MASS OUSTER OF JAPANESE IS DEMANDED BY ATTY.-GEN.

Feelings of Residents in Eastern Washington 'Not Important at This Time,' Congressmen Are Told

The immediate mass evacuation of all Japanese, both alien and American-born, to prevent "violence" against them was urged today by Attorney-General Smith 'Troy' at the Tolson congressional hearing on defense migration here.

He also urges that aliens of other enemy nations be evacuated.

Troy said that Eastern Washington residents would not be "too receptive" if aliens were moved there, but added that their "feeling is not important in times like this."

"This is necessary not only for our protection but for the protection of the aliens themselves as well," Troy said, "and I include in the term 'aliens' both alien and native Japanese. During the past several weeks there has been growing concern among the prosecuting attorneys of each of Washington's 39 counties over the possibility of mob violence."

Vigilante Talk Heard

"There has been talk in many counties of creating vigilante committees by people who have been demanding not only the ouster of aliens but threatening to take care of it themselves by force."

"I believe this feeling is only in an embryonic state now but I have the feeling that it could grow beyond control if any of the things you may expect in war occur, such as the publication of casualty lists or some terrible catastrophe or any other unexpected turn of events. That is something, of course, that we don't want."

"In my opinion, the evacuation of both alien and native Japanese is highly desirable and the sooner the quicker."

Troy said he does not believe the ouster should be necessarily "for the duration."

'Moved Out... All of Them'

"I believe they should be moved out as soon as possible—all of them," the attorney general said.

"Subsequently, some sort of tribunal can be set up to determine which of them is unquestionably loyal and eligible for reentry but that can come later. Right now they should be moved out."

Troy expressed grave concern

RUSS BEAR IS ALL OVER SHIP IN SEATTLE HARBOR

Favorite "crew member" of a Russian freighter in Seattle today is Mischa, a year-old bear from the Kamchatka Peninsula, Siberia. Here he is cuffing at Tatiana Vlasenko, a stewardess on the ship. The vessel is at the Spokane Street Terminal.

Allowed free run of the ship, on deck or aloft, Mischa here goes up the rigging, in playful pursuit of a Russian sailor. The ship's pet is unchained. (See Page 3 for details.)

Coercion by Union No Racket, Says Court; Stone Scores Ruling

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Supreme Court ruled today that the federal Anti-Racketeering Act did not apply to members of a labor union who, the Justice Department charged, required owners of trucks entering New York City from out of the state to pay a union member to drive and unload the trucks within the city.

Justice Byrnes delivered the 6-to-1 decision, applying specifically to Local 807 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America and 25 individual members.

Chief Justice Stone was the lone dissenter. Justices Roberts and Jackson did not participate.

In a vigorous dissent, Chief Justice Stone asserted that there was "abundant evidence" that the payments were made by the drivers or truck owners "to purchase immunity from the violence of respondents and for no other reason."

This situation, which Stone termed extortion, was not altered, he added, "by the willingness of the payee to accept as wages for services rendered what he in fact intentionally exacted from the driver or owner as the purchase price of immunity from assault."

Such an interpretation, Stone declared, "would render common-law robbery an innocent pastime."

"Congress," Byrnes said, "intended to leave unaffected the ordinary activities of labor unions... The test must therefore be whether the particular activity was among or is akin to labor-union activities with which Congress must be taken to have been familiar when this measure was enacted."

Accepting payments even where services are refused is such an activity, Byrnes said that the tactics of the Teamsters were not "the activities of predatory criminal gangs of the Kelly and Dillinger types at which the act was aimed" but "on the contrary they are among those practices of labor unions which were intended to remain beyond its ban."

"This does not mean," the majority opinion added, "that such activities are beyond the reach of federal legislative control. Nor does it mean that they need go unpunished. The power of state and local authorities to punish acts of violence is beyond question. It is not diminished or affected by the"

NAVY GIRDING FOR ATTACK ---ADM. KING

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 2.—Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States Fleet, declared today that the Navy was engaged in building up vital air and sea communications preliminary to developing a general offensive against the Axis powers.

"The statement concerning the Fleet's activities was given in a Navy communique in response, Admiral King said, to widespread interest in this subject."

"Appropriate measures are being taken," King declared, "to strengthen the key points of these communications, with a view to developing an offensive, which slowly but surely, will gain scope and power as we gain strength, through the production of aircraft, ships and guns."

At the same time, the commander declared that the Navy was taking every opportunity to "harass and damage the enemy." (See Page 4 for communique.)

Tire Thief Put Under Probation For Five Years

Leslie Weed, 49 years old, was placed on probation for five years after pleading guilty this afternoon before United States District Judge John C. Bowen to charges of stealing two automobile tires from the Sand Point Naval Air Station, where he was employed as a mechanic.

Weed's attorney described the theft as a "nervous reaction to the war." Judge Bowen warned the defendant that if he violates the law during the next five years, he can be brought back into court and sentenced for the theft.

Weed is the father of six children, ranging in age from 9 to 27 years.

U. S. Bomber Pilots Tell How They Blew Japan's Ships Apart

By W. H. McDOUGALL, United Press Staff Correspondent WITH AMERICAN AIR FORCES IN JAVA, March 2.—"We let our bombs go and those Japanese transports simply came apart— they disintegrated."

American aviators thus described one of their Flying Fortress bombing attacks off the coast of Java today when I stopped at their base en route back from a tour as close as permitted to one sector on which Allied troops are battling to crush Japanese invasion forces.

The American aviators were weary, red-eyed and fighting mad as they aided Dutch, Australian and British defenders of this embattled island. They are doing a great job.

The censor declines to permit me to discuss the battle for air superiority in detail but I am permitted to say the Americans and other Allied pilots are fighting against great obstacles and that along the road that I followed today I was surprised by the lack of Japanese fighter planes.

But as I write this at dusk tonight a Japanese bomber force protected by fighters is attacking a nearby Allied airbase and American and Dutch planes are striking back. The fighting is raging across a sky in which the evening star shines brightly—and so do the American and Dutch pilots.

The Japanese are using infiltrating tactics in their invasion areas, avoiding the main highways and attempting to slip through the jungles in flanking operations. The Dutch and other defenders are putting up a magnificent fight. There is little I am permitted to say in regard to the Allied defense methods, except it is a great show and that strong blows are being struck against the enemy motorcyclists and other units.

The word "front" is a misnomer. I could not find any actual front as the Japanese have sought to seize a certain area shaped like a frying pan. The handle of the pan represents the point of invasion—the spots where the enemy was pounded heavily by defense air

New Allied aid to Russia—possibly invasion of Europe—imperative as Japanese continue gains, says Mackenzie, war analyst. Page 20.

ALLIES STRIKE BACK; JAPAN'S LOSSES HEAVY

By Associated Press. The United Nations' counter-offensive against the Japanese invasion of Java has "developed satisfactorily," it was officially but cautiously announced at Bandoeng today and one unofficial report suggested that the deepest of the enemy's three spearheads had been sheared off.

Details of the counter-stroke, however, remained an official secret.

The official war report acknowledged flatly that "the situation in some parts of Java is obviously critical," but added that the invaders were "receiving blows, hammer and tongs."

"Up to now," the report continued, "there is no information received about fifth-column activities."

No More Landings

The Aneta news agency reported that up to a short time before midnight there had been no word of any new Japanese landings on the Java coast or of the approach of any new invasion armada.

Informed circles in London said the Japanese were believed to have landed five and a half divisions—some 85,000 men—on Java.

Destruction of all vital installations in Batavia, capital of the Netherlands East Indies, has been started as a precautionary measure.

ENEMY CRAFT FAILS TO HIT U. S. SHIP IN NIGHT ATTACK

Radio Stations Go Off Air During Saturday Evening Encounter; Ore Carrier Is Sunk by U-Boat Pack

By Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—The Navy announced an American tanker and an enemy submarine exchanged shots off the Golden Gate Saturday night.

The tanker William H. Berg was attacked by gunfire without warning but was not hit.

Crews manning the tanker's deck guns returned fire immediately but the submarine virtually was invisible in the darkness.

Navy surface craft and a squadron of Navy patrol bombers went into action with all possible speed, the Navy announced, but the enemy craft disappeared.

The engagement took place late east of the Farallon Islands.

San Francisco Bay area radio stations left the air for a half hour during the encounter, to prevent the enemy from taking navigation bearings.

The announcement of the encounter was made by Rear Adm. J. W. Greenslade, 12th Naval District commandant.

NORFOLK, Va., March 2.—

Three Axis submarines combined their striking power to sink the American freighter Marore off the middle Atlantic Coast Thursday night, crippling her with one torpedo and riddling her from stem to stern with more than 100 shells, members of the ship's 39-man crew reported on their safe arrival at Norfolk 24 hours later.

The 5th Naval District permitted interviews with the crew Saturday but withheld public announcement of the sinking until today.

The 8,214-ton freighter, owned by the Ore Steamship Company of New York, was northbound with iron ore when attacked. Navy planes directed another ship to the rescue of 25 crew members after they had been afloat in two lifeboats for 12 hours. Fourteen crewmen in the third lifeboat rigged a sail and landed at Cape Hatteras.

Crew Watches Shelling

Abandoning ship less than ten minutes after the torpedo struck amidship on the starboard side, the crew rowed several hundred yards away and watched the Marore's death struggle as the three submarines, grouped in a rough triangle and each about one mile distant, staged what one seaman described as a "beautiful display of fireworks."

"The shells going over our heads sounded like freight trains," said Christopher W. Core, radio operator, of Richmond, Va. "Tracer shells the 'subs' were using looked like roman candles. It was a beautiful display of fireworks but we couldn't enjoy it."

Shells Bounce on Sea

Capt. Charles E. Nash of Dundalk, Md., said the submarines fired more than 100 shells at the Marore and that "practically 100 per cent" of them struck the freighter. None of the crew saw the three submarines but several related that the flash of gunfire and the bright trail of tracer shells

10,000 Moros Whet Knives To Drive Out Japs

WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur advised the War Department today that leaders of an estimated 10,000 Moro tribesmen on the Philippine Island of Mindanao had "sworn upon the Koran" to fight the Japanese invaders to the death.

The Moros are Mohammedans by faith.

A War Department communique said those making the latest pledge of allegiance were residents of the Province of Lanao on the north central portion of Mindanao.

The pledge reported by MacArthur followed another announced last week by Secretary of War Stimson by Datu Gumbay Piang, as leader of 20,000 Moro "bolomen," who the datu said were serving with the Philippine defenders.

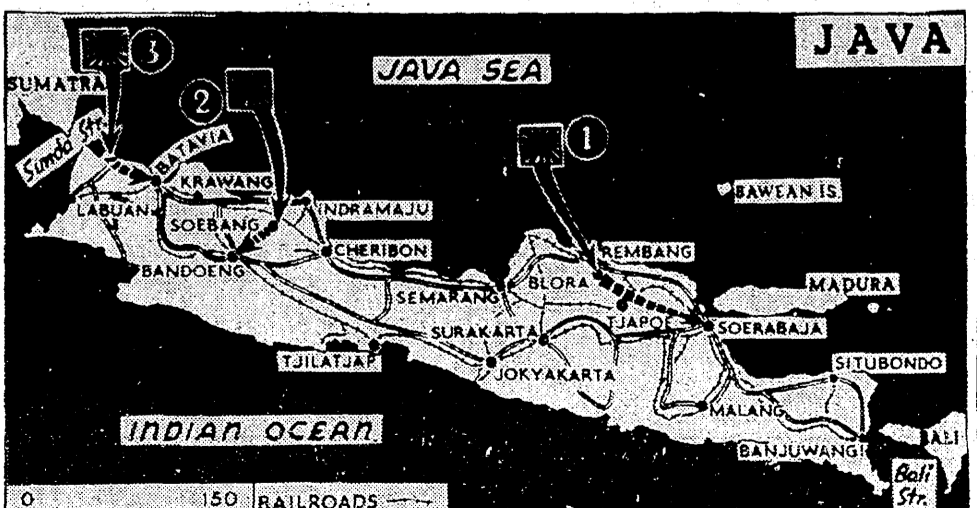

The pledge, MacArthur reported, was signed by Senator Sultan Sa Ramlan Alonto, all other sultans, deputy governors, municipal mayors and other officials of the province.

The pledge said the Moros had prepared such sharp-bladed weapons as sword-like knives and spears "because we lack firearms."

The Lanao Province district of Mindanao thus far has escaped the Japanese invasion.

ALLIES BATTLE THREE JAP THRUSTS

CENTER OF ACTIVITY

Allied troops today were battling Japanese on three fronts in Java. The Dutch reported that Japanese (1) had moved inland from Rembang and taken Bora and were trying to fight their way (broken arrow) to Soerabaja naval base. The Dutch also said Japanese who landed in the Indramajou Bay area (2) had driven to Soerabaja, less than 30 miles from Bandoeng (broken arrow). A third invasion force (3), which landed in the Bentan district, appeared to have been checked in a drive aimed at Batavia (broken arrow).—Map prepared by Associated Press and transmitted by wirephoto.

Puget Power Denied Appeal In P. U. D. Case

By United Press. WASHINGTON, March 2.—The Supreme Court today denied the petition of the Puget Sound Power & Light Company for review of lower-court decisions approving the condemnation of certain utility property by Whatcom County Public Utility District No. 1 at a price of $5,000,000.

The utility district seeks electrical properties in Whatcom County and two transmission lines running south into Skagit County.

The Puget Sound Company contended the condemnation was unnecessary because the Whatcom District could build a competing system quickly and economically. The real purpose of the condemnation, it was charged, was to set up a district-owned power monopoly in that area.

The utility also objected to certain court rulings in the trial on determination of the cost of the property.

The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals overruled these contentions.

EX-SEATTLEITE CAPTIVE AT KOBE

Mrs. Edith Hubbard learned today that her husband, Robert Reeves Hubbard, Seattle city bridge maintenance engineer who was captured by Japanese forces on Guam, is being held at Kobe, Japan.

A message from Hubbard, who had gone to Guam on a leave of absence to aid in building a naval air station, was broadcast by the Tokyo radio last night and picked up by the United Press listening post in San Francisco.

Feared He Was Casualty Mrs. Hubbard was overjoyed when notified of the message this forenoon at her home, 6312 Eighth Ave. N. E.

"I was beginning to fear he was a casualty on the island," she said. "I was terribly disappointed yesterday when there was word from three other men who were on Guam and none for me."

Hubbard's message was: "Dear Edith, 'Captured by Japanese army in Guam occupation. Moved to Kobe, Japan. Short-wave radio is the only means of communication. Japanese authorities treat us very fine and are considerate of our welfare.'"

Write J. H. Pomeroy, 333, Montgomery St., San Francisco, regarding finances. Lost your will in Guam, so secure a new one. Pay no federal income tax as Guam exempts earnings exempt. Also had large 1941 losses. Notify Engineer's Club and newspapers of my status. Regards to yourself, Helen and the rest of the family and friends. Pray for a short war so we can come home soon."

Nazis May Offer Peace to Russ, Swedes Hear

Seattle Times-Chicago Tribune - N. Y. Times Special Service STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 2.—Reports were heard in Stockholm that the visit to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's headquarters of Count Friedrich von den Schulenburg, former German ambassador to Moscow, was connected with the possibility of an offer of peace to Russia.

Since his return from Russia last July it has been assumed that the count was in disgrace as a result of the Reich's being incorrectly informed concerning the resources of the Soviet regime. Now it is said here that he is being consulted on the "general possibility" of peace between Germany and Russia.

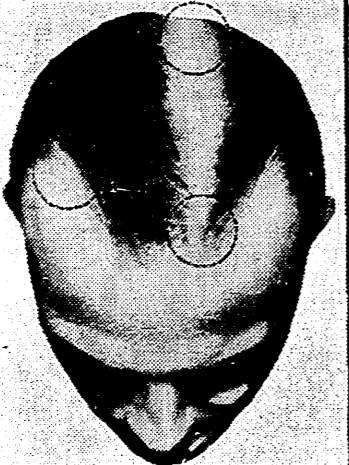

Those who are spreading the rumors—Germans for the most part—declare that the peace Hitler has in view would be very favorable to Russia—in fact, a return to the status quo ante.

Senate O. K.'s Move Repealing Pension Clause

With only a score of members present the Senate accepted a joint House-Senate conference report approving the pension repealer as an amendment to a House bill.

Mexico Fights Alarmists MEXICO CITY, March 2.—(AP)—Announcing that it considers native alarmists as much a part of the fifth column as foreign spies and sabotage agents, the Senate committee for investigation of anti-Mexican activities yesterday began consideration of measures to prevent a war of nerves in Mexico. Alfonso Flores, committee chairman, said he would ask the Interior Ministry to include spreaders of alarmist reports among those punishable by anti-espionage laws.

Troy, Fearing Anti-Alien Mob Action, Urges Mass Evacuation of Japanese

over the possibility of sabotage in the national forests in this state. "It's a difficult job to partol them adequately in peacetime summers, but with a nation at war I am fearful of the ability of the state or federal government to protect them," Troy said. "We have thousands and thousands and thousands of acres of timber land. A person or groups of persons could completely lose themselves in the woods. It would be impossible to find them once they got a start."

"Our mills are going day and night to produce timber for ships and camps and defense buildings. In Oregon and Washington lie the last great stands of timber. I think this reason alone is adequate for removal of aliens."

Policing Agencies Cited Troy said "all facilities" of the state are available not only for the protection of the forests but to aid in policing a mass evacuation. He included among the agencies the State Patrol, the State Conservation Department, the Department of Game and Fisheries, officers of the State Liquor Control Board, inspectors of the Departments of Agriculture, Public Service and Highways and State fire wardens.

Troy was asked by Congressman Lawrence E. Arnold, House member of the Toland committee, what would be the attitude of Eastern Washington residents if the aliens were removed across the mountains.

"I'm afraid some portions would not be too receptive," Troy said, "but I'm also of the opinion that this feeling is not important in times like this."

Troy pointed out that Eastern Washington has vast agricultural resources as well as the Coconino Dam, but said he does not consider the portion of the state east of the Cascades a "strategic" region.

Cross-Purposes Feared "I think the evacuation should be left in the hands of the military exclusively," Troy continued. "Without disparagement of any agency, I find there are so many agencies feverishly at work for the common good that many are working at cross-purposes."

"In other words, there are 'too many cooks.' I'd like to see it under one head. I'd even go so far as to recommend martial law."

"How would you distinguish between Japanese and German and Italian aliens?" asked Arnold. "Speaking frankly, out here we feel we know the Germans and Italians a lot better than the Japanese," Troy said. "For years, I believe, there always has been a distrust of the Japanese. I think then our first problem is to get the Japanese out of here and we can turn to other problems as they arise. Some of us may have to give up some of our civil rights for a time in order to hold others but I think our democratic intelligence is great enough that we must realize this must be done and fast."

Leases to Japanese Told Returning to the subject of removing aliens to Eastern Washington, Troy said that there are 8,000 acres of agricultural land on the Yakima Indian Reservation leased to about 125 Japanese, 92 per cent of whom are American citizens.

"This land is leased to the Japanese by the Indians and I'm informed reliably that these leaseholders now are sitting idly by, not because they wish to be a deterrent to the national war effort, but because they don't know what their status is. Why should they go to all the work of plowing and planting if they're going to be moved away? A decision is needed urgently or it may be too late to have crops."

The hearing, conducted Saturday by Congressman John H. Toland, California; Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska; and Arnold, was augmented today by a fourth representative, George H. Bender of Ohio.

Bender asked Troy's opinion of an evacuation order issued by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police requiring the ouster of male aliens between the ages of 18 and 35.

Not Far Enough—Troy "I don't believe it goes far enough," Troy answered. "I believe it should be a mass evacuation, first, including men, women and children of all ages. I believe it should be all-embracing to begin with. Later, those entitled to do so may return."

"I am now going to ask you something entirely unrelated to any of the preceding," Bender said. "There have been large numbers of soldiers moved into your state. Do you think prostitution has increased or that large numbers of prostitutes have moved into Washington?"

"I think not," Troy answered. "It's been my observation that prostitution has decreased."

"In the vicinity of San Francisco there have been complaints of increases. Does that have any effect on your situation? Do you feel it requires any congressional or federal action?"

"No, I think that prostitution and other crimes have been kept at a remarkable minimum."

Distinction Urged "I don't react favorably to the term 'enemy alien,'" Toland interposed. "It always jars me because we have thousands of aliens in the country who helped build it and are not enemies."

Shifting the discussion to the plight of the German-Jewish refugees, classed as "enemy alien," State Senator Mary Farquharson introduced Dr. Dolf Simons, a German-Jewish physician who fled Germany in 1937 with his wife, daughter and mother.

ness. He said that nearly every year since 1933, farmers in that area have had to plow under peas and lettuce because of over-production. He added that if the Japanese were removed their farms could be taken over by white growers.

Quaker Witnesses Called Two representatives of the American Friends Service Committee, a Quaker organization, were called as witnesses. One of them, Floyd W. Schmoie, of the University of Washington faculty, urged that the evacuation be effected as "a last resort" and that if this action were taken the persons affected be placed in the nearest area in which they can carry on work in occupations they now are doing. Schmoie said the organization was interested in the proposed evacuation only from a humanitarian standpoint and that it did not distinguish between citizen or noncitizen Japanese or Germans or Italians.

The other witness, Bernhard G. Warring, was questioned by Bender on the pacific views of the organization.

Warring testified that world problems could be settled by talking "love and kindness rather than by going to war."

"Do you think you can talk love and kindness in the face of a machine gun?" asked Bender.

Warring replied that he believed it could be done.

The witness added that the organization he represented was willing to abide by any decision made by the government and that it would do its best to aid all persons affected.

Publisher Charges Fraud Miller Freeman, Seattle publisher, charging that the Japanese were in the United States by "fraud, deception and collusion," urged the evacuation of both alien and citizen Japanese. Reciting the history of the migration of Japanese to America, Freeman charged that they came here for the purpose of colonizing the Pacific coast for Japan.

Committee members questioned him as to what should be done regarding German and Italian aliens. Freeman said that he was not qualified to discuss that matter, but he added that any of these aliens who had been in this country a long time without obtaining citizenship "are at least suspects."

The Rev. Thomas Gill, a Catholic priest and representative of the Puget Sound Chapter, American Association of Social Workers, declared that he was not in favor of evacuation for any reason other than military necessity. He added that if the evacuation is ordered it should not start until machinery has been established to aid in the evacuation.

U. S. Shouldn't Depend On Jap Growers, Solons Told Seattle should not "depend upon the enemy to feed it," I. W. Ringer, secretary of the Seattle Retail Grocers' Association, said today in a telegram to Congressman John H. Toland, chairman of the congressional committee investigating defense migration.

"Americans should not have to depend on agricultural products produced by Japanese who, in some areas, admit controlling 95 per cent," Ringer telegraphed.

"Dust bowl farmers who have arrived here recently, as well as Filipinos and Chinese, will take their place if given an opportunity."

STATE NEAR REST IN MURDER TRIAL

PORT ANGELES, March 2.—(AP)—The state, planning a night session to end its evidence today in the wife-murder trial of Monty J. Illingworth, 36 years old, former beer-truck driver, presented testimony of Mrs. Illingworth's sister, Lois Baillie, Vancouver, Wash., that she last saw Mrs. Illingworth alive on December 21, 1937. A body identified as Mrs. Illingworth's was recovered from Lake Crescent July 6, 1940. The woman had been strangled to death, expert witnesses testified.

Mrs. Baillie said that some time after Mrs. Illingworth disappeared, Illingworth told her his wife had gone to Bremerton with another man. At the time of the disappearance, Mrs. Baillie said she occupied an apartment with Eleanor Pearson. She testified that shortly after her sister disappeared, she visited Illingworth and Miss Pearson at an apartment they were then occupying.

Illingworth, charging desertion, sued for divorce in 1938 but the final decree never was entered. He was traced to Long Beach, Calif., and arrested there last fall. Max Church, now prosecuting him on the murder charge, was Illingworth's divorce-case attorney.

Jurors in the trial are: Ivan Mesford, telephone lineman; T. P. Clarkson, farmer; Kenneth Reid, office worker; E. W. WASHINGTON, March 2.—(AP)—Representative August M. Anderson, Republican, Minnesota, suggested in the House today that Mrs. Roosevelt direct her criticism of local draft boards "to the President, who is the Commander in Chief of the Army and the Navy."

Anderson told the House the President's wife had criticized local boards "for not properly placing selectees in the Army according to experience and qualification of each man."

"Local draft boards have nothing to do with placing men in the Army upon the basis of qualification," he declared. "They have plenty of trouble without being unjustly criticized for things they have nothing to do with."
