RESIDENTS MAY NOW APPLY FOR RETURN OF CONTRABAND GOODS HELP BRING BACK GLOVES

Procedure has been worked out whereby evacuees may now make application for return of contraband goods which were left in the custody of the U.S. Marshals and local police departments, it was announced by the WRA Evacuee Property office.

Evacuees residing in Tule Lake and Manzanar cannot send for their cameras since that is still banned in the Western Defense Area.

Radios, if the short-wave apparatus has been taken out, will be acceptable.

Applicant must fill out an affidavit which will establish his citizenship status and certify to the project director's approval of his request for the articles requested.

In addition there should be transmitted four copies of the Department of Justice form, two copies of form WRA 156, and the original storage receipt issued by the custodian.

No procedure has yet been worked out to obtain the release of any article for which the original receipt cannot be produced.

As soon as the necessary forms are ready, applications will be taken at the Evacuee Property Control office in the administration building, it was stated.

Although the coal situation is well in hand, another crisis is being faced because a number of volunteer workers are forgetting to return the gloves, jeans and jumpers which were issued to them on a loan basis, according to Dan Sakahara, supervisor of Block Managers.

Because there is only a limited supply of gloves on hand, workers who fail to turn in theirs after the day is done will cause the volunteers on the next day to unload without gloves.

With such a situation, colonists are asked to cooperate and to return the articles to the coal shack or the block manager's office immediately.

EVACUATION ANNIVERSARY

For evacuees from Sacramento, Oregon, and Washington, the last two weeks marked the anniversary of their evacuation from homes.

Hood River and Sacramento evacuation began May 17, and Tacoma on May 18 and 19.

Nisei Citizenship Upheld In Supreme Court Ruling

Effort of the Native Sons of the Golden West to institute proceedings to deprive nisei of their citizenship was refused by the United States Supreme Court Tuesday.

John J. Regan, secretary of the California Pioneers' organization, announced after hearing the decision that the Native Sons will now ask Congress to amend the Constitution so that Japanese would be barred from citizenship.

Regan first started his suit against the nisei when he attempted to have the names of Japanese-Americans stricken from the list of eligible voters in the city of San Francisco as well as the county,

Bussei Confab

Eugene Okada and Noboru Honda left the Project yesterday to attend the Bussei conference in Salt Lake City.

This was refused and his plea to the District Court was rejected.

Federal Circuit Court of Appeals also upheld the decision of the District Court.

The Supreme Court's ruling was to the effect that they would not review the decision made by the Circuit Court.

AGE LIMIT OF NURSE'S AIDES

Anyone over 17 years, instead of 16 as previously reported, are eligible to apply as nurse's aides.

High school graduates who are willing to give full time duty to the hospital are preferred.

Interviews will be given at the nursing office from 9 to 12 every morning except Saturday and Sunday.

CCC CAMP IS CLOSED NOW

Mr. Harry Kirkman, senior steward, who has been in charge of the property at the CCC Camp, has returned to the Project.

He reports that the camp is now closed.

Use Of Evacuee Labor Urged

Complete utilization of available workers of Japanese descent now in the Rocky Mountain region, most of them now housed in War Relocation centers, was urged by John R. McCusker, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, Tuesday. He pointed out that the Japanese-Americans available to employers in the mountain region are "loyal American citizen who have just as much stake in the United Nations victory as Americans of other racial extraction".

While a considerable number of Japanese-Americans now are employed in the area, this labor reserve is still comparatively untouched, according to McCusker.

He said that a large number of American citizens of Japanese extraction are anxious to make their contribution to the nation's war effort,

MYER'S RADIO INTERVIEW DESCRIBES EVACUEE LIFE

In a transcribed interview which was broadcast last week over stations KVCY at Redding and KFJI at Klamath Falls, Dillon S. Myer, national WRA director, described relocation center life, and the program of the WRA.

NEWSPAPERMEN VISIT COLONY

A group of distinguished visitors arrived on the Project Monday morning and were taken on tour of the city.

The visitors were: Wendell Webb, Associated Press, Reporter; Don Thomas, Oakland Tribune, Reporter; Milton Silverman, S.F. Chronicle, Reporter; Harry Johannesen, I.F.S., Reporter; Leo K. McClatchy, S.F. Call-Bulletin, Reporter; Anatole Kolpakoff, O.W.I., Japanese Dept. Language Editor; Frank Veil, Father News, Camera-man; Dick Watkins, O.W.I. Overseas, Reporter; Termie Bryant, S.F. News, Photographer; Joe Rucker, Paramount News, Photographer; Carl Bigelow, Oakland Tribune, Photographer; J. J. Morris, S.P. Co., Publicity Dept.; Ernest E. King, Associated Press, Photographer; Gertrude Michalove, O.W.I., Information Specialist; Mary Ellen Leary, S.F. News, Reporter; Dean Jennings, O.W.I., Regional Director; Peter O'Crotty, O.W.I., New York-Photographer; Lawrence E. Davies, N.Y. Times, Reporter; R. B.

The physical set up of the centers, such as stores, hospitals, schools, administrative functions, living quarters, and mess halls were touched upon by Myer.

The sociological and psychological effect of placing evacuees under sub-normal conditions behind barbed wire fences, was also mentioned by the national director.

Said Myer: "The relocation center seemed necessary last year, but we're finding that under the influence of the conditions in which they live, many of the evacuees are losing something very precious to them and important to the nation--their faith in democracy which is the only way of life they'd known."

COVERLEY BACKS DRIVE TO RECRUIT NURSES AIDES

In the course of recent conferences with the hospital committee and with Dr. Reece M. Pedicord, our chief medical officer, it has been brought home to me clearly how important it is that the Base Hospital have a dependable supply of nurses aides.

As many colonists are aware, we have a very limited staff of registered nurses. This staff is wholly inadequate to give nursing care to the average number of patients in residence. Consequently, it is necessary to have a much larger staff of nurses aides proportionately than would be the case in a hospital adequately staffed with registered nurses.

The situation is complicated by the fact that there is a large turnover among the nurses aides. This requires that the staff be constantly replenished by new applicants. This is a matter of community concern and cause for determined and concerted community action.

The administration will do everything in its power to render medical and hospital care to all who need it, we are not in a position, however, to compel anyone to accept a nurse's aide position.

It is squarely up to the community, therefore, to conduct a campaign which will insure a recognition of the need and an adequate flow of applicants.

MARYSVILLE TENNIS CLUB ACCEPTS SAC'TO CHALLENGE

An interesting article comes to our eye in the recent Examiner by Dah Parker on softball as a new game for fighting men. He wrote:

Softball is expected to replace soccer as the leading international sport soon. During the last year, it has been borne to the far corners by the fighting forces of the United States and Canada.

The steaming jungles of New Guinea, wing swept Iceland and Greenland, England and its far flung dominions, enjoy this baseball's half brother.

Softball has been received more enthusiastically because of its more primitive and informal nature. The gloves and masks can be used if they happen to be handy, but if they lose, none of its interest as a participant of sport if the only paraphernalia available are a bat and ball.

Another advantage of softball over baseball is that it doesn't tax the waning physical powers of the man approaching middle age.

Softball, while having many advantages as a spectator sport, probably will never replace baseball in that respect, but on the other hand, baseball never again will be able to regain superior rank as a participant sport which softball has now taken away from it. There are boys now growing up who have reached the "long pants" stage without ever having handled a baseball. They have been brought up in softball to the exclusion of the sport on which their sires cut their permanent teeth.

Wars have always been the most successful disseminators of sports. To our own Civil War we owe the rapid spread of baseball through America. Until after the boys in blue and gray returned from the battlefield, bringing with them the new game they had played for recreation in camps, baseball was strictly a sectional sport, played chiefly in New York State. It was nationalized quickly after the war and ten years after peace was declared, the National League was organized. There is every reason to believe that the missionary work now being done all over the world for softball will result in the game's taking a permanent foothold on every continent of the globe. And, we may teach the game so well that Australia and Ireland, or North Africa and China, will be the contestants, with America on the sidelines, rooting for its pupils.

The recent challenge issued by the Sacramento Tennis Club has been taken up by the Marysville Squad.

Sac'to Club is headed by James Osuga, 1940 Junior Tennis Champ of Sacramento. The Marysville racket busters are led by Yuba City Junior College star, Joe Nishihara, and Ted Nakao formerly of Los Angeles.

The contest will be held this week end at the factory ground.

HARDBALL MGRS. MEET TONIGHT

Hardball managers will meet tonight at 1808 from 7:30 to make selections of an all-star squad to represent the city in the coming encounter with an outside semi-pro team. Relocation has minused Tule Lake of many classy ball players but by the looks of the pre-season practice turnouts being held, a formidable squad can be selected to meet the outsiders.

Much enthusiasm is expected for this event, as this will be the first organized team to come in the Project outside of the Klamath Falls weight-lifters.
