on her way to New Westminster this morning, found the body of a man, which was turned over to the Trader and brought to port.

Four other bodies were recovered floating in a tide rip between Race Rocks and Brotchie Ledge by the tug Edna Grace about 9 o'clock this morning.

These have been identified at the local morgues as N. P. Shaw of Victoria, a prominent local business man, mine and ship owner; Miss Gill, who came from San Francisco to testify at the Hopper-Dunsmuir will case now proceeding here; Harvey Sears, stevedore of the Clallam, a brother of Capt. Sears, owner and master of the Iroquois, which made an ineffectual search for the sinking vessel on the night she foundered, and Miss Minnie Murdock of Seattle.

The body brought in by the steamer Trader has been identified as Peter LaPlante of Friday Harbor.

SAD SURPRISE FOR HER FRIENDS

Miss Minnie Murdock, Pretty Seattle Girl, a Clallam Victim.

Young Woman's Parents at Monroe Prostrated With Grief.

MISS MINNIE MURDOCK.

The Times Special Service.

MONROE, Wash., Tuesday, Jan. 12.—Miss Minnie Murdock was a handsome girl 20 years old. She was born of Seattle parents and had lived in Cherry Valley for the past seventeen years. She was going to Victoria to visit Miss Crossman, and her parents here were unaware of her intention.

They did not know anything of the sad fate of their daughter until they received a telegram last evening announcing the finding of a part of the girl's clothing.

The family is overcome with grief. Miss Murdock's father had just returned from his old home in Nova Scotia and received the news of the terrible calamity.

Miss Murdock was well and favorably known in Monroe. She was a member of the Waiters' Union of Seattle and lately was employed at Smith's restaurant in Seattle.

Miss Minnie Murdock, one of those missing from the steamship Clallam, and a part of whose personal effects were found in a lifeboat yesterday near the scene of the wreck, had been in Seattle for about six months. She was employed at Smith's restaurant at 1208 First Avenue, ever since the place was started. She also worked for Mr. Smith in another restaurant and was in his employ about six months.

Those who know her speak in the highest praise both as a friend and in her work. She was of a sunny disposition and had many acquaintances. When she left the Hotel Brunswick to take the boat, she remarked that Friday was an unlucky day, but thought it would not affect such a long journey. She came here from Monroe, Wash.

INQUEST BEGINS AT VICTORIA

Coroner Impanels a Jury and Identifications Are Made.

The Times Special Service.

VICTORIA, B. C., Tuesday, Jan. 12.—Coroner Hart called an inquest this morning to allow friends of those who were drowned in the Clallam disaster and those whose bodies have been found to formally identify and take possession of them. J. H. Fletcher, T. N. Hibben, Charles Cullin, Charles Weiler, James Rostein and William Herbert Marcon were sworn in, Mr. Fletcher being selected foreman.

The coroner first explained to the jury their duty. Before anything else they would be called upon to view the remains of bodies of the victims of the disaster at the morgues. He had called them together early so that friends of the dead might be able to fill all the requirements of identification as soon as possible. At the conclusion of these remarks the jury visited the undertaking parlors.

Returning, after having viewed the remains, three of the bodies were formally identified. H. C. Bellinger testified as to the identity of Miss Harris; F. Pinder to Miss Galletly, and W. J. Wilkinson to Miss Diprose.

Coroner Hart then announced that there was nothing further to do until more bodies were recovered. He recommended that an adjournment be taken to an early date. It was finally decided to meet again at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

BUCEY IN CHARGE.

Becomes Receiver Owing to Drowning of Col. C. W. Thompson.

TACOMA, Tuesday, Jan. 12.—Henry Bucey has been appointed receiver for the Montezuma Mining Company and the Washington Cooperative Company, of each of which the late Col. Charles W. Thompson, who was drowned in the Clallam catastrophe, was president. The liabilities of the two companies are placed at $40,000, while the assets are but $24,000. There are valuable leases on coal lands not included in the listed assets.

Some time ago there was talk of a receiver for the Washington Cooperative Company. The Washington Cooperative Company owns coal properties and twenty-year leases on coal lands situated in the eastern part of Pierce County. The Montezuma Company owns copper, gold and silver mines also in the eastern part of the county. The affairs of the companies are so inextricably mixed that separate receiverships are impossible. Henry Hewitt petitioned for the receivership.

ADDICKS SUED FOR $75,000,000

Gas Company Receiver Demands an Accounting of Millionaire.

By Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., Tuesday, Jan. 12.—In the United States district court today Receiver Pepper, of the Bay State Gas Company, filed a replication in the suit recently instituted by him against J. Edward Addicks and the directors of the gas company, in which they were asked to give an accounting of $75,000,000 of stock in the company which they were alleged to have issued to Addicks personally.

This is the final paper in the suit and its object is to force the issue. It will be followed by the appointment of a master to take testimony.

GRIEF REIGNS AT VICTORIA

Four of the Clallam's Dead From That City Well Known.

Banker Galletly Dangerously Ill, Caused From Grief.

MR. AND MRS. R. TURNER
Victoria, Both Lost

The Times Special Service.

VICTORIA, B. C., Tuesday, Jan. 12.—Capt. Livingston Thompson, one of the Clallam dead, was very widely known here. His body was among those recovered from the upper works of the steamer by the Bahada and taken to Port Townsend. Mrs. Thompson went over yesterday and will be back with the body this evening.

For about six years Capt. Thompson had been a resident of Victoria. Of a cheerful disposition he was very popular with all who knew him. He was 52 years of age and was born in Kilquade House, County Wicklow, Ireland. Formerly he was an officer in the Eleventh Prince Albert's Own Hussars, being captain and adjutant. His brother was an officer in the same corps before him. Capt. Thompson served in India in '73, '74 and '75. At Umballa, in India, he met Edith Mary Gillies, daughter of the late Col. R. C. Tytler, of the East India Company's Bengal army, and was married to her at Simla. Since coming to Victoria he followed the profession of land surveyor, and has been closely identified with several mining ventures on Vancouver Island.

N. P. Shaw.

N. P. Shaw, of this city, another victim, held the controlling interest in the N. P. Shaw Company. He was born in Victoria, New Brunswick, but has lived for many years in the West. He organized the N. P. Shaw Company a few year sago, and was really the sole holder of stock in it. The steamer Venture was built and operated by him, and has been engaged since in the carrying trade with Skagway, confining attention principally to cattle. In addition to this Mr. Shaw was very prominently connected with mining enterprises on the west coast.

He was about 37 year sof age, and seven years ago was married to Miss Lugrin, daughter of C. H. Lugrin, of this city. He leaves besides his widow a son 6 years old. His father is also living at Victoria, New Brunswick.

Ill From Grief.

A. J. C. Galletly, manager of the Bank of Montreal, who lost both wife and daughter by the Clallam fatality, is ill at his home.

From Little Rock, Ark., came a cipher telegram with instructions from H. T. Howe, secretary of the Eagles of that city, to Joseph Wachter, president of the local aerie, that should the body of Guy Daniels be recovered, it should be taken in charge by local Eagles and

ALL FLAGS FLY AT HALF-MAST

Port Townsend Grieves for the Dead of Clallam Disaster.

Five Bodies Sent to Their Former Homes for Burial.

The Times Special Service.

PORT TOWNSEND, Tuesday, Jan. 12.—It was funeral day in Port Townsend yesterday and while flags flew at half-mast throughout the city, the remains of the strangers who met death in the Clallam disaster and after being brought here by the Bahada were tenderly cared for until identification was had, were started to their respective destinations.

The bodies of Capt. Livingstone Thompson, C. F. Johnson and Archie Huson were taken to Victoria for interment. The first named was a prominent government official, Mr. Johnson was father-in-law of Chief Justice Hunter of British Columbia, while Huson was a member of the ship steward's force and had charge of the rooms in the texas of the steamer.

Victim an Eagle.

It developed upon identification of his remains yesterday that the young fellow was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and his remains were taken in charge and escorted to the boat by Port Townsend Aerie No. 172 of the order. A delegation of three local members accompanied the remains to Victoria.

The body of Eugene Hicks, of Friday Harbor, was taken there in a boat specially chartered for the purpose by his uncle, Joseph Sweeney, the wealthy canneryman, while the body of Prof. W. B. Gibbons went to the City of Destiny for interment, in charge of Robert Barclay, the well known shipping man of that city.

Search Continues.

Last night brought no additional particulars of the wreck or the dead, but demonstrated that the patrol search reported as instituted was carried on even more extensive lines than were first reported. The revenue cutter Arcata, Capt. Harry Hamlett, participated in the search and found wreckage as far away as San Juan Pass, indicating that the remains of the victims may be found yet many miles away from the place in mid-straits where the unfortunate packet plunged to the bottom. The beach patrol at San Juan Island is still being vigorously prosecuted and should any bodies fail of recovery it will not be the fault of the watchers.

WILL INVESTIGATE THE WRECK

Victoria Board of Trade Calls on Government to Assist It.

The Times Special Service.

VICTORIA, B. C., Tuesday, Jan. 12.—The Council of the board of trade held a meeting yesterday afternoon to discuss the Clallam disaster and there was much strong comment in regard to the seaworthiness of the Clallam. The meeting was not a public one, no press representatives being admitted. The board of trade moved several resolutions, seeking a thorough investigation of the catastrophe.

It was moved first that the board of trade be legally represented at the coroner's inquest and take such steps as are necessary to thoroughly investigate the cause of the disaster; secondly, that the attention of the department of marine be called to the Clallam disaster and that it be asked to appoint a commission to investigate the same, and that a committee be appointed to wait upon the Hon. Senator Templeman with a request to forward this resolution to Ottawa at once; and thirdly, that Mr. Lugrin be requested to represent the board at the coroner's inquest and that a committee wait upon the Hon. Senator Templeman and ask his assistance in having Mr. Lugrin appointed to represent the Dominion government at the investigation.

Mr. Lugrin is father-in-law of N. P. Shaw, who was one of the victims.

A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Pitts, Carter, Ker, Paterson and Kingham, waited on Senator Templeman to this end and he, after expressing his approval of the board's course, at once forwarded the resolutions by wire to the Dominion government.

SUICIDE IN A LODGING HOUSE

Japanese Cut His Throat From Ear to Ear With Two-Edged Knife.

A. Horiki was found dead in a lodging house, 308 Fourth Avenue South, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by an attendant of the house, who gave the alarm to the police at 4 o'clock. Detective Lane was sent down to the place and found Horiki lying upon the bed with his throat cut from ear to ear, and his body lacerated from the effects of a two-edged knife, tightly clasped in his right hand.

That the case was one of suicide deliberately planned was evident from the fact that he had divested himself of underclothing in order to give free play to the knife. Investigation by Coroner Hoye revealed the fact that he had $60 to his credit in a Japanese savings bank. The motive for the act is not known.

The prevailing opinion among the Japanese is that the act of self-destruction was committed as an atonement for a wrong done in Japan several years ago. Coroner Hoye considered the matter as one of deliberate suicide and decided to hold no inquest.

OBJECTS TO CASS

King County Horticultural Society Favors Blackburn for Fruit Inspector.

At the regular meeting of the King County Horticultural Society in the hall of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce on Saturday last, considerable objection was raised to the appointment of Mr. Cass as deputy inspector for King County. Resolutions were read from the Vashon Horticultural Society indorsing Mr. John T. Blackburn of Seattle for the position held by Mr. Cass. After indorsing these resolutions, the local society appointed a committee consisting of President Hart, Mr. Millian of Green Lake and J. W. Hopkins of Seattle, giving them full power to use every available means to have the present horticultural law amended, so as to require the indorsement of all appointments for local deputies made by the state inspector, by the local county society, where such exists.
