BELLINGHAM.

Suspension of a sentence of from one year to fifteen years in the state penitentiary closed the case against Guy Huggins, Bellingham stock salesman, who about two months ago was convicted by a jury of grand larceny in withholding $300 from the State Building & Loan Association of Tacoma. Judge John M. Ralston of Port Angeles declared there was no doubt in his mind that Huggins was morally guilty but that there were close legal and technical questions as to his guilt. The court said that Huggins would be placed under the jurisdiction of a state parole officer, and he advised him not to sell stock again.

PUYALLUP.

Harry K. Todd, chairman of the board of trustees of the Puyallup & Summer Fruit Growers Canning Company, has announced that the extensive plants of the company at Puyallup and Summer will, despite the depression in the fruit canning industry throughout the United States, operate at normal capacity during the season of the berry crop of the valley, as in past years. From the number of inquiries and orders at hand, there is every prospect of a large pack for the season of 1922.

The Pierce County Rural Sunday School Institute will be held in Puyallup at the First Methodist Church, March 16 and 17. P. M. Snider of Puyallup, president of the Pierce County Sunday School Association, is general manager of the meetings.

A caucus will be held April 1 in the Civic Auditorium to nominate city officers for the run after the election and the election will be held May 2.

CENTRALIA.

George B. Hanson, who recently disposed of his interests in the Central State Bank, has purchased stock in the State Bank of Edmonds at Edmonds, Wash., and has been elected president of that institution. Mr. Hanson has purchased property at Edmonds and will move his family there.

Centralia police are assisting in the search for a 9-year-old Olympia boy, named Eklund, who disappeared from his home in that city. Three theories are advanced for his disappearance, that he ran away, was kidnapped or drowned in the bay at Olympia.

Centralia Lodge, R. P. O. E. No. 1083, was host to a large delegation from the Aberdeen lodge Wednesday night, when fifty members of the Aberdeen organization motored here to put on the initiative work for a caucus of Centralia candidates.

The residence owned by Sam Rutherford, Bucoda, was destroyed by flames early Thursday morning. The greater part of the loss is covered by insurance.

A large delegation of members from Judea White Shrine, No. 4, of Centralia, will go to Seattle on March 11, to attend a meeting of Bethlehem Shrine, No. 1, of that city, in acceptance of an invitation from the Seattle lodge.

PORT ANGELES.

The Commercial Club has started a campaign to raise sufficient funds to operate the Clallam cannery this year. George Cross, cannery man of Uih, will manage the cannery if the present plans materialize. He has offered his services for $75 a month and will be allowed 40 per cent of the net earnings at the end of the year and 60 per cent for the cannery company.

The Kiwanis and Rotary clubs have endorsed the soldiers' bonus and have telegrams to Washington's senators and representatives in Congress asking for its immediate passage.

ENUMCLAW.

John McNichel, who died from injuries received in the Auburn Seattle stage wreck last Saturday, will be buried today in the Buckley cemetery, with services at the Presbyterian Church. Mr. McNichel was a pioneer of this section.

On Saturday Enumclaw town officials will be hosts to all interested in an inspection of the new municipal building, recently completed. Every-thing is in readiness for the new building on this formal opening day.

CHEHALIS.

L. A. Kingkenney, who was arrested in Seattle on a grand larceny charge, was brought back to Chehalis yesterday. Kingkenney was head of the Centralia Brigetting Company, which was organized in Centralia, ever since it was organized, and there were many stormy sessions of the board of directors in an effort to get Kingkenney out of the company. Finally the company went into the hands of receivers and the company was sold here for Kingkenney charges him with fraudulently obtaining $8,000 from M. J. Stone of Turlock, Cal., in August, 1921.

O. J. Albers of the Chehalis Park Board has called a meeting in Chehalis March 18 of representatives of the several Washington cities to consider uniform park charges and uniform accommodations for the summer tourists. The cities invited to participate include Napa, Vinlock, Toledo, Centralia, Buxton, Tenino, Olympia, Oakville, Elsie, Aberdeen, Hoquiam, Long Beach, South Bend, Garmon, Leavenworth, Castle Rock, Kalama and Shelton.

EVERETT.

Mrs. G. Thorkelson of Red Crossing near Spokane, was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon by an angry cow just after she had placed the animal in its stall. She was fastening the stall when the animal was able to make her way, however, from the barn to the house, where she asked the telephone central to send medical aid and then fell to the floor.

TO MERGE TELEPHONE LINES

Hearing Held on Consolidation of Long Distance Systems.

OLYMPIA, Friday, March 10.—Un-necessary duplication in telephone service along the Coast was the argument presented by officials of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Northwestern Long Distance Telephone Company for consolidation of the two systems at a hearing here yesterday.

Fred Williams, chairman of the Oregon Public Service Commission, and Hance Cleland, supervisor of public utilities in this state, heard the case and will submit recommendations, with the record of the proceedings, to the Interstate Commerce Commission for final action.

F. H. Crosby, president of the Northwestern company, declared a saving of from $15,000 to $20,000 a year might be made by consolidation with the Pacific company. The Northwestern company operates branch lines in Oregon and along the Columbia River, the main line running from Portland to Tacoma, Seattle, Bellingham and Port Angeles.

Prussia is estimated to have more than 3,700,000 acres of idle land reclaimable for agriculture by drainage.

SUIT WON BY JAPANESE

IMPORTANT RULING BY CALIFORNIA JUDGE.

Upholds Right of American-Born Children to Land Bought for Them by Father.

By Associated Press.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Friday, March 10.—Right of two American-born Japanese children in possession of land purchased for them by their father, a native of Japan, was upheld yesterday in a decision said to be the first of its kind in California history rendered by Superior Judge E. P. McDaniel in the case of the state of California against Juseke Shingu and his two minor children, Sumize Shingu and Kiyoko Shingu. The land, which was purchased for $5,500 from G. L. and Mary Douglas in Sutter County in April, 1912, was sold to the Attorney-General U. S. Webb sought to have the property escheated to the state on the ground of fraud and violation of the California anti-alien land law in the purchase of the land.

Judge McDaniel, who declared that he favored the anti-alien land law and had always held it constitutional, said that under the constitution any American-born person has the right to possession in the United States of property in his own right. In regard to the purchase of the land by the father, Judge McDaniel said that proof of fraud was not conclusive, but that Juseke Shingu, who tried to take possession, "but the law does not say he cannot do so." He ruled in favor of the children, who, as American citizens, are not under the disabilities which stand in his way.

Fourteenth Amendment Cited.

Attorney-General Webb stated that should the court hold this transaction to be within the law, it would require no proof to conceive rapidly expanding Japanese ownership of land, which 100,000 Japanese in California and their children rapidly increasing.

The statement describes an impossible situation, and if the fault exists, the blame and fault are basic, growing as they do out of possibilities created by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which declares that all persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the state where they reside.

Judge McDaniel said the state provided the right of the minor children as grantees in the case.

The principal allegations in the complaint were that the father, Juseke Shingu was a native Japanese citizen and not eligible to citizenship in the United States.

In Sutter County, where the sale of land in question took place, application for letters of guardianship were made by Shingu for his two children and were denied by Judge Mahon on the ground that in the opinion of the court Shingu had purchased the land, not for his own children, but for himself.

Judge McDaniel's Ruling.

Judge McDaniel, in his opinion, said the grantors, C. L. Douglas and his wife, unless they were conspirators, intentionally endeavoring to aid the defendant to perpetrate a fraud upon the law and circumvent it, had the legal right to sell their property to American citizens.

evidence of fraud vitiating the entire grant of interests in the California suit was not concluded while one of the children was unborn. Both children were alive upon the conclusion of the transaction.

"These children, infants and unable to contract for themselves, are fully protected by the laws of California and the father cannot alienate the property, can make no valid lease of the property to any one else, can commit no waste, and can no valid contract concerning it as the natural guardian. He legally cannot even manage the property of the children without being authorized so to do by appointment of court.

It is brilliantly urged by the attorney-general that the evidence in this case is sufficient to create a resulting trust in favor of the father, Juseke Shingu, under Section 653 of the civil code.

"In this connection, however, it is the mind of this court that there is no evidence at all as to a resulting trust (which cannot arise out of an attempted fraud upon the government). Nowhere in this transaction did the title ever nominally rest in the father, Juseke Shingu, and it may be conceded that had the children been adults, capable of contracting, and even though American citizens, accepted the deed in question with the understanding between themselves and their father that they would merely hold the title to assist him in evading the force of the alien land law, that while still no resulting trust could have been created in his favor, the transaction would have been so tainted with the fraud not only on the part of Juseke Shingu, but also on the part of the other defendants, a resulting trust might, impliedly, be created in favor of the state, though its effect lay in the laws of 1912."

Impossible Situation Described.

"This court is not blind," the decision said, "to the persistence of such argument in a proper case, but this is not such a case, even if theoretically there may be some semblance of truth in the argument.

"Practically it describes an impossible situation and if the fault exists, the blame and fault are basic, growing as they do out of possibilities created by the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

"Even though the grantee in the deed are pure bred Japanese, nevertheless they are American citizens and as such are entitled to every right that any American citizen, from President Grant down to any citizen, they have as much right to own land as any citizen."

Accused of "Planting" Booze to Cause Raid

Concealing liquor in a man's house with the intention of telling officers to raid the house, is the charge made against S. M. Dowell today by Sheriff Matt Starvich. Dowell is alleged to have been about to "plant" the liquor in the house of a man living near Auburn yesterday, when the sheriff and his deputies discovered him.

According to Sheriff Starvich, Dowell fled, leaving his car and the liquor. A charge of possessing intoxicating liquor was placed against him in Justice C. Dalton's court, and he posted $250 bail today.
