

MASS JAPANESE REMOVAL BEGUN

DENVER, Aug. 8. — (UP) — The first trainload of an eventual mass migration of 10,000 West Coast Japanese were en route to their new island homes at the Heart Mountain relocation center near Cody today — ready to establish what will become Wyoming's fifth largest town.

The first Japanese will arrive at Heart Mountain Tuesday from the Puyallup Assembly Center in Washington.

Built on the barren foothills at the familiar east gate of Yellowstone National Park, the camp offers 19 blocks of apartment-type barracks where Japanese families — citizens and aliens alike — will form their own community and stay under government supervision for the rest of the war.

But it will be no concentration camp such as the Axis nations maintain for citizens of the United Nations, according to Joseph H. Smart, regional chief of the War Relocation Authority.

The Japanese will have their own City Council and will select their own mayor. They will set up and operate their own Fire Department. Doctors will be Japanese, with the exception of the chief medical authority.

There will be stores, barber shops, beauty parlors and recreational centers, all operated by the Japanese themselves. Such sports as baseball and wrestling will be encouraged.

Schools will be operated 12 months a year in the center to continue the American education of the Japanese children. Most of the teachers, Smart said, will be Americans "but full use of any competent Japanese teachers available will be made."

Community Sing And Band Concert Slated

Another community sing and band concert, fourth in a series, will be held this afternoon at Volunteer Park. The band concert, presenting Jackie Souders and his Seattle Park Board Band, will begin at 2:30 o'clock, followed by the community sing at 4 o'clock.

The program will include old-time favorites and patriotic war songs. The public is invited. The community-sing programs are produced by the Seattle Park Board and the Musicians' Association of Seattle.

City Light Driver Commits Suicide

Despondent over ill health, Fred G. Brix, 50 years old, a truck driver for City Light, ended his life by shooting himself with a .44 caliber revolver at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Chief Coroner's Deputy John P. Brill, Jr. reported.

Mrs. Brix told Brill she heard a shot and investigated. Brix was lying dead on the ground, in the brush 50 yards behind his home, the revolver in his right hand. A bullet had entered his right temple. Brix lived at 5523 32nd Ave. S.

Sprague O. K.'s Trophy Scrap
SALEM, Or., Aug. 8. — Gov. Charles Sprague today gave his approval to a recent presidential suggestion that trophies of past wars be scrapped for use in the war effort.

WELL HAS BIRTHDAY

Coins and wishes flew thick and fast at the wishing well installed in Volunteer Park by the Interlaken Guild of the Children's Orthopedic Hospital on the well's second anniversary. Left to right are Barbara Johnson, 21 years old, 7700 12th Ave. N. E.; Corp. Glenn E. Engles, 21, Fort Lewis; Jean Frances Nelson, 22, 4027 15th Ave. N. E.; and George Rokenfield, 22, Sand Point Naval Air Station. In the two years of its existence, the well has garnered $380 for the Children's Orthopedic Hospital, according to Mrs. Edwin J. Fenby, president of Interlaken Guild.

DEMONSTRATIONS ON FARMING SET

Demonstrations offered with the intention of increasing agricultural and livestock production in Western Washington will begin Tuesday, according to K. T. Knutson, secretary of the Western Washington Reclamation Institute.

"In the present emergency we must learn to use our land as efficiently as possible," Knutson said. A study of fitpens and grasses as forage for livestock at Elbe, Pierce County, at 10 o'clock Tuesday, will open the three-day series of demonstrations, it was announced by Knutson. At 1 o'clock the opening day, a visit will be made to the George Petrie sheep ranch, seven miles east of McKenna, where grasses and range management will be discussed.

Irrigation demonstrations are scheduled Wednesday for the Warren Smith farm, 2 1/2 miles north of Adna, at 9:30 o'clock; the Leo Seifert farm, 2 1/2 miles north of Centralia, at 11:15 o'clock; and the B. J. McNamara farm, 6 miles south of Olympia on the Littlerock road, at 2 o'clock.

Demonstrations Thursday will include stops at the Charles M. Zeller farm, 3 miles west of Puyallup, at 10 o'clock; the Bob Treach farm, 2 miles west of Puyallup, at 12 o'clock; and the R. J. Hill farm, on the edge of Summer, at 2 o'clock.

Additional demonstrations will be presented August 28 as follows: 10 o'clock, the William DeLeeuw farm, three quarters of a mile south of Sultan; 1:30 o'clock, the M. A. Schoolcraft farm, 9 miles north of Marysville on Highway 99; and the William Strotz farm in the same neighborhood, shortly thereafter.

R. M. Turner, assistant director of extension; Lars Langlo, hydraulic engineer of the Department of Conservation and Development; and R. N. Miller, farm engineer of the extension service, will participate in the discussions, Knutson announced.

WON'T YOU DINE WITH US?

Our palatial Crystal Tearoom opens its doors to you from 5 until 7:30 tomorrow night, serves delicious but reasonably priced dinners. Come and bring your family. See beautiful models parade before you at 6:40, wearing the newest and smartest in Fall fashions. Hear a string ensemble play your favorite selections softly while you dine.

CRYSTAL TEAROOM, STREET FLOOR

don't miss a minute of this great social event

ANOTHER FAMILY PARTY TOMORROW UNTIL 9 P. M.

Excitement

Jackie Souders and his Associated Shipbuilders band will be back again to play your favorite pieces from 6 until 7:30, (of special interest to you war workers who find Monday-night shopping so convenient, because he's one of you.) Then there'll be Fashion Shows in our Third Floor Little Theatre, featuring beautiful models wearing beautiful clothes, a preview of the Fall fashion picture.

Dinner

Served lavishly and deliciously in both our Crystal Tearoom and the Soda Grill. Bring the children down with you and meet Dad for a family dinner that will add a fillip to the entire week.

Specials

And on the more practical side we offer you our great August Home Furnishings sale with beauty on a budget for every room in your house. A Sale of Lovely Furs with prices at a low that's amazing.

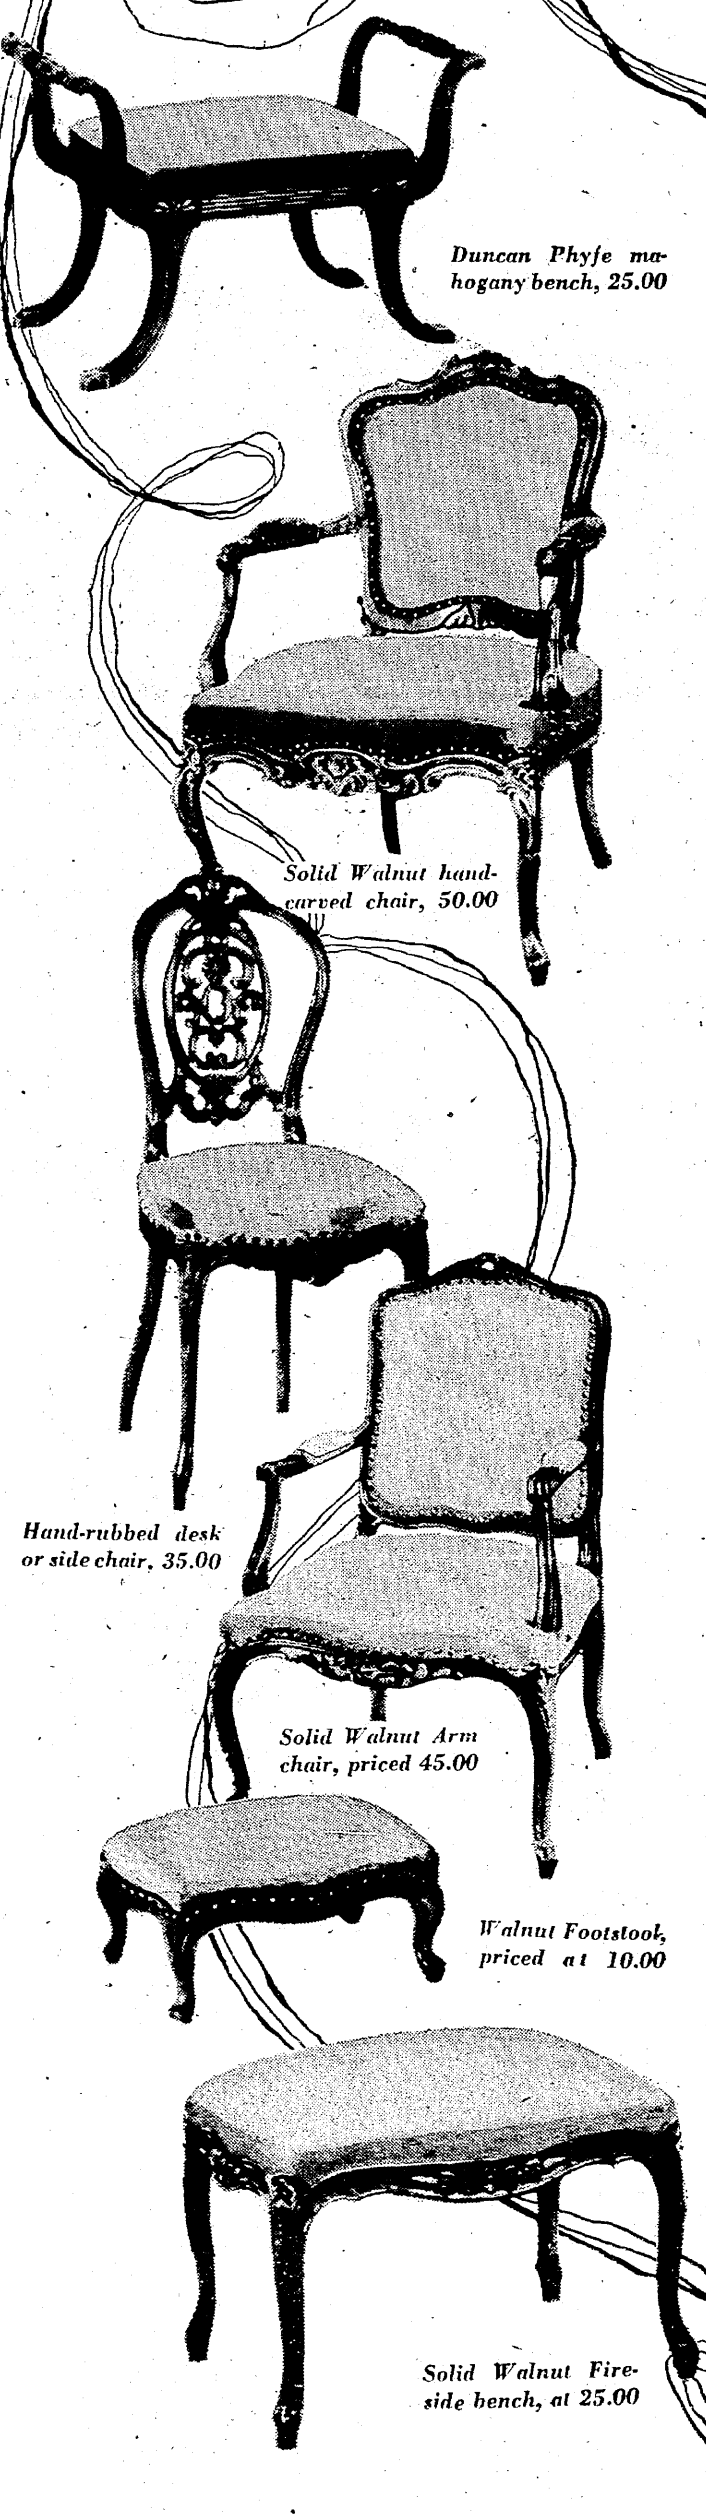

THE BON MARCHE

where all Seattle shops

Your Needle-points

to beauty for your home in years to come . . . as you relax from a hectic world of wartime duties!

Duncan Phyfe mahogany bench, 25.00

Solid Walnut hand-carved chair, 50.00

Hand-rubbed desk or side chair, 35.00

Solid Walnut Arm chair, priced 45.00

Walnut Footstool, priced at 10.00

Solid Walnut Fire-side bench, at 25.00

You're the busiest woman we know of these days . . . managing the children, Red Cross or Filter Board duty, U. S. O. work and keeping a husband happy and well fed . . . the world is spinning 'round and 'round and yet you've the reins of your life held firmly in your lovely, slim fingers . . . but don't, we beg, lose thought of your home and, through its loveliness, the happiness it brings to so many. Stop regularly to relax in your living room . . . your fingers needn't be idle . . . they can fashion exquisite needlepoint to add charm and individuality to your home. Worthy of your handiwork is this gracious period style furniture . . . custom built chairs, benches and stools. Designs of French, English and Victorian influence . . . note the hand-carving, the fine cabinet woods, the webbed bottom, hand-tied springs . . . each piece an inspiration in itself to make you want to start your Needlepointing to beauty! Come in and select your furniture for needle-point today!

to get started . . .

You'll need wool and needle-point pieces . . . come, see our comprehensive showing of exquisite patterns . . . the designs are all worked, you need only to complete the background . . . we've chair sets, benches and squares for chair seats priced from 75c to 35.00. Choose from the rainbow of colors in our Paragon tapestry wool, imported from England. A 40-yard skein is priced at 30c. The beauty of Needlepoint is lasting, the charm timeless . . . and all yours to create in fruitful hours of relaxation!

Art Needlework, Second Floor

where all Seattle shops

The Bon Marche