VIEWS OF POWERS ON BIG REDUCTION ASKED BY HOOVER

President Delays Recommendation To Provide Funds For New Cruisers

PARLEY MAY BE HELD

WASHINGTON, D. C., — Holding up the recommendation to provide funds for the building of five of the fifteen new cruisers, which should have been sent into the budget bureau last Saturday, President Hoover will sound out the viewpoints of Great Britain and Japan on a sweeping reduction of naval armaments.

According to present information the recommendation to build the first five of the cruisers will be held up until August and by that time it is expected that both the other two powers will indicate their inclinations through negotiations which are already in process.

England Must Scrap

As the case stands today, Great Britain will be forced to scrap hundreds of thousands of tons while the United States will be able to maintain her present naval standard since it is believed that this country's naval strength is at its minimum ratio. After the Washington Conference the United States scrapped ships valued at three hundred million dollars and if another reduction is agreed upon by the powers Great Britain will be forced to do likewise.

If another armaments conference does not materialize, this country will begin at once on her ten year naval building program which will provide 71 ships of various types at an approximate value of one billion 770 million 800 thousand dollars. This would place the American navy second to none with vast possibilities of placing it above those of other powers.

If by August the other nations agree to hold another disarmament conference the American naval program undoubtedly will be indefinitely suspended. However, if the conference materializes, President Hoover will insist upon the adoption of the American proposal made at Geneva several months back to regulate reduction.

American Plan Best

At the present time it is believed that the American plan is technically the best to work for a sweeping reduction of naval armaments. Generally, the American plan considers the fighting value of ships and the reduction will start after determining the standard of naval power.

According to the plan it will take into consideration: 1. The cruising radius and speed of ships; 2. range of guns; 3. strategic points for naval bases and supplies; 4. mercantile vessels available for naval auxiliaries; 5. The mercantile fleet to be conveyed and the coast line.

These are some of the features of the American plan for determining standard of naval power on which the reduction of naval vessels and armaments will be based.

Steamship Agencies To Remedy Conflicts

TOKYO, — That there may be no conflict of sailing dates and duplication of freight shipments, the Koku-sai officials and the Roosevelt Line officials are in conference here to find a solution to eliminate harmful competition.

Kermit Roosevelt of the American shipping line has been here for the past several months and is representing his company in the negotiations.

The outcome of the conference is expected to solve the question of competition and replace it with a spirit of cooperation through the establishments of combined agencies.

Old Roman Galleys Will Be Refloated

ROME, — Premier Mussolini has definitely decided that the two galleys sunk by Caligula, Caius Caesar, in 37 A. D. in Lake Nemi will be retrieved through modern engineering methods.

Instead of divers going below to inspect the ships, the lake is to be drained through an ancient underground channel and the two historical boats of Caius Caesar days of debauchery will be refloated, if possible.

WANT TO FLY? CLASS SLATED

Just as there are schools to teach automobile driving and repairing, a school for aeronautics will soon be established in this city, announced J. G. Bomar, president of the Pacific Coast Airways, Inc., during the course of his address to the Associated Business Men's Club Wednesday noon.

A special class, he said, will be formed of Japanese who wish to take special instructions in flying and repairing. Already, Mr. Bomar said, fifteen Japanese student aviators have been enrolled for instructions and classes are to begin soon when the company completes its plant at Madison Park.

An invitation was extended to the young people of this community who wish to take instructions in aeronautics to inspect the Madison Park plant.

AMERICA TO ASIA AIR ROUTE SOUGHT

Business Men Heard Of Pacific Coast Airways, Inc.

Remarking on the rapid progress made in aviation, J. G. Bomar, former flying ace and now president of the Pacific Coast Airways Inc., made the announcement at the Associated Business Men's Club luncheon held at the Bush Hotel on Wednesday, that some step to form an air route to the Orient for passenger transportation would be taken within the next eighteen months.

Mr. Bomar, in explaining the first stages of aeronautics, told the rapid progress made in flying since the war. In 1927, he said, there were only 5,000 miles of air routes in the United States, but today, the East is a veritable network of air routes and the West is following close on its heels with an approximate total of 100,000 miles of air routes.

Although a short time back flying was still in its infancy, he stated that it is coming to be the popular means of transporting the passengers and mail and that one would be surprised at the low rate of accidents today.

An interesting information made public by Mr. Bomar was that his company was undertaking steps to establish an air route to the Orient by way of Alaska and Siberia to Japan. This route, he said, should be determined within the next eighteen months. Although at first the route would only be practical in the summer months, eventually a regular schedule for the year around will undoubtedly be established.

At next week's luncheon another well known representative of a nationally established phonograph record company will be the principal speaker.

CHINA LEGATION TO BE EMBASSY

TOKYO, — The Japanese government has unofficially decided to make the legation in China an embassy, it has been learned.

Although the Sino-Japanese trade revision negotiations will not begin until the latter part of June, tentative plans are to raise the Japanese legation, at present at Peiping, to an embassy.

Minister Yoshizawa, it is learned, is on his way to Shanghai and thence to Nanking to discuss the coming negotiations.

Allies and Germany Settle Debt Issue

PARIS, — With virtual accord reached by the Allies and the German delegates on the reparations issues, the final German annuities is to begin from September 1, it has been learned.

Under the new agreement, which is more or less a compromise satisfying both the Allies and Germany, the latter is to pay 492 million dollars for 37 years and 408 million dollars for 21 years with a payment of 216 million dollars to be made in the final one year. This total represents a total value of 9 billion dollars.

1930 CONVENTION PLANS WILL BE STARTED TONIGHT

Citizens' League Will Launch Discussions of Coming Coast Conclave

COMMUNITY FAVORABLE

Laying the first stone for the coming convention of the National Council of Japanese-American Citizens' Leagues next year in this city, the local district Council of the National organization, namely the Seattle Progressive Citizens' League, will meet to discuss plans for the convention, at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce tonight from 8 p. m.

As yet Seattle has never been chosen for a convention city of any Coast second generation enterprise, while in past years both San Francisco and Fresno have been chosen the convention cities for Coast citizens' leagues activities.

San Francisco Leads

In November of 1924 San Francisco started the ball rolling by calling a convention of citizens' league delegates from Seattle, Los Angeles, Fresno, Oakland, Stockton and various communities of California. Fresno was next when it called a Coast-wide conclave of Japanese-American citizens last fall and which was again followed by San Francisco this year.

At this last convention held in San Francisco the National Council of Japanese-American Citizens Leagues was formed for the purpose of closer cooperation and federation of the Coast leagues.

Plan To Be Discussed

At tonight's meeting a general plan will be discussed as to how the convention may be carried to success. President Arai of the National Council, it is understood, will propose a general outline for the convention which will be studied by the members for suggestions and discussions.

Prominent downtown and community business men will attend the meeting and give their opinion of the coming convention.

Present indication are that the community is highly enthusiastic over the coming convention, and the advertising Seattle and the local business will receive from the convention is looked forward to with favor.

LABORITES WIN IN ENGLISH ELECTION

Stanley Baldwin Tenders His Resignation To King George

LONDON, — With the May 30 election showing a decisive victory for the Laborites, Stanley Baldwin, conservative party leader, tendered his resignation to King George as Premier of England on June 4.

The overwhelming defeat administered the Conservative party by Labor has again placed Ramsay MacDonald at the head of the government. Immediately following the day Mr. Baldwin went to the sick bed of King George at Windsor Castle to tender his resignation, which was accepted, the labor head was summoned and directed by the King to assume the premiership.

This is the second time Ramsay MacDonald will head the government with a Labor cabinet, since his downfall in October of 1924, when the Baldwin government came into power.

Although the names of the new cabinet officers are not known yet, it is expected that they will be announced today. Phillip Snowden, former Chancellor of the Exchequer in the first Labor cabinet, undoubtedly will fill that post again, while J. H. Thomas, Margaret Bondfield, Arthur Henderson, John R. Clynes, are expected to hold cabinet offices.

DAWES TO MAKE NAVAL PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., — In order to speed up the work of another probable disarmament conference, one of the first duties of Charles G. Dawes, when he arrives at the Court of St. James as American ambassador, will be to propose the American proposition to measure the relative strength of navies.

The American proposal has already been laid before the preparatory commission on disarmament at Geneva, and England and the rest of the powers are at present studying the proposition.

Japan Cloth Market Reported To Be Dull

Commercial Cable News

TOKIO, — Raw silk sale is fair, cotton goods show no improvement owing to the low price of raw cotton and inactivity in the spinning industry; silk goods are dull, especially habutai, experiencing a recess on account of buyers hesitant in consideration of the foreign exchange situation, and the manufacturers also take the effect.

SOCIAL-DEMOCRATS OF JAPAN SEEKING IDEAL, SAYS ABE

Minority Party Working For High Social State, Leader Declares

'FATHER OF BASEBALL'

BY JAY ESSE

Notwithstanding the fact that the Social-Democrats party of Japan has but eight seats in the Imperial Diet, it nevertheless is working for the ideal of the social state just as the Labor party of England, was the gist of an interview with Isoo Abe, minority leader in the Parliament and known as the "Father of Baseball in Japan", who at the present time is making a vacation and lecture tour of the Pacific Coast.

Though a man past sixty and one who was said to have been in ill health recently, he seems to have recovered and personified the spirit of the new and young Japan. Instead of the rough and crude portrayal of radical minority leaders made in the press, this man who was formerly a professor at the Waseda University, and the foremost Japanese pioneer in baseball, gave the interviewer the impression of a well behaved gentleman and sportsman.

Working For Ideal

"Although the Social Democrats of Japan have an identical name with that of the German party, its principles are no different from those of the Labor party of England," he said. "We, too, are working for the ideal of a social state, that the problems of the laboring class of Japan may be solved in the most sensible manner."

Becoming interested in his subject of conversation, he told the interviewer that the Social Democrats of Japan are working to promote a plan of an insurance for laboring people, who comprise 95 percent of the Japanese population. The rest of the 5 percent or approximately 600 thousand of the total Japanese population of 65 to 70 million people, he said, are of the non-laboring class who could well afford to subscribe to the insurance for laborers.

At the present time, he said, there are one million unemployed in Japan. In order to safeguard these people an insurance is necessary whereby the government can assure them some sort of work, at about two Yen a day per head.

Payments Easy

Such an insurance at the present rate of unemployment would entail an expenditure by the government of some 700 million Yen a year, which was declared could be amply paid for through the assessments of income and inheritance taxes. These assessments could also well afford to make pension payments to the aged, Mr. Abe averred.

"That is what the Socialist Democrats of Japan are working for today, and this solution, through the materialization of the social state, would solve the economic problem of Japan," the Japanese member of the Diet informed the interviewer.

Crowd Hears Talk

On Wednesday evening speaking before a packed audience in Nippon kan, the Diet minority leader touched on the proceedings in the last session of Parliament, remarking that the two major parties, the Seiyukai government party and the opposition Minseitō party, are bitterly opposed to each other and that the minority radical group, instead of raising the usually believed disturbances, are in fact more like the referee or the umpire in the game of politics.

Mr. Abe who has already made three trips to the United States, this being the fourth time, came here first in 1891 and graduated from the Hartford Seminary of Conn., in 1894 and left for Europe from where he returned to Japan in 1895. Mr. Abe brought the first Japanese University baseball team to this country when he brought the Waseda nine here in 1905. His second trip with the Waseda nine was made in 1921.

The minority leader is a graduate of the Doshisha University and was a pastor for eight years prior to receiving a professorship at the Waseda University. Last year when the Manhood Suffrage Law went into effect, he was a candidate in the general election on a Social Democrat ticket and was elected to the seat in Diet by an electorate of 120,000.

Mr. Abe left for Vancouver, B. C., on Thursday evening and will go directly to Portland on Sunday.

TRIPLE PLAY BY TAIYOS FEATURE PLAY-OFF GAMES

Sab Iwana Turns Sure Hit Into Triple
Play With Ogami's Help

GREEN LAKE LOSERS

Taiyo Juniors won their second straight game in the Courier League playoff from Tacoma 8-6 last Sunday. The Stars defeated the Trojans in a one sided game 12-3 in the other playoff contest.

With Tacoma runners on second and third in the last inning, Kumasaka, Mountaineer's cleanup hitter, hit a liner down third base line that looked like a sure hit. With the crack of the bat the Tacoma runners ran but Sab Iwana, Junior third baseman stretched out and caught the ball, touched the runner from second and threw the ball to Ogami who was covering third to complete a triple play. It was a tough break for Tacoma to have the tying runs on the bases wiped out with a lightning triple play.

Nakamura pitched a heady game for the Tacoma nine, triking out nine Taiyos. The visitors played an uphill game to tie the score at 3 all in the sixth but the Juniors chased over another tally in their half. In the next inning, the Mountaineers made 3 more tallies but again the Taiyo came back with 3 on their own account to keep a run ahead of the Tacomans. In the eighth, Masuda's homer increased the Taiyo lead to 2 runs which they maintained until the end of the game.

Stars Win

Stars completely outclassed the Green Lakers who seemed to crack wide open. According to the scorer, the Lakers committed 14 errors which is enough to lose even an ordinary game.

Kaz Nishimura, the Star's pitcher, was in rare form. In the opening inning, the leadoff man Nishimura by clever base running ran a misjudged fly into a home run. Before the inning was over, the stars ran up a 5 run lead which the Lakers were never able to overcome.

Nishimura held the Lakers hitless until after one down in the ninth frame when he loosened up to let N. Kuragai, Abe and Ishii make the only hits that Green Lake was able to garner. His mates played brilliant ball behind him, coming up with said hit balls to make sensational plays.

Kuniyuki, the Star's shortstop, played a great defensive game handling a number of difficult chances for easy putouts.

Last Round Set

Tomorrow at Garfield the last round of the playoff series will be played. Should the Trojans defeat Tacoma and the Stars defeat Juniors, the title will be deadlocked between the Stars, Juniors and the Lakers. However, should the Juniors defeat the Stars, the Juniors will win the Spalding trophy. The first game will begin at Garfield when Green Lake plays Tacoma at 12; the title game will be played at 2 on the same grounds between the Stars and Juniors.

The batteries for last Sunday's games follow:

Taiyo Juniors 8; Tacoma 6; Nakano, Toji and Ueyhara; Nakamura and Hayatsu.

Stars 12; Green Lake 3; Nishimura and Ogata; Kumagai, Sugiyama, Kumasaka and Abe.

Nippons, Taiyo Lose

Both the Taiyo and N. A. C. nines had a disastrous day last Sunday. In their Community league game, the Nippons were defeated by Ballard 9-3, while the Tacs were whitewashed 18-0 by Creasote in their Spalding league contest.

Nagamine had an off day, being driven to the showers after 2 innings, from which point Tom Sakai held the Ballard sluggers to 3 runs. The Nippons did not score until the latter part of the contest, making their runs in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings one at a time.

Bear Baseball Men Drop Two Tussles

TOKYO, — The University of California baseball team which is now touring the Orient was recently beaten twice in Tokyo. Their first taste of defeat was against the Waseda nine when they were beaten 9 to 0. The Americans were guilty of nine errors, while the Japanese handled the ball perfectly.

In their later game with Keio they were beaten 8 to 7. California chalked up a majority of the hits, but also a majority of the errors, letting in several of the Keio Runs.

14 Year Old Athlete Proves Versatility

COMPTON, — Goro Shiroishi, 14 year old athlete of McKinley school, who recently scored a total of 385 points in the preliminary Southern California Olympics tryouts, won the meet in competition with champions from 54 schools.

Shiroishi is considered a sure winner in the California Olympics which is to be held in the near future. He won the 75-yard dash, baseball throw, basketball throw, and the broad jump. For this singular achievement he was awarded four medals by the league.

"PRO BALL GAME SOON IN JAPAN." SAYS PROF. ABE

Father of Japanese Baseball States
Opinion In Recent Interview
While Here

INTERESTED IN BASEBALL YET

Professor Isao Abe, former Waseda baseball head, who is recognized as the father of baseball in Japan, stated, "that baseball is immensely popular in Japan and it will not be long before it will become a professional sport," in an interview here recently. He says, "Waseda, Keio and a few of the other larger schools took in a gross attendance of yen 100,000 last baseball season."

It seems with larger gates a professional circuit could make the grade.

Although Professor Abe is not touring this country in an athletic connection this time, he is very much interested in the game and seems to be able to talk at length on the sport no matter how pressing his other affairs seem to be. He believes that baseball teaches its greatest lessons in the sportsmanship that it requires of the players and others who are with the winning or losing side.

In his public utterances, Professor Abe lays great stress on sportsmanship which is undoubtedly carried over from his earlier training in the diamond game.

It will be recalled that the Professor toured the United States in 1905 with the Waseda ball squad which was the first Japanese collegiate nine to visit this country. On his first trip, Waseda won only 9 out of 27 start. However, when he led the Wasedans on their second trip in 1921, they did much better winning over half of their 40 games.

SEWELL PLAYS

Joe Sewell, Cleveland third sacker, has played 939 consecutive games. He is fast approaching Everett Scott's record of 1,307 games.

JUDOISTS WIN FIVE

Waseda judo artists, who are now touring the coast, recently won five matches and lost two in San Francisco when they tackled a number of the Bay City star matmen.

Okamura, Funai, Frosh Lettermen

Two Japanese boys still as mere freshmen have won their letters in a major high school sport. Henry Okamura at Garfield, in this city, and Akira Funai at Bothel have received awards for making the baseball team. Okamura played in the outfield while Funai is a pitcher. Both of the young fellows are expected by their coaches to be star players before they finish.

Very few Japanese in this vicinity have made their letters in a major sport as freshmen, perhaps the most recent example would be that at Franklin High when Kenji Kawaguchi and Kiyori Hashimoto made their baseball letters several years ago.

New Record Made For Hop-Step-Jump

OSAKA, — A new Japanese record for hop-step-and-jump was achieved by Mikio Oda at the All-Japan Intercollegiate field and track tournament held in Osaka recently. Oda hit the 15.45 meters mark.

Waseda, with 135½ points, won easily in the tournament. Second place was taken by Keio University of Tokyo with 74 1-6 points. Tokyo Higher Normal College was third with Meiji coming in fourth.

Nippon Ring Champ Wins Two Matches

STOCKTON, — Kumagai, who is the welter-weight champion of Japan and is now fighting on the coast, won two easy matches last week in Northern California and will probably be a strong contender in the coming P. A. A. Junior title meet to be held on June 11 at Dreamland Auditorium.

In his match at Stockton he K.O.'d Silvan Spencar, touted army welter-weight, in the first round. In his other fight at Sacramento, he laid Judson low in the final round of the bout with a left hook to the chin.

LABOR RULES AGAIN

Once more Labor sits astride the saddle of government and Ramsey MacDonald, has again, become the tenant of the Premier's abode in Downing Street. The first time, in 1924, where Ramsay MacDonald was handed the reins of Premiership of the Labor administration, it might have been a venturesome experiment in English government and politics. Today, after four years of a tight and conservative Tory rule, England has discovered herself yielding to the broader and tolerant impulses of socialization.

It is no wonder, probably, that the Baldwin government should suffer such a decisive defeat at the hands of Labor with such strong leanings to imperialistic doctrines and with nary a full thought given to the health of the nation's economic condition. Therein, seems to have been the final cause which led to the downfall of the Conservative administration. The first time, when the Labor government marched into power, it gave more attention to the economic condition and the well being of the country, and that much less to the political issues. Seemingly, that being the case, the Baldwin government then came into power, when England's economic condition had been prescribed a road to health, flaunting the banner of imperialism and the extravagant expenditures of bureaucratic control.

Though it is to the credit of Mr. Stanley Baldwin that he did not wait for a non-confidence vote by parliament, before resigning, it cannot but be said, that he is leaving his post with the nation's economic situation in a muddle.

What with two million people out of employment in England, today, and the budget office showing huge sums appropriated for munitions and naval armaments, the new Labor Premier will have no slight task facing him, this time. Yet Premier MacDonald reconditioned the economic fibres the last time, when England was left in a veritable financial hole. He may do it again and it may prove to the good fortune of the Labor Party that the new economic theories of the Premier and Labor may be able to realize the fruits of success for a social state and the nationalization of industries.

The last time Labor was in power, it played a lone hand in the economic progress of the country but in the game of parliamentary politics it played no hand, at all. Labor learned its lesson, then. This time, it may not be amiss to guess, the Premier's office at 10 Downing Street will not be merely a bureau of socialization but a busy office for lobbyists and politicians.

To what extent, the success of a social state may be carried and nationalization of industries may be accomplished, is a matter of question, but it is not idle to assume, that the Labor government can best be adapted to the economic conditions to better it. The Labor administration, is no longer, a venturesome experiment in English government and politics.

IT ISN'T OFTEN a prosperous country retaining every possibility of attaining armed leadership, will stretch her hand out to other nations for the purpose of thwarting the ends of naval supremacy. President Hoover's Memorial Day address was sufficient hint for the powers to get into line for another armament conference. If the powers fail to see the light, this country stands ready to go through with her One Billion and a half Dollar naval building program over a stretch of ten years. Inside of five years, this nation should be leading the world in naval strength. When the Washington Pact went into effect America took the lead in scrapping ships valued at some Three Hundred Million Dollars. If another conference were to be held, undoubtedly, England will be called upon to scrap millions of dollars worth of vessels, but that should not be much in comparison to what she will be forced to expend in maintaining a fleet equal to that of the United States, a few years hence. The President has proposed the yard stick measure for naval reduction. If reduction is unacceptable to the powers, this country feels capable in lengthening the yard stick to suit her own convenience.

WHEN A FIRST generation member grumbles he can't understand the second generation Japanese-Americans, he is making an admission of how little he has learned of America. However, as the case is today, it may be, probably, slightly difficult for him to understand the psychology of the rising generation. Especially, with some expence of belittling the Japanese and the Japanese community, there is no doubt, they constitute a question mark to the first generation. The "400" might mean the elite but to the first generation it might mean the cows and chickens or the yokelry. The high and mighty and cheap snobbery is poor effect for a genuine aristocrat. Proper respect and courtesy is owing to our first generation fathers. This should take the rumbling out of grumbling.

Art is not the superficial expression of artificiality but the honest and feeling expression of beauty and fact.

DAUGHTER: "After I get out of university I should be myself and do what I please."
FATHER: "After you get out of the university you shall be yourself and stop making a monkey out of education."

Some people who think they can speak perfect English are the ones who cheapen it with their unnatural and affected tones.

Life is simple and simple things are often forgotten. That is why probably, we often forget we are alive.

To The Editor,
 Japanese-American Courier
 Dear Sir,

I look forward to the weekly arrival of The Courier since it forms practically the only contact with my former residence, with all due respects, of course, to a few letters from friends who give me snatches of news from time to time.

Found much of interest in Miss Kawaguchi's impressions of Japan. Hope she favors the readers with further contributions. I also wish to commend The Courier's efforts to unify the second generation by increasing their interest in matters political.

After being away from the center of affairs for two years, naturally I have begun to perceive matters in a slightly different light than before. Some day I would like to splash out a few comments, but not until my thesis has been locked up in the library in June.

Good luck to your endeavors,

Sincerely,

S. KONZO

To the Editor:

The Japanese-American Courier, which has been coming to me regularly since last fall, has helped me ever so much to keep in touch with friends in Seattle, when I was too busy caring for my mother to even answer adequately the good letters that came to me from that community in which I have lived twenty years or more and in which I hold keen interest.

Frances Romsey.

From A Pagoda

A SACRAMENTAN, a writer in the San Francisco "Japanese-American News" recently sent out questionnaires regarding "the typical American-born Japanese girl".

And brickbats as well as bouquets are found in the answers that resulted.

F. A. of SALINAS must be an idealist. He says:

"I believe she is all Mary Pickford-ish. She is innocent and pretty."

But M. S. of SAN FRANCISCO declares:

"She is no different from the typical American fair sex of this generation: She pets, dances, wears short skirts without socks, and she drinks a little and smokes a bit."

T. K. of LOS ANGELES avers:

"She is the one who gets your goat. And how!

S. E. of DENVER defends her:

"She has both the good qualities of her mother and her American friends. She can keep the house clean and neat. She is quite a lover of beauty. And at the same time, she is not bashful in the crowd. She can talk and argue fearlessly."

We have a cynic in K. W. A. of PORTLAND:

"She's one of those girls who is nice to have as your girl friend, but not for your life mate."

C. H. T. of SEATTLE, whoever he may be, soars to the sky as he writes:

"She's adorable and charming. She's the type you want to walk with hand and hand, and be proud of."

Now I ask you, what kind of a girl IS this American-born Japanese?

THE NEW CREED

By Iwao Kawakami

We are children of the dawn,
 Stammering in the sun;
 Behind us lie our father's paths ---
 No trails before us run.

Some of our tools are sharp and keen,
 But others--blunt and worn.
 We prepare with doubts, when a voice
 Comes ringing through the morn.

It is the world's voice asking us:
 "What is your destiny?"
 With daring hearts, we must answer:
 "We shall creators be."

LETTERS WELCOME

The Courier will be glad to receive letters from its readers on topics of general interest. Names and address must be given, though not necessarily for publication, and every writer is urged to be brief.

Policies championed in the letters printed are not necessarily those of The Courier.

FOUJIOKA'S WORKS TO BE DISPLAYED AT ART INSTITUTE

Impressionistic Paintings To Be Exhibited Starting June 10 Until June 30

Noboru Foujioka, noted impressionist artist of New York City, is to make an exclusive exhibition of his paintings at the Seattle Fine Arts Institute starting Monday, June 10 until June 30 inclusive.

Although the Japanese artist has held one exhibition already in the Japanese community, this coming exhibition will be the first one to be opened to the public through the auspices of the former Seattle Fine Arts Society.

Highly Recommended

Foujioka comes here highly recommended by the press and critics of New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco as well as London and Paris, and those who have already witnessed his works here have not been disappointed in their expectations, it is said.

The impressionistic paintings of American daily life, brought in interesting style without bold display of technique, have been commented upon so favorably by the local critics that the Art Institute has taken the opportunity to exhibit them to the public.

Paintings Lauded

One of his works "The American Spirit" which hangs today in the California Palace of the Regent of Honor and which was bought by Henry Fleischaker, president of the Anglo-American Paris National Bank, is one which has evoked nation-wide comments. It seems to be the forte of the artist to paint what is considered more or less the drab and dull of human existence in a colorful way, and the passions and tragedy of life depicted as a simple and unsophisticated theme has created more than ordinary interest in these parts as in other sections of the country.

The exhibition will be held daily from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., while on Sundays the galleries will be open from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m.

GIRLS' CLUB TO MEET

A meeting of the Seattle Japanese Girls' Club will be held on Friday, June 14 at Seinenkai Hall, starting at 8 p. m. All new members, girls over 16 years of age, are welcome.

SALMAGUNDI

By W. T. S.

WHILE STROLLING thru the Pike Street market on a Saturday morning:

Kaz Shimomura selling cux and toms and asking, "Have you seen Art Sasaki?" Minage Doi and his sister busy vending vegetables so polite is Kimiji Sato as he avows, "Yes, ma'am, the oranges are very sweet," Mac Kumata looking dignified, even while selling bananas Masako Takayoshi questioning, "What are YOU doing here?" Tinky Yamasaki Roland Higuchi and many, so many others.

PLOTS for human-interest stories may be often found in the immigration office.

With high hopes did Gunta Yanai, a friend of Elmer Katayama, sail from his native land towards Seattle where he planned to enter the U. of W.

But upon arriving here last week, he found that the officials would not permit his entry, due to a technicality. Pleas were made, a bond was offered, but all to no avail.

And so, while friends worked for his release, a young Nipponese sat alone and spiritless in prison-like detention rooms. Barred for five days from the outside world, he counted the weary, monotonous days and mused upon his sad introduction to the land of the free and the home of the brave.

MORE pathetic still is the case of a young Japanese girl who is being detained under similar circumstances, pending an appeal to Washington, D. C.

How happy she looked when I first saw her on the deck of the Mishima Maru, just after the liner had slowly steamed into port. And how disconsolate she appeared on the following morning, when she learned her fate and her tears flowed unashamed. Such a charming, pretty little butterfly, too, who had dreamt golden dreams of America.

Laws, red tape, uniformed officials all are necessary in this "so respectable" world of ours, but at times they can be very cruel.

WIT and humor flowed like wine at the J. S. C. Graduation Banquet last bath day, under the able lead of Roastmaster George Otsubo.

The university's graduating Japanese seniors were the cynosure of all eyes during the evening. Nearly twenty of them, the largest university class among the Japanese yet!

To mention but a few - - Hito Okada, super salesman of Tyees and Christmas cards. Prince Tachi, "the answer to a maiden's prayer!" Sukeo Nakaya who is going to manufacture tooth paste and cold creams. Thomas Masuda, whose big feet are a J. S. C. tradition. Norio Toyota, "J. S. C. landlady" and writer of much free verse. And the two Fuyokai members, Annie Nakabayashi and Kikuye Otani.

Thomas Ogawa, visitor from across the border and the gentleman with the mouth-filling, jaw-breaking English vocabulary, was also among those present.

And really, we've never heard anything so clever and humorous as Mr. Holden's story about Hart-Schaffner-and-Marx!

"General"

Whenever Clarence T. Arai is in the room, the air becomes heavy with words. For not only is talking an important part of Taki's profession, it almost seems his hobby.

That Taki IS a fluent and convincing speaker no one can deny. In fact, it is his oratorical ability that has served, to a large extent, to bring him many laurels: the presidency of the National Council of American Citizens' Leagues, of the Seattle Progressive Citizens' League and the Associated Business Men's Club.

Interesting Figure

Most times jolly, some times deadly serious, Arai is an interesting personality. Tennis and basketball are his favorite sports. And although he is a busy man, his movements are deliberate for "haste makes waist," you know, and Taki would not care to mar, his pleasingly plump appearance.

He is an earnest worker. But more than that, he possesses vision to see ahead and the courage to do he is a worthy second-generation pioneer. He has won the confidence of the first generation, and his ability as an organizer and as a leader is unquestioned.

U. of W. Graduate

Taki graduated from the University of Washington in Law in 1924. While there he attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the R. O. T. C.

At the present time, Taki is walking on air. His engagement to a girl in California has been announced, and if you ask him about his fiancée his face becomes wreathed in smiles. Well, Taki's Guedonking days will soon be over . . . and before long he'll just be "among the chaperones."

Fumiye Marumoto Selected As Queen

Misses T. Saito, Aimee Somekawa, Chizuko Inouye and Frances Maeda are to be the princesses. Akiko Tusboi will represent Japan in the International Club's float.

Portland Graduates Honored With Party

PORTLAND, — The Japanese Students Society's Graduation party, in honor of fifteen graduates from the colleges and high schools, was held at the M. E. church last Friday night.

The graduates honored included five from the local Hi, four from the Dental College, two from O. A. C. and three from the U. of W.

Several speakers gave talks and refreshments were served.
