

LAMBDA RHO PREPARES VARIED WINTER PROGRAM

Art Honorary Society Opens Studio Work

Members of the Alumnae Association of Lambda Rho, art honorary society of the University of Washington, after a summer of varied art activities, have directed their attention to continuing the art and craft classes which have been held in its studio shop located on the balcony of the Security Market Building.

The studio shop project began in the fall of last year with the idea of creating a loan fund for upper-class students attending the University who were in need of financial help to complete their courses in art. This plan proved of definite value and in addition created an atmosphere conducive to the production of many fine pieces of work.

Work Is Inspiration
Members of the association feel that the work of the last year has been a benefit and inspiration not only to those actively associated but also to others who are interested in the development of art. Plans for the coming year have been made with the confidence that even more will be accomplished.

Keen interest in the studio work was evidenced by the large turnout of members for the first business meeting of the new season and by the numerous inquiries that have come from non-members concerning the fall class work.

Classes for Non-Members
Classes for non-members are being organized with Alice Whitmore as chairman. Registration can be made at the studio any day between noon and five o'clock. The instruction includes weaving, jewelry, metal work, pottery and block printing. The classes in weaving have attracted particular attention according to Iris Howell who handles the publicity for the group. So many beautiful hand-woven scarves appeared last season as a result of the loom and nimble fingers that weaving facilities in the studio are much in demand. Beautiful scarves, pillow covers, table runners and even rugs have been made on these studio looms.

Varied Activities Scheduled
Mrs. Charles Sully will have a class in weaving Wednesday mornings from 10 until 12 o'clock and on Monday nights from 8 until 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Paul Swift will direct the jewelry and metal work group from 10 until 12 o'clock on Monday evenings. Those in this class have found great interest in designing and making rings, bracelets, earrings and many other attractive ornaments as well as metal dishes and trays. Silver and copper lend themselves well to the execution of jewelry pieces.

The block-printing group will meet from 8 until 10 o'clock Thursday evenings. Those who are interested in this art will find means of expression under the direction of Winifred Newman.

Pottery Making Popular
Pottery making is also expected to find its share of enthusiasts. Molding clay into such a variety of designs is extremely absorbing and then there is the final thrill of glazing. Many a lovely piece has been made in the studio—vases, bowls, figurines and book-ends. Sidney Carlson Engset will conduct class in pottery from 1 until 3 o'clock Thursday afternoons.

In addition to these classes there will be a children's group for arts and crafts instruction convening Saturday mornings from 10 until 12 o'clock under the supervision of Alice Whitmore.

Mrs. Paul Swift will conduct a class in weaving and jewelry and metal work at 2 o'clock each Saturday afternoon. Anyone interested in additional information about these classes may call Melrose 1312.

Officers for New Year

The officers of Lambda Rho Alumnae Association for the new year include: President, Mrs. Paul Swift; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles Sully; corresponding secretary, Miss Isabel Benson; treasurer, Mrs. Avery Pabst. Members' working groups have been organized with Frances Falck, chairman of the jewelry and metal work, meeting Monday nights; Mrs. Nelson Clark, chairman of the weaving group, meeting at 2 o'clock Friday afternoons; and Mrs. Perry Hensley, chairman of the pottery class. Heading committees for the year are Mrs. Lou Sprague, Mrs. Dwight Pongelt, Winifred Newman and Rachel Young of the notification committee; Iris Howell, publicity; and Mrs. Charles Sully, who is manager of the studio.

Meeting Tomorrow

The Free Lances will meet for dinner at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the cafeteria of The Olympic.

OFFICER HONORED

Mrs. Garnet K. Saylor of Arlington, grand royal matron of the Order of Amaranth, who, with the grand royal patron, Mr. William J. Wilkins, will be honor guest at a banquet and reception this evening in Hotel Sorrento. This affair is the outstanding social event among local courts of the order for the year. Last Friday evening, Mrs. Saylor was honored by members of Evergreen Court at its regular meeting. (Walters.)

Treble Clef To Welcome New Members

Welcoming members to the Treble Clef Chorus who have joined the group this season, a dinner will be given in the Seattle Federation Clubhouse Wednesday evening. This affair also will honor the director, Edwin Fairbairn, and four past presidents, Mrs. D. C. Kessler, Mrs. Walter Perry, Mrs. Floyd H. Harbeck and Mrs. Inez Geiser.

Incidentally, the dinner will usher in a campaign for associate memberships to be conducted by Miss Jane Williams. Mrs. William Gordon Shaw, president of the chorus, will preside and there will be a short musical program opened by singing the national anthem, concluding with the much loved "Dear Land of Home," from Sibylus "Finlandia."

Arrangements for the dinner are in charge of Miss Jane Williams and Miss Mary Jo Van Oatman. Mrs. Floyd H. Harbeck and Mrs. Geiser.

Regular rehearsals are being held by the chorus on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Young Men's Christian Association Building. Owing to the predominance of second alto voices, first sopranos and alto singers are needed to balance the chorus, according to Mrs. Hubert Grandy, business manager. A special voice test will be given tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock for this purpose. Further information may be had from Mr. Fairbairn, Capitol 5722 or Mrs. Shaw, Kenwood 7783.

EASTERN STAR DANCE PLANNED

University Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, is making plans for its annual fall dance and card party which will be given Saturday evening in the Shrine Country Club. Honor guests of the affair will be matrons and patrons of chapters in King County.

The affair will be informal and open to the public.

Bellingham's Festival Ends At Big Banquet

BELLINGHAM, Monday, Sept. 30.—(U.P.)—Bellingham's harvest festival reached its grand finale Saturday night at a business men's and farmers' banquet at the Hotel Leopold attended by more than 300 persons. Attendance for the three festival days reached 44,000 as compared with 34,000 in 1934.

Ben H. Kizer of Spokane, chairman of the State Planning Council, as speaker of the evening, stressed the need of state-wide cooperation in the spirit of farmer cooperatives of Washington County, who are recognized as outstanding examples of rural organization throughout the United States.

P. J. Snyder was toastmaster. Referring to the Left and Right-Wing Democratic warfare, now in full swing here, he declared Whatcom County not only can raise the finest crops but is "also raising more beef and has more mandamus per square inch than any other county in the state."

According to one of the schools of dentistry in the United States, there are 400,000 defective teeth in the country, averaging about four to the individual.

Oriental Dinner Given By Class Studying Customs

A dinner, distinctly Oriental in appointment and entertainment features, was given last Thursday evening by members of a class studying Japanese flower arrangement and ancient rites of tea service, in the Maneki Cafe, presenting a truly Nipponese setting for the affair.

Mrs. K. Otani, noted authority in Japan whose work in these two subjects has attracted much attention here, is the instructor of this class composed of young Japanese women, many American born, who wish to be versed in the ancient customs of Japan.

The members of the class, the performers and attendants wore beautiful costumes with obis of handsome brocade. The guests sat upon bright colored cushions on the matting floor, enjoyed the highly favored saki-yaki fragrant tea and other Japanese delicacies served upon individual trays, and eaten with chopsticks.

Following the supper guests were entertained with demonstrations of ancient tea ceremonies directed by Mrs. Otani. Guests entertained were Francis J. Patron, consul for Great Britain; Mrs. Melita L. O'Hara, Mr. Herbert Little, secretary to the Japan Society; Mr. H. Tatematsu, instructor of Japanese language at the University of Washington; Mr. M. Sane of the Japanese consulate; Miss Bernice Reddington; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kennedy; Miss Clara Reynolds, supervisor of art in the public schools; Miss Ruth Dunsheim, supervisor of elementary music in the public schools; Miss M. Goode, manager of the foreign trade department, Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Y. Kokita.

Federated Clubs

Canadian Women's Club will hold its business meeting at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Seattle Federation Clubhouse, with Mrs. Robert Hodge and Miss Alice Munroe, hostesses. The meeting will close with a social hour.

West Side Women's Improvement Club will meet at the home of Mrs. William Dignan, at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. A. L. Neal is chairman of the program which will be preceded by a business session.

Women's Tuesday Club holds its meeting tomorrow at the home of Mrs. D. C. Hall, 4631 18th Ave. N. E., tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. John E. Ballaine will assist the hostess. Mrs. Hall will discuss current national events.

First Luncheon Will Be Held By Graduates

Seattle will be hostess for the first annual Western Washington luncheon of the recent graduate groups of branches of the American Association of University Women at the Pine Tree Tearoom at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Delegates, representing the young members of branches in Bellingham, Vancouver, Olympia, Longview, Tacoma and Seattle, will be present to discuss their program plans with Miss Elizabeth Watts of Bellingham, state chairman of these groups. The Misses Jean Condon, Virginia Norwood, Helen Spaulding and Dorothy Meyers are in charge of local arrangements.

Gets Hearty Support

Started some years ago as a junior section of the association, the recent graduate group is now receiving the hearty support of older and younger members alike because it acts as a training course for active participation in the varied activities of the association and gives the younger members a chance to build a program to meet their own interests.

In Seattle this group meets once a month for its own program in addition to attending the regular meetings of the whole group. This year their meetings will be on the second Wednesday of each month at the Y. W. C. A. cottage at the corner of 43rd Street and 15th Avenue Northeast. The first meeting will be on October 9.

Rules Are Few

Membership in the recent graduate group has the same requirements as the senior association, graduation from an accredited university or college. No hard and fast rules are made concerning the age of the younger group members although in general only those who have been graduated during the past ten years are urged to take part in this activity.

Miss Norwood is contacting all prospective members who have come to her attention so that they may attend the luncheon on October 5. Any eligible young woman who is interested in attending the luncheon may make a reservation through Miss Jean Condon at Kenwood 0559 or Mrs. Emery Fraser, who is the branch contact officer for the younger group, at Vermont 0347.

First rehearsal following vacation of the Mary-Martha Singers, directed by Mrs. Chester A. Leighton, will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow in the home of Mrs. C. Norman Dickinson, 3236 Cascadia Ave.

Plans for a Christmas carol program are already under way and the members of the organization are dressing dolls for children at Christmas time. Mrs. William Rasmussen heads this work. Mrs. Ross King will serve as accompanist for the rehearsal.

Mrs. William S. Covington, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. Landon O. Henry in The High-Cargo for several weeks, is expected home Tuesday.

Reopening Of Cornish Marked By Reception

Marking the opening of the twenty-second fall term of the famous Seattle school which she founded, Nellie C. Cornish gave a small informal reception on Friday night, September 27, with members of the Cornish board and school staff as guests.

Guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Balogh of New York, Miss Annamaria Henle of Heidelberg, Germany, Mrs. Edith Warrman Skinner of New York, all new members to be added to the faculty this year, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred.

Musical entertainment was furnished by Marianne Flanders, soprano, and Harold Bialock, tenor. Pupils of Maude Conley Hopper of Cornish presented a delightful series of duets from the music of Schumann and Mozart. Further entertainment was furnished by students of the puppet department who presented three short puppet skits during the evening.

Among those present were: Mrs. C. D. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Enslum, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Merrill, Maude Conley Hopper, Dorothy Hopper Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kimball, Mrs. M. S. Bornstein, Mr. Glauco Merigagli, Miss Martha Sackett, Mrs. Scott Bullitt, Mrs. Margaret Joslin, Miss Margaret Jensen and other members of the Cornish faculty.

Johnnie... Name the loaf of bread with all 12 points of goodness

Johnnie knows the answer—it's "Langendorf." And you may be sure Johnnie's mother knows a lot of things about bringing up children—and buying bread for them.

Let's take a tip from her—why waste time trying to remember which bread is "fresh," which "toasts" best, or which "keeps" longest?

Why not just remember the name Langendorf and get in one loaf all 12 points of goodness?

Twelve points? Yes—and important, too. Glance at the Langendorf score card shown here. Every Langendorf loaf has to pass every one of those tests before you have a chance to buy it. Not much chance for guesswork, is there? Freshness, taste, grain, texture and the rest—they're all there, all twelve.

And you can have them, for sure, from the grocer you patronize, simply by saying or reaching for Langendorf.
