JAPANESE RAISE OVER QUOTA FOR COMMUNITY FUND

Final Reckoning Shows Local Community Exceeds Mark by $553.50 in City-Wide Campaign Just Ended

WOMEN ASSIST WORK

Once more the local Japanese have gone over the top in their Community Fund campaign quota.

This year, with the city's quota set at 725 thousand dollars, the Japanese were asked to raise a quota of six thousand dollars, which meant the contribution of eighty cents per man, woman, child and baby in the community of approximately 7500 residents.

This total was raised with a good measure of 553 dollars and fifty cents, which means that as far as the Japanese contributions are concerned for the Japanese residents, a per capita quota of 87 and 38 hundredths cents has been paid.

Second Canvass Made

When Thursday last week rolled around, the quota had still been below the required amount, but due to the assistance of the Japanese women's organization of the community and a second canvass of the residential and business districts, the final count showed that the quota was not only raised, but over by 553 dollars and 50 cents.

When but several hundred dollars were short the members of the various ladies' organizations went out and collected the amount shy by selling tags out on the streets which netted the Japanese fund a sum of 280 dollars and 65 cents for the two days' tag selling campaign. Together with this the second canvass helped to raise the quota which went over the top.

Employees Contribute

Notable among the contributions this year, was the one hundred percent cooperation made by the employees of large Japanese firms here and down town, which accounted for nearly thirty-five percent of the quota raised. As long as the campaigns for the Community Fund have been going on in this city, the Japanese community has never failed of its quota, as has been shown by going over the top each year.

This year's city quota was set at 725 thousand dollars which went over the top by several thousand dollars and for the first time in four years.

JAPAN PRINCESS IS GIVEN NAME

TOKIO, — The advent of the new princess into the life of Japan on Sept. 30 has been a cause for much rejoicing throughout the country, and the Imperial Household announced on Sunday the name of the second Imperial daughter.

According to the official communique issued by the Imperial Household, the new Princess is to be called Taka no Miya and she has been named Kazuko.

Roumanian Parties Vie To Fill Vacancy

BUCHAREST, — With the death Monday morning of Garfore V. Buzdugan one of the three Regents of Roumania, activities have started to win a place on the regency board for Queen Marie.

The remaining two of the triumvirate are liberals and the plans of the Peasant party which controls the government at the present time is to put in a peasant on the board. Queen Marie's adherents, however, are making a strong bid for her to fill the place left vacant by Buzdugan.

Premier Julius Maniu, sensing a critical period, has called out the military to guard the streets against any political outbreaks.

Roosevelt Inducted In Porto Rico Post

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, — Shortly after the arrival of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt here on Monday from New York City, the inauguration ceremony of the new governor-general took place.

Colonel Roosevelt is the ninth American civil governor of the Island, and a fitting ceremony to induct him into office took place.

Home of Hearn To House Group

Charity starts at home just as better understanding of Japan is destined to start through the former home of Lafcadio Hearn in New Orleans, which has been purchased by the Japan Society of that city.

Although the Japan Society there is the latest of such organizations to be organized, it is to be their credit that they recently selected as their headquarters the dwelling of Lafcadio Hearn.

There are only twelve Japanese in New Orleans and sixty members in the Society there, but the home was purchased as its headquarters to perpetuate the name of a great Japanese citizen. The Society's action was a living tribute to the great American-Japanese author, as well as an act to promote the good-will between Japan and America.

ADVERTISING TALK GIVEN BY STRANG

Greater Recognition Of Japanese Needed, Speaker Says

A greater recognition by the business institutions of this city should be made of the Japanese community, was the gist of the address made by F. Strang, one of the heads of the Strang and Prosser Advertising Co., at the Associated Businessmen's Club luncheon Wednesday noon.

This community, which centers on Main and Jackson streets, has long been out of the consideration of the city and its business institutions, but as an integral part of the city its contributions has been a contributing force to the municipality's welfare. The buying power of the Japanese public has been and is no insignificant part in the city's economic fibre and its well being and consideration are now coming to win the attention of the business houses here.

Talks On Advertising

This in its general form was intimated by F. Strang, who told his audience that the power of advertising does not lie merely in writing ads but that the good advertising man knew how to sell his merchandise.

A fundamental note was struck in his talk on advertising, when he said, "In our advertising campaigns we do not advertise a product to the wholesale houses all over the country but we do it among the housewives, who are the ones to buy it. The wholesale houses cannot sell the products unless there is a public demand for it and to create the demand, the advertising must be done at the root."

Interested In Artists

Mr. Strang is interested in artists of Oriental descent who, he said, have a background of artistic ability. Already there is one young Chinese artist, Key Luke, working on his advertising staff who has shown exceptional ability in producing artistic advertising.

Mr. Strang emphasized his enthusiasm for young Japanese and Chinese artists by saying that he would like to see any of them for consultation or possible to place them in their line of work and interest at any time.

Next Wednesday the regular noon luncheon of the club is to be postponed, owing to the acceptance of the invitation sent the members of the Club to attend the Young Men's Business Club Luncheon to be held at the New Washington Hotel next Thursday noon.

TACOMA TO AID BROMLEY FLIGHT

TACOMA, — Despite the unfortunate accident which stopped Lieut. Harold Bromley from making his proposed non-stop flight from this city to Tokio, several months ago, this city will give him the support he needs on his projected flight when he attempts it again next Spring.

Lieut. Bromley's plane crashed here when in taking off the tilted condition of the plane blew gas into his face from the full tank of gas supply.

Bromley's enterprise is meeting with much favor here in spite of the accident which cut off his flight several months ago, but there are many here who believe that he will be successful when he attempts the flight next Spring. He left for the south land on Tuesday to make preparations.

Japan Naval Agent Passes Thru City On Way To Capitol

Arriving here just in time from Japan via Victoria, B. C., to make connections with the Empire Builder of the Great Northern Line, Commander T. Yamaguchi of the Japanese Navy Department sped on his way to Washington, D. C., Monday to prepare for Japan's attendance at the London arms parley.

When told about the decision of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald, the Japanese navy expert expressed his enthusiasm but declined to mention anything about Japan's stand to be taken at the parley.

He will reach Washington and will go into immediate conference with the Japanese Ambassador who will be informed as to Japan's attitude toward the further reduction of naval armaments.

Ambassador Nagaoka has been looking after the Latvian affairs for his government from his Berlin embassy but now he will have the legation in Latvia for his Latvian duties.

The indications are however, that a minister will be selected for the post, soon, to take some of the burden off the shoulders of the Japanese Ambassador at Berlin.

EVANGELINE BOOTH TO VISIT SEATTLE

Salvation Army Leader To Stop Here En Route to Japan

Raising her hand in full salute, Evangeline C. Booth, Commander-in-Chief of the American Salvation Army, will make her initial bow in recent times to this city, for several days' sojourn on her way to Japan, when she arrives here early Wednesday morning.

Commander-in-Chief Booth, who early this year was in England at the Council meeting of the Salvation Army to decide the General of the world army, is going to Japan at the invitation of the Japanese government in recognition of her worthy efforts during the Japanese quake in 1923, when the Salvation Army of this country rendered valuable service.

Democratic Leader

The New York Commander of the Army has been known to be one of the most democratic and responsible heads of the Salvation Army organization which was founded by her father.

When Bramwell Booth, her brother assumed the generalship and the question of leadership became an issue, when he was taken ill, Evangeline Booth was one of the first commanders to raise objection to putting the Salvation Army under a hierarchical rule. Through her stand, it is known, the American leader was at a difference with her now deceased brother, General Bramwell Booth.

Will Give Sermon

During her three days' sojourn here, Commander Booth will render a sermon at the Masonic Temple in which she will tell of a "World of Romance." According to advance reports, great enthusiasm is being manifested in her visit here and the local Salvation Army is making preparations to greet their leader on her arrival early next Wednesday morning. She will leave here on the President Taft for Japan, on Sunday morning.

ANDREW MELLON WILL KEEP POST

WASHINGTON, D. C., — The Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew Mellon, whose resignation seemed possible for the last several weeks has announced that he will remain in the President's cabinet until the Chief Executive's term of office expires.

This report, which was made when Secretary Mellon assured President Hoover of his intention to remain with the cabinet, was occasioned when private ticker services announced that Andrew Mellon would be resigning his post soon.

Two French Aces Make New Record

PARIS, — The Air Ministry gave out the official announcement of the Coste-Bellante distance flight, claiming for the flyers the long distance flight record of the world.

Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellante who started from the Le Bourget flying field in France on Sept. 27, arrived in Tsitsi-Har, northwest of Harbin, Manchuria on Sept. 29, covering a distance of nearly 6,000 miles.

This beats the record made by Arturo Ferrarin and Carl del Prete, the Italian flyers who made a distance of 4,475 miles.

POWERS AGREE TO HOLD CONFERENCE FOR DISARMAMENT AT LONDON IN '30

United States, Great Britain Reach Decision to Meet in Naval Parley Next January

INVITATION SENT OUT

WASHINGTON, D. C., — The world naval disarmament conference is now definitely decided to take place in the third week of January in London, to which this country, Japan, France and Italy have been formally invited to attend by Great Britain through her Minister of Foreign Affairs, Arthur Henderson, when the invitations to the various governments were issued on Monday.

The issuance of the invitation came as the result of an understanding arrived at between President Hoover and Premier MacDonald at the American Chief Executive's Raridan River fishing camp, where the two leaders had gone last Saturday to discuss the naval disarmament problems.

Agreement Reached

Under the early morning sun of a Sunday, with the blue mountain of Virginia looking down on them the two heads of their respective governments came to an agreement to call the disarmament parley in the third week of January in London, and by noon that day the news of the decision was flashed to the four corners of the globe.

Premier MacDonald, who arrived in this country last Friday, came here immediately and went into conference with President Hoover and their conversations reached final decision on Sunday at the President's Raridan camp. Since returning here the two executives have been in almost constant conversation but it is known that these were to effect the closest understanding on the issues of disarmament which have been looked upon heretofore as the obstacles toward a mutual agreement in calling the parley.

Joint Report Compiled

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the Premier's last day in this country, the two heads were either in personal communication or by messenger for the purpose of working to close understanding. On the last day a joint report by the two Executives was compiled in which both heads declared the chief intent of both nations was to assure the tranquility and the peace of the world.

Although the United States, the report said, could not tie herself to any European entanglements through an agreement, she would cooperate with Great Britain in maintaining the peace of the world.

On Monday this country as well as Japan, France and Italy received the invitation from the British Foreign Office to attend the disarmament conference, and the text of which received publication in the daily newspapers of the country on Wednesday. Although at this writing none of the nations have as yet signified their acceptance to attend the parley, it is generally believed that Japan, at least, is willing to send delegates to the parley.

Doubts Expressed

In regard to France and Italy some doubt have been expressed but at last report France seems willing to take the invitation as one which does not call for a negative answer. The doubts were expressed because of the point made in the text which explains that the United States and Great Britain have virtually reached an accord on the total elimination of submarines, but that this will be left up to the conference to decide.

According to the invitation sent out on Monday four major points on disarmament are made and which are to effect as follows:

1. The Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty and its principle, the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy, shall be the motivating principle applied as to the policy of the conference.

2. Parity on all naval categories, between the United States and Great Britain shall be reached by Dec. 31, 1936.

3. To consider the desirability of battleship replacements toward the end of its elimination as an obsolete category, in pursuance of the spirit

COURIER'S LEAGUE ELEVENS GET OFF TO FLYING START

Cougars Chew Up Lotus, 14-0 At Garfield In Opener of Schedule

TAIYO JRS. WIN, 24-0

The turf was green and the sod just right for the two pairs of elevens in The Courier Football League to get off to a right start last Sunday at Garfield.

With Dave Yamaka barking out the plays, the Cougars chewed up Lotus, 14-0, in a fast game. The Georges Yanagimachi and Kambe plowed the dirt, each making a touchdown apiece.

Others who starred were Max Iki and Jumbo Okamura by their sure tackling. The try-for-points were made by Yamaka who kicked the ball over the bar once and the second time passed to Max Iki.

The mainstay of the Lotus team was J. Sonoda.

Taiyos Down Bellevue

Although it had been heralded as a fast game, the Taiyo Jrs.-Bellevue game fell short of expectations when the local youngsters carried off a 24-0 victory. Hostilities began with Bellevue making off-tackle slants and reverses which netted them yardage.

The Taiyos drew first blood when a pass to Ogami was completed. With the six point margin, the Junior backs punctured the visitors' line for consistent gains. The Juniors scored every quarter with Matsuda, Yamada, and Shirashi getting equal share in scoring honors.

Matsuoka, Takeshi Star

Matsuoka and Takeshi, veteran backfield men for Bellevue excelled in their line plunges and defensive work. Not much of the victor's power was revealed since the game was their first real workout.

Tomorrow The Courier League elevens meet again at the Garfield grounds in their second scheduled contest of the first half of the season.

The Taiyos meet Lotus at 12 p. m., while the Cougars gridders will meet the Bellevue team from 2. p. m.

HUSKIES BATTLE TROJANS TODAY

With the Huskies battling the U. S. C. Trojans in the Stadium this afternoon, it is interesting to note that the two teams have met only twice before and each has won a game.

In 1923 Coach Elmer Henderson's Trojan team came to Seattle and was given a 22-0 beating, but Southern California evened matters in 1927 when a Husky eleven was trounced 33 to 13 by a Jones-coached S. C. varsity.

The Huskies battled the Montana Grizzlies to a 6-6 tie in the Stadium last Saturday.

MASTER HURLER FANS 13 OF CUBS' BEST IN OPENER

Ehmke Ends Baseball Career In Blaze Of Glory As Athletes Win Opener

CHICAGO LOSES SECOND

CHICAGO. — An old master whose curves and slants were still the classic repertoire of his mound endeavors, an old man as far as baseball is concerned, dragged himself up to the pitcher's hill to put the final touches on a masterpiece in his final game at the Chicago Cubs' field here Tuesday in the opening game of the world series.

For a long time, baseball world had been without news of the star efforts of Howard Ehmke one of the veteran pitchers of yesterday. For a long time Ehmke has been known as a figure long past his prime in baseball.

At the Cubs' field here on Tuesday, in the very first game of the world series at that, and in the final showing of his career, he drew himself up to the height of his younger days to perform the masterpiece which will hold the name of Howard Ehmke to the memory of baseball accomplishments.

Establishes Record

Of course Cornelius McGillicuddy of the Athletics might have inteded using Ehmke, but no one dreamed that this old veteran, lean and bedraggled would assume the mound in the initial contest. The tall southerner drew himself up to his full height of six feet three inches to turn Chicago and Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Cuyler and English back into the sea of defeat.

Twice he fanned the great Hornsby something that has never been done to the Rajah of the Stick in a world series. Twice he nailed the mighty Hack Wilson to strikeouts. This was a masterpiece in itself but his real great work came when he struck out the last batter of the Cubs to establish the world's record for world series pitching by adding the scalps of thirteen men to his record of strikeouts for the game. The record has been twelve, set by Walter Johnson.

Ends Baseball Career

This game marked the ending of Howard Ehmke as a big league pitcher and the tribute paid him by the fifty thousand Chicago fans at the stadium when he strode off the field after the last batter was out, gives the proper significance to the greatness of this modest pitcher who had given fourteen years of his life to the cause of baseball.

Ehmke is one of the cleanest and the most sportsmanlike of baseball athletes that the fans have known. Probably no pitcher in baseball has ever received so little publicity for 14 years of activity and been through the experience of being transferred as many times as this man who now attains to the age of thirty five.

The Athletics won the first game 3-1, and also the second 9-3 at this writing.

MADRONA DOWNS TAIYOS, 23-0, IN BATTLE SUNDAY

Coach Leo Burke Dissatisfied With Showing Of Tacs At Broadway

GAME SLATED TOMORROW

by Frank Sugiyama

The Taiyo football eleven was undetermined by the Madrona gridders, 23-0, at Broadway last Sunday.

Madrona, ever alert, took advantage of every break, scored their initial touchdown on a blocked punt, and then when a Taiyo punt went 40 yards up and 10 across in the shadow of the Japanese goal, shoved over another touchdown. Later another touchdown and safety was registered.

Coach Dissatisfied

Coach Leo Burke was dissatisfied with the Taiyo eleven, especially the backfield which lacked punch on offensive and leaked like a sieve on defense. Kaname Kuniyuki, Fred Arai, and Kenji Kawaguchi were the only ones whom the coach praised.

After testing every man on the squad for a quarter or more in last Sunday's game, Burke believes that the team is woefully weak. The team seems green and very light but with a couple more practice sessions during the week, Burke believes that he may add enough polish to put a mighty batch against against the Atlantic street eleven when they play the Taiyo at Columbia tomorrow at 2.

Starting Lineup

The Taiyo coach does not predict a victory but neither does he look for a rout. The probable starting lineup will be selected from the following:

Ends -- Mike Iseri, Taft Beppu, Roy Sakamoto.

Tackles -- Frank Sugiyama, Tomoe Takayoshi, Fred Arai, Frank Nakamura.

Guards -- Yano Iwasaki, Kaz Tamura, Mun Iseri, Takeo Mochizuki.

Backs -- Johnny Funai, Kaname Kuniyuki, Jack Kiba, George Aoki, George Nishitani, Kiyu Higashi, Kimio Hirose, Kai Nakabayashi.

Jiu Jitsu Artist To Study Greek Wrestling Ways

To what extent a Japanese jiu jitsu artist can adapt himself to the Greek style of wrestling as is practiced in this country, will now be given a thorough study by a prominent Japanese wrestler who arrived in this city last Saturday.

Y. Fujita, who has been making a study of the so-called catch-as-catch-can American derivation of the Greek style of wrestling, is now here to attend the University of Washington.

During his hours off from the University grind, he will go into a closer study of American wrestling by watching the local and Tacoma matmen perform.

Fujita, who was in Eugene prior to coming here, is a fourth grade black belt man in the judo ranks of Japan.

NIPPONS BOW TO RAINIER GRIDDERS IN INITIAL GAME

N. A. C. Makes Good Showing, Indicating Strong Eleven For This Year

KENJI HAMADA STARS

by "Chops" Umemoto

The Nippons opened their football season with the strong Rainier eleven at the Columbia Playfield Sunday. Although outweighed thirty pounds to a man, and losing 27-6, N. A. C. made an impressive showing which revealed to fans prospects for a strong eleven this year.

The lone touchdown for the Nippons was a result of a pass which Kaz Arai knocked down and later recovered and a series of line-bucks by Sam Takahashi which brought the ball to the three-yard line.

Aerial Play Scores

The Rainier line held for three downs and so Kay Hamada shot a pass to Sam Aoki over the center of the line for a score. The try-for-point pass was incomplete.

Reliable Kenji Hamada, veteran guard, played a bang-up-game and was the best man in the line, although everyone played a good game.

Takahashi Spark-Plug

In the backfield Sammie Takahashi, Ed (Kick) Natori, and Kay Hamada all played a good game, Sammie being the spark-plug. Sheenie Miyagawa, Saki Arai and Fishie Tsukuno also played good ball.

The line-up was as follows: Heisuke Yoshimura, center; Kenji Hamada and Takeshita, guards; Kaz Arai and Muraoka, tackles; Sus Watanabe and Sam Aoki, ends; Sammie Takahashi and Miyagawa, Kick Natori and Tsukuno alternating at half; Kay Hamada, quarter; Saki Arai, and Sammie Takahashi alternating at full.

Many New Players

Many new players made their first appearance, among them being Watson Ihashi, former Franklin Hi end; Toshi Seki of Garfield; Sammie Aoki, who hails from the land of barefoot football; Tommy Hironaka from Kent; and Frank Tatori who shows promise of being a good tackle.

Katsumi Nakayama, Tommy Hironaka, T. Seki, Watson Ihashi, Tom Sakai, Frank Hatori, A. Suzuki, all played a good game and showed that Nippons have good reserves this year.

"Chuckie" Miyagawa, Japanese prepster, has been elected head yelling at Belmont High School in California.

LONDON, NEXT YEAR

The silver threads on the lute of understanding now twang to a melody of disarmament and the first note of naval reductions is a clear one with the presence of Premier Ramsay MacDonald in this country which has definitely assured the proposed disarmament conference in London, next January.

The visit of Ramsay MacDonald, if anything, has been a happy augury of the fact of the naval disarmament conference, whose materialization now awaits until January. It is hopefully certain that Premier MacDonald did not merely drop in to the White House on a casual visit, but in fact, he left nothing unsaid nor undone in approaching a definite understanding with the American President to bring the naval powers around the discussion board in January. For one thing the British Premier's presence, in this country, and his willingness to make for the coming conference, has permitted the lean matter of many world statesmen to now be relieved of the strain from the worries of another probable armaments competition.

The chief purpose of the British Premier's visit was, undoubtedly, to clearly decide the policy which will prevail at the London conference. Taking it from a general viewpoint, this has not been difficult, in view of the fact that both Great Britain and the United States have reached a seeming accord on the major points of arms reductions.

However, if a leaf should be taken out of the Washington Conference for reference, at least Great Britain and the United States should not experience any difficulty in reaching an understanding on cruiser parity, but as to the possible endeavor to eliminate submarines both France and Italy are likely to raise objections which might qualify the results of the conference for the reduction of naval armaments in all categories. These objections from France and Italy might be raised to hazard the parley before it takes place, but it is reasonably certain that the invitation sent out by the British Foreign Office makes it sufficiently clear that the pros and cons in regard to submarine elimination shall be given a hearing at the conference without making it a determined policy of the parley.

France and Italy, alone perhaps are not the only nations to forecast a possible squabble, before the parley. Even the United States and Great Britain are likely to indulge in more conclusive negotiations to arrive at an understanding on the tonnage of cruisers. If for instance, the United States should persist in keeping the larger type of cruisers than England it is, not without doubt, that the latter nation will play for a larger number of cruisers than she possesses at present. This might handicap matters as far as reduction is concerned. Only this year, prior to the British Premier's visit the chief point of contention between the two countries in their conversations for another arms parley was nearly wrecked on the cruiser issue and the fifteen new cruisers this country was building has now been postponed.

In spite of these points of possible differences, the cordial and graceful gesture of the British Premier in visiting this country, to negotiate directly with the American President for an understanding on another arms parley, speaks eloquently of the candor with which the conference will work for a reduction of naval armaments. The premier is known to be one of the greatest diplomats of Great Britain, today, and under his guidance the conference in London, this January is significantly fair of success. The statesmen of the world who have been looking for a move of this nature, will not it seems, be disappointed in the far reaching program of the parley for the reduction of armaments in all naval categories. All roads will meet at London next year.

THIS COMMUNITY has, again, gone over the top in their quota of the City wide Community Fund campaign. In previous years, in so far as the Community Fund goes, the Japanese community has never failed of making their mark. This year's contribution retains the record unblemished. For the residents of this district to come through the way they did indicates their sense of duty to the City regardless of whether they are Japanese or not. The great majority of the residents possess no voice in the city government, but they do, certainly, have a well developed municipal pride. They may be missing in many things but they are there for the common weal.

EVANGELINE BOOTH will be in the City for three days, on her way to Japan. During the World War what the Salvation Army lassies and men did "over there" cannot be forgotten without some recollection being given to the great work of organization as it was welded by this Commander-in-Chief of the American Salvation Army. There was not only a discipline of efficiency but also a discipline of the spirit which saw no road too hard to trudge, which saw no danger too great to stop them from going to those who needed their aid. Of this Army of gallants, Evangeline Booth instilled an unquenchable fire of spiritual sacrifice which lingers yet strong as ever. Evangeline Booth well personifies the Doughnut Girl of Flanders Field as she does the Florence Nightingale in the spiritual needs of the age.

Some fathers might think their sons ought to know that beauty is skin deep, but according to Dr. Sam Crane, fathers should know that their sons are not cannibals.

Everything and Nothing

UP WITH THE CURTAIN

Fates of Persons Born Between October 23 to November 22.

The wet month of October was placed under the protection of the red planet Mars, the "battle-ax", by the Romans (mail carriers made famous by Cleopatra). The Romans assembled their army and held a festival to this god of war on the nineteenth day, called Armilustrum Day, paging in a new era which placed Battle Creek, Michigan, on the map, for the succor of foot-sore and other transmissional mistakes.

Persons born unto themselves the vibratory influence of the sign Scorpio (Mars), a fixed, nocturnal, southern sign indicating a moody, determined, commanding nature, destined to strange vicissitudes of fortune, but recognizing no obstacles, and leaving no bridges untaken, until the march of ambition has reached its end, and crossed the rubicon of success. Isn't it lovely --- my goodness!

Regardless of what they sleep in, pajamas or gowns, the larger, the more daring the scheme with which these people connect themselves, the greater their victory. These Scorpio heirs, keen and astute, are particularly clever in recognizing and taking advantage of the upward revolutions of the wheel, knowing just when it will toss him higher or drop him lower, --- and who wouldn't be, especially on a runaway elevator!

Though lazy by instinct, these people are seldom permitted to sidetrack long into lethargy of peaceful bliss; their STARS are eternally pushing them forward toward new vicissitudes of fortune, whether from Hollywood is for me to know and you to find out! They scarcely surmount one difficulty, or push through one obstruction, before they are confronted by another, so the Chamber of Commerce requests, implores, beseeches, asks and persuades these heirs to be a little more modest in sending their socks to the laundry---- be sure they are premature! Without their own volition, their paths drift into channels of stormy adventure, bringing them the reward and blame of such lives like the curse of picking up cigarette stubs from the gutter of daily events.

They are constantly conceiving new ideas and promulgating new schemes, visionary and otherwise, taking away the honors to the chagrin of the Scotch blood by indulging in non-expensive adventures as mentioned. They'll bite in an enterprise at element of newness and uncertainty like Hoover took the White House; rarely with disastrous results, however, for they are born gamblers and fortunate in all games of chance whether "catching cold and later splitting headaches!"

As long as they are "the head" it matters little in whatever pursuits these people elect to follow whether sand-fleas or beauties at the beach. Theirs is the motto of Lucifer himself; "Better to reign in Hell than serve in Heaven". It is impossible for them to fill subordinate positions with any marked degree of success; they all like to be generals, admirals, captains of industry soon after their terms in boarding schools---and my, how they hate to be in the "back seat".

The reason for their "fallen arches" are due to the fact that they are too entirely selfish to work conscientiously in the interests of another; and secondly, like a policeman's attitude from the gallery, they have very decided convictions as to the way life and most of its affairs should be conducted. Let them once be roused to controversy, and they display a most provoking tenacity, maintaining their side to the death, arguing faults into virtues or virtues into faults with equal unconcern, and invariably defeating, if not convincing, their opponents until HALITOSIS sets in to the discomforts of others, et al.

They are consistently stubborn about taking on the manners or modes of life of the people about them. This is particularly true when their environment savors of the luxurious, for they have a weakness for the goody-goodies of earth; and if they chance to be born to money (which is seldom), they resolve themselves into a band of drowsy lotus-eaters, dreaming away the precious moments, while the richest gifts and opportunities slip through their idle hands, as silvery sands trickle through the fingers of playing children and rain through secondhand auto tops.

The women of Scorpio inherit more sensitive domestic tendencies than the men, possibly due to the brand of soap they use. Like men of this sign, however, they fret under restraint, and harbor an inborn aversion to law and conventionally--- so better bring along your own lunch.

OPENING SERVICE OF YOUTH LEAGUE ATTRACTS MANY

Paul J. Gates Delivers Inaugural Sermon to Gathering Last Sunday

MANY FAITHS PRESENT

By JAY ESSE

In an atmosphere which truly radiated with heat, light and power as applied in his inaugural sermon of Love, Intelligence and Power, more than forty second generation Japanese, together with Father Muret, and the Rev. Abe of the Congregational Church, heard the Rev. Paul J. Gates officiate at the first service of the Youth League, at the Seattle Japanese Chamber of Commerce Academy of Music auditorium in the building last Sunday evening.

It was significant, of note, this inaugural service of the Youth League. It was a veritable melting pot of understanding into which the various religious elements were flung in, to mold a tempered steel of faith in God.

Many Creeds There

There were Baptists, Presbyterians and others who belonged to the Congregational and Methodist denominations. There was also a member from a Buddhist Church who exhibited her tolerance and intelligence of the highest ideals of man, namely the Youth League platform of God, Character and Fraternity.

Father Muret and his associate Mr. Chujo from the Maryknoll Mission were there also, and it was a rather fitting introduction of them that Rev. Gates made, since their visit was a compliment paid to the League service.

Guidance Is Asked

The Rev. Abe, who in his community holds a not only responsible but prominent position in religious work and education, started the service on its right course, after the general hymnal singing, by opening it with a prayer, the essence of which struck home for the sake of a better understanding between Japan and America as well as for world peace in which responsibilities he asked God to guide the younger generation and the Youth League to reach these aims.

Heat, Light and Power, the Rev. Gates likened unto Love, Intelligence and Power which the people who feared and worshiped God sought as their ends. Aside from the reasons in the sermon on this subject it was significant enough that Rev. Gates saw in the gathering of forty, that Love, Intelligence and Power.

Though from the various denominations, the gathering eloquently bespoke of their love for their fellow beings and their faith in God, as shown by the attendance. The gathering, by attending, showed the strength of their convictions and it could be logically derived from it, that here was Power for Love, Unity for Good and the Strength for Justice.

Tomorrow the service will be held again at the Chamber of Commerce building and in addition to the regular service a social hour will be held after the sermon. The get-together will be for the purpose of friendship. Refreshments will be served.

Valued Manuscript Discovered in Fukui

SAN FRANCISCO. — An ancient manuscript of great value, which for 200 years has been hidden in a secret shrine in Japan, is in the hands of Father William Stoecke, S. V. D., superior of the Fathers of the Divine Word here and head of the St. Francis Xavier Mission at 1715 Octavia street.

The manuscript is a translation, penned in Japanese, of a Catholic Catechism. It is believed to have been written by one of the early Spanish missionaries to Japan during the era of persecution in the flowery kingdom about two centuries ago. It was found in the family shrine of the Terasawas in the prefect of Fukui.
