"TSUKEMONO" PICKLING PLANT IN FULL OPERATION HERE

A pickling plant, processing turnips, cabbages, daikon, and other vegetables into "tsukemono" for Colony mess use, is now in full operation at the packing house.

"Colonists can expect good "pickles" throughout the year," Tad Tomita, assistant superintendent of the Marketing division stated. Fresh daikon, nappa and other greens are coming in regularly from the Gila, Arizona project to supplement those in storage here, it was indicated.

The present monthly output is one hundred 75-gal. barrels of the condiments. A rotation method is employed wherein the empty barrels are constantly replaced with new stock.

"They're pedigreed pickles," the plant foreman, Kosaku Tanioka, declared. The vegetables undergo various special processes, recently developed, and the temperature is controlled. Each barrel is numbered and a daily check-up is conducted to determine stage developments. Huge lava rocks are used as compress weights.

FIRE FIGHTERS ON "GOOSE CHASE"

Friday morning's fire alarm turned in at 9:15 o'clock was a "smoke alarm", according to an official report from the Fire department.

Observers thought it was a fire when smoke poured out of windows and air vents of the "A" apartment in barrack #901. It was learned that the stove-damper remained closed after fresh coal was put into the apartment stove; thus... the trapped smoke poured out of the only available exits.

RESETTLEMENT

GO EAST, NISEI, BRAVELY, PROUDLY!

During the earlier stage of our WRA days, our frustrated colonists, both young and old, were dazedly asking each other; "what's gonna come over us?...what's gonna happen to our children?"

More matured persons, with the burden of leadership responsibility on their shoulders, boldly put this question up before the administrative officers: "Has the WRA any program to rehabilitate these Japanese American evacuees after the war?"

The administrative reply then was vague. But The Tulean Dispatch, having faith in humanity and in the goodwill of the civil government of the U.S., kept hammering on the idea that "the past is gone---let's look forward to the future."

This faith has not been betrayed. Instead of waiting after the war, the WRA has instituted a program of rehabilitation now by means of resettlement through private employment on the outside.

This is the "future" that The Tulean Dispatch has been advising the colonists to look forward to, and forget the past.

Staring squarely at this "future" made present, we reiterate our faith in humanity and in the final triumph of true Americanism in our land, despite the "Jap-baiting reactionary elements" who, like all good opportunists, are taking advantage of the present situation to raise holy hell against our racial minority.

Already, a man like President Galen Fisher of the Pacific School of Religion is saying that the rational and liberal voices of the global thinkers will soon drown out the irresponsible and hysterical voices of the reactionary elements in America.

We believe true Americanism, and all it stands for --- equality, liberty, and justice for all, regardless of religion, creed or race --- will win out. Because we believe in this dictum, we urge all colonists to get prepared --- mentally and emotionally --- to go outside again without fear to become a didn't get to know him for the first couple months...He was aloof, seemingly anti-social and not friendly, at all. Then he took off for the orchards in Idaho...After a month's absence he returned.

Then he started horsing around with us. We grew to like him a great deal. We all attended dances together (and he was tops in this dept.), ate, played, and went to church as one. And one day, a few weeks ago, he applied for a transfer to another center. This morning he left.

We'll miss you "Shimmy." Yes, the DISPATCH lost a top ranking writer and a newspaperman in Frank Shin Tanabe.

holiday season slipped quietly by. All of us missed our old Xmas's and New Years. Probably, no one in the world spent a truly happy holiday. Wars are like that.

But here, we think the Church did a magnificent job of spreading Christian cheer and spirit. Without the Church's influence Christmas, especially, would have been a lot less meaningless.

RATTLERS SET NEW RECORD

Setting a new scoring record in the Junior League, or for that matter in any other league, was the Rattlers when they slaughtered the Rattler Jrs. 112 to 59 last Saturday in a poorly played basketball game.

There was no defense to speak of on either side and it was a matter of taking turns in shooting at the baskets.

Halftime score was 54 to 35.

Taking for granted that they played a regulation 32 minutes game, as per the rules, a little better than 5 points a minute were scored and the Rattlers by themselves potted 3½ points per minute.

The next highest score on record here is the 92 to 27 score that the league leading Termites handed the same Rattler Jrs. early in the season.

Forward Yushi Kikumoto of the Rattlers was high man with 22 points and everyone who played scored.

TERMITE ACE PACES JUNIORS

In the high-scoring Junior League, the Termites ace, Dag Nakatogawa leads the pack with 88 points in 7 games. Close behind is Susumu Enkogi, Block 22, with 77 points.
