SEGRIGATION WAS NOT Best Greets Residents;

Mr. Elmer Rowalt, deputy director, made it clear in his address last night at the outdoor stage that the segregation program was not a thing which was born overnight. He stated that the WRA had been studying the problem very closely for over a year.

The reason for segregation was not because of public clamor, Rowalt said, but to separate the two groups of people in relocation centers; 1. Those who look to the United States as their future home, and 2. Those who look to Japan as their future home.

Segregation is not a plan for forced relocation, he emphasized, but added that those who look toward America as their home, relocation now was the best solution to their problems.

To make it easier for people from the Tule Lake Center to relocate now instead of going to another center and then relocating, all job offers will first be referred to this center. Residents who relocate will be given all expenses, whether they need it or not, and the WRA guarantees housing and working opportunities. "The entire facilities of the WRA employment offices will be at the disposal of the Tule Lake project during the period of August, September and October," Mr. Rowalt revealed.

"Everyone in the relocation centers should understand thoroughly the purpose of segregation and the benefit this program will give to Japanese-Americans who remain in this country after the war is over. The Project management is preparing very, carefully a series of meetings with everyone to acquaint you with all our procedures and policies. There will be ample time, 6 to 8 weeks, to get all of your questions answered. It is very important, we feel, that you understand thoroughly what we are trying to do is for the benefit of all Japanese persons now residents of the United States," Mr. Rowalt concluded.

"I am not only very hoppy, but exceedingly proud, to have been chosen by Director Dillon S. Myer to be your Project Director at Tule Lake. I have come to stay. Mrs. Best and two of our boys are already living here."

those words Raymond Best, newly appointed project director, greeted several thousand Tule Lake residents for the first time at the outdoor stage last night at a general meeting, held primarily to introduce Mr. Best and to hear a report on the segregation program.

Mr. Best was introduced by Elmer Rowalt, deputy director, who had previously given a talk on why the WRA was carrying out segregation.

In speaking of segregation and relocation, Mr. Best stated that the colonists would hear many unfounded rumers. avoid this he reported that, "It is our desire that complete factual information reach each and every individual.", Creating of information consultants in convenient locations will be one method used in accomplishing this end, he said.

"We desire your cooperation during this period of segregation. We feel that it will be very beneficial not only from our viewpoint but from the viewpoint of the residents that we consult with you at all times. To accomplish this, it is believed that if you people will select and name a working Committee on segregation who will work with our Administrative Committees, it will be very beneficial to all," he went on.

"Many of you want to know what the policy of the segregation center will be. We can assure you that no major changes in policy have been contemplated. We will have good schools. The good hospital standard will be maintained. The WRA will have complete control and administration of the center as in the past. What regulations will be enforced by the Army cutside of the center, we do not know at this time but the Army does not have any new duties within this center. The one change that we do know about is that no visiting or leave privileges will be extended only in very particular cases that the National Di-rector may be able to grant exceptions for."

He concluded with," I assure you that our entire staff of administrative personnel desire to always be of service to you. Bring your troubles to us and we will do our best to assist you in every manner possible. I particularly at this time want you to know that we desire to keep the Tule Lake Center a decent, livable and peaceful community."

His column "Stardusting" will appear no longer unless he happens to shoot us a line from away out thar.

He first came to our attention while he was editor of the Walerga Wasp of the Walerga Assembly Center. He turned out a very colorful paper and he always seemed to have his name in it in one way or another. A typical example was: "Our editor, Jobo Nakamura, nearly drove the crowd home with his corny jokes." (This in a talent show write-up.)

WHEN IT WAS ANNOUNCED...
...that the people from the Walerga Center were arriving here, the members of the staff eagerly looked forward to his arrival. In fact, it was a little too eagerly for you see he had written the staff of the then "Information Bulletin" a letter which was interpreted by us to mean that he would like to move in and would we kindly make room for him.

For the type of person who would write that sort of a letter, we expected almost everything but what we saw when he first walked into our office. It was unbelieveable. It was just a little over 5' of "Jobo". HOWEVER, AFTER HE DID ...

... get on the staff and we all got to know him a little better each day, we found out that he was one swell guy. He was constantly cheerful and had the knack of spreading it.

JOBO'S ABILITY TO WORK was shown in the various successful magazines which he edited. His outstanding effort was the publishing of "The Tule Lake Interlude" a short while ago. It was

DENVER AREA

Public Sentiment Favorable In The Mountain States

(The following is the conclusion of a report made on relocation in the Denver area, which includes Colorado, New Mexico, Eastern Wyoming and Montana, Western Nebraska, Kansas, and North and South Daketa; by Harold S. Choate, relocation supervisor, Denver.)

In spite of antagonistic propaganda, public sentiment in the mountain states is largely favorable. The intelligent conduct of the great majority of workers from the centers, who have located in the area, has been a most important factor in combating prejudice and in developing a better public understanding.

On the other hand, the relocation program has a been retarded by an irresponsible minority, composed largely of younger men and boys who have failed to recognize their obligations to the employers who have hired them. They have taken jobs sometimes, apparently, with no intentions of keeping them more than a few days, and occasionally they have failed completely to report for work that they had signed up to accept before they left the relocation centers. The WRA is taking measures to discourage this irresponsible behavior, and all people in or from the centers should cooperate in controlling it.
