

DR. CARSON TO LEAVE PROJECT

LEAVE CLEARANCES WILL BE REQUIRED FOR GROUP FARM WORK

Indefinite leave clearances will be required of all persons leaving on any type of work which takes them away from Tule Lake, Lorne Huycke, leaves officer, stated today.

As this clearance will be required of those intending to leave on group farm work this spring, those parties anticipating spring farm work are urged to apply at once for their leave at the Placement office.

The Washington WRA office has notified the local leaves offices that several kibe and issei have received their indefinite leave. This news should bring some encouraging hope for kibe and issei who hope to leave the project for work, Huycke encouragingly stated.

NEW MEDICAL CHIEF WILL BE DR. PEDICORD

Dr. A.B. Carson, chief medical officer of the Base Hospital since its establishment here last May, is leaving the Project Jan. 20 to be a medical officer in the Navy.

Dr. Carson is to be commended for his accomplishments here in the efficient organization of the Base Hospital. He was instrumental in building up the health service here to its present day status.

DR. PEDICORD

Arriving here on Jan. 15, Dr. Reece M. Pedicord, physician and surgeon, will take over as chief medical officer. Dr. Pedicord was inducted into W.R.A. service at Topaz, visited at Minidoka and came directly to the Project here.

Formerly of Wheeling, West Virginia, Dr. Pedicord is a veteran of the First World War and is a veteran Public Health worker. He will be joined soon by his wife and daughter.

PRAISES STAFF

Both of his sons are in the Army, one in the air corp and the other in the signal corp. Commenting on the courteousness and efficiency of the people here, Dr. Pedicord stated that at first glance he was particularly impressed by the efficiency shown in the hospital management.

FARM RESETTLEMENT OPPORTUNITY MAY OPEN

With the possibility of selecting a few families to relocate themselves in handpicked farm areas where community sentiment is favorable and schools will be open to children, representatives from the Utah and Idaho Sugar Co. may visit the project soon, Lorne Huycke, leaves officer said today.

It was stated that in these cases housing will be provided and farm acreage would be operated on a share crop or tonnage basis. Evacuees interested in such arrangements would go on an indefinite leave basis and should apply for a leave clearance immediately.

Should a sugar company representative arrive, the place and time will be announced in The Tulean Dispatch.

MOVIE PROFITS ARE BEING REINVESTED

Profits from the motion pictures presented by the Community Activity section are used to purchase a motion picture projector and films, Kay Otsuji, business manager of the motion picture department, announced.

A REVIEW OF LITTLE THEATER PLAYS

"GRANDMA PULLS THE STRINGS" IS A ROLLICKING COMEDY

BY GEORGE J. NAKAMURA

This way, s. r. Two seats to your right. Lights out! Curtain!

One of the most choicest bits of entertainment regaled a first-nighter audience with a "comedy-in-every-sense-of-the word" on the Little Theater stage, #408, Saturday when the drama group under Mrs. Sada Murayama presented their second production.

"Grandma Pulls the String", a witty down-to-earth comedy, and nine-year-old Nancy Motomasu literally stole the entire show. The play evolves around a fussy old grandma who wanted her granddaughter Julia (Helen Nakagawa) to be proposed in her own way and "hung" around the parlor to see to it. Little Nancy had her ideas too.

The nervous suitor acted by Gene Kubo groped and sweated through an excruciatingly hilarious 15 minutes with his knees on the floor asking for Julia's hand.

Because "Grandma Pulls the String" afforded little of the more dramatic stances and speeches required in the other two plays on the evening's program, because of its frivolity and home-spun nature, the play moved fast and appealed delightfully to both young and old.

Although many of the issei scattered in the audience didn't understand a word of English, the "slapsticks" rendering every line a punch had them "rolling in the aisle". Yoshie Furuta deftly represented the crackvoiced, obstinate old grandma in a wheelchair.

"THE BOOR"

The audience felt that "The Boor", also a one-act comedy presented earlier in the evening, was unwisely selected for the group of players who had their limitations. Several quips were lost because of poor diction. Lengthy dialogues nearly ruined it.

THE STARLET SHINES..

However, Grace Yamadera expertly handled her difficult assignment and immersed herself in the character of a mourning widow with naturalness and finesse.

SAITO IMPROVES

Perry Saito is rapidly improving. His role as vociferous Valsin in "Beauty and the Jacobin" could have been tailor-made for his characterization. Suteko Sakuma and Keiko Yatsu, relatively new faces on the stage, were indeed excellent in their appearance.

AUDIENCE REACTIONS

Comments of the audience were invariably enthusiastic.

"This is the first time I've attended a Little Theater play here. I didn't expect them to be so good," Block 7 Manager M. Maruyama remarked.

"It was thoroughly enjoyable," said Grace Asai. "I wouldn't have missed it for the world".

Bob Ota, another first-nighter who was among the howling audience, said it was better than going to a movie.

ADMISSION 10¢

Performances will be repeated by Wards until the entire Colony has had a chance to attend. Tickets are on sale at all Block Managers' offices at ten cents each.

PREFERS SHORT SNAPPY PLAYS

Some fine acting was turned in by members of the Little Theater Group at the preview of its January series of one-act plays, Saturday night at #408.

In Anton Tchekov's "The Boor" Jiro Shimoda, as Luka, Grace Yamadera, as Mrs. Popov and Ted Tokuno, as Smirnov turned in fair performances.

The second play, Booth Tarkington's "Beauty and the Jacobin" revealed some decent talent under difficult conditions. Keiko Yatsu, Hiroshi Kashiwagi and Suteko Sakuma deserve mention for their performances. Perry and Morse Saito struggled on creditably. P. Saito's role looked like a tough baby.

Rough in spots, but a welcome relief after the too heavy was the Delano-Carb "Grandma Pulls the Strings."

This comedy, dealing with a young couple in love, provides some real hilarity. Little Nancy Motomasu, playing Nancy, stole the show with her excellent acting. Yoshie Furuta, as the interfering Grandma, was good.

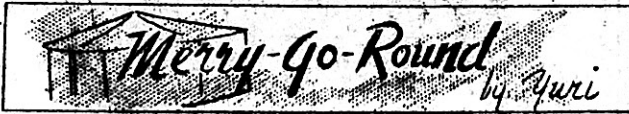

Two new performers, Helen Nakagawa and Gene Kubo as the lovers, did well for their initial try.

Living here as we are this corner feels that from a psychological and emotional standpoint, we do not go so strongly for these long, drawn out Mid-Victorian plays.

Something short, snappy or at least a little lighter in vein should go over more in this project.

PLAN UNDERWAY TO MAKE SKATING RINK

A plan to freeze the main fire-break near The DISPATCH office to make an artificial ice-skating rink is reported under consideration by residents of Wards 1 and 2.
