

STUDENTS TO AID CROP HARVEST

400 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS START WORK THIS MORNING

Joining America's food for victory campaign and school students all over America, the colony's high school students are giving an all out effort by temporarily leaving their school books to help harvest the project's $800,000 farm crop. Approximately 400 are working today after answering the call made by Elmer Shirrell, project director, yesterday in a school assembly.

The volunteer workers left this morning to work along with their teachers and assistants, with the latter acting as foremen and timekeepers. Several hundred more are signed and willing to work on the farm. They will go to work as accommodations are made for them.

Lunches were prepared by their respective mess halls and those working had leaves of absence from classes. They are to receive regular pay for their work.

Those working today are chiefly seniors and juniors with boys and girls alike working. The work will probably last until the present emergency is over.

Mr. Shirrell's statement regarding the enthusiasm shown by the student was, "The response shown by the students was the same as those high school students all over America. I knew they would be glad to help in this national problem."

COLONY BOASTS ONLY HOG FARM NOTARY FOR WASH. VOTERS

"Tule Lake is the only WRA project to have hogs," Walter Emerick, from the Regional Office related to Frank Fagan, Placement Officer Tuesday. Those interested in hog raising are asked to apply for positions at the Placement Office. Ten to 15 men are wanted, Fagan disclosed.

STATE OF WASHINGTON
...ballot applications may be notarized at the Block 70 manager's office on Wed. from 7 p.m. by Mr. Halcy Thomas, notary public.

Notary services will be available Fri. at the Block 50 manager's office.

COLONISTS URGED TO HELP IN FARM WORK

All colonists who are entitled to leave the Project for work on the outside will be given every assistance in doing so. The WRA is committed to this policy. The problem of relocating the colonists after the war will be greatly simplified if many of them find jobs before that time.

At present there are excellent opportunities for work in the beet fields. Representatives of several beet sugar companies are now here and may be interviewed for work opportunities in Eastern Oregon, Idaho, and Montana.

Colonists are allowed to go only where WRA has guarantees from the Sheriffs and District Attorneys of the counties in the various states to protect workers who leave the Project.

WRA now has four representatives in these states who are constantly supervising contracts, labor conditions, and housing so that all will be fairly treated.

The need for beet field workers is urgent. Sugar is scarce and the rationing of sugar will be materially restricted soon unless the present beet crop is harvested.

Japanese and Japanese-Americans who have already left the project for work of this kind have been highly praised.

Many have gone from the assembly centers and from the Projects. Tule Lake is also expected to do its part in this vital war work.

MIYAMOTO, TAKEDA LEAVE FOR WORK INSPECTION TOUR

Masao Taketa and Sumio Miyamoto left Tuesday for a week's tour of different sugar beet fields. The two men will inspect the living quarters of the workers who recently left Tule Lake and will also talk with the workers as to their work conditions and other contractual aspects.

Upon their return, Taketa, from the Placement Bureau and Miyamoto, business manager of Community Enterprises, will make a report to Project Director Shirrell.

FROM WASHINGTON D. C.
STAFF ARTISTS RECOGNIZED

In a letter from John C. Baker of the Office of Reports in Washington D.C. the possibilities of an interesting cartoon collection was brought up. The letter reads:

"One of the most interesting features of the Tulean Dispatch to date has been the cartoons. A person not connected with the WRA who saw some of them recently, suggested that a collection of the cartoons might make a feature in form of each, and a brief biographical sketch of each cartoonist whose work is represented, stressing in particular his past art experience and training."

At your earliest convenience will you send to me 15 or 20 of the originals of the best cartoons which have appeared thus far, the mimeographed

On the art staff of THE DISPATCH and producing these cartoons are artists James Matsuo, Mas Inada, Martha Mizuguchi and Dick Kurihara.

PARENTS' HELP ASKED TO CURB DISEASES

The control of communicable diseases such as measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever and the like constitutes a problem of major importance.

Strict rules of quarantine are being set up in the hope that dangers of major epidemics may be avoided. The educational department, through the school teachers, are cooperating to stop the spread of such communicable diseases.

Your children will, therefore, often be sent home from school because of minor colds. In some cases, the symptoms of an ordinary cold are also the symptoms of one of the communicable diseases in an early stage, which will explain the necessity of excluding such children from school.

When a child is so excluded, it is urged that parents not allow these children to play with others in the Project. After all, the real responsibility of the control of epidemics rests with the residents themselves. It is further urged that children sent home from school be fed at home and not be taken to the general mess halls.

3400 CHICKS ARRIVE FOR POULTRY FARM

Construction on one of the largest poultry ranches in the West began Monday on the Tule Lake Project farm area.

Actual construction area measuring 420 x 800 (about three city blocks) will be covered by 20 coops 200 ft. long, two brooder houses also 200 ft. long, two warehouses 100 ft. long, besides offices and feed testing laboratories.

An initial contingent of 3,400 chicks has already arrived, and beginning from the first Tuesday in November and every Tuesday thereafter, 3500 pullets will arrive until the quota of 45,000 is filled. When the pullets mature, a monthly production rate of 1800 eggs and 9000 lbs. of meat will be the minimum for 15,000 people.

This ratio was calculated from consumption figures prevailing at the Manzanar relocation center.

Most of the principal feed for the poultry will be raised here on the farm. All feeding, testing, and general upkeep of the ranch will be handled by a staff of 60 men. Harry Makino heads the poultry farm project.

RESIDENTS CAUTIONED NOT TO DEFACE INDIAN PETROGLYPHS

Residents of the Project are cautioned not to deface the petroglyphs on the eastern side of the peninsula, south and west of the Relocation Center. Attention was called by Earl C. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, that three Japanese names had been painted on the petroglyphs in yellow paint.

These Indian petroglyphs are historical documents and are being preserved by the National Park Service. Defacing these relics is strictly forbidden.

It should also be observed that these petroglyphs are outside the Project area.

A dream faded last Friday night. It faded among the multi-colored crepe decoration and clustered balloons hanging gaily at Mess 32 converted into a night club a la shangri-la. It faded with the last straining notes of "Rec Cord" and his swirl rythms. It faded into a memory to be remembered for many, many years to come.

After a brief moment of "Starlight Serenading" at THE DISPATCH dance, we slipped away in the subdued blue lights to the Pensioners' frolic. We were awe-struck at the beauty of the atmosphere, blue, gold, orange, red, and green vying each other for gorgeousness. Ohs and ahs fluttered through our lips.

In the moment of spellbound, our coats were checked at a special improvised booth and were courteously escorted to a table by the headwaiter, Kiki Ryugo. Upon his curt order, smiling and polite garcons immediately filed in dressed immaculately in white jackets and black bow ties. Efficiently, they wiped our table and served us plates of hot tasty meat sandwich and glasses of "scotch and soda" (coke). The gravy was rich and brown, and the coke flowed like water.

A gentlemen's salon bar provided an outlet for men to lounge and drink over worldly topics. Party moved swiftly. If there was even a twinkling of dullness, "Paulo" and his hilarious antics killed it. Only regret was that the evening came to an end altogether too soon.

The party, ingeniously conceived, reminded us of Frisco's classiest Chinatown nite spot, "Forbidden City" (minus a bubble dancer).

We went home delighted, happy, and greatly pleased.

FIREMEN UPSET BY REC TEAM, 13-2

PITCHER SEIBO FUJII CHUCKS RECS TO FIVE HIT WIN

In a surprise upset the newly organized Recreation Department hardball aggregation drubbed the heavily favored Firemen 13-2.

Although given hardly a chance, chucker Seibo Fujii showed considerable stuff as he kept the fire fighter batsmen baffled throughout the game. Fujii, with but two practice sessions, set the smokepeaters down with 5 hits.

The winners won the game in the second and third innings when they bunched 7 hits for 11 tallies off Ishimaru, and Ogata. They scored another 2 runs in the seventh when Marysville's star shortstop tripled home Bunny Nakagawa and scored on S. Fujii's roller.

Kay Otsuji, Bunny Naka, George Nakao, Seibo Fujii and Sakai Oshita each got 2 hits for the Recs.

Firemen boasted 4 all stars in Ard Kozono, Ko Yada C. Ishimaru and H. Hishikubo while Rec's lineup included George Nakao and Kumeo Yoshinari.
