

A LETTER FROM A SEATTLE WOMAN

Many are the letters received by Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., from his patients. Here is one from Mrs. C. O. Learned of 6912 Carson Ave., this city, who says: "All my life I have had trouble from which women suffer. Some times I was unable to stand on my feet, had terrible headaches; it seemed that my back would break and I was so nervous. The doctors did not help me. Finally I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking seven bottles I am a well woman."

Another Seattle Woman Adds Her Testimony. Mrs. Emma Foraker, residing at 2816 Mary St. N. W., says: "For a long time I had woman's trouble very bad, suffered from inflammation and was nervous. A friend advised the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I used three bottles and was cured."

DEALERS LAY HIGH COST OF LIVING TO CONSUMERS

Elimination of Middlemen and Cold Storage Activity Impossible, They Say, and Producer Opposes User.

COOPERATION between the producer and the consumer to decrease the retail cost of commodities, because of the directly opposed interests of the two classes, is impossible. The elimination of the middleman in the present system of national supply and demand cannot be accomplished. Proposed prevention of cold storage activity would be disastrous to low costs.

Attitude of Produce Dealers. Briefly, this is the attitude of Seattle produce dealers on the present high-cost-of-living situation in Seattle. Asserting themselves to be men who have made the problems of supply and consumption their life study and who daily are in communication with both ends of the producer-to-the-consumer route, Seattle's produce dealers are positive that many Seattleites do not fully appreciate the complexity of the present marketing system and do not realize just where the leakage in the plan exists.

Producer Greatest Speculator. The producer, dealers declare, is the greatest speculator on food prices. When he can get $15 a ton for potatoes he will investigate the future and pack his entire crop in the winter months, then out of distribution until the price shall go higher. When prices are high is the very time the speculation is greatest because the possibility of further increase is good. When prices are low producers desire to get rid of their crops before a lower level is struck.

URGES HALT TO ASIATIC INFLUX

Commissioner General of Immigration Caminetti Warns Against Threatened Movement After War.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 7.—Warning against a threatened migration of the populations of Western Asia to the United States is contained in the annual report of Commissioner General Anthony Caminetti of the immigration service made public today. The war and conditions immediately after its close will stay the stream for a time, but steps to head it off must be taken before transportation interests begin to cull the field for their business, the report declares. Immigration from the far Orient, too, is a problem still unsolved, the report sets forth. The systems heretofore devised to deal with it do not promise much improvement, the machinery for enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act is not adequate or well adapted, it says. Arrangements for the admission of Japanese, it is declared, should be amended to fit conditions better.

DOUGHNUTS SHOULD NOT BE EATEN

Doughnuts are hard to digest and may cause appendicitis. Seattle people should know that simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika, often relieves or prevents appendicitis. ## GRANGER ARGUES FOR COOPERATION

C. R. Cottrell, Marketing Commissioner, Suggests Organization of Voting Precincts Into Buying Clubs.

Asserting that fireworks, hysteria and boycott will accomplish nothing in the fight on the high cost of living, but that hearty cooperation between producer and consumer will carry the needed relief, C. R. Cottrell, national marketing commissioner of the Washington State Grange, suggests organization of voting precincts into purchasing clubs to buy farm products direct from the grange. One of his deductions is that by such close contact between the consumer and the farmers' organization, statistics could be gathered which would result in the planting of only such crops in King County as would be required for Seattle consumption. Another plan suggested is the establishment of a municipal market. Cottrell also advises against the boycott as done to work a hardship on the producer rather than the middleman.

WALLA WALLA PIONEER IS CALLED BY DEATH.

Mrs. Belle McCowan Brents Survives Her Husband, Judge Brents, by But Six Weeks.

WALLA WALLA, Thursday, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Belle McCowan Brents, widow of the late Judge Thomas H. Brents, who died six weeks ago, passed away at her home yesterday while in conversation with members of her family. Mrs. Brents had been shopping in the morning and was apparently in good health. She was born in Jackson County, Mo., August 10, 1841, and when 8 years old crossed the plains with her father, William McCowan, who settled in Clackamas County, Ore., and who later moved to a farm near Walla Walla, Mr. and Mrs. Brents were married on August 10, 1868. They came to Walla Walla in 1870 and had lived here continuously. Mrs. Brents leaves three children: Mrs. John Robb, Mrs. W. L. Strilberg and Mrs. Helen Brents Aiken, all of this city. She also leaves two brothers, J. L. McCowan of Portland and Frank McCowan of Walla Walla.

Watch Out For Anonymous Shoes

An expert recently offered to tell the REGAL Shoe makers how to cut down the cost without effecting the appearance of the shoe.

The Head of the business said "My friend, we are not interested in taking something out of REGAL shoes—but in putting more into them."

The REGAL business grew from a small beginning. It was built on a knowledge of shoe leather—a study of shoe style and shoe service—of human feet and how to fit them, not in study of price tags and eye effects—not on a knowledge of wax and finish and leather substitutes.

Note the above illustration. This shoe is photographed with a foot in it—not stuffed with paper or filled out with a wooden form. It will look just like this on your foot, if you let the REGAL salesman fit you properly.

We call this shoe the Rugby. It is made of sturdy Oil Grain Russia Leather with full double soles of white-oak tanned leather. Made for all weathers and finished as neatly as a glove—perforated tip over a medium city toe, invisible eyelets half way up, hooks for the upper lacing, broad backstay from heel seat ending in the serviceable leather pull strap. The price is $6.50.

A lot of men buy "window shoes"—an eye full of shoe and price tag. Window style is not foot style. REGAL Shoes are all for the foot—good style and good shoe-sense. A hard combination to beat when you consider these new and wanted leathers, selected hides, special tannage, in Russets, Mahoganies, Blacks and Two-tone effects.

There never was a time when it was more important in buying to know who made the shoe—the man back of it, their idea, their purpose, and how much they are thinking about you.

Think for a moment of REGAL as an institution—the stake it has in the good-will of its two million customers: its forty REGAL stores in the Metropolitan centers; its thousand REGAL Special Agents in other towns and cities. Every REGAL Shoe is signed with the REGAL name. An anonymous shoe is like an anonymous letter—it evades responsibility.

It is our aim to deliver the best shoe-value in America for the money.

Good leather is scarce. The shoe situation is serious. Nobody can make the kind of shoe we think you ought to wear for $4 any more.

We advise you to pay $5 and up—and to get REGAL Shoes if you can.
