Greece Offers Cost Price for Mississippi and Idaho and Daniels Would Apply Money To New Vessel.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, May 28.—A plan for disposing of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi to a foreign power for just what the United States paid for their construction, was laid before the Senate naval affairs committee today by Secretary Daniels.

Greece is understood to be negotiating for the ships. The United States has never before sold battleships to a foreign power, although it has condemned them and afterward sold them without armament.

The ships have been in commission since 1908. The Mississippi cost $3,820,000 and the Idaho $5,894,000. Secretary Daniels asked for an amendment to the naval bill permitting the sale and providing that the money be used in the construction of one dreadnought in addition to the two dreadnoughts already provided for in the bill, if it passed the house.

Secretary Daniels explained to the committee that while he expected to get about $2,000,000 for the two ships, he would be able to make up the $14,000,000 needed for a new dreadnought by economy in other lines.

Mr. Daniels told the committee that while the Idaho and Mississippi were efficient ships for harbor defense, they were not modern enough to go into line of battle.

Mr. Daniels' proposal met with the approval of a majority of the committee, and an amendment embodying the plan was prepared for presentation to the Senate.

STREET CAR COMPANY WINS DAMAGE CASE

Jury Finds It Blameless in Connection With Drowning of Joseph H. Boucher in Lake Union.

That the Puget Sound Traction, Light & Power Company was not responsible for the death of Joseph H. Boucher, inspector in the city engineering department, whose body was found in Lake Union on April 7, 1913, was the verdict of a jury this morning in Judge John Humphreys' department of the superior court.

Idell Boucher, the widow, sued for $20,000 damages alleging that her husband had been taken suddenly ill on a Phinney Avenue car and had been put off by the conductor at Highland Drive, and that in the darkness, he slipped down the embankment into the waters of the lake and was drowned.

Raukour, attorney for the company, showed that Boucher's spectacles had been found on the west side of the track, indicating that after he left the car he had once found a place of safety.

ORGANIZED LABOR

LABOR DISCUSSES ITS MEMORIAL DAY

Council, After Canvassing Suggestions, Decides to Leave Arrangements in Hands of Committee.

SOME UNIONS TO HAVE ONLY SMALL SHOWING

Sentiment Develops for Parading Only Under Flag of Central Organization and Stars and Stripes.

By C. D. STRATTON.

Discussion of the final report of the special committee appointed to cooperate with the local organization of the "yellow" Socialists in arranging a program for the observance of Memorial Day as a day of mourning for the martyrs of the cause of labor consumed nearly the entire time at the meeting of the Central Labor Council in the Labor Temple last night. Numerous propositions and counter-propositions for changes in the program prepared by the joint committee were offered and debated, but in the end the council voted to leave the entire subject in the hands of the committee. The program heretofore announced by the committee through the press will be carried out substantially without material change.

The fact was brought in the debate that many of the local unions affiliated with the council will have only a small fraction of their total membership in the afternoon parade, as many of their members will be at work on that day. The parade will proceed the open air mass meeting at the corner of Third and Blanchard streets, where "Mother" Jones and other prominent labor leaders will speak. Delegates of the various unions will have strong sentiment in favor of parading under the single banner of the Central Labor Council and the American flag.

Delegates of other unions that have arranged for more extensive participation in the parade urged that the various organizations march under their respective banners. They argued that many of the unions would not be able to participate in the parade had already arranged to march under their own banners, and that it would be impossible to make any change in the general plan of the parade.

Committee Expresses Views.

Charles W. Doyle, business agent of the Central Labor Council, and chairman of the joint committee, announced that a majority of the committee was decidedly in favor of the two-day parade under the banner of the Central Labor Council. W. Buck, another member of the committee, declared that he was in favor of the proposed parade was not to make a demonstration of strength by showing respect for the dead. Therefore, he said, the committee had decided to permit the parade to be held under the banner of the Central Labor Council and the American flag, though it was expected that all organizations participating in the parade would carry their own banners, and that the Socialists would not doubt carry their own banners, and that the various labor organizations had already arranged for participation under their own standards must be considered.

At the end of a random discussion that led nowhere, F. A. Rust of the printers made the motion that the entire matter be left with the committee. The motion carried.

Another matter discussed in connection with the parade was the question of a request from the carpenters that the parade start from the Labor Temple at 10 o'clock and march to the Labor Temple in a body to fall in line for the Memorial Day labor parade. Chairman Doyle of the committee explained at some length that the hour set by the committee was 11 o'clock. Mayor H. C. Gill had granted the permit for the parade only on condition that it start at 11 o'clock. The committee would not under any circumstances break the promise made to the mayor, and the parade would not interfere with the general observance of Memorial Day.

Arrangement of Paraders.

Chairman Doyle of the committee, he announced, has been chosen grand marshal of the parade, and it had been decided to assign places in the parade to different trade sections of the central council by lot.

Lots were drawn by the council passed on to the other committees. Doyle said that the order of the parade, and it had been decided to assign places in the parade to different trade sections of the central council by lot.
