Ayres Objections Leave Bad Taste in Seattleites' Mouths

Perhaps it's a lucky thing for Lew Ayres that he wasn't within reach of men and women in Seattle today.

A dozen men and women, chosen at random, all expressed their distaste for the motion picture star's action in declaring himself a conscientious objector.

They all remembered Ayres. They remembered well the closing scene of "All Quiet on the Western Front," when his hand fell limp while reaching over the edge of a trench for a butterfly, as a sniper shot him dead.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today that the new Pacific War Council, which meets with him for the first time tomorrow, had been established so that consultations might be held on the general progress of defending ourselves against the powers of darkness.

Japs Evacuated, Bainbridge Life Eases Back to Normalcy

Life on Bainbridge Island eased back to normal today after eight hectic days in which evacuation of the island's Japanese was completed.

The Japanese, the entire 227 of them, left the island yesterday, and today were bound in a special train, for Owens Valley, Calif.

Guards were absent this morning from the ferry docks at Winslow and Eagledele and commuters rather missed them.

Residents of the island were somewhat nonplussed today as they went about their business in a non-Japanese area.

Most of the soldiers, however, including Maj. C. F. Eisen, who had charge of the evacuation, went with the special train which carried the "orphans of the war" southward.

BRIDE IS DENIED HASTY DIVORCE

Asserting the court would not countenance a "marriage on probation," Superior Judge J. T. Ronald this afternoon refused to grant a divorce decree to Mrs. Alice W. Carlson, 22 years old, who was married little more than a month ago.

The young wife, who lives at 1307 Sixth Ave. N., testified she married Gilbert Carlson, 44, a laborer, last February 14, six weeks after they met.

Mrs. Carlson complained that the bridegroom moved into the home with her and her mother, fall 1 to support her and left her three days after the ceremony.

In denying the wife's action for a divorce, Judge Ronald stated that the couple "hardly had enough time to become acquainted" during their brief marriage.

"I'm not going to make a farce out of a marriage," the court said. "I won't countenance couples getting into probation."

"Couples can't get married one month and get a divorce the next."

'You-Fight-War' Cry Fails to Elect Women

CHETSEA, Iowa, March 31.—(AP)—"You fight the war; we'll take care of the town," ran the campaign slogan of five women who formed a complete ticket for municipal offices here.

But the voters snubbed the women under 4 to 3 yesterday, reelecting Mayor Joseph Novak and his fellow candidates. At that, the women nosed out a second men's ticket.

One hundred women in the county jail in Indianapolis, Ind., have offered to sew and knit for the American Red Cross.
