

MAN, WIFE DIE IN AUTO PLUNGE

Plunging through a guard rail on a bridge about one mile south of Maple Valley in the Maple Valley-Enumclaw road in their light truck, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hunter Patterson, Route 4, Box 1435, were killed instantly about 8 o'clock last night.

Their deaths brought King County traffic fatalities to 40 for the year.

Deputy Coroners Robert Owen and Sherman McLaughlin said the truck dropped about 75 feet and then rolled over several times into the bottom of a canyon, finally landing on tracks of the Pacific Coast Railroad. Coal trains were delayed more than two hours while deputy coroners, aided by State Patrolmen O. C. Furseth and C. E. McCarthy, removed the bodies and cleared away the wreckage.

Patterson was employed by the Boeing Aircraft Company. Previous to their coming to Seattle a short time ago, the Pattersons operated an auto camp on the Naches Pass Highway. Patterson was 60 years old and Mrs. Patterson about 40.

Jeanette Adams, 17, of 9500 Seventh Ave. N. W., suffered a brain concussion and was taken to Harborview County Hospital in serious condition after the automobile in which she was riding collided with another car in Airport Way at Plummer Street at 7:15 o'clock this morning.

Miss Adams was a passenger in the automobile of Everett Mabbott, 6647 Corson Ave. Mabbott's car collided with the automobile of William E. Anthony, 2912 E. Madison St., Traffic Investigators C. J. Holevas and M. E. Cook reported. Neither driver was held.

Three persons were injured slightly in a three-car collision in the Seattle-Tacoma Highway at the Redondo Beach Road about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. They are William L. Owens, 26, Tacoma, and Lee L. Love, 21, and Jack Hackett, both of 1806 16th Ave., Seattle.

Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Hoff of Seattle were hurt when their automobile left the road at Elbe Canyon, on the Mountain Highway, yesterday afternoon, the State Patrol reported. They were taken to Mary Bridge Clinic in Tacoma.

Dr. Hoff was reported by clinic attendants to have a broken back. Mrs. Hoff was suffering from a brain concussion and severe bruises. Attendants said the condition of both was "satisfactory."

Mrs. Margaret Björke, 1520 E. 146th St., and Miss June Means, 4518 35th Ave. N. E., suffered cuts and bruises when two automobiles collided in Aurora Avenue at North 60th Street early yesterday morning.

David Doesn't Talk About Going; He's Used to Change

DAVID and HARRIET ISHII PLAY BINGO Says their stepmother: 'You can't pack your bedclothes when that's all you have'

The family life of little David Ishii is complicated but cozy. Of course, you remember David. For several years he was the darling of the nurses at Swedish Hospital, the only home he knew until January, 1940.

Today David faces evacuation from the Pacific Coast, like all members of his race, alien or American-born. But if there's a Japanese boy in the world who's used to change and various living conditions, it's David.

David won't be 7 years old for a month. He is content to wait to listen and to smile. There are many persons interested in his welfare.

Nurses Still Entranced

There are the nurses at Swedish Hospital, still as entranced by David as when they bought him his first little knitted suits and showed him proudly to visitors and patients and doctors and internes.

There are his six brothers and sisters, all older than he.

There is his stepmother, who married the children's father in 1937.

There are his "grandparents," Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dunn, 3222 23rd Ave. W., who have provided well for little David, his stepmother and his brothers and sisters.

Dunn, proprietor of a Seattle seed company, took David's father for a younger partner years ago. Little David's dad came to Seattle from Japan when he was about 15 years old. He died in 1939 in Japan.

Nex-Door Neighbors

Mrs. Ishii is grateful to the Duns for their kindness, for their training of the Ishii children, for their very home, which is next door to the Duns. Her stepchildren are: Jack, 21; Addie, 19; William, 16; George, 13; Mary, 11; Harriet, 9, and David. The three eldest attend a Catholic church. The others attend Methodist worship with Mrs. Ishii. She believes that religious choice is strictly the business of a child himself, when he grows old enough to choose.

She is a native of Bellevue. Her mother, Mrs. Mami Doi, lives at 7935 Delridge Way.

Besides all these, interested in David, there are relatives of one of the hospital nurses who made a home for David in 1940 on Vashon Island, and innumerable friends.

Council to Study Gas-Work Licenses

The City Council license committee will hold a public hearing March 30 on the Fire Department's proposed ordinance licensing mechanics who work on compressed combustible-gas burners or storage equipment.

A $50 annual license fee is suggested in the ordinance, which would give the Fire Department control over such installations. Compressed gas that is highly combustible is used in welding, heating buildings, cooking and many other purposes.

Tokyo Denies 'Atrocities'

TOKYO, March 16.—Tokyo Radio made a second denial today of assertions by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that Japanese troops at Hongkong committed atrocities. The radio issued what it termed "a complete refutation" a week after Eden spoke of the atrocities in the House of Commons.

TODAY DEADLINE FOR TAX RETURNS

Today is the final day for filing income-tax returns and any returns not turned in to the Seattle or Tacoma offices before 8 o'clock tonight, or in the mail and post-marked before midnight, will be subject to delinquency penalties.

Although hundreds of "last-minute filers" stood in lines at the Federal Office Building, First Avenue and Marion Street, the crowd had slackened off in comparison to last Friday and Saturday.

Meanwhile, hundreds of King County residents rushed to the County-City Building to take advantage of a 3 per cent deduction on real and personal property taxes, if paid by today.

Clark Squire, collector of internal revenue for Washington and Alaska, reported that Saturday collections in the district totaled $1,967,077.58, of which $1,408,781.69 was paid by individuals and the remainder by corporations.

From Wednesday through Saturday, individuals in Washington and Alaska paid Uncle Sam $6,471,99.07, Squire reported.

Many persons this year are mailing in their returns, instead of delivering them personally. Mail to both offices is unusually heavy.

One letter, simply addressed, "Tacoma, Wash., was delivered to Squire's office. It contained a return and a $2 money order.

"Tacoma postmen must believe that any mail that comes to Tacoma is for us," Squire said.

Squire said his office has adopted a "liberal policy" in respect to payment by service men. Although they must file returns, payments can be deferred as long as six months after they leave the service, if their ability to pay is impaired by their induction. The deferment is provided for in the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act of 1940.

Dances for Boeing Night Shifts O. K'd

It will not be necessary to change the public dance ordinance to allow Boeing workers to dance after 1 o'clock in the morning, City Comptroller W. C. Thomas told the City Council license committee today.

Thomas said dances held by the workers could not be considered public dances. The Aeronautical Mechanics Union had asked that the ordinance be changed so night-shift employees may dance after the usual dancing hours.

Bout With Unruly Pajamas Lands Youth in Hospital

Lawrence Moree, 17-year-old busboy, lost a 10-round decision in a wrestling match with his pajamas in a nontitle fight in his room, 702-A E. Pike St., at 2:20 o'clock this morning.

Moree was admitted to Harborview County Hospital after the bout with a dislocated shoulder, suffered as he donned the pajamas.

"It was a tough match," Moree told hospital attendants. "We fought hard and broke clean."

Moree said he had been wrestling with pajamas for nearly two decades and still retains an amateur standing.

"It was a nontitle fight," Moree said shortly before undergoing an anaesthetic to have his shoulder returned to its rightful position.

"But it taught me a good lesson. You've got to get under a pair of pajamas. You'll lose every time on an overhanded swing."

Speedier Army Induction Plan Put Into Effect

Speeding up of the induction of Selective Service registrants was put into effect by the War Department today, the Associated Press announced from Washington, D. C.

The new system went into effect in every draft district in the nation. Heretofore men subject to call have received notice from their local boards to report for the Army physical examination, and it usually was about 10 days after they had passed their examinations before they received induction orders.

Under the new plan, registrants will receive orders for immediate induction and the physical examination will come after they are inducted.

The War Department requested the change in procedure. It was announced that men inducted under the new system would be granted a 10-day furlough immediately after induction in cases where the men need time to wind up their civilian affairs.

RETAILERS URGED TO HELP IN DRIVE

All member stores of the Seattle Retail Trade Bureau have been urged to "make every effort to conserve, in order that prices may be kept as low as possible," Clarence F. Klopfenstein, chairman, announced today.

His announcement followed indorsement by the Seattle Retail Trade Bureau executive committee of the "Americans' Pledge for Victory" program originated and sponsored by the Advertising and Sales Club of Seattle.

"All member stores are urged to conserve, convert and cooperate in their daily operation," Klopfenstein said. "They are urged to refrain from any type of 'fear' advertising; and to keep their sales and advertising forces properly informed on alternatives—made necessary by the war-effort—so as to give customers the best value possible."

Member stores also have been requested to enlist their entire personnel in the program for complete cooperation in the "Americans' Pledge for Victory" program, Klopfenstein said, and to carry on the "Conserve, convert, cooperate" program for the duration.

Crippled Boy Admits Killing Man, 65, for $2

TACOMA, March 16.—(AP)—Officials pondered today the problem presented by the confession of a 14-year-old crippled boy that he attacked and fatally injured George Rice, 65 years old, in a $2 robbery Thursday night.

Rice was found unconscious in his room Friday night by police when they answered a mysterious telephone call. He died Saturday night without regaining consciousness.

Capt. Fred Gardner of the police juvenile division said the boy was arrested near a filling station from which the telephone call had been placed and quickly admitted he had attacked Rice with a milk bottle in a robbery attempt.

The youth told Gardner he returned to Rice's room twice Friday and called police when he found the elderly man still unconscious late in the evening. The police officers arrested him for questioning when they noticed him watching the arrival of the emergency car.

Captain Gardner said the boy, whose name he withheld, had a record of juvenile offenses, including a recent attempt to burn the house of a Japanese Methodist minister, the Rev. O. Oshida. The fire was discovered before it did great damage.

It takes high-speed photography to "stop" Dorothy Lewis's flashing blades, but it's easy to see her preference for Camels

DOROTHY LEWIS studied ballet from the age of 4, and her routines on the ice combine the artistry of the toe-dancer with the speed of the skater. Her cigarette combines extra mildness and flavor. She smokes slower-burning Camels.

MISS LEWIS works out her routines first in ballet slippers. Many's the Camel cigarette she smokes as she relaxes. "Yes, I smoke a good bit," Miss Lewis says. "I've found Camels milder by far."

CAMELS HAVE THE MILDNESS THAT COUNTS WITH ME—LESS NICOTINE IN THE SMOKE

The smoke of slower-burning Camels contains 28% LESS NICOTINE than the average of the 4 other largest-selling cigarettes tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself!
