Registration is still open to those wishing to enroll either in the OSYA poultry or farm carpentry courses, W.L. Chaplin supervisor announced yesterday.

Registration can be made any evening at Warehouse 316 from 7 p.m. or at the woodworking shop at #1508.

"The OSYA program will be of real value to those seeking a vocation, or to those looking for relocation," said Chaplin.

Many issei, looking toward eventual retirement with profitable work to occupy their time, are enrolling in the poultry course, the supervisor revealed.

Chaplin stated that the farm carpentry course will be particularly valuable for those planning to work as farm hands or for those planning to establish their own farms after relocation.

It is planned to begin the course with the simple fundamentals of carpentry, and to teach the reading of blue prints. As skills develop, more advanced work in shop and carpentry will be given.

This course is in charge of D.G. Reed, Adult Education woodworking instructor.

Candy Firm Rehires Evacuees

The three evacuees who were withdrawn from employment on the farm of the Curtis Candy Company a few weeks ago because of reaction over the execution of U.S. airmen in Tokyo are now back on the job again as a result of a meeting between the WRA and the president of the company.

In addition to the three, 13 more evacuees had arrived in Marengo to accept employment in the candy company. Many in the group are from Tule Lake.

A town hall meeting was also held and a secret ballot was taken on the question of whether the presence of nisei employed by Curtis Candy Company in the vicinity of Marengo was acceptable to the citizens of that locality.

Out of 83 ballots cast, 62 voted in the affirmative.

During early part of the incident, the First Baptist Church of Marengo, unanimously adopted a resolution in which it stated that "as a Christian and patriotic measure", it will "stand behind our Nation's Government in the resettlement of unfortunate citizen minorities who have

MESSAGES FROM THE NISEI

(Nowadays, when there is so much accusation made about loyalty of the nisei it is refreshing--like a shower after a hot musty day--to read something to the contrary which helps to keep our faith in democracy.)

Of such is lengthy editorial titled, "Messages from Nisei," which appeared in the Friday issue of the Oregonian. It pointed out that evidence of loyalty among evacuees are not lacking and quoted letters written by them to the Oregonian as evidence.

Some of the paragraphs from the editorial are as follows:)

The letters were written by brothers, the sons of a Japanese professional man of long residence and practice in this city. Their father held aloof from the Japanese secret organizations and fifth column activities. Each of the sons was an outstanding scholar in Portland high schools.

Now they write from Heart Mountain, behind the barbed wire, and they write without rancor. Each testifies that he has asked for permission to serve in the armed forces because each believes in America and the American principle, and because, when the war is at an end, with an American victory, the parents of these soldiers may receive consideration, as the father and mother of American servicemen. Let us quote from one letter:

"It was almost a year ago that we left home and said good-bye to our friends, our schoolmasters, and all the friendly associations with the things we loved and the people we knew, back in Portland. We are waiting our call for induction, so that we can go down to Camp Shelby in Mississippi and train with the nisei from Hawaii, and others from all parts of the United States, to form a crack combat unit.

"It is hard to be cooped up behind barbed wires, with doubts cast on our loyalty, while everyone else is given a chance to defend his country. We consider it a duty and privilege to serve, so that when peace returns again, we can stand up beside our friends and buddies and say that we, too, had a share in winning the war.

"We hope some day to see you again in Portland, but it will be after we have taken care of some unfinished business overseas. It will be a peaceful world then, and perhaps we can pick up again all that we had to sacrifice a year ago."

If you can close your reason to this, your heart, your conscience, your humanity, you are deaf, dumb and blind. And the Lord pity you, for the seeds of strife are in you still.

Change Seen In U.S. Diet

Pro. F. F. Hill to lead a Cornell University farm and home week audience recently that if the United States is to feed a large part of the world, the American housewife will have to set tables like the Chinese.

"We must change from eating 60 per cent crop foods and 40 per cent livestock foods, and be more like the Chinese, who eat 90 per cent crop foods and 10 per cent livestock," the professor stated.

He said that "it is still a question of how far we need go toward this diet," but that "it is certain we cannot feed our present diet to others and at the same time keep it ourselves."

ALL-STARS DRUB PELICANS 16-0 IN HARDBALL OPENER

TULEAN BALL PLAYERS RUN WILD; GOTO, NAKAO HANDCUFFS VISITORS

Playing fast heads-up ball and aided by many mental and physical errors by the opposition, the Tule Lake All-Stars pulled up the curtain on their 1943 hardball campaign with a rousing 16-0 victory over the Klamath Falls Pelicans before a record-breaking crowd unofficially estimated at over 5,000.

To open the ball season, pre-game ceremonies found C. R. Carter, assoc. chief of the Community Activities Service, on the mound; Dr. H. S. Jacoby, chief of Internal Security, at bat; and Delbert Cole, of the Internal Security behind the plate. Carter pitched a high outside fast ball, Jacoby swung and missed, Cole caught the ball and then dropped it, and so started the season.

Sixteen-year old George Goto started on the rubber for the locals and in the first half of the first gave up one single.

All-Stars first time at bat found them crossing the plate four times on a series of bobble and strangely enough no hits. Lead-off man George Nakao got on first on a walk, Tak Ikeda on an error, Dave Kawai on a fielders choice, and Jim Enkoji on a fielders choice and all four crossed the plate before the merry-go-round was over.

While the Pelicans were being blanked for the route, the Tuleans picked up 12 more runs before the game was called in the seventh.

Goto pitched through the fifth inning and he gave up four hits, no walks, and struck-out seven. John Nakao hurled the final two innings and faced only seven swatters, striking out 4, gave 1 walk and no hits.

Only two Klamath Falls men reached third base and the winners had the situation in hand at all times.

The hits were well scattered throughout the line-up on both teams and the only player to get two hits was Dave Kawai, All-Star clean-up hitter.

Kay Ishimoto and Crespi each hit triples for the longest hits.

SEMI-PRO OUTFIT

...The Klamath Falls Pelicans, a semi-pro outfit, suffered a 16-0 drubbing from the local all-stars. Braving the piercing wind which prevailed throughout the fray, over five thousand baseball enthusiasts, young and old turned out to witness the first barnstorming caucasian aggregation.

CRISPI IS GOOD

Shortstop, Crespi, was the outstanding player for the Pelicans with his smooth infield coordination. Incidentally, the play-of-the-day was made by him in a diving throw to first.

YOUNG PITCHERS

Young George Goto and Johnny Nakao well displayed their hurling abilities for the local all-stars, a promising righthander and southpaw respectively with bright baseball seasons ahead for them. All in all the local all-stars showed a promising squad of players.

NEED MORE GAMES

We think this encounter was conducted in a most sportsmanship manner on the part of the players and the spectators. We see no reason why we can not have more of the outside games like these.

The generous donations received during the game will go towards the athletic fund and will help equip the local players and to promote more games.
