

WOUNDED MAN LEFT TO FREEZE

ALBANY, Or., Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—A theory, based on an X-ray picture, that Claud Hultz was shot and left to die in zero weather on Blaine Mountain, north-east of Brownsville, was under investigation by state police and Lynn County authorities today.

Hultz was found in a pit by a posse Sunday. Both hands and feet were frozen and his right eye was injured and swollen shut. His left eye had been blinded previously.

James Cronin, his companion on a hunting trip, made his way out of the woods Saturday and reported that Hultz had taken refuge under a windfall. Poses found Hultz, nearly dead, in a pit.

Surgeons at Lebanon Hospital, where Hultz was recovering slowly, reported late Wednesday that an X-ray picture appeared to reveal that Hultz had been wounded by a bullet.

Hultz told the questioners that he was positive he was not lost on the mountain, but he cannot remember how he was injured or how he got in the pit where he was found.

Cronin was in Linn County jail here serving a sentence of twelve days on a charge of hunting without a license.

Hunter's Dog Points To Master's Body

COLVILLE, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—A bird dog's point, established over the body of his master, Fred Phillips, 38-year-old Adley Creamery man, led to the discovery he had been shot through the chest with both barrels of a shotgun.

Howard Hague, Phillips' hunting companion, found the body. Officials pronounced the death accidental, probably caused by his falling.

Olympia Boy Blamed In Hunter's Death

OLYMPIA, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Negligence and carelessness of 15-year-old Ernest Brinley, Olympia high school student, was blamed today for the death of Frank Barker, 29, shot while hunting deer.

A coroner's jury recommended that no hunting license be issued to the boy again until he is 21 years old.

Barker was the second of three hunting fatalities in Thurston County so far this season. Others killed were Donald M. Hayes of Yelm and Val Smith, 37, of Centralia.

1 Dead, 3 Hurt In Ellensburg Highway Wreck

ELLENSBURG, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Donald Cooper, 25-year-old Sandpoint, Idaho, magazine subscription solicitor, was fatally injured and three other persons were hurt, one seriously, in an automobile smash-up on the Canyon Highway half way between Ellensburg and Yakima at 1:30 o'clock this morning.

Leon Fournier, Yakima, driver of one machine, suffered a fractured skull and Martin Long, Yakima, was cut and bruised. They are in Ellensburg General Hospital, where physicians said Fournier has a good chance of recovery. Miss Mary Hoffmeyer, Ellensburg, another passenger in the Fournier automobile, suffered severe cuts, but did not require hospital treatment.

"Cop" Cooper, a former University of Washington student, was a passenger in an automobile driven by Claude Bruner of Seattle. Not seriously injured, Bruner told investigating officers his car skidded on a curve and ran directly into the path of the Fournier machine.

The victims were brought to the hospital here by John Honeycutt, Ellensburg mortician, and two Cle Elum undertakers, who were returning from a convention of funeral directors in Yakima.

OLYMPIA, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Julia Carnahan, 76 years old, died last night in St. Peter's Hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. Carnahan, 61, of McCleary, who also was injured in the accident, was reported recovering.

Boy, 16, Is Held As Bomber Confidant

MILWAUKEE, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—A 16-year-old boy was in custody today after he confessed, Capt. of Detectives Frank Prohaska said, that he knew Hugh Rutkowski, bomb terrorist, had converted his South Side Garage into a dynamite cache.

Prohaska said the youth, Elmer Gritz, admitted after two days of denials that Rutkowski confided he had explosives in the garage and was going to get those cops if it's the last thing I do.

2 Salesmen Go to Prison

John L. Hodge, 43 years old, and Robert M. Brown, 45, salesmen, were taken to McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary today to begin terms of one year and three years, respectively. They were convicted here last October on charges of defrauding investors in a gold mine near Gold Hill, Or.

WHEATON, Mo., Thursday, Nov. 7.—At 9 p. m., under a new ordinance, the curfew figuratively tolls the knell of youthful activity outside the home. After that hour it is unlawful for any minor to be "found upon the streets, lanes, alleys or other public places" in Wheaton.

STAVISKY AIDES VISITED WALES

PARIS, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—As the trial of twenty defendants implicated in the Stavisky swindle proceeded, the final report of the parliamentary investigation was completed today.

Henry Guernut, investigating committee chairman, said the sixth and final volume of data has been printed and the conclusions would be ready about November 15.

Four additional witnesses were called for today's session, with the interrogation switching to the swindler's dealings with the Bayonne municipal pawnshop.

They were Joseph Garat, member of the Chamber of Deputies and former mayor of Bayonne; Vincent Digoon, retired police inspector; Henri Cohen, pawnshop appraiser; and Gustave Tiesier, former manager of the Bayonne pawnshop.

Tiesier testified that on one occasion Garat took an examiner to Biarritz to "see the Prince of Wales."

Tiesier's confession of mismanagement of the loan office started the investigation of Stavisky's transactions which led to downfall of the cabinet of Premier Camille Chautemps and fatal street rioting in Paris.

A variety of charges has been filed against Tiesier, who the prosecution asserted was hired as manager to assist Stavisky in promoting the sale of false bonds and overvaluing jewels. The position was offered on the recommendation of Garat, the government asserts.

'PARITY' PRICES CHEER UP IOWA

AMES, Iowa, Thursday, Nov. 7.—(U.P.)—Economic charts which record the month-by-month condition of the Iowa farmer reflected the brightest agricultural prospects today that Iowa has seen in five years.

The purchasing power of Iowa farm products has reached "parity," the goal of the farm administration, Iowa State College economists reported.

Iowa farm income, increased by $80,000,000 in crop benefit payments, has climbed steadily. State College professors recalled the billion-dollar farm mortgage debt and the "sacrifice" farm prices of 1931 and 1932 which precipitated a farmer uprising against mortgage foreclosures.

The mortgage debt was still high—around $900,000,000—but farmers now have cash with which to pay interest and some of the principal.

The 1935 corn crop is near normal and the outlook for next year is bright, they said.

For the first time since the farm revolt, the price index of things Iowa farmers sell and the price index of things they buy have come together at "parity."

The products farmers sell will purchase as many of the products they buy as they did during the 1910-14 period, which has been termed "parity."

Civic Leaders Greet Okamoto

Welcoming Issaku Okamoto, newly appointed Japanese consul to Seattle, and Mrs. Okamoto, Seattle civic leaders and Japanese business men gathered at a dinner in the Junior ballroom of the Olympic Hotel last night.

The event was sponsored by the Japan Society of Seattle. Speakers included Mayor Charles L. Smith; State Representative Donald A. McDonald, representing the state in the absence of Gov. Clarence D. Martin; Alfred H. Lundin, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Corwin S. Shank, representing the Japan Society; Dean Edward H. Lauer of the University of Washington and Otto K. Strizek, dean of the consular corps.

Mr. Okamoto succeeds Kiyoshi Uchiyama, who was transferred to the Philippines.

Why should farmers pay the same price for milk as city people is a question being asked of the Milk Marketing Board by the consumers' committee of Scotland, which is investigating retail prices.

Motor rail services are being extended in Spain.
