

SWIMMING MARKS GO IN WASHINGTON STATE MEET

SEATTLE RELAY TEAM CAPTURES NATIONAL TITLE

Point standing at end of first day's competition in the Washington State swimming championships: Washington Athletic Club..... 30 Crystal Swimming Club..... 29 University of Wash. Frosh..... 25 Seattle Y. M. C. A..... 6 Vancouver, Wash..... 2 University of Washington..... 3

Every event on the program except the diving saw a state record set or broken, as swimmers splashed up and down the lanes in the Washington Athletic Club pool, seeking Washington state indoor championships last night.

"Why such record-breaking carnival?" Coach Ray Daughters of the host club was asked. So he explained.

"Most of the state records were set in the fifty-yard Crystal Pool and in other long-course pools, whereas faster times are possible in our twenty-five-yard or short-course pool."

"Then the calibre of swimmers competing is improving and as one would notice the competition was close in nearly every race."

"Too, keeping the water at a slightly lower temperature keeps the swimmers moving and keeping it at a rough level prevents backwash, thus minimizing interference for the swimmers."

Daughters' rebuilt women's relay team, which has a habit of winning national championships for the W. A. C., captured that special event last night in the rather slow time of 4:22.2. That was far behind the world's record of 4:13.4, also held by the club team, but lowered the state mark of 4:34.

The rebuilt team has two "veterans" in Betty Lea and Jean Kolinski, and two youngsters in Doreen Barker and Irma Schoenauer. It was pressed by a Multnomah Athletic Club four from Portland. . . Brenda Eisler, Mildred White, Nancy Lewis and Mary Stern, that finished eighteen yards behind.

The four Portland girls will compete tonight in the 500-yard freestyle for the national junior women's title, together with seven Washington A. C. girls who have yet to capture a national title.

Wally Schultz of the W. A. C. won the 100-yard free style and the club's women's medley relay teams captured all three places in that event for they were without outside competition. Betty Lea swam a lap for the winning team and also won the 200-yard free style.

Crystal Swimming Club carried off four first places in men's events. The Flying C trio of Fred Carlson, Gene Caddy and Lucien Harvey won the men's medley; Carlson won the backstroke and Caddy the breaststroke, while Chuck Redding finished strong to nose out Bill Langevine of the University of Washington in the ten-foot diving, 121.6 points to 120.2.

The state meet continues today with the following events, in addition to the National 500-yard race: For women—100-yard breaststroke, 10-foot diving, 100-yard backstroke and 50-yard free style. For men—200-yard freestyle, 400-yard relay.

Besides there will be men's exhibition diving and a couple of exhibition relay races. Last night's summary:

Motorcycle Riders Test Hill Sunday

Gasoline, dust and courage will be mixed in competition Sunday when some thirty motorcycle drivers send their iron steeds hurtling up the new Norway Hill ridge against time. The hill is just south of Bothell.

Louie Kaellin, Seattle expert who has been out of competition for some time, will return to action. He will be severely tested by Larry Lane, Joe Schlumb and Andy Skeel.

Other Seattle riders entered are Ralph Dustin, Loren Rusnak, Don Rothen, Ben Hart, Dick Skeel, Don Curtis, Duane Whitcomb and Dick Simpson.

The climb, sanctioned by the national body, is under auspices of the Seattle division of the American Motorcycle Association. It is a Class C contest, for the private owner class, divided into 80-cubic-inch novice riders, 45-inch expert and 80-inch expert.

Referee Drops Dead

KANSAS CITY, Friday, April 22.—(AP)—Phil Taggart, 48, veteran wrestling referee and semipro baseball umpire, dropped dead from a heart attack shortly after refereeing the first two matches on a wrestling card here last night.

FISH: Where NOT to Go, Game Department Offering Here Reason to Avoid Listed Waters

By KEN BINNS

Virtually every fisherman in these parts (which will include, on Sunday, opening day, approximately 60,000) knows where he wants to go.

Now for a list of places he must, by law, avoid: The spots where game fish traps will be operated during the first part of the fishing season.

Ready? Begin to stir: Juanita Creek, Matthews Creek, McAleer Creek and Swamp Creek, all on Lake Washington.

Bear Creek, Griffin Creek, headworks of Green River, and Tokul Creek, all in King County.

Barnes and Indian Creeks, in Chatham County.

Satsop River, each branch below the Hillman Game Farm, in Mason County.

Anderson, Brannian and Smith Creeks; on Lake Whatcom in Whatcom County.

Harvey Creek, inlet to Sullivan Lake, and Brown's Lake outlet, in Pend Oreille County. Beaver Creek, inlet to Twin Lakes, in Ferry County.

Lower Little Spokane River, in Spokane County.

Wolf Creek, inlet to Patterson Lake, Okanogan County.

Emerald Creek, inlet to Dumpka Lake, Chelan County.

Eight tributaries of Packwood Lake, in Lewis County.

The Department of Fisheries are operating steelhead traps near their various hatcheries, as follows:

Samish hatchery, Soos Creek, Orting, Willapa, Dungeness, Chehalis, Skykomish, Lewis River, Humulupis. The traps on Chambers Creek will be removed on the opening day of the season and will not be operated until some time during the latter part of July.

And just to terminate this on a cheery note, here's the regulation governing fishing near traps: It shall be unlawful for any person to fish for game fish in any stream within 400 feet of any fishway or dam or between any game fish trap and the mouth of the stream, on which such trap is located, or to have in his possession on under his control, any game fish caught, taken or killed within 400 feet of any fishway or dam or below any game fish trap.

Game protectors, writing in to the head office here, report that streams are generally high all over the state, which will, of a certainty, jam the lakes this Sunday. But fortunately, there are a lot of lakes.

Maryland 'Double' Bet Pays $1,017.10

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Friday, April 22.—(AP)—The biggest daily double payoff of the Maryland spring racing season—a $1,017.10 for $2—was posted here yesterday.

The winning combination was Hastings View, which won the first to pay $28.90 for $2, and Sunsee, winner of the second, at $58.60 for $2.

'NOW, SON, SNORE'

Shikuma Hold Is Classic

Killa Shikuma stepped behind the reporter and slipped his right arm around the reporter's head. "I will probably do this," he said calmly, "to Mr. Kruml."

Mr. Kruml is the heavyweight wrestler Mr. Shikuma meets tonight in one of the four events at the Ice Arena. He is as large as Mr. Shikuma, who is the largest Japanese wrestler in America.

Then Shikuma locked his right hand in the crotch of his left arm and applied pressure with his left hand to the reporter's head. The head bent, perforce, over the Shikuma right arm.

"In just a second," said Mr. Shikuma softly, much in the manner of Dr. Fu Manchu and other sinister characters, "you will go to sleep."

This seemed improbable, although the pressure was very definite. The reporter had his eye fixed on a statuette photograph of Bronko Nagurski. "You couldn't do it to him," he muttered.

PREP TRACKMEN START SEASON HERE TOMORROW

MEETS TOMORROW

At Civic Stadium—Franklin vs. Roosevelt, Lincoln vs. West Seattle, Cleveland vs. Queen Anne, Ballard vs. Broadway vs. Garfield (triangular); first race, 2 p. m.

The second fastest 100-yard sprinter ever to come out of a Seattle high school is back to defend his crown—and he's been almost entirely overlooked in pre-season yarns about the teams which meet at Civic Field tomorrow.

Kjell Qvale, the flying Norseman from West Seattle, returns to defend his crown. As a junior last year, Kjell won the all-city "century" at the U. W. Stadium in 9.9 seconds.

The only other time in prep history that the magic mark of 10-flat has been officially bettered was in 1935, when Dick Montgomery of Roosevelt ran a 9.8 race.

Tomorrow, the 1938 track and field schedule opens at Civic Stadium, and in his very first race Qvale will meet his most dangerous rivals. West Seattle is hooked to meet Lincoln in one of three dual meets, and Tom Bridges and Ken Ulricksen of Lincoln are the top sprinters in town besides Qvale—unless some other team comes up with a new sensation.

TIGHT RACES DUE
Some stirring races are due in the first meets of the season. No records are likely to be broken, as the lads must compete for a couple of weeks to get warmed up.

The triangular meet between Broadway, Ballard and Garfield has the most tight contests in prospect. In the hurdles Glen Simons of Ballard, Seidenberg of Garfield and Bill Dingley of Broadway are matched, and Don Spencer of Ballard will get some hot competition in the quarter-mile.

Van Neivenhuse, crack miler from Ballard, tangles with Stan Sandstrom of Broadway, defending all-city mile champ, and Dewey Spring of Garfield might surprise them both.

The West Seattle-Lincoln and Ballard-Garfield-Broadway relay races should also be good.

MEET DON FRAME

Three new track coaches will be seen in action. Two of them, Leonard Saalwaechter of Franklin and Roy Hall of Broadway, have already been introduced to the public through the daily prints.

The other one is Don Frame of West Seattle. Frame pins his hopes on Qvale, Hurdiers Bill Webb and Chuck Fancher, High Jumper Dick Stewart, Miller of Seattle, Swazey, Broad Jumper Bob Lettelier and Sprinter Hugh Van Dusen.

Bill Paulman Sets Records For Kicking

PALO ALTO, Calif., Friday, April 22.—(AP)—Bill Paulman, Stanford quarterback, set new American records for place-kicking and drop-kicking the Australian football in a telegraphic kicking contest between Stanford and the Melbourne Club of Australia.

Paulman place-kicked the heavy Australian oval 79 yards, 1 foot and 11 inches yesterday, and drop-kicked 64 yards and 2 feet.

Richardson said Tony Calvelli's pass of 75 yards, 1 foot and 5 1/2 inches with an American ball also set a new American record.

WRESTLING

ST. LOUIS—Errett Marshall pinned Frank (Young) Getch, 31-12.
CAMDEN, N. J.—Gino Garibaldi threw Ernie Dusek, 27-18.

TONIGHT'S MAT CARD

Main event—Big Ben Morgan and Abe (King Kong) Kashey. Eight 10-minute rounds, best two out of three falls.
Special event—Killa Shikuma and Ed Kruml. Four 10-minute rounds, one fall.
Special event—Sammy Manacher and Stanley Myseljek. Four 10-minute rounds, one fall.
Special event—Gen. Harold O'Brien and Rusty Wescoatt. Four 10-minute rounds, one fall.
(Special eventers to draw for position on card.)
Referee—Glen Stone. Starting time, 8:30 p. m.

what, which is commonly called the dragon, which is a one-way trip to the nearby gates.

It takes about five seconds to "catch hold." The victim slumps to the floor and begins to snore, audibly, for about thirty seconds. Then he comes to with a start. It is all very disconcerting.

MORGAN, KASHEY MEET
Big Ben Morgan, 330 pounds of him, takes on Abe (King Kong) Kashey in the main event tonight, the winner probably to be in line for a bout with Rasputin, the other bearded one. Big Ben is bearded . . . beautifully.

Sammy Manacher meets Stanley Myseljek in another special bout, and Gen. Harold O'Brien, the cut-up, meets Rusty Wescoatt in the third.
