NAVY IS FORCED TO WAGE FIGHT FOR EXISTENCE

ITH budget estimates already cut to a point where the national defense is in serious danger, the Navy is put to the necessity today of going to a congressional subcommittee to prevent further foolish and reckless slashing.

Unless Congress rejects the poor advice of the "little Navy" men, who have seen in the trend toward retrenchment a chance to scuttle the Navy, and adopts a more enlightened policy, America's sea power will be badly crippled.

The budget allowances for Navy personnel, as they now stand, propersonnel, as they now stand, provide for 86,000 men, which number 18 34,000 short of the force necessary to maintain the 5-5-3 ratio established for the United States, established for the United States, established for the United States, Great Britain and Japan by the five-power treaty. An effort may be made on the floor of Congress to increase the personnel by 10,000 over the opposition of the chairman of the naval subcommittee. This will give the "little Navy" men an opportunity to renew the fight made a few months ago when Navy officials sought to obtain appropriations for needed construction and an adequate personnel.

The reduced budget estimates would mean that work on ten new scout cruisers must be retarded or postponed. The department has insisted that the aircraft carriers, permitted under the five-power treaty, must be built as soon as possible. Without them the efficiency of the fighting ships would be hampered. The department asked for $60,000,000 for the aircraft vessels, the ten scout cruisers, three fleet $60,000,000 for the aircraft vessels, the ten scout cruisers, three fleet submarines and the S-type submersibles now building. The budget allowance tentatively agreed upon was only $40,000,000, which will necessitate curtailment of important construction work.

Among the items stricken from the budget were allowances for two new types of submarines, minelayers, and scouts. At present no provision is made for new construction. If Congress can be brought to realize the danger to the country's first line of defense, these items will be restored, a possibility somewhat remote in view of the determined attitude of the Navy scuttlers. There is a chance, however, that further reductions can be suc cessfully resisted.

Although experience has abundantly proved the wisdom of adequate preparedness, the so-called "little Navy" men persist in their (Continued on Page Two.)

Former President Shows Hellf Satisfactory Peace Is Is Full of Fight for League When He Emerges From Retirement.

Mr. Jermane's Dispatch.

Capital City Bureau,

905-6 Colorado Building.

WASHINGTON, Monday, Nov. 13.-Woodrow Wilson emerges from his retirement long enough to make a short speech to more than 5,000 enthusiastic admirers, who marched to his home on Saturday, Armistice Day. He is full of fight for his League of Nations, and seems to believe that it can again be made a major issue in state conventions and Democratic clubs.

Washington is very skeptical about Mr. Wilson's availability. His physical condition does not improve. He walks with an effort and has to be helped in and out of his automobile and up and down stairs.

His mental strength, however, is less variable than formerly. He has fewer "dark" days, and takes a more sustained interest in people and things than at any time since he was stricken in the fall of 1919.

I am informed that there are more callers at his home than previously and that he now delights to talk national and international affairs with them. The number of callers, however, still is very small, on the doctors orders.

Mr. Wilson's idea that he can stage a 'come-back' undoubtedly is based upon his belief that the League of Nations idea is stronger than ever before and at it is bound to prevail in the recent elections. Such thing in the recent elections. Such thing in the recent elections. CONSTANTINOPLE, Monday, Nov. 13.—(By Associated Press.)—The Turkish Nationalist leaders yesterday expressed resentment over what they termed American interference in Turkey's internal affairs contained in a note received from Secretary of State Hughes. The note was received too late for newspaper comment. The Nationalist leaders are particularly displeased over America's insistence for the maintenance of capitulations, which they declare must be scrapped forever. Regarding claims for indemnity, they said Turkey could not accept responsibility for damage caused American property by foreign invaders.

Tacoma Woman Tears Mask Off Hold-Up Man

TACOMA, Monday, Nov. 13.—Mrs.
Bertha Eldridge turned into the police station today a mask she tore from the face of a robber who attempted to hold her up with an imitation revolver. When the woman was stopped on a dark street last night she thought the revolver that was pushed into her face was real. But she grasped the wrist of the man and the glass weapon fell to the sidewalk, where it broke into bits. The robber was then bested in a fight to obtain the woman's pocketbook.

GRAND JURY BEGINS PROBE OF JUDGE'S

Without subpocnaing any witnesses, the King County grand jury started out at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon on a tour of inspection of county institutions.

Institutions to be visited are the county jail, hospital, stockade, home and farm. Should this tour be completed this afternoon, witnesses will probably be called by the grand jury tomorrow morning.

IN charges delivered to the special King County grand jury today, Judge Austin E. Griffiths, presiding in Superior Court, said it is asserted "that the crimes of bootlegging and other violations of the prohibition law, together with bribery or graft of law enforcement officials, are common and go unpunished in this city and county." His charges to the grand jury which was assembled this morning also included reference to the following other matters:

LADY DOYLE WRITES MESSAGE FOR SPIRIT

MESSAGE FOR SPIRIT

In tomorrow's installment of his articles on his spiritism lecture tour of America Sir Arthur. Conan Doyle tells of Lady Doyle's mediumistic power—that of automatic writing.

The noted British writer describes a family seance in Atlantic City in which Lady Doyle, through automatic writing, received a fifteen-page letter for Houdini from his mother.

"It was singular scene," her writes, "my wife, with her handflying wildly beating the tablewhile she scribbled at a furious rate, I sitting opposite tearing sheet after sheef from the-folock as it was pulled off and tossing each across to Houdini, while he satislent, looking grimmer and paler every moment.

Sir Arthur tells of these messages in all seriousness. What do you think of them? Have you ever seen or communicated with a spirit? Or do you think Sir Arthur has been misled by faking and self-hypnotism? What is your opinion of his articles, now appearing in The Times, and what has been your experience? For the last four years I have been unable to get dependable girls. I am never able to go away in the rorning for the entire day because I have no idea what to expect when I get home. Perhaps the maid will bave dinner ready, but more likely she won't. Perhaps she will have cleaned up the bathroom or bedrooms as I asked her to do, but she may have been called home by one of her supposedly "ailing" relatives. I am willing for them to entertain their friends, and usually give them part of every afternoon off, but I do not like the "sneaky" way of doing things. It seems to me that unless a housewife can depend on her servants, she is better off without them, and I think the only solution of the problem is for the girls to wake up to their responsibilities, or soon they will find that the housewives have decided to get along without them.—Mrs. Th.
