U. S. REGULATION OF PACKERS DEMANDED BY WITNESSES

WASHINGTON, Friday, Feb. 14.—Government regulation and control of the meat industry was urged before the House interstate commerce committee yesterday by Mrs. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumers' League. She appeared after Francis J. Heney, former counsel for the Federal Trade Commission, had finished presenting his views.

Mrs. Kelley told the committee the consumers of the country were unanimously in favor of government intervention in the packing business and that they would not let Congress rest until definite action had been taken. Mr. Heney, in concluding his testimony, suggested that the government take over the packers' refrigerators and stockyards and build cold storage plants in the large cities.

B. C. Rotarians to Leave

VANCOUVER, B. SENATORS CLASH ON RUSSIAN POLICY

Lodge Charges First Statement of American Aims Came From Lloyd George.

LEWIS' VERSION DIFFERS

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Friday, Feb. 14.—Prediction that the proposed conference at Princes Island between representatives of the victorious allied nations and the various contending Russian factions would result in an agreement for withdrawal from Russia of American and Allied troops was made in the Senate yesterday by Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the foreign relations committee, during another spirited debate on the American policy towards Russia.

Senator Hitchcock said he believed all the foreign expeditions in Russia would come out tomorrow for an agreement with the Russian representatives which would prevent "butchery of troops" left in Russia. Discussion of the Russian situation was opened by Senator Johnson of California, Republican, who asked for immediate action on his resolution which would put the Senate on record as favoring withdrawal of the American Russian expedition as soon as practicable. After vehement argument and clashes between Senators Hitchcock and Johnson, the Senate voted to adjourn to an immediate vote on the resolution to the calendar with a majority vote necessary for its further consideration.

Will Continue Fight

Senator Johnson declared after the Senate had adjourned that he would continue his fight until Congress adjourns March 4 by introducing new resolutions.

During the day's debate, the sharpest of many months in the Senate, Republican Senator Lodge of Illinois, Democratic whip, differed regarding the statement of Premier Lloyd George's Parliament yesterday that the American government had refused to send more troops to Russia.

Senator Lodge said the premier's announcement apparently was authentic and was the first definite statement as to the American policy, while Senator Lewis insisted that Mr. Lloyd George was divulging the decision of the supreme war council and not merely the American policy.

Denies Sympathy With Bolsheviks

In asking immediate consideration of his resolution, Senator Johnson made another impassioned attack on the policy of American intervention in Russia, denouncing it as "unusual, vicious and criminal." Disclaiming sympathy with the Bolshevik government and denouncing their atrocities, Senator Johnson repeated a suggestion from Hitchcock that he acted as a "champion" of the Bolshevik element in Russia.

Senator Hitchcock made his reference in presenting his resolution, a message sent by President Wilson to the Soviet government and the reply, which Senator Hitchcock denounced as "practically an insult."

Defending American intervention in Russia, Senator Hitchcock said it was an anti-German military move agreed upon with the Allied governments. He asserted that the Russian Revolution would not expedite withdrawal of the American forces and favored its reference to the foreign relations committee.

Expedition Too Weak, Says Lodge

Both Senators Johnson and Lodge emphasized that Mr. Lloyd George had given what they termed the first authentic statement of the American policy in Russia. Mr. Lodge declared that the Siberian expedition was justified, but said the intervention was too weak to be forced.

Senator Johnson charged that his original resolution, introduced last December, asking for an official statement of the American policy regarding Russia, had been "bottled up" in the foreign relations committee. Senator Hitchcock denied this, and Senator Lodge supported him in the statement that his resolution had been carefully considered, but that a majority of the committee opposed reporting it to the Senate.

Some Time After the Johnson Resolution was sent to the calendar, Senator Lewis revived the subject by deploring an impression which he said might be gained by Senator Lodge's committee on Premier Lloyd George's statement.

Speaking for Council or U. S.?

"It may be charged," said Senator Lewis, "that this country has to look to England for a statement of its American policy. Such a statement, if accepted at its face value, would rob the president of the content of the president, who might assume the United States has yielded its policies to England."

"In a matter where the Allied council has acted it is natural that any of the council should speak," Mr. Lodge spoke as one of the council and of the policy of the council, and was not speaking of the policy of this country," Senator Lodge denied that Lloyd George was outlining the war council's policy, and insisted that he was speaking, if quoted correctly, the American policy.

"I suppose he got his information from the President while he was in Paris," said Mr. Lodge. "Now that he is dictating American policy, but he had information that we did not have."

WAR REVENUE BILL UP TO PRESIDENT

Final Legislative Action on Measure Taken by Senate After Short Debate.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Friday, Feb. 14.—Final legislative action on the war revenue bill levying $5,000,000,000 in taxes this year and $4,000,000,000 yearly thereafter until 1925 was taken yesterday by the Senate. Without a record vote and with but few dissenting "noes," the Senate gave its approval to the measure as adopted and approved last Saturday by the House.

After the bill is signed by Vice President Marshall and Speaker Clark it will be sent to the White House for approval by President Wilson after his return from France about the end of the month.

Passed After Brief Debate

Only brief debate preceded the Senate vote. Senator Smoot of Utah, Republican, spoke in criticism of several features of the bill, deploring especially elimination of the amendment to repeal existing control rates on second-class mail. Senator Townsend of Michigan, Republican, announced his opposition to the bill because of its excess profits plan of taxation.

Formal approval of the bill by the President is regarded as assured and treasury officials already have laid plans for collection of taxes based upon the rates.

Close Debate on Army Bill

General debate on the $1,100,000,000 Army appropriation bill was closed yesterday in the House and the measure taken up for amendment under the five-minute rule. Slow progress was made, however, and adjournment there was no indication when a final vote would be reached.

Universal military training was advocated by Representative Kahn of California, Republican, who expected to head the military committee in the next Congress. He urged the training for six months of all youths who attain their nineteenth birthday and said the safest way to avoid attack was to be able to repel the enemy.

In an effort to clear the congested legislative calendar and thus remove the necessity for the early convening of the next Congress in extra session,

How Do You Keep Your Hair Looking So Beautiful All the Time?"

—It's a secret, Margaret, but as life-long friends I'll tell you. Lucile visited me a few weeks ago and noticed a sprinkling of gray hairs about my forehead.

—"Why, are you getting gray, too?" she said. "Let me tell you how to keep your hair its natural shade."

—So she told me of

A Wonderful Hair Restorer It Is Called Co-Lo

—Developed by Prof. John H. Austin after 30 years of research and experiment. Well, I bought just one bottle—you see the result. My husband says I look ten years younger.

—Yes, you do. I must buy a bottle this very day to chase these gray hairs away. I simply can't grow old while my friends stay young.

—Just a minute, Margaret; I'll get the bottle!

—As—for black and all dark shades of brown.

—As—for extra strong, for jet black hair only.

—As—for all medium brown shades. The color of that medium brown hair and auburn shades.

—Yes, there's the shade—As—just the color of that medium brown hair of yours which I have so much admired.

—Well, Madge, I must hurry, and I am going to use Co-Lo this very night. And, oh, I nearly forgot—where did you buy it?"

—I bought mine, Margaret, from the Owl Drug Company.

Democratic senators decided at a conference last night to hold night sessions of the Senate until Congress adjourns sine die, March 4. The conference decision was unanimous and also included an agreement to convene the Senate an hour earlier each day—11 o'clock instead of noon.

PLAN REPORT ON BILL TO REGULATE MEAT INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, Friday, Feb. 14.—Favorable report on a bill to regulate the meat industry, introduced by Senator Glass, was planned by the Senate agricultural committee, Chairman Gore announced yesterday. The committee has several weeks of open hearings at which representatives of all interests testified.

WANTS NEXT LOAN MADE ATTRACTIVE

Secretary Glass Asks Authority to Fix Interest Rate on Liberty Bond Issue.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Friday, Feb. 14.—Secretary Glass yesterday told the House ways and means committee that it was apparent "something must be done to make the bonds or notes of the Victory Liberty Loan more attractive than their predecessors."

He asked that Congress give him authority to fix interest rates and determine exemptions from taxation of securities of the government. He said that the financial conditions existing when the loan is floated in April.

He also urged that authority be given the War Finance Corporation to make advances to exporters not to exceed one billion dollars and that the purposes of the bill be to make loans to foreign governments be broadened.

Expenditures Exceed Estimate. Mr. Glass told the committee that at the rate disbursements were being made, it was apparent that only a radical reduction in the remaining months of the fiscal year could bring the year's expenditures within the limits of the policy of this country, which Secretary McAdoo had hoped would cover the government's expenses.

TO DEVELOP PHILIPPINES

Legislature Passes Measure to Stabilize Business and Aid Producer.

MANILA, P. I., Friday, Feb. 14.—The Philippine Legislature closed yesterday after passing many bills. The most notable one was a bill authorizing the formation of the National Development Company with a capital of $5,000,000 pesos. The government being the holder of the majority of stock, the company is enabled to enter any business and stabilize it and maintain prices to protect the producer.

The measure is especially applicable in the present hemp situation where the local market is stagnant due to the unwillingness of exporters to pay prices demanded by the producers.

Another bill authorizes the formation of the National Petroleum Company, under similar conditions to develop the petroleum resources of the islands. A new income tax law, applicable to 1919 incomes and based on ten days of February showed a "very gratifying decrease," but Mr. Glass pointed out that heavy payments on informal war contracts were being held in abeyance until Congress acted on the measure. Under the circumstances and with a floating debt of five billion dollars in treasury certificates, the Philippine government could not be surprised by his recommendation for authorization of an additional five billion dollar issue of bonds. There remain unissued under previous legislation slightly in excess of five billion dollars.

Suggests Maximum Bonded Debt. It is needless to say that the treasury does not contemplate the issue of notes limited to ten billion dollars of any such amount of bonds as ten billion dollars," Mr. Glass said, adding that the issuance of securities of the government to pay prices seemed to represent the maximum possible amount of the bonded debt growing out of the war.

As an alternative to the issue of bonds, he suggested authorization of issue of notes limited to ten billion dollars and an increase in the maximum amount of treasury certificates to eight billion to ten billion dollars, not that the three items should be at all cumulative, but that the Treasury should have the power to finance the government's operation in the most economical way.

Appears in Executive Session. The secretary appeared before the committee in executive session and his statement later was made public at the treasury. Committee members said it was apparent that approval would not be given for all the authority that was asked.

Exemption from taxation to be carried by the new issue, Mr. Glass said, would not be greater than that conferred in the First Liberty Bond act, nor less than exemption from state and local taxes.

Mr. Glass added that it was not essential that the financial plan for protecting the holders of existing Liberty Bonds.

Immediate steps to set up a sinking fund for the retirement of the war debt was recommended.

Urges Blue Sky Law. Drastic legislation to "protect the government in its financial operations and the people of the United States from threatened grave injury" growing out of the issuance of securities of doubtful worth was asked of Congress by Secretary Glass.

He urged early enactment of a law drawn by the capital issues committee which would require all corporations or persons desiring to sell stock through the mails or through advertisement in newspapers circulated through the mails to file with the secretary a comprehensive statement concerning the stock. It also would make the persons required to sign the statements personally responsible for any falsity therein.

Willful violation of the act would be punishable by fine of $5,000 or imprisonment of one year or both and persons suffering from intentional misrepresentations in the statements could recover damages.
