Philomels Win High Favor In

By T. C. S.

The fact that the Philomel Singers packed the house last night, although the house was the huge additorium of the Roosevelt High School, is not news since they have filled it time and time again. Music -m inded people have learned to expect always a fine and well-rounded performance by the group. Also they have found that an all-women chorus has a special place in the music sphere that is occupied by them alone, and which has musical virtues of its own not dunlicated by any other kind of instrumentation.

It is true that any standard group of instruments or voices can touch upon a like number of moods but also it is true that they vary in the intensity with which they can express these moods.
