

U. S. ARMY LISTS RAID CASUALTIES

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The War Department today published the Army's first official casualty list of the war, making public the names of 37 Army officers and men killed in action in the Japanese attack on Hawaii.

Six were commissioned officers, four of the air forces and two of the infantry. All 31 enlisted men were of the Air Corps.

The names were announced as a partial list of the casualties resulting from Sunday's bombardment of the island of Oahu, Hawaii, by Japanese air units.

"The adjutant general of the Army, in each case, notified the next of kin of the deep regret of the Secretary of War at the death of this soldier in the defense of his country," the War Department said.

The list included:

BLACKED OUT

San Diego (1), site of headquarters of the 11th Naval District, was blacked out early today after a force of enemy planes was reported over San Francisco (2). At Victoria, B. C. (3), Mayor Andrew McGavin said that the entire Pacific Northwest was menaced by Japanese forces he said were off the Aleutian Islands. NAZIS REPORTED IN ISLAND RAID

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A tremendously intensified drive to build warships faster than ever before in American history, to compensate for naval losses inflicted by Japan and to gird the nation swiftly for two-ocean war, was announced today by Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, of the House naval committee.

The veteran legislator, who voted for war against Germany in 1917 and has fought consistently in this country a Navy second to none, declared that all naval building would be ordered on a 24-hour basis at once.

Loss Causes Concern

The Georgian parried all questions as to details of the damage done by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the Navy's "Gibraltar of the Pacific." It was obvious, however, that he was gravely concerned by what he had learned after a visit at the Navy Department.

From other sources it was learned that much of the damage inflicted at Pearl Harbor had been caused by torpedo planes, which the United States Navy invented and which the British used brilliantly against the Italian fleet at Taranto.

These tactics impelled many legislators to express belief that German pilots had figured prominently in the air raids against Pearl Harbor and one authoritative source disclosed "reports" that some of the planes involved had borne the Nazi Swastika as well as the Japanese "Rising Sun" emblem.

French Subs at Sea

It was grimly conceded by influential legislators that the casualties in Hawaii and other American Pacific outposts had been heavy—perhaps heavier than any indication thus far revealed.

A possibility that the Japanese might gain the use of some French submarines as a result of Nazi pressure on the Vichy government was a source of much concern to some high-ranking legislators who said French overseas craft already had left some of their Mediterranean bases.

Four different cities have occupied the site of the city of Jericho, 15 miles from Jerusalem, according to excavations made at this point.

F. R. TO DISCUSS NAZIS ON RADIO

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec. 9.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's address to the nation tonight will be devoted largely to a discussion of "the Nazi pattern" of the present war involving the United States, the White House said today.

Secretary Stephen Early said at a press conference that the Chief Executive would spend most of the day working on his address, which would deal more with "the Nazi pattern of this over all situation" than with specific details of war operations with Japan in the Pacific.

Early's comment followed the White House accusation yesterday that Germany had done everything possible to push Japan into the war against this country. Congressional leaders have signified instant willingness to acknowledge war with Germany and Italy as well if those two Axis partners join Japan.

Nazis Give Warning

Reports from Germany that the Nazi position would be clarified perhaps within the next 24 hours led administration officials here to prepare for any contingency.

A hint as to possible things to come was a report, unconfirmed, that the German embassy had begun to burn secret papers, usually forerunners to a break in diplomatic relations. The embassy had "no comment" on the reports.

Asked for latest news of the war, Early said the President had checked his official dispatches with newspaper articles on the Battle of the Pacific and had found that the newspapers had most of the facts that the government has at this time.

Army, Navy on Alert Now

About reports of air raids on San Francisco, Early said: "You know as much about it as the President does."

"How was it, if the reports from San Francisco are true, the Japanese planes could get so near our West Coast?" Early was asked.

"You can be sure that the Army and Navy on the President's instructions are on the alert for a defense," Early said, adding that this alert involved not only the Pacific Coast and San Francisco but other areas.

"The picture is much bigger," Early said.

The President will speak for a half hour tonight, Early said.

Asked about Axis reports of American naval losses, Early reminded reporters that "these countries have been putting out these reports since the beginning of the war and up until a few days ago they dealt principally with Great Britain."

"I think," he added, "you know them for what they are."

NAVY 'ASLEEP,' SOLON CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A declaration that someone responsible for the defense of Hawaii "was asleep" at the time of Japan's lightning attack on Pearl Harbor was made in the House naval committee today by Representative Vincent, Democrat, Kentucky.

The Kentuckian made the statement just before the committee recommended a bill, already passed by the Senate, to "freeze" all enlistments in the Navy for the duration of the war.

Vincent's criticism developed when he sought to learn whether high-ranking naval officers were physically fit for their jobs. In that connection, Vincent asked specifically about Rear Admiral Hart, naval commander at Manila.

"We must assume," interposed Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, "that all these officers have complied with the physical requirements."

"I assumed," retorted Vincent, "that the boys would be awake at Hawaii. I assumed that the boys would patrol every inch of the waters around Hawaii."

The committee voted to ask Secretary of Navy Knox and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, if they could be present at an executive session of the committee tomorrow morning for questioning as to how the Japanese were able to penetrate the Hawaiian defenses of the fleet.

NIPPON SCHOOL HERE IS CLOSED

Kokugo-Gakko Japanese Language School at 1414 Weller St. was closed yesterday for the first time since it was founded nearly forty years ago when its principal, Yoriaka Nakagawa, was held for investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Nakagawa, who has been principal of the school more than fifteen years, was taken from his home, 1416 Charles St., to the Department of Immigration quarters Sunday night, according to his wife, Mrs. Kichizo Nakagawa.

Mrs. Nakagawa, who is a teacher at the school, said last night that she had not heard from her husband since he was taken from his home. She said he told her to close the school until she receives instructions from him.

800 Students in School

Mrs. Nakagawa said students of the school, who are of grade and high school ages, were notified in Seattle Public School classrooms that there would be no sessions yesterday afternoon. The school has sixteen teachers and about 800 students, who attend the institution at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after public schools close.

Mrs. Nakagawa said many students other than Japanese also attend the school.

Mrs. Nakagawa said that in each classroom there is an American flag hanging in the front of the room. On either side of the flag are the school's aims. One is in English, the other in Japanese.

They read:

"Schools Aims—Study Japanese culture and always be correct Japanese. Be courteous, respect the elders and develop the virtue of obedience. Act with absolute sincerity. Develop the spirit of independence and become a good American citizen."

The school was founded with money from members of the Japanese community.

City Business Mobilizes For War Campaign

Immediate steps for further business and industry for war production will be taken by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by President Emil G. Sick.

Sick said the Chamber is holding a series of conferences with business executives to discuss the role this city's business will play in the war with Japan. He also disclosed that the Chamber's national-defense committee, under chairmanship of D. K. McDonald, will intensify its efforts to bring Seattle firms into the arms-production program.

Sick said that the Chamber's budget, drive, scheduled for this week, will go forward.

Federation Will Meet

The Washington Commonwealth Federation will hold an all-day mobilization conference beginning at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in the Moore Theatre. Means of obtaining bomb shelters for the Seattle area and plans to cooperate with home defense activities will be discussed.

Kimsey Asks Cooperation In Blackout

Police Chief Herbert D. Kimsey today urged everyone—especially restaurant owners to make arrangements to black out their places of business.

"For a while at least," Kimsey said, "there will be blackouts every night. It is impossible to overemphasize the seriousness of this program."

Kimsey said business establishments should not only arrange to black out their windows, but should arrange their doors with a chamber that will permit customers to enter and leave without showing the light inside the place.

"We want to thank the public for their splendid cooperation so far and ask them to continue it," Chief Kimsey said.
