

COUNCIL ADOPTS 'SICK-LEAVE' PLAN

Council President David Levine's "sick-leave" resolution was adopted yesterday afternoon by the City Council. It calls for reports from city department heads to the Council giving data on whether employees are given time off with pay for illness.

The resolution seeks to obtain data by which the Council can make sick-leave regulations uniform in all municipal departments. Employees have complained there is no uniformity.

Strolling Around the Town

A man riding home on the 15th Avenue Northeast bus the other night doesn't know what prompted the performance, but he telephoned The Stroller to report that a woman intrigued fellow-passengers by singing "God Bless America," with undiminished enthusiasm.

"Everybody applauded her when she finished," he said. "Then she got off without apparently thinking anything of it."

Arthur Johnson, 20-year-old Boeing worker from Roy, has returned from a six-month hitch-hiking tour of the United States, in which he visited a large number of national-defense industrial plants, including airplane factories, shipyards and tank factories.

"Everywhere people expected war," he said. "And most of the fellows my age were anxious that it starts so we can get it over with and go back to normal lives."

Johnson saw a training plane made of plastics on his tour. Hitch-hiking was pretty good, Johnson getting in one continuous ride 1,600 miles long, between Los Angeles and Oklahoma City.

Avis Edelbrock of the mayor's staff and Jenny Lagerquist of the city engineer's office were sitting in the mayor's anteroom the other day.

The eyes of both were on a strange hat on the table. It was one of a large group of hats, as the mayor at the moment was receiving a Franklin High School class. The question in the minds of both young women was:

"Is it a boy's or a girl's hat?"

It was wide-brimmed, with a round crown crushed flatly. From the band protruded two long feathers. They might have been pheasant feathers, but probably were turkey plumage. The hat was of material similar to that of the popular tan raincoats.

Out trooped the class. And it was a BOY'S hat. The owner grasped the brim, bowed slightly, reared back and tossed the hat on his head in a sweeping gesture.

Glenn C. Parrish, late of the 11th Quartermaster Regiment, 41st Division, would like to meet up with the individual who lifted his brief case on the ferryboat Klahanie the other morning. Parrish doesn't care about the brief case or how the present possessor combs his hair, but he would like very much to have his certificate of honorable discharge back.

Parrish, inducted from Wyoming a year ago, recently was discharged because he was over 28 years old—in fact, he's 36. Parrish is seeking disability compensation for injuries received while in service and his Army discharge is a vital document.

If the purloiner of the brief case does not return the papers, Parrish must wait several weeks to obtain a certificate from The Adjutant General's office in Washington before he can complete his claims.

Parrish lives at Winslow, Bainbridge Island.

LAINÉ'S TERM SET AT 2 YEARS

Arthur A. Laine, 32 years old, of 824 Spring Street, received a two-year minimum sentence in the State Reformatory at Monroe on a negligent homicide conviction growing out of the deaths of two women in a traffic accident last May 24, the State Parole Board ruled today.

Victims of the accident, which occurred when Laine failed to negotiate a curve at 70 miles an hour, were Mrs. Rosa Winters, 40, of 6221 37th Ave. N. E., and Mrs. Charles Winters, 65, of 7314 24th Avenue N. E. They were riding with Laine.

The accident occurred near East 103rd St. on Sand Point Way.

Jack L. R. Falls of Seattle, who was convicted of running down and killing an eight-year-old girl in Woodland Park, received a three-year reformatory term.

Other minimum sentences fixed by the board included: King county—Rafine Bueno and Jack F. Rosario, grand larceny, three years each; John H. Meyer, grand larceny, two and one-half years; Robert L. Kline and Leslie Reinosky, grand larceny, two and one-half years and 18 months respectively; Delno Randall, auto theft, two years, less 15 days; James Siegel, forgers, two and one-half years.

Spokane County—Ed Grubee, Edward Minder and Joe Cadwallader, grand larceny, two, three and two years, respectively.

Kitsap county—Franklin Haley, burglars, two years.

HINDU CHURCH WANTS HOUSE

The Ramakrishna Vedanta Center of Seattle, made up of Seattle people studying the Hindu philosophy and religion, has applied to the City Building Department for permission to use an old residence in a first residential district for its church, the Corporation Counsel's office said today.

J. Ambler Newton, chief assistant corporation counsel, said the building department had requested an opinion as to whether the organization is a church in the meaning of the city ordinance which allows churches in first residential districts.

The church will be led by a Hindu swami, a graduate of the University of Calcutta, said Roy D. Robinson, attorney representing the organization. Robinson said similar centers have been established in the East since the Chicago World Fair, and the one in Seattle includes "some of our nicest people."

The center is organized under Washington law as a religious organization.

Building Supt. Charles C. Hughes said the organization has not disclosed the address at which it hopes to establish the church.

MAYOR, COUNCIL GO ON WAR BASIS

Operations of the mayor's office and the City Council had been placed definitely on a war-time basis today, after a conference late yesterday in which Mayor Earl Millikin summoned the entire Council to his office.

Millikin and Council President David Levine said arrangements have been made to keep either the Council office or the mayor's office open at night to answer calls from the public and to help coordinate Seattle defense activity. Levine said Council members would take turns at full Sunday and holiday service in the Council office and possibly would be on hand through the nights, as well.

To Name 'Assistant' Mayor It was decided that some city official will be designated an "assistant mayor" to take charge of defense coordination of municipal departments. The mayor and Council decided to meet in conference daily for the next four days at least to plan defense policies.

Police and Health Department matters were scheduled to be taken up at the conference today, and other departments will be called in later. Police Chief Herbert D. Kimsey yesterday asked the Council to appropriate funds for 50 more policemen and 100 sets of revolvers, handcuffs and other police equipment.

Kimsey asked $8,000 a month for 50 patrolmen's salaries and $5,500 for the equipment for 100 men. He asked the Council to remove the Health Department from the Public Safety Building, declaring the Police Department needs more room in the emergency.

Coordinate Defense Work The Council took several actions pertaining to defense at yesterday's session. It adopted a resolution by Councilmen Paul Reville and Frank J. Laube directing city department heads to report within 72 hours on defense measures their departments have taken, and asking Gov. Arthur B. Langlie and Mayor Millikin to take any actions necessary for the public protection.

The Council today passed an ordinance giving up the lease the city took on property near the government locks, in order that the government may build a fence around the locks. The city had planned at one time to make a free parking lot there, but this idea was abandoned.

At Councilman James Scavotto's suggestion, Council members were told to keep their headquarters notified at all times of their whereabouts, so the group may be convened quickly if need arises.

Mayor Millikin yesterday took over personal direction of the city's civil defense, announcing a call for volunteers will be made as soon as a telephone staff can be set up to handle applications.

Church Council Asks Fairness To Japanese

The Seattle Council of Churches and Christian Education today asked for no discrimination against Japanese in the community, particularly in the holding of jobs.

"It would be most unfortunate if our Christian people would, by their attitude and actions, add to the difficulties and trials of the Japanese-Americans who now become victims of unfortunate circumstances because of the present situation," the council announced.

The council also addressed a message to the Japanese in the Pacific Northwest, stating: "We wish to congratulate you on the good record the Japanese in the United States have for being a law-abiding people."

"Both the first generation and the American born, second generation, are above average in the matter of good citizenship and observance of the best social usages. We wish to assure you of the sympathy and cooperation of the churches.

"We urge you to take any problem that may arise because of the international situation, or because of any local matter, to any Christians with whom you may be acquainted."
