Farm Operators

Many evacuees are farm operators in their own POSTON RELOCATION CENTER right and are more interested in operational opportunities than employment offers. Such opportunities able; exaggerated, mostly divide themselves in the following classifications:

THE EDITOR LETTER TO

Dear Editor:

Purchase of chickens for sale to the colonists is very difficult; and during the last few weeks it has become increasingly hard to obtain them at all:

In the opening weeks of the fish market, a few private orders were taken; but, due to unfairness to the colonists because of lack of chickens to supply the needs of all the colonists, this policy has been discontinued.

Only reservations for chickens that will be taken are for parties and weddings. These reservations must be put in a week in advance with deposit. No private order other than aforementioned have been takeh recently. It is difficult to fill even these reserve orders due to the unavailability of chickens.

The management, however, is trying its best to purchase all chickens, which are available in this locality, at a price which is reasonable to the col-onists. Many contacts have been made with large poultry firms for chickens; but, due to the large army contracts which these companies are filling, the demand is more than the supply, and they are not able to supply us:

Therefore, the only source of supply of these chickens at present is the local farms, and this supply is very limited. TULE LAKE COOPERATIVE ENTERPRISES, INC. S. Kubo, General Manager

...is going full blast here in Tule Lake. Throughout the center we hear the slaps of the hickory. Men, young and old and girls alike are stricken with baseball fever.

When we witness these games, we cannot help but think that if a so and so who volunteered for the army were here, that a that a certain te am will be stronger; or if Tom and Dick, who were drafted before evacuation, came with us, why they'll be a cinch to cop any title.

Baseball is a love for every, soldier no matter where they may be. But do we ever stop to think that these boys are sacrificing their lives to preserve this element which is so indispensable in the American way of life.

We look forward to that day when again they can be with us on the bleachers or in the field, We hope that may be soon. BLOCK 41, GIRLS'

... National League Champions, who lost out to Block 25 for the city title with the score of 11-10, displayed a neversay-die spirit. A fine sportsmanlike team which can be a model for all of us to follow.

Little Sumi Miyamoto with her base stealing, slugging Matie Asakawa and Hiroko Kashiwabara, and smooth Grace Fujimoto contributed much towards the success of the team.

Even though they could not take the title, they pleyed a swell game.
