BERLIN (from German broad-casts), Aug. 19.—D. N. B., German news agency tonight reported that a large-scale Allied attempt to land on the French coast near Dieppe had ended in debacle, and that since this afternoon "there was not a single armed British, American or Canadian left on the European Continent."

More than 1,000 prisoners were taken by German troops, the agency said, and the Allied losses in men and materials are "very high and cannot be surveyed."
