FORWARD WITH CHRIST IS 2ND YPCG THEME

Confab Is This Weekend.

With the theme "Forward With Christ", the program for the second Young People's Christian Conference to be held this Saturday and Sunday, April 3 and 4 has been completed.

For the occasion, the Reverends Fred Stripp Jr. and Arthur Cassidy have been secured. They will deliver messages on Saturday and Sunday evening respectively and also at the Sunday morning services.

In the line of discussions, symposiums on "War and Marriage", "Social Adjustment In Resettlement", "Cultural Relations and Their Related Problems" and "Philosophy For Our Time" are offered to the Young People. For the High School age group, "War Time Education" and "Some Important Things In Life" are the selected topics.

As an added feature to the confab, a group picture will be taken on Saturday from 4 p.m., with Masaji Toki in charge.

Kumeo Yoshinari, assistant supervisor of the Community Activities Section and former City Councilman, is the general chairman for the confab.

Registration is being taken by block registrars and from 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. Al Koshiba is the chairman.

LOST, FOUND GOODS; CALL

The Lost and Found department of the Warden's office issued a warning to the effect that unless lost goods are not called for before next Saturday, an auction will be held to dispose of the amassed odds and ends.

Tentatively the date was set for Saturday, April 3. At this time, everything held longer than 30 days will be sold. Further details will be forthcoming, but meanwhile, owners of lost, stayed or stolen goods should check up at the Warden's office.

MORE ON

WRA TRANSFER OF PROPERTY

(Continued from Page 1) this service, will assist in transferring household property from private storage to government warehouses, to this project or to their new location. The WRA will also bear the expenses of crating and transfer.

However, the authority will only make one transfer of property for the evacuees, although a transfer from a former place of storage to a government warehouse does constitute a change.

If the property is delivered here from a government warehouse and the evacuee and family desires to relocate, the authority will transport 500 pounds of household or personal property to the destination. Those who have already relocated may benefit from this set-up by writing the Project Director.

The WRA reserves the right to refuse to transport property at government expense, if the move would not justify itself.

An evacuee may elect to have only part of the property transferred and leave the rest in private or government storage.

The authority will help arrange for the shipment of commercial property, but the expense will be borne by the evacuee.

LOOKIE HERE GIRLS

How's about making a concerted effort for beauty. This yere column wasn't meant to start out as a body-beautiful promoter, but it's as good a place as any, methinks. What thinks you? Anyhoo, according to an article we collided with in a mag, the only requisites for that elusive, rare thing called pulchritude, quote, is a bit of willpower, an intelligent approach, a strict no-lazing policy. (Sounds like a build-up for that distasteful thing called CHARACTER). Still quote, reach for the apple instead of the pastry, snub the sundae in favor of the salad and you can put highlights in your hair, you can strengthen your nills, (OH joy) you can turn a hide-like epidermis (now, listen!) into a smooth complexion, ready for the flattery of make-up base and powder. End of quote and Superman, how did you get in here? Seriously though, you girls go on ahead, I'll catch up after one more binge.

We've been in a fine-feathered dither to out-Dither Dagwood's boss, about what to call this newly-weaned column. The Cat's Paw suggested itself as a possible candidate since it's cooked up for that decidedly feline sex--admit it, you frau--and if you haven't felt the velvet claws yet, you have but to wait. The unmistakable stench from this department prompted one with to quip, Why not the Sewer Heights? We saw fit to reject this helpful-handle on several counts.

On the other hand, we sorta fancy the monicker, Mademoiselle, to lend tone, high and low to the piece, but we admit it's going to be tough sled-ding keeping the vein of some 'so top drawer when every other idea reeks of

PROJECT CARPENTER SHOP CONSTRUCTS FURNITURE

The carpenter shop, located at Warehouse #356, is a real beehive of activity—with the hustle and bustle of various power machinery in operation and zealous woodworkers on the job.

L.C. Wahl, head of the woodshop, proudly said of his 13 men crew "Every man here is equally as good as his neighbor, so we don't have any foremen!"

Though overtaxed at times, the shop has been turning out finished products in an appreciable volume. The biggest project, so far, has been in the construction of numerous tables, chairs, lockers and desks for the elementary and high schools, it was indicated.

This day, a part of the crew was working on heavy rice pot covers—while other craftsmen were busily engaged in sanding of desk parts. 54 year-old S. Takahashi, full time saw sharpener, has his own little corner in the south portion of the shop—where he maintains the many saws in top shape.

Veteran carpenter Teizo Kuroda, 56, pointed to a shiny hunk of steel—imbedded in a rafter and mused "That's a piece of the power planer that went haywire!" The risks are great in the operation of power equipment, but fortunately—no one has been seriously injured.

Cano Numoto, office clerk, ralted that the woodshop, with its limited facilities, is doing a steady job of meeting the tremendous flow of orders that pour in from all departments of the city. BM

"Butch" vulgarity.

If our reading public—all four of you - has any CONSTRUCTIVE suggestions, we'll be only too glad to give them the double O, but please, refrain from submitting such titles as "Between Us Girls" (with all due apologies to the Pioneer - we think it's swank, honest!) or Co-ed, or Tips to the Teens, or Sub-deb, or stuff. For obvious reasons. But if you haven't bumped your proboscis on them, by way of drawing a diagram for you, they're hackneyed, trite, cliches, abused, played out - that is to say - I don't like 'em. D'ye get the drift?
