A CITIZEN'S DUTY

t is the duty and responsibility of every one who gets any benefit out of the soil and communal life of a country to defend that country in time of crisis with all his body and soul.

Such is the debt he owes to his government for the rights of citizenship he enjoys in time of peace.

To the Japanese American citizens, who have been denied this privilege of participating in the total war since the evacuation, comes a gratifying order from Secretary of War Stimson allowing the nisei to join the U.S. Army by their own Volition.

The Japanese Americans will bear arms without questions and without mental reservations and follow the dictate of their leaders.

FOLLOW OWN CONVICTION

Personal feelings and family complications are no longer permitted to becloud an individuals own conviction and determination to serve his country as he sees fit.

It is a cheap and superficial patriotism to think of rewards and personal glory for bearing arms in time of his country's great emergency. A citizen goes to war because it is his duty and responsibility. Because he must.

Let the future historians comment on the loyalty of the Japanese American citizens when the peace is won!

It is the job of an editorial writer, however, to make observation at this point to say that the new order as proclaimed by Secretary Stimson is the sign of a steady amelioration of the complicated problems of the Japanese American evacuees in WRA centers.

WILL HELP W.R.A. PROGRAM

The new order and its consequence of nisei soldiers fighting side by side with their fellow citizens, for whatever they believe is true and just, will accelerate the WRA program of resettlement for those who are left behind and will also attenuate the problems of readjustment for WRA centerites after the war.

Our prospective nisei troops, swelling the number already in uniforms—about 5000—, will do justice to the glorious tradition of the United States and also to cultural heritage of their peeple in America. We will not be disappointed. H.M.I.

FOLLOW LEADER, RIGHT OR WRONG

The United States Army has given the "go ahead" signal to Americans of Japanese ancestry. All nisei can now join their fellow Americans in fighting the common enemy.

This new move affords the nisei a great opport-unity in proving their loyalty to the country of their birth and squelching, once and for all, the rumor mongers who accuse Japanese Americans of mass disloyalty and who would have them shipped back to Japan after the war.

The writer has heard a certain nisei remark that he does not feel like fighting for America... after the injustices of evacuation.

It seems to me, that sort of talk is very short-sighted, unpatriotic, small and cowardly. The members of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, the California Joint Immigration Committee and cortain race-baiting individuals would love to spread such word around.

Our evacuation is a thing of the past and we nisei must now look forward. By wallowing around in the self sympathy of our past and crying about spilt milk will make nothing for the greatness and the well-being of the nisei in the post war poriod.

This is our country. Right or wrong we should and must stick to her through thick and thin.

I hope many nise answer the call to colors and prove to America that we still believe in her democratic traditions and will die with other Americans for the preservation of these ideals.

blonde Inez Johnston teaches art and craft in the drab tar-papered barrack schools on the Tule Lake plateau, hidden in the "wilds" of Northern California.

But her few water solor paintings hung in the obscure corner of San Francisco Museum of Art did not go unnoticed.

Art critic, Alfred Frankenstein, in his colum in the San Francisco Chronicle, Jan. 24, wrote lavishly about her paintings in the museum.

"She draws with a kind of sophisticated primitism suggestive of George crosz at the beginning of his career and her color foams and streams according Iy," Frankenstein wrote.

"Like everyono else in the world, she has made the pilgrimage to Oaxes and her Mexican things are a seething riot of interlaced form set off with everything in the spectrum from top to bet-

"One gathers that Miss Johnston began her work as a devotee of the Berkeley school, but she is one of the few artist of that manner to come of age hersolf."

MANY GAMES WERE UNPLAYED

Many of the scheduled games last week-end were either cancelled or for-feited and it's beginning to look as if it will continue that way for the rest of the season.

In the Junior League it appears that outside of the champion Termites no one else showed up to play since the game scores were not turned in. It doesn't make much difference anyway because the title is decided.

Reports are that the Tacoma Bussei have dropped of from the class A League, and if this is true the Bears will not finish the season in the cellar as it was believed.

Class B terms had the worst time with only 3 out of the 8 contests played. But most of the squads have not more than two games left and if the good weather continues they should finish up this week.

Although the Artistes have one game left before they on officially glaim the Industrial League connant, odds are at least 100 to 1 that they will make it. They've made the league uninteresting as far as championship aspirations for the other terms are concerned.
