted imperfectly: 'Whose heart has never within him burn'd As home his footsteps he hath turn'd From wandering on a foreign strand? If there such breathe, go mark him well.'"

"Half a minute, gentlemen, is a long time, but for fully that period, I should say, Mr. Morgan sat perfectly still. Then, unconsciously, beating time upon the arm of his chair, as he used to do in church, he repeated as if soliloquizing: 'Who never to himself hath said—'"

"This is my own, my native land.'"

"And rising with difficulty from his chair, for he was then quite feeble, he said, with the emphasis that only quietude can give: 'His Message to Wilson.'"

"When you see Mr. Wilson, tell him for me that if there should ever come a time when he thinks any influence or resources that I have can be used for the country, they are wholly at his disposal." Barring the usual leave taking, those were the last words I heard from the lips of Mr. Morgan. They were the words of a true patriot, of a great, a very great American, spoken from the depths of a passionately loyal heart. Surely I can do no better than to cherish them with you to remember, to cherish and to feel as long as you all shall live in this, our native land." Referring to Mr. Morgan's testimony before the Pujo committee at Washington, Colonel Harvey said: "Although mentally as strong as ever, physically he was sadly broken when summoned to Washington. At his age and in his condition, it was the severest ordeal of his life; but it was for the best, as he himself came to realize."

"I hated to go," he said to me with characteristic simplicity the day before he sailed away. "I hated to go, but I am glad I went. I think it did some good."

DIVORCED WOMAN SUES HER FORMER HUSBAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Friday, May 9.—A breach of promise action against a man instituted by his divorced wife was the unusual suit filed in the state circuit court here yesterday. Lillian M. Knowlton, who asks $25,000 damages for alleged failure on the part of her former husband, Luke F. Knowlton, to remarry her, recited that she deeded him property valued at $1,500 on his promise to remarry her before March 1, 1912. Instead of doing so, the complainant alleges Knowlton married another woman. Knowlton, who is a clerk in a railroad office, and Mrs. Lillian Knowlton were divorced here four years ago.
