

MARTHA CULBERTSON LOVELY BRIDE OF NEW YORK MAN

Seattle Girl Is Wedded To George Bailey

Mr. George Robert Bailey, Jr., traveled across the continent from Rockville, Center, I. to claim Miss Martha Culbertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Culbertson, as his bride this morning.

The wedding was culmination of a romance begun when both were students at Duke University in Durham, N. C.

The service was read at the bride's home by the Rev. A. Lorin Ridsing before an Italian iron filigree screen showered with pink and white flowers, with white pillars on either side.

A royal blue frock was chosen by the lovely bride for the ceremony. It was trimmed with a deep yoke of ecru Alencon lace, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of lilies of the valley, Cecil Brunner roses, forget-me-nots and sweet peas.

Mrs. Duane R. Culbertson of New York, sister-in-law of the bride, who came West with her two children for the wedding, was the only attendant. She wore a dress with silk crepe lime-green top, and fuchsia jacket. Her Colonial bouquet held Mr. Albert F. Bellet and yellow primroses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Culbertson wore a sheer wool violet-colored dress with Eton jacket and corsage of orchids.

The couple left for San Francisco, where, after a visit to the fair, they will go to El Paso and on to New Orleans to take a boat for New York. They will be at home for the summer at 142 Neal Dow Avenue, Staten Island, N. Y.

When she went away the bride added a matching jacket to her dress, a blue straw hat banded in turquoise and cluster of orchids.

Mr. Bailey and his bride are 1937 graduates of Duke University. Mrs. Bailey is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority and Phi Beta Kappa. Mr. Bailey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Robert Bailey of Rockville Center, L. I., is affiliated with Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

The bride is formerly of Cincinnati, coming to Seattle two years ago with her parents.

Cooperation Of Sororities Urged By Pan-Hellenic

Cooperation, rather than competition, among the twenty-three national sororities represented in Pan-Hellenic was the theme of yesterday's first meeting for all members of these Greek letter societies, with emphasis on adaptation to changing conditions. More than 250 prominent Seattle women attended the Seattle Pan-Hellenic Association luncheon in the Women's University Club auditorium.

Miss Lulu Holmes, guest speaker, whose topic was "Pan-Hellenic Thinking," has a wealth of experience as a background for this subject. Dean of women at Washington State College, Miss Holmes is a graduate of Whitman College, and received her master's and doctor's degrees from Columbia University. Since her college days, she has been a member in Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, Miss Holmes has worked in executive and advisory capacities in Mills College, California; Elmhurst College in New York; Drury College, Missouri; and at the Women's College in Japan.

Miss John Patten, president of Seattle Pan-Hellenic Association, presided. She made the two award presentations to University of Washington students, both based on scholarship, activities and character.

Miss Phyllis Howard, Pi Beta Phi chapter, Delta Delta Delta award given through Pan-Hellenic. Miss Howard's activities include the vice presidency of Sigma Epsilon Sigma (known as the Junior Phi Beta Kappa), scholarship society; Associated Women Students, Mortar Board and Interclub.

Winner of the Pan-Hellenic award was Miss Barbara Curran, daughter of Mrs. J. T. Curran, a junior in Kappa Alpha Theta. Seated at the speakers' table with Mrs. Patten, Miss Holmes, Miss Curran and Miss Howard were Miss May Dunn Ward, dean of women at the University of Mary; Mary Bash, assistant dean; Mrs. Charles Carey, who, as vice president, will, automatically, become president for next season; Miss Marion Clarke, president of Pan-Hellenic on the University campus; Mrs. William Dehn, national president of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority; Mrs. Harold Hartman, national Pan-Hellenic delegate for the same sorority, who spoke on national Pan-Hellenic problems and accomplishments; Mrs. Frank Douglas, Seattle Pan-Hellenic secretary; Mrs. Charles A. McCarthy, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Danneberg, national alumnae secretary of the campus Pan-Hellenic.

Mrs. Scott Cassill was elected secretary and Mrs. McCarthy re-elected treasurer.

Purpose of the luncheon was "to stimulate interest in Pan-Hellenic thinking; to widen the sphere of usefulness of sorority alumnae groups and to create greater friendship among the groups."

"Through the Pan-Hellenic Looking Glass" was a fashion show in which gowns of the founding period were modeled by sorority girls and alumnae. Fashions from pre-Civil War days through the display of skirts and valued costumes.

Committee members receiving luncheon were: Mrs. Walker Shiel, chairman; Mrs. E. W. Porep, who announced the fashion models; Mrs. Fred S. Wiman, publicity; Mrs. F. W. Brockman, reservations.

Members of Mrs. Cassill's committee made an effective, colorful, and dignified presentation of high standards of dress and good-looking decorating the room, and pasted-wound Maypoles centering the tables, each topped with an old-fashioned bouquet. Similar nosegays were given to the speakers' table and the end of the luncheon.

Mrs. William Neeb Boyd played for the fashion show, modulating from songs of the period to strains of each sorority song as the model entered.

THEIRS IS 'KEY TO FAIRYLAND'

Four young thespians in yesterday's annual May fete at St. Nicholas School. Left, Joan Flohr and Frances Jane Hibbard; Betty Collins, ready to be crowned May queen, and Janet Black, as Oberon, the king. Included in the lower school presented "The Key to Fairyland," a festival play by Mary Ellen Horsch. Students on the program which filled the school auditorium with parents and friends, were the crowning of the May queen and a colorful Maypole dance.

Festival Play Presented At St. Nicholas

Parents and friends of lower school children at St. Nicholas School were taken to the land of make-believe yesterday at the annual May fete festival play, "The Key to Fairyland," by Mary Ellen Horsch.

By the wishing well on the main floor of the auditorium, Puck, played by Virginia Carroll, invited the audience to see the fairies with him, and the play opened on the stage in an enchanted bower deep in the woods.

Maypole Dance Feature

Feature of the program was a Maypole dance, the little dancers in their ruffled green and yellow tarlatan costumes studded with stars making a pretty picture. The colored streamers from a Maypole were topped by a great cluster of tulips.

Mrs. Marjorie Merkel, teacher of speech and dramatics, directed the play. Among the children in the cast with Virginia Carroll and Betty Collins, Mary Queen, were Joan Judson, Carol McDermott, Patricia May, Marilyn Giese, Marilyn Krieb, Catherine Mauk, Allison Hagner, Margaret Leavitt, Sandra Stearns, Betty Brownell, Noelle McDermott, Pamela Olmsted, Ann Mauk, Natalie Wilson, Eleanor Black, Ann Rogers, Ann Kerry, Joan Kelly, Dorothy Frances, Nancy Newberry, Joan Flohr, Frances Jane Hibbard, Janet Black, Allyn Hillman, Jane Meadowcroft, Jan Street, Eleanor Dill, Peggy MacGregor, Betty Jean Graham, Jaclyn Bard, Jacqueline Coombs, Betty Brownell and Wendy Wagner.

Noted in Audience

Noted in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. William S. Street, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hibbard, Mrs. Nat S. Rogers, Mrs. A. S. Kerry, Jr., with Mrs. Colin Radford; Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDermott; Mrs. Cyrus Walker, Mrs. A. H. Meadowcroft, Mrs. Francis H. Brownell, Jr., Mrs. Lyman Black, Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Carroll, Mrs. T. J. Carroll, Mrs. Gale Wilson, Mrs. Agnes MacGregor, Mrs. Harold Barde and Mrs. L. T. Coombs.

Mrs. Leland R. Newell, Mr. E. Firmin Flohr, Mrs. Donald A. Nicholson, Mrs. E. Weldon Young, Mrs. Robert Brook Albertson, Mrs. Bayard C. Collins, Mrs. Paul Giese, Mrs. George A. Kribs, Mrs. George W. Fischer, Mrs. Arthur O'Brien, J. Q. Leavitt, Mrs. L. K. S. May, Mrs. Henry H. Judson, Mrs. Aubrey Wilton, Mrs. William Weidlich, Mrs. Darrah Corbett and Mrs. Simon T. Cantrell.

Mrs. J. Willis Jones, Mrs. Hebard Walker, with a group of Highlands school children; Mrs. James Hodson and Mrs. Darwin Meisnest.

May Party

Mrs. Ethel Park will be hostess to members of the Business Women's Organization for a May party, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at her home, 688 Ravenna Blvd.

E. P. Wilson and Mrs. Lila Swart-out will assist.

Dinner Hostess

Mrs. Francis Armstrong will entertain members of the Agnes H. Colman Auxiliary, Florence Crittenton Home, at dinner Monday evening at her home, 1820 16th Avenue.

A Frenchman painting a not very pretty picture of world conditions existing today, and a Seattleite singing a very frank swan-song, closed this year's dinner meetings of the Symposium on World Affairs last evening in the Spanish ballroom of the Olympic.

"The American people are psychologically prepared for war, although there is no enemy as yet. It is a rather astonishing fact that virtually every pacifist organization is out shouting war. It is a bad sign when we say 'some things are worse than war.' So spoke Dr. Francis C. Wilson, a member of the political science department of the University of Washington, who is leaving soon to accept the chair of political theory in the University of Illinois.

"I don't believe there is a single nation that, deep in its heart, wants to go into war. We have been in peace for twenty years, not through a humanitarian idea, but through fear. The next war will be slightly 'bunk,' with men bowing to each other before killing."—Major Max Vivier of France, lecturer-writer-publicist, speaking for himself alone, not for any country. Another paid, inspired nor dictated to by anyone, not a Communist, Nazi, Fascist nor nationalist.

"The world is in the process of gangsterism," said Major Vivier, who has a neat way of putting facts; with blackmail a prominent instrument and the universal conscience having been kidnapped.

Favors U. S. in League

Peace is not a final conquest, but must be defended every day, he said. Great Britain and France put on their laurel leaves and went to sleep, working now and then to send a note to other powers telling what must not be done, he said. When the real awakening, the crisis of last September, came, they lost their heads. Major Vivier described the British Lion, with France hanging on its tail, being stung by a mosquito on one side and by a snake on the other, and not knowing where to bite first.

Dr. Wilson blamed the psychological readiness of America for war on its foreign policy. "Any foreign policy adopted should be for the benefit of the United States," he said. "Now that we have solved our domestic problems, we can turn to international problems with a clear conscience—that is the reason for the foreign policy of the leadership of the United States." In the present policy of the United States, Dr. Wilson said, we are in a position of collective security. Shall we determine, or let Europe determine, her own balance of power?

"We are the great prize in the international conflict today. In case of a future war, our food can keep the armies of Europe fighting. We will fight if we decide to fight. I am afraid our leadership has done little in avoiding the conflict rattle in the world. The United States has a chronic intervening temperament. If Russia can remain out of our affairs, it will be easier for us if our leadership would take the stand to encourage us to be neutral until continental violation of our international rights forces us in. Let us beware of ideological wars—beware of leaders whose primary concern is to save the world rather than you—beware of holy wars!"

Dr. Charles E. Martin, who presided, announced the retiring of three members who have been on the symposium committee for the five years of its existence. Mrs. Frederic Hall White, Mrs. Otis Floyd Lamson and Mr. Herbert Little, of two who have served three years, Mrs. Thomas D. Stinson and Mrs. John Looor Locke, Jr.; and said that Miss Charlotte May Vivier will continue on the three-year period are Mrs. C. F. Davidson, Mrs. Marie Leghorn Balfour, Mrs. Ernest Skeel, Mrs. Gordon T. Shaw, Mr. R. Kline Hillman and Prof. Linden Mander, Dr. Maxim von Brevern, who, as Dr. Martin said, serves the committee in countless ways, was introduced.

At the speakers' table besides Major Vivier, Dr. Wilson and Dr. Martin, were Dr. Lee Paul Siegel, president of the University of Washington, and Dr. Pierre J. Frein, head of the romance languages department of the University of Illinois.

Color Marks Japanese Celebration

Color and dignity marked yesterday afternoon's celebration of the traditional Shokko no Sekku (Japanese boys' festival), sometimes called the iris fete, at the reception by the Auxiliary to the Japan Society in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Goodwin. For this occasion, which annually marks the fifth day of the fifth month, there was a variety of entertainment.

A pageantry of doll-famous feudal generals and warriors in full military equipment—ornamented the music room. From the side terrace, guests watched a program of classic Japanese dancing in the garden, the sharp spears of iris leaves in the border forming part of the background. Here, too, were wisteria, lilacs, azaleas and pansies. Piano and voice solos were planned at intervals, but with the tea service always a popular center of attraction.

Receiving with Mrs. Goodwin, who wore a blue-green dress, were Mrs. Yukio Sato, wife of the Japanese consul, and Mrs. William Savery, president of the auxiliary. Mrs. Sato wore a Japanese kimono of lavender and ivory in an iris pattern and Mrs. Savery in becoming turquoise crepe.

Flowers Center Table

Centering the tea table was an elaborate arrangement of red and yellow open tulips, snapdragons and teaseroes. Pouring during the 3-to-6 o'clock calling hours were nearly 500 members, their husbands, members of the Japan Society, and their wives, were guests, were:

Mrs. Herbert H. Gowen, in a black and white print; Mrs. Seizo Fukuda, who wore a blue-gray kimono in chrysanthemum pattern; Mrs. James Griffith, in a black and white print; Mrs. Kansei Nakamura, in a gray kimono of bamboo design, in gray Frederick Morgan Padelford, Mrs. S. J. Maimon, Mrs. Yaei Taoka, in black crepe with a bright flower print skirt and matching sash, and Mrs. William Aikens, who wore blue lace.

Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Sherard F. Wiltzie, chairman of the social committee, in a sheer white blouse and black skirt; Mrs. Dwight Hartman, in dotted black net, and red carnations in her hair; Dr. Frances M. Earle, in blue lace; Mrs. Paul H. McClelland, Mrs. Frederic C. Moser, in a stunning Moynex original model of gold and pastel shades; Mrs. Bunji Sawada, wearing a lavender kimono in azalea pattern with gold obi; Miss Edna Benson, Mrs. Ichiji Kuriyabashi, Mrs. Douglas Ball, Mrs. Royal S. Wintemute, Mrs. John Dallas Reagh and Mrs. Genzo Watanabe.

Camera Records Dancing

The Goodwins' daughter, Miss Ann Elizabeth Goodwin, also assisted, wearing a fetching white marquisette frock.

Mr. Goodwin was very busy with his motion-picture camera, filming the colorful scene of kimonoed dancers with blossoms and scarves, and the lawn, and the three acrobats who played Oriental instruments and sang for the dancing, and getting an interesting angle on the two fifteen-foot carp kites rippling from the flagpole.

Among other men noted were Mr. Yukio Sato, consul for Japan; Dr. William Savery, Dr. Douglas Ball, Mrs. Sherard F. Wiltzie, Mrs. Seizo Fukuda, Mr. Kansei Nakamura, Mr. Dwight Hartman, Mr. Harry B. Jones, president of the Japan Society; Mr. Yaei Taoka, Mr. Bunji Sawada, Mr. Ichiji Kuriyabashi and Mrs. P. H. McClelland.

Among others at this traditional party, enjoying Japanese tea and the strange and picturesque tea accompaniments were Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Polk, Prof. and Mrs. Leslie J. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dale and the Mesdames R. S. Hayes, L. D. Bendure, Warren Iversen, Frank H. Lawson, E. D. Kimball, W. R. McCash, Dr. Josephine Beck, Mr. C. J. Patterson, Albert Charles Phillips, Edward Scripps, P. C. Valton, Harry C. Hill, and Adam Beeler.

Miss Paulson And Claire H. Day Of Tacoma Marry

A wedding of interest to many Tacoma and Seattle people took place at 4 o'clock May Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo E. Quist, when Miss Lillian Paulson and Mr. Claire H. Day of Tacoma, were married.

The bride wore a garnet-colored dress with corsage of lilies of the valley, gardenias and dark red roses. She carried the white leather prayer book, from which a shower of lilies of the valley fell, that had been carried by Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. M. C. Quist, 25 years ago. Mrs. Quist was the only attendant, wearing a black gown with a shoulder corsage of pink roses and gardenias. Mr. Quist was best man.

The double ring ceremony was performed before the fireplace by A. D. Brown, worthy patron of the T. Rev. seven-branch candelabra stood on each side of the green-banded fireplace with tall standard baskets of purple lilacs and yellow tulips.

The couple are at home at 1210 1/2 S. J Street, Tacoma.

Brides School To Be Held At Rhodes May 15

By DOROTHY NEIGHBORS

To honor the many Seattle brides of spring and summer, Dorothy Neighbors will present her third annual School for Brides at Rhodes Department Store Monday, May 15. In conjunction with the cooking school, which will be at 2 p. m. that day, there will be a shower for the brides, in which all brides of April, May, June, July and August will receive special gifts for their new homes.

In order to be on the list of those to receive shower gifts at the bride's school, newlyweds and engaged girls, who are planning to wed this summer, register now at Rhodes. Registrations will be taken in the Silverware department, just inside the main entrance at Second and Union and in the brides' fashion department, on the third floor.

Cook Books, Too

Among other gifts at the shower, the registered brides will receive a "Brides' Package" of excellent cook books.

Because cooking is so important in the life of the new bride, Rhodes Brides' Week, May 15-20, will be started by Miss Neighbors' school for brides, in which she and two guest demonstrators will prepare many dishes before the audience.

Leg of lamb and pot roast will be prepared by the latest methods approved by home economics experts. Spring and summer salads will be featured so the brides may use them, right away, to win compliments from new husbands. Strawberry Bavarian pie will tempt any man, while the ice cream meringue cake to be demonstrated will prove any bride's worth in the kitchen.

Vegetables Featured

Vegetables, of such vital importance to the food value, mineral value and vitamin content of summer meals, will be arranged on an attractive platter.

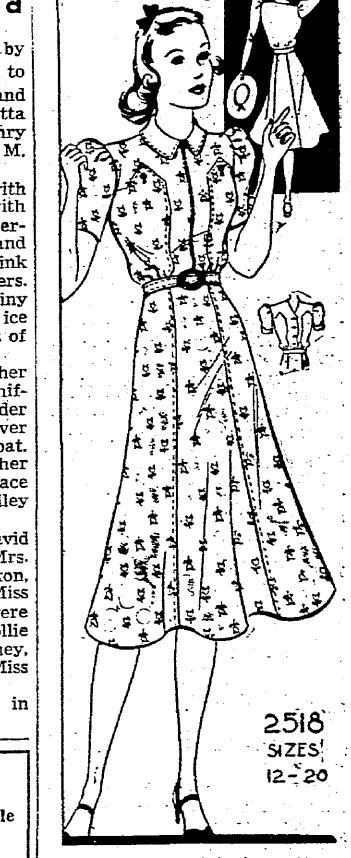

Brides and those interested in weddings and newlyweds should plan to take advantage of Brides' Week at Rhodes, in order to get good ideas and suggestions for making new homes run smoothly.

A special feature of Brides' Week at Rhodes will be the display of old wedding gowns and wedding pictures in the store's auditorium, May 18, 19 and 20. In this part of the week's festivities, brides of many years ago—prior to 1910—are the only ones who may participate.

Prizes will be given in the old wedding-gown and old-wedding-picture contests which are planned to display Seattle's most interesting old-time wedding pictures and gowns. Wedding gown entries made at Rhodes advertising department on the fifth floor; picture entries at Bruno Studios, 1406 Second Ave.

Brides of this season are urged to register as soon as possible at either of the two registration headquarters in Rhodes Department Store. Brides who are not registered will not be able to participate in the special brides' shower given by Dorothy Neighbors, May 15, at 2 p. m.

Miss Regalia's Engagement Told At Easter Tea

A tea given Easter Sunday by Mrs. William A. Regalia served to announce the betrothal of Mr. and Mrs. Regalia's daughter, Carlotta Irene, to Mr. Charles Henry Dirks, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Dirks of Quincy, Ill.

The tea table was decorated with pink cardstock, with a centerpiece of pink roses and sprays of lilacs, with a pink cupid extending above the flowers.

The silver was displayed by tiny twin silver hearts placed in the ice cream molds, bearing the names of Carlotta and Charles.

The bride-elect received her many guests in a crushed lilac chiffon gown, made with drop shoulder neckline and full hopped skirt over a fresco pink taffeta petticoat. She wore ermine-trimmed orchids in her hair. Her mother wore black lace and corsage of lilies of the valley and talisman roses.

Those pouring were Mrs. David Daneman, Mrs. James Gibson, Mrs. R. J. Tilford, Miss Mabel Dixon, Miss Esther Redman and Miss Helen Tope. Those assisting were Mrs. P. V. Highfield, Miss Mollie Fittzler and Miss Gail De Laney, cousin of the bride-elect, and Miss Helen Birney.

The wedding will take place in the fall.

QUICKIE

Crabmeat and Potato Casserole

Buttered Asparagus
Orange and Onion Salad

Line a casserole with four cups of seasoned mashed potatoes; bake in a 400 degree oven for 10 minutes, or until slightly browned. Make one cup of medium white sauce and mix with two cups of flaked, cooked crabmeat. Pour into the potatoes. Sprinkle with one-half cup of butter
