Fifteen paper-pulp varieties keeps pace with the most critical "athletic type" reader. Those wading in scientific depths have access to a wide selection from fantastic "Amazing Science" to practical "Radio-Television".

Aviation enthusiasts have a field day at one stand. High in popularity are the many radio and movie mags and rags. On the upper row of one rack is a curious treatise titled "Astrology" and another--"Territorial Alas-

Now we come to a time a little more than a hundred years ago. There were no white men on Tule Lake. The land belonged to the Indians. The Indians on Tule Lake were called the Modocs. To the North lived the Klamaths.

The first white man we know of to come was Finan McDonald, a Hudson Bay trapper, who spent winter of 1825-26 on Klamath Marsh. He traveled south through Modoc county, reported the Modocs to be treacherous. Other white settlers said that at first the Modocs were friendly and helped the newcomers.

HORSES STOLEN

Unfortunate misunderstandings arose. The Snake Indians stole some horses from the white men. These horses were traded to the Modocs. The white settlers thought the Modocs stole the horses. They killed some of the Modoc braves and captured a few squaws. After that came real trouble for the Modocs and the white settlers.

The government tried to put the Modocs on the Klamath Indian reservation. The Modocs were not well received by the Klamaths.

1872 FIGHT

Captain Jack and fifty of his warriors with their families left the reservation and came back to Lost River. The government sent word from Washington to put them back on the reservation by force if necessary. The soldiers engaged the Modocs near the Natural Bridge, but Jack and his band escaped into the Lava Beds. This was in the fall of 1872.

President Grant sent nearly a thousand soldiers. Captain Jack's men killed many of them. Not many Indians were killed because Captain Jack's men knew how to hide behind rocks and fight.

But there were so many white soldiers, they kept coming and coming; but Captain Jack was finally captured in June 1873.

Captain Jack and three of his braves were hanged at Fort Klamath in October 1873. The rest of Captain Jack's band was sent to a reservation in Oklahoma. Some of their children have returned and live near here now. Now the Indians and the white men live at peace with each other.

In 1872 there were settled here the Stukle, Whitneys, Jesse D. Carr, Colwells and other families. J. Frank Adams came in the fall of 1872 to the Mt. Dome country to work for Si Doten, moved to Tule Lake side to go in stock business after the Modoc War.

FIRST IRRIGATION

During the period of development of the country near Tule Lake through irrigation, Frank Adams was the leader. He started the first farm irrigation project in 1882. The records show that Mr. Adams, using money borrowed from Van Brimmer Brothers, built a canal eighteen miles long with its head on Little Klamath together with laterals to bring the water to and serve 10,000 acres on the Tule Lake side. ## POSITIVE T.B. TEST DOES NOT MEAN ACTIVE CASE - CARSON

There have been numerous questions asked of the Base Hospital staff regarding tuberculin tests and subsequent X-ray examinations. Many of these questions indicate an undue apprehension on the part of the individuals being examined. It is therefore thought pertinent to release through The DISPATCH a brief digest of the significance of these tests.

A negative tuberculin indicates that the individual tested does not have tuberculosis nor at any time has been in contact with the disease sufficiently to develop any reaction.

A positive tuberculin test means that the individual has had exposure to tuberculosis and may even have had the disease and recovered therefrom. In very occasional instances, it may indicate that the individual has active tuberculosis.

This phase of testing may be considered somewhat analogous to tests for allergy or sensitivity to foods, grasses, and other hay fever excitants, with which all asthma sufferers are familiar.

Tuberculin tests will indicate the necessity for fluoroscopic examination, since the well trained physician is able to tell by means of the X-ray whether or not the individual does have old, healed tuberculous lesions or is in some active stage of the disease.

SEARS REFUND CHECKS AT #351

The refund checks of Sears Roebuck & Co. are awaiting for persons listed below at Warehouse #351. Due to similar names direct separate memorandum cannot be sent.

Alice Tomiko Fukui, Mrs. M. Uratsu, T. Jeto, George Hirakawa, Toshihiko Nishimi, George K. Kanemasu, Tokiko Okazaki, Mrs. I. Hamatake, M. Nishimi, Shizuo Narahara, K. Fukushima, Mrs. I. Hagi, Mrs. T. Akitsuki, Mun Iseri, Mary Murakami, Jack Yoshida, Bendi Takehashi, Yasuo Nomiyama, Miyō Kumagai, Bob Hayashida, Sayoko Akune, and Toru Yamamoto.

The percentage of active cases found is extremely low. Nevertheless, this screening (screening method) of detecting tuberculosis in its very earliest stages has been found to be one of the best. It should be apparent, therefore that when a fluoroscopic examination is requested, upon the basis of a positive tuberculin, that the individual is not necessarily suspected of having tuberculosis, but simply represents an added safeguard against overlooking the occasional active case.

HOME NURSING CLASS TAUGHT AT SCHOOL

With Nobu Yamada as instructor, a home nursing course which meets the requirements of the American Red Cross will be offered to interested Tri-Staters. Upon successful completion of the course, a certificate will be given to the students.

Miss Yamada is a registered nurse at the Base Hospital.

$300 SALE

Opening day at the new location saw a day of bang-up buying, with sales totaling over $300. This buying splurge was due to the week-long "closed shop" period of readjustment, cashiers said. The demand for "Life" is the most persistent—the weekly allotted supply selling rapidly, it was revealed.

THERMOMETER

A green thermometer, property of the City Fire department, disappeared from the engine-room area of Station #2 during noon period last Thursday.

It was placed just outside of the engine room for routine temperature check, and during an ensuing period of five minutes it was gone. Hardship in securing thermometers is reason for this urgent call for the return of the sorely needed equipment.

NOTARY SERVICES

Judge Mosebar will be available at the administration building Monday 2 p.m. for notary services and will take applications for marriage licenses.

Toyota garnered 42 points to replace Hideo Ota of the Zephyrs, who dropped out of the top five.

When the Penryn Pacers beat the Timberwolves 71 to 35 last week, R. Mayeda and G. Nakagaki made 28 and 29 digits, respectively, and thereby tied for the National scoring race with 38 for the season.
