

Baby's contentment, his gurgling laugh, his rosy cheeks, his weight-progress-these welcome signs of health depend so much upon proper diet that many mothers look upon Carnation Milk as the baby's best friend. The remarkable uniformity of Carnation protects the infant from digestive upsets due to milk of varying quality. The complete breaking up of the rich butter-fat globules insures Carnation's even consistency, and makes for very easy digestibility. Thorough sterilization guarantees perfect safety. | .

You can look to Carnation for baby's food with absolute confidence, and you can be sure that, no matter where or when you buy it, it will be the same double-rich, full-cream milk from selected herds, protected from the cow to you. Tell your grocer you want Carnation.

Alien Land Case Is

OLYMPIA, Friday, July 8.—(F)— Holding that complaints drawn to scheat farm lands alleged to be held in violation of the anti-alien ownership law must be subjected to critical consideration because they are actions in fraud, the Supreme Court yesterday affirmed the King County Court in sustaining a demurrer to an action brought to escheat to the state agricultural land in King County
held in the name of Nellie Ishikawa,
an American born Japanese minor.
The lower court dismissed the complaint on the grounds that the complaint was too weak to withstand a general demurrer.
The land was deeded to the child
in September, 1918, several years before the anti-alien land ownership law was passed. While the state contended that W. Ishikawa and wife are in actual possession of the land, the tended that we share and whe are in actual possession of the land, the courts pointed out that the complaint fails to establish any relationship or that the child is not entitled to own the property, among other grounds warranting dismissal.

The men arrested are: Frank Lindage, 45 years old, and his son, Eugene. 22, both of Sedro Woolley; Clyde Duncan, 25, of Hamilton; A. E. Hunt, 50, of Hamilton, A. E. Hunt, 50, of Hamilton, Charles Abbott, 25, of Hamilton, and Charles Abbott, 21, of Hamilton.

In a secluded spot, almost covered with bushes and young trees, a short distance southeast of Hamilton, the distillery was housed in, a dugout 24 by 40 feet. The still had a capacity of between 250 and 300 gallons and, according to Sheriff Conn, had been in operation for some time. It was operated by a steam boiler.

The officers found 3,000 gallons of mash ready for use. Three of the men were taken to Everett last night by federal men to face trial before the federal court, the remaining trio having been kept in the Skagu jail, as the federal men did not have room in their automobile for all six prisoners at one time.

Grassi is being represented by Herbert Bryson, Walla Walla, and Lewis F. Buty, Seattle, and the state by A. E. Graham, county prosecutor.
Grassi was convicted in December, 1923, of having killed Guisseppe Tollomi and three other Italians at Tollomi's house in Aberdeen. He was sentenced to be hanged, but given reprieve pending the determination of his appeal to the Supreme Court, This court affirmed the jury's findings and he was resentenced. Just before the date set for execution, he was declared insane by the Superior Court of Walla Walla County, and brought back to the county jail here. The case again went to the Supremo Court which remanded it here, the result of which is the hearing now in progress.
