

UNITED PLANES HAVE WAR JOBS

United Air Lines is one of two lines under contract to the Army to fly to Australia and India 20 to 30 times a week from Pacific Coast bases, it was learned today.

The contract is for cargo and soldiers, but not for civilian passengers or service.

Details of the world's biggest and fastest airline-expansion program were made public recently in Washington, D. C., by Gen. Harold L. George, chief of the Air Transport Command, in charge of flying thousands of soldiers and tons of cargo to world battlefronts.

The private airlines will furnish the flying personnel and servicing of planes and the Army has promised a minimum of 300 new cargo planes for the lines by December.

The lines will use twin-engine Douglas DC-3s, 25-ton Douglas DC-4s, Curtiss Commando transports and Consolidated B-24 bombers converted into cargo planes. Besides the India and Australia flights the ten private airlines are contracted for flights regularly to London, Central and South America.

20,000 Prescriptions Worry Pharmacist, Called to Army

SOL L. SHURE AND HIS PRESCRIPTION FILE
His college career included a post-graduate course in baseball

On cloudy days when that old pain in your elbow comes on again, it isn't enough to call up the druggist and say, "I want some more of those pink pills."

What you need is the prescription detailing the amounts of this, that and the other ingredient which went into those pills.

And it's prescriptions—20,000 of them—that are worrying Sol L. Shure, owner of the Roy Street Pharmacy at 616 Broadway N., who has been called into the armed forces and given six months in which to arrange his affairs.

Many of doctor's prescriptions, which Shure keeps on file, date back ten years or more. Each one was given a number when filled, and customers suffering from twinges similar to those of even a decade before could call up, give Shure the prescription number and get a refill.

Now, going out of business for the duration, after 17 years at the same stand, Shure wants to get those prescriptions back into the hands of the people who may need them.

"I'll be glad to give a copy of any prescription which may be needed again," Shure said today.

When he got his marching orders, Shure, who is 41 years old, popped the question to Helen Solomon of 214 Broadway N. They will be married tomorrow night.

Shure is a graduate of the University of Washington, where he took, as he explains it, "a post-graduate course in baseball."

In 1924, it seems, the University College of Pharmacy had a whale of an eight-man baseball team. All they lacked was a catcher. Putting in an extra year of study, says Shure, was a first-class excuse for donning the mask and pads.

That year, recalls Shure with enthusiasm, the College of Pharmacy "lammed the daylight" out of the Sigma Nu Fraternity nine for the championship. Score? He's forgotten.

FARM AND LABOR SOLON DEMANDS LEADERS SEE F. R. 18-19 AGE DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt let farm and labor union leaders study an outline of his anti-inflation plan today, but those who conferred with him would not discuss details.

There was some evidence, however, that the Chief Executive still was moving in the direction of stabilizing wages and farm prices on some flexible basis which would permit adjustment to changes in living costs.

The conferences today were a prelude to a message to Congress on Monday and a radio address that night which will present the anti-inflation program to the people.

First, the Chief Executive saw Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and heads of major farm organizations. They were Edward A. O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau Federation, H. E. Babcock of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, Albert C. Goss of the National Grange and James P. Patton of the National Farmers' Union.

Following this group into the President's office were William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

O'Neal said "we talked over the whole stabilization program." He dodged questions about details but nodded agreement to a suggestion that the President had left little doubt farm prices would be stabilized.

Asked whether labor would go along with the President's program, Murray did not care to say anything, and Green remarked that "labor has always gone along pretty well."

$6,500,000,000 In New Taxes Asked

Individuals who had become subject to the higher income tax.

Supplementing the flat 10 per cent tax in the lower brackets of spending, the Treasury proposed a spending surtax with rates graduated up to 75 per cent in the higher brackets.

For a single person, spending up to $1,000 would be taxed 10 per cent, from $1,000 to $2,000 at 20 per cent, from $2,000 to $3,000 at 30 per cent, from $3,000 to $5,000 at 40 per cent, from $5,000 to $10,000 at 50 per cent and all over $10,000 at 75 per cent.

A family, however, would be put on a per capita basis, giving a married couple with one dependent an exemption from this surtax of $2,500.

If this family spent a total of $5,000, or $2,500 in excess of its exemption, its surtax would be $250 for the family.

The Treasury recommended making the spending surtax effective as of September 1, 1942. Paul said it was essential this be done to "prevent large-scale buying and hoarding of consumers goods in anticipation of the enactment of the spending tax."

Would Be Effective Next Year

Paul said the refundable part of the spending tax, the 10 per cent flat levy, could go into effect January 1, 1943.

Paul said the proposal to lower income-tax exemptions to $500 for single persons, $1,000 for married couples and give only $250 credit for dependents would bring an additional 5,000,000 persons into the federal income tax paying field, over and above the number previously included by Senate financing committee changes in the House bill.

Paul cited these examples of potential increases in individual income taxes:

The tax of a married person without dependents having an income of $2,000 would be increased from $140 to $178, while a married person with two dependents and the same income would pay a tax of $83, whereas he would pay none under the pending bill.

Effect of Taxes Cited

Illustrating the effect of the spending tax, combined with the income tax, he cited this example:

A married couple with two dependents having an income of $5,000 would have an income-tax liability of $680. If their spendings amount to $3,800, the spending surtax would be $80 and the refundable spending tax $380. If their spendings were only $3,100 the spending surtax would be reduced to $10 and the refundable spending tax to $310. Their combined tax would be $1,140 in the first case and $1,000 in the second case. Of these amounts, however, $380 or $310, respectively, would be refunded after the war.

Senator Herring, Democrat, Iowa, declared today that a manufacturer's sales tax of 5 to 7 per cent was the most practical way to boost revenues from the pending supplemental tax bill to the Treasury's goal of $8,700,000,000 a year.

"When we get through considering the taxes already written into the House bill or those suggested in the Senate finance committee," Herring said, "we're going to find ourselves far short of our revenue needs. A sales tax is the answer. It will bring in the money, all right."

"As Iowa's first Democratic governor in 46 years, I sponsored a sales tax," Herring recalled. "It was passed and two years later the fight against me was centered on the sales tax. But I was elected twice as long as a majority as in 1932. The people liked it."

From experience in administering a state tax, Herring said he was of the opinion that a similar federal levy should not exempt any special class of purchases, such as food and clothing. Exemptions tend to wholesale evasions, he declared. "It is also important," he said, "that the tax be passed on to the consumer. Otherwise, the merchant would be proclaiming: 'We'll pay the tax' and others would be charging it to their customers."

Mend Machines Now, Farmers Are Urged

King County farmers are being urged to arrange for machinery repairs as soon as possible, according to A. E. Lovett, county extension service agent for the United States Department of Agriculture. Though necessary repairs for farm machinery are included in the national production program, it is imperative that an estimate of requirements be obtained.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Senator Gurney, Republican, South Dakota, demanded in the Senate today the immediate drafting of youths of 18 and 19 years of age.

"The proposal brought a quick protest from Senator Bilbo, Democrat, Mississippi, who said the "idea of sending tender boys into combat" was "abhorrent" to him.

Gurney offered an amendment to the Selective Service Act which he said was designed to provide youths under 20 a maximum period of training before "they would have to go into combat."

The Gurney amendment was referred to the military affairs committee, where Democratic senators have professed distaste for lowering age limits for induction, with one warning against mobilization of an army so large that it would endanger the nation's efficiency as "the arsenal of democracy."

Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky told reporters he had received no request from the White House or Selective Service Headquarters for any change in the draft law. He would support such action, he said, only upon a request that "it is necessary."

Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, of the military committee, expressed little sympathy for a move to induct younger men. He told reporters the 18 and 19-year olds should be permitted an additional year or two for the education that "can make a good lieutenant out of an average private."

"Care should be taken," he said, "before going to the extreme in mobilization of an army in view of our commitments to supply our own forces and our allies with ammunition, food and the other materials of war."

Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, declaring the administration was waiting "until after the November election" before asking further draft legislation, said he was preparing legislation for the induction of youths under 20.

Half-Jap Youth Must Stand Trial

United States District Judge John C. Bowen today set October 6 for the trial of 18-year-old James Sugiura, half Japanese and half Caucasian, for violation of the evacuation order governing Japanese in the coastal area.

Sugiura's bail was set at $100. The court ruled he can be released from the King County jail only if he posts the bail and goes directly to the Japanese evacuation center at Camp Harmony, Puyallup.

Sugiura pleaded not guilty. Since his mother is a Caucasian, he said, he did not know he was violating the law by remaining in Seattle.

VISIT HIM EVERY WEEK IN SNAPSHOTS

WHEN you write—slip a bunch of snapshots into your letter. Make Labor Day a red-letter day for that soldier of yours. Snapshots are the nearest thing to a visit from the home folks. They bring families and friends together.

And don't take chances with snapshots that mean as much as these do. Load with Kodak Verichrome Film. Most snapshots prefer it to any other.

Verichrome has great "range"—that's the secret of its all-out success. Its unusual range enables you to get better pictures... takes care of reasonable exposure errors... lengthens your snapshot day.

Ask for, and be sure that you get, Kodak Verichrome Film—at your Kodak dealer's... Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.

EVERY SOLDIER WANTS A KODAK—SEND ALONG THAT EXTRA ONE OF YOURS

Cameras are a big "want" among Service men. If you have an extra Kodak or Brownie, even an old one—make some soldier happy by sending it to him, with some film. Every camera Eastman makes is designed and built to last for years.

Accept nothing but the film in the familiar yellow box—Kodak Film—which only Eastman makes.
