SEASONAL, YEAR-ROUND WORK

SABIN MAKES REPORT ON RURAL RELOCATION OUTLOOK

By DONALD R. SABIN

Ass't. Chief of Employment Division

At the present time there are approximately 8,000 workers from relocation centers engaged in agricultural pursuits. About half of these are on seasonal work leave.

Seasonal Work

Seasonal work in the West can be expected to decline until September when sugar beet, bean and potato harvest will start. In the meantime, corn detasseling, vegetable harvesting and food processing work will increase in the mid-west and northeastern states.

Year-round Employment

1. Single men should have little difficulty in securing year-round employment offers in the traditional "hired man" type of job throughout the corn belt (Nebraska to Ohio), with board and room provided. This type of employment furnishes an opportunity for individuals to learn farming conditions in the community, provides certain amount of sponsorship in the community and even though wages seem low in comparison with certain other wage offers, out of pocket costs will also be low and year end savings will be comparable with those in other types of employment.

2. Relocation of married couples and families. Employment opportunities for farm families generally fall into the following groups:

- Year-round earners similar in status to single "hired man" discussed above, with housing (maybe without electricity or running water) a garden and certain dairy, poultry and meat products furnished.
- Care-takers for estates--frequently wages paid and living conditions provided are more attractive for this type of work than for the ordinary "hired hand," as owners are wealthier people.
- Corporation type of farm--where several year-round workers are employed single men sometimes live in dormitory type bunk houses and eat at a common table. Separate cottages are often available for families.

BLOCK 41'S RALLY FALLS SHORT AS BLOCK 25 WINS

NEW CHAMPS CROWNED WITH 11-10 SCORE

After sporting a comfortable six-run, 11-5, lead going into the last half of the seventh inning, Block 25, American League Champs, barely squeezed through with a 11-10 victory over a never-say-die Block 41 Placeritz team, winners of the National League, Monday evening to take the third and deciding game of the two-out-of-three play-off series for the Girls City Softball Championship.

For the first four innings, the game was close, and it looked as if it would continue that way.

Then suddenly in the top of the fifth, Block 41 played some weird baseball to give Block 25 5 big runs, after the score was tied 4-all. Mizuno started it by getting on first on an error and went to second when Matsumoto walked. Matsune hit a grounder to second to force out Matsumoto but it advanced Mizuno to third, who scored when Masako Ike was safe on an error. Taketa walked to fill the bags and Doris Yagi followed with a single into right-center scoring Matsune and Ike. Chizuko Yagi flew out to the catcher but Masako Ike drove across the final two runs with a sharp one-bagger to right.

With the count 9-4 against them, the Placeritz punched across a rally in the last of the fifth when Maizie Asakawa hit a single through second to force across Mary Miyamoto.

Block 25 added two more runs in the first of the sixth on one hit and a score of errors and walks to make the count 11-5.

The National Champs did not score in the last of the sixth nor did the 25ers in the top of the seventh so the score remained the same going into the last of the seventh.

Here, with some of the crowd already leaving, Block 41 put on a last inning rally which was spectacular and sensational. Sumi Miyamoto was up first and pounded a grounder through third base for a triple. Mary Miyamoto followed with a safe one-bagger over second to enable sister Sumi to tally. Mary stole second and continued to third on an overthrow to second. The next batter flew out to third but then three successive errors helped Block 41 to send Mary Miyamoto and Asakawa across home plate to cut the lead down to 11-8 and put Grace Fujimoto on third, who made a run seconds later as Uyeno grounded out to short.

This made the count 11-9 and catcher Kashiwabara kept the rally alive with a single over first base and eventually advanced to third by stealing second and a wild pitch. The fourth Block 25 error caused Kashiwabara to come home with the tenth run when Gekko hit a roller to third which was muffed. Gekko stole second, the tenth for Block 41 during the game, and that put the tying run on second with two away. But that was the end as the side was retired with a strike-out.

Losers outhit the opposition 10 to 7. Doris Yagi of 25 led the hitters with a neat two for two, while the Miyamoto sisters, Sumi and Mary of Block 41 each had 3 for 4. H R 25-- 1 1 0 2 5 2 0 7 11 41-- 2 0 1 1 1 0 5 10 10
