DISLOYAL JAPS RESISTING WORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—(AP)—An "organized resistance" among "definitely disloyal Japanese" was blamed today for a refusal to harvest crops at the Tule Lake Segregation Center in Northern California.

Robert B. Cozzens, assistant director of the War Relocation Authority in charge of the West Coast area, said harvest work stopped two weeks ago when several thousand Japanese "known to be disloyal" were transferred to Tule Lake from some of the other nine relocation centers, and Japanese believed loyal to the United States were moved out.

Cozzens said, however, that the harvest definitely would be resumed soon, but gave no indication who would do the work. Alfalfa, grain and vegetables on about 1,000 acres remain to be harvested. A large share of the Tule Lake crop is scheduled to go to other Japanese centers.

At Tule Lake yesterday, R. R. Best, project director, said he was advised by a committee of eight, professing to represent the center's entire population now approximating 14,000, that a unanimous decision not to participate in harvest work had been reached.

An estimated 6,500 of Tule Lake's 13,000 residents were removed recently after the center was designated as the site for disloyalists. About 7,500 disloyalists or suspected disloyalists have been moved in from other centers. Total population is expected to reach 18,000.

Cozzens indicated the refusal to work was no surprise—"we knew the residents now there were disloyal, and have made all preparations accordingly."

B. C. Draft Status
Special to The Times.
VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 23.—British Columbia's supply of manpower to meet the army's draft requirements has been so augmented in recent weeks that it should not be necessary to call married men in the 30- to 35-year-old class for many months, Selective Service authorities indicated today.

Woman, 91, Gives Soldiers Treasured Carving Tools

Mrs. Alice R. Merrill, almost 92 years old, declares she is a "contented" woman—one small reason being that she has a set of carving tools she donated after using them herself for 60 years.

"My sister gave me those tools to relieve my homesickness when I first moved to the plains outside Anaconda, Mont.," the spry little woman explained, "and now I wanted them to help another lonely person."

The box contains 40 all-steel chisels, all sizes.

So, in a carefully penned note accompanying the box to Fort Lewis, Mrs. Merrill said:

"This box of carving tools has served me long and well, but since I have reached 91 years my hand has lost its cunning, and an article in The Times suggested that some lonesome soldier boy might find pleasure in using them in your clever Hobby House, and I would be happy, too."

Mrs. Merrill, who wants to be patriotic, also wears a Red Cross volunteer worker's button, and is knitting her third afghan. She rises at 7 o'clock each morning and goes to work in her victory garden.

She Reads Late
"My tomatoes were the first to ripen in the neighborhood," she boasts, "and I canned six jars from eight vines."

At night she always reads until 11 o'clock, "although I shouldn't, on account of my eyes."

Newspapers and magazines on current events are her favorites, although she enjoys books, too.

The rest of the day Mrs. Merrill entertains her many friends and goes "downtown just for the change."

With most of her loved ones gone, she attributes her own long

MRS. ALICE R. MERRILL

DEWEY SPEAKS IN N. Y. RACE

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, whose national political fortunes may be wrapped up in next Tuesday's election of a lieutenant governor, will make his second address of the campaign tonight in behalf of the Republican candidate, Senator Joe R. Hanley.

As the state's election campaign entered its final stages, both Hanley and Lieut. Gen. William N. Haskell, his Democratic and American Labor Party opponent, concentrated on New York City.

Election of Haskell would mean that should Dewey seek and win the Republican presidential nomination next year and be elected, Haskell would become governor automatically, restoring the state to Democratic control. Dewey has said he would complete his term expiring December 31, 1946, but his name still figures in '44 talk.

Byrne Now an Ensign
RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Thomas J. Byrne, relief pitcher last season for the New York Yankees, has been commissioned an ensign in the United States Naval Reserve, the office of Naval Procurement here disclosed yesterday.

Soldier Drowned In Rescue Attempt

IV. CORPS HEADQUARTERS, Oregon Maneuver Area, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Pvt. Andrew C. Gomez, Hanford, Calif., drowned Sunday in an attempt to rescue three comrades from the swollen Deschutes River, the public-relations office announced yesterday.

The three men, part of a regiment tackling a river-crossing problem in the seventh "Battle of Oregon," were thrown into the rapids when their assault boat capsized. Gomez plunged from the bank after them.

Osteopaths Elect Riddell on Kiwanis Postwar Committee

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The American College of Osteopathic Surgeons, concluding its 16th annual clinical assembly today, elected Dr. Richard A. Sheppard, chief surgeon of the Cleveland Osteopathic Hospital and Clinic, president, and Dr. George C. Widney, chief surgeon of the New Mexico Osteopathic Hospital, Albuquerque, president-elect to succeed Dr. Sheppard at the end of his one-year term.

The appointment of Charles F. Riddell, charter member of the Seattle Kiwanis Club, as a member of the committee on postwar planning for Kiwanis International, was announced today by Donald B. Rice of Oakland, Calif., Kiwanis president. Riddell is a past president of the Seattle club.

It's Important To Be Yourself

Did you ever stop to think how really important the purchase of a suit of clothes is?

No, we don't mean that you want to look like a fashion plate. Very few men do. Our thirty years in the men's wear business have taught us that.

But men do want to look right. Correct. Regular. Masculine. They want suits they can be comfortable in. Physically comfortable. And, even more important, mentally comfortable.

That's why buying a suit really is an important purchase. If you get one that's wrong—well, it makes everything wrong. It irritates you. It does sneaky things to your morale. Every time you wear the dang thing you're a little under par.

But when you get a suit that likes you—that's different. Then you are easy, natural. You get a new confidence. You forget your suit. You are yourself.

Now just how to get the right suit for you isn't the easiest thing in the world, perhaps. But one thing is sure—it won't do any harm to look over the largest selection of men's suits in the northwest.

You'll find them at Lundquist-Lilly. Every one of them will be 100% all wool—beautiful fabrics—tweeds, worsteds, twists, herringbones, etc. The tailoring throughout will be meticulously correct—you'll find no absurdities in Lundquist-Lilly stock.

You can browse around for hours with no obligation. You'll find hundred of garments in your own size. Try them on. If you find something that suits you the price will be $25 to $46 depending upon your selection. And no matter what you pay, the fabric will be good, the tailoring correct, and the styling up-to-the-minute.
