PREMIER SELECTS JAPAN DELEGATES TO LONDON PARLEY

Rejiro Wakatsuki, Admiral Takarabe Plan To Pass Thru Seattle On Way To Visit Washington, D. C.

MATSUDAIRA IS CHOSEN

TOKIO. — With the official announcement of Japan's delegates to the London arms conference to be held from the third week in January it has been learned that two of the members of the delegation will visit Washington, D. C., via Seattle, prior to their arrival in England.

The three delegates selected by Premier Hamaguchi to represent Japan are: Wakatsuki, former premier; Admiral Hyo Takarabe, minister of navy; and Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador to the Court of St. James. With the exception of Ambassador Matsudaira, the other two delegates will leave Japan Nov. 30, on the N. Y. K. Liner Siberia Maru for Seattle from where they will leave for the Capitol.

It is understood from the information received that the two delegates will go to Washington and confer with President Hoover in regard to the questions which may arise at the parley and on which Japan and the United States may reach accord, in order to expedite matters there. This preliminary conversation, it is understood, will be on the major points of disarmament and on the subject probably of the 10-10-7 ratio which Japan favors.

The desire of this country for the 10-10-7 ratio is brought out from her reason of security that the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact sponsors an element to outlaw war.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — With Japan's announcement of her delegates reaching here last week, President Hoover has selected Secretary of State W. L. Stimson, to head the American delegation to the London Conference.

Besides the appointment of Secretary Stimson, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Robinson of Arkansas have been elected to become members of the delegation. Both senators, it is understood, were official who favored the building of the fifteen cruisers of the American Navy to reach a parity with that of Britain but who strongly favored also the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact for the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy.

GERMAN PARTIES CLASH ON PLAN

BERLIN. — The unforeseen clash between the united Nationalist-Fascists and the proponents of the government resulted Sunday when the former element endeavored to hold a plebiscite on the Young Reparations plan.

The Nationalists and Fascists, who have been united ever since the government approved the Young plan, are waging a nation-wide campaign against the Young plan and against the blame of war guilt placed on Germany.

The proponents of the government have been following a policy of reconciliation with the country's former enemies and this does not strike the discontented element any too well.

Many clashes all over the city took place here Sunday and they indicate a hectic period in the history of the German Republic for at least the next several weeks.

Recognition Sought For Vatican State

ROME. — A question of interest now assuming importance in regard to American recognition of the Vatican City, is coming to attract attention here with the arrival of Archbishop Hayes from New York today.

It is understood that the American patriarch will consult with the pope in regard to American recognition of the Papal State.

R. R. TO ELECTRIFY LINE

PHILADELPHIA. — It has been learned from an important official of the Pennsylvania R. R., that plans were recently completed to electrify the Company's railway line from New York City to Washington, D. C. in the near future.

Salaries Slash Plan Is Tabled

TOKIO. — Declaring that no responsibility is involved in a plan not yet carried out or announced, the Minseito government decided on Tuesday that it would not make the slash in salaries of administration officials, in connection with their policy of economy.

The government had intended to put through this measure to reduce the salaries of all government officials from the Prime Minister down, but strong objections to this from various quarters made it inadvisable for the liberals to legislate this measure.

Finance Minister Inouye has said that the government is not seeking to curry favor for the coming election by postponing this measure but since no responsibility is involved in a proposal, the government is justified in withdrawing or curbing its plan.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH AIMS FOR SERVICE

City Manager of Company Speaks to Businessmen's Club

Seeking to make for better telegraph service in the Japanese community, Ollie L. Schulz, city manager of the Postal Telegraph Co., remarked that the new branch office on Second and Main St., is to serve this district chiefly, in a talk before the Associated Businessmen's Club luncheon Wednesday.

This community, he said, has long been without a genuine service in wire message communications and the Postal Telegraph has seen the necessity of giving to it a better and more efficient service. The progress of the community demanded it, with many of the businessmen interested in foreign trade in some degree. The purpose of the company is to make it a community institution so that it may work to the best advantage, through quicker telegraph and messenger service.

The history of the telegraph was also told and general resume of the progress made since 1844 when the Morse Code was put into us was given. In 1850 the first telegraphic message in the country was given prominence, in which the declination of Silas Wright to the nomination of vice-Presidency of the United States, was recorded from Washington, D. C., to Baltimore, Md., where the convention took place.

The wide activities of the McKaye system, which embraces the Postal Telegraph lines taking in more than 70 percent of the entire lines of communications in the world, was told.

The success of the Japan Day luncheon put on by the Seattle Young Men's Business Club last Thursday at the New Washington Hotel was the chief comment of the luncheon among the members and the date for the quarterly banquet of the Associated Businessmen's Club will soon be decided by the officers of the organization.

Three Join America Peace Award Group

NEW YORK CITY. — Edward Bok, founder of the American Peace Award, has announced the election of Owen D. Young, Thomas Lamont and Silas Strong to membership in the organization which favors American adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice, with reservations.

Spanish-Portuguese Union Is Proposed

MADRID. — The return of President Carmona to Portugal has brought forth the announcement of a proposed Spanish-Portuguese union from Premier de Rivera on Monday.

The Portuguese president had been in conference here with the Premier for several days and a commission of experts have mapped out a plan for a Spanish-Portuguese union.

According to the Premier's announcement, made on the return of President Carmona, the accord would be to the benefit of both countries.

FORMER RESIDENT NOW SEIYUKAI M. P. VISITS IN SEATTLE

Tainaka Comments On Chances of His Party's Return to Power in Coming February Elections

DISARMAMENT SOUGHT

Not committing himself as to the probable outcome of the general elections in Japan next February if the Imperial Diet is dissolved, K. Tainaka, Seiyukai M. P. and one time resident of this city who arrived here from California on Wednesday evening, commented on an equal chance of their getting a majority seat in the Diet as the Minseito liberals, in an interview Thursday.

Mr. Tainaka, who lived in this city some twenty years ago, made his first return visit to this country eight years ago and during the present recess of the Diet he is now making a visit of the Coast. The political situation in Japan, he said, is as uncertain as the weather and the Seiyukai, which possesses a strong foundation, may come back in power if another general election was to be held in February, as is supposed will happen. The outcome however, cannot be too certain, it was implied.

Surprising Changes

The Japanese Member of Parliament noted the surprising changes which have taken place in this community as well as in the city proper and mentioned the optimism with which he saw the stride of progress Seattle making. In the second generation he saw a hopeful sign of new American citizens who would make worthy contributions to this country.

"The problem of the second generation is a grave one, indeed, but the fact that they constitute a grave problem is in itself sufficient to explain their potentiality as good American citizens," he said.

Talks on Disarmament

The respected one time member of this community harked the memory of this representative to the question of disarmament and declared it a his view that Japan must be assured national security, but that the sentiment of the public as well as of the government is toward disarmament. With that sentiment in mind and the assurance of security, Japan would attend the London conference with an open desire to cooperate in disarmament which would lift the economic burdens of the world to a great degree, he remarked.

Mr. Tainaka will leave either today or tomorrow for Japan.

Several persons have been arrested as the plotters against the Queen's life while several others who are termed to belong to the terrorist element of Temesvar are under suspicion.

City To Receive "Sakura" Trees

A genuine sentiment of friendship and good-will of the Japanese in this city and the outlying districts who contributed to the welcome fund for the Japanese training squadron which visited here in August, is to be expressed in the form of Cherry Blossom trees which will be presented the city.

On Tuesday evening at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce before the final assembly of the welcome committee members, this measure was given approval when it was learned that nearly two thousand dollars which passed over the quota was still left in the treasury.

The move was sponsored to commemorate the event and at the same time to record the friendship and appreciation of the Japanese people in the Northwest over the welcome tendered the Japanese naval vessels on their visit here.

A committee of twenty has already been appointed to work on the presentation of the cherry blossom trees.

CITIZENS TO MEET TO PLAN CONCLAVE

League Will Hold First Fall Meeting at Chamber of Commerce

The hot stove league with its political confabulations now comes into its season and the local Citizens League will get under way for action when its first fall meeting takes place at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce building on Saturday, Nov. 2 from 8 p. m.

All along the line there is a greater interest being manifested in the activities of the Citizens' League, and the coming convention of the National Council of Japanese-American Citizens' Leagues here next summer is now arousing much enthusiastic comments. It is already understood that at the meeting the chief business of the League will be on the subject of the coming convention and many prominent local businessmen are expected to be there.

Besides this matter, other social activities of the coming winter will be considered as well as the interest to be developed in the mayoralty election next Spring. Since the Presidential election last year, many more young people are expected to have reached their majority and age to qualify for the League's activities and a number of new faces are expected to be seen at the next meeting.

The fact that the Citizens' League in the district near Stockton and in San Francisco and Fresno are wakening to activity has won the interest of many citizens here and in order to cooperate to a greater degree with the California organizations, the local League will take up questions of importance connected with it at the coming meeting.

HUGHES CHOICE REASON TOLD

WASHINGTON, D. C. — In his reply Monday to Fred E. Britten, secretary of the Republican organization of Florida, President Hoover has made it known, in regard to his appointment of Federal district attorney Hughes, that the office of the Presidency does not allow him to place political considerations before public service.

The appointment of Hughes, President Hoover said in his letter, was made through his principle for public duty, and that political patronage was secondary in his consideration. The service rendered the public by selecting men who would do their duty "without fear, favor or political pollution would redound to the credit of the Republic an Administration and thus to the party organization. The secretary replied to the letter assuring the cooperation of the Florida organization.

NEW ENVOY NAMED

PARENTS OF TODAY SEEK CLOSER TIES OF UNDERSTANDING

Times Change and Fathers Now Seek Better Knowledge of Their Offsprings; Marriage Question Most Vexing.

OUTLOOK IS HOPEFUL

By JAY ESSE

The home fires kindle a little more brightly, a little more warmer along Main Street now. This is not because of the oncoming cold weather as it might be thought, but through the closer understanding the parents are trying to effect with their offsprings.

Heretofore it has been generally been made to feel that the parent was not merely the leader of the home but the autocrat of the domestic domain over which he rules. Today with the second generation growing in years, as in number, this conception of home administration and family hierarchy is passing away, with the sons and daughters showing every indication of cutting out their own niches in life.

Times Are Changing

Once upon a time, fathers never consulted their sons or daughters. They probably never had to, but today the question is slightly different. Not all the parents but some, I hear, even ask the advice of their children what sort of stove would be the most beneficial and therefore appropriate for their home.

This is probably because the parent has no idea of modern stoves or other modern necessities of the home, but looking into the subject a little closer, it is just as well to feel that the father desires chiefly to create a better understanding with his son or daughter by placing some of the responsibilities of home on their shoulders.

Greatest of Problems

The most ticklish problem of all, however, which holds the two generations reserved from a closer contact and closer home ties, is undoubtedly, the marriage question. In this it is quite understandable that the parents feel for the best interest of their offspring but on the other hand the ordinary young man of today, or it might be a young lady, are quite of the opinion that they want this sort of a mate or that sort and feel capable of selecting for themselves.

In an understanding between them could be effected on this point, it is probably safe enough to assume that all the misunderstandings of an important nature would be swept away. However, this is a problem of such magnitude to the individual, whether father or offspring, that the question cannot be lightly dismissed. The parents are wont to follow old traditions, not all of them of course, but in many cases they wish to have their children married in the same way they were.

Outsiders Unnecessary

The young man or woman of today in this community feel that a third man to arrange their marriage is not necessary and in most cases the young man especially feels that if he cannot win the lady of his heart he does not deserve to win her. This, of course, is too light a statement for any young man dead earnest in love to assert, but that is the psychology, a purely American one I should say, which possesses the second generation Don Juan.

In the selection of a middle man the parents, of course, do not desire to force any young woman on their son if he has no love for the young lady, but the very fact that a middle man policy would be forced upon him when his marital moment comes is not relished by the second generation, I find.

Good Points and Bad

In one way the matrimonial go-between system is good one in that it assures a healthy marriage, but on the other hand too often one type of man becomes married to another type of woman without an understanding between them. The middle man system is a good one for the man or woman already advanced in age and who cannot find a mate for themselves.

GRIDIRON LEADERS IN LEAGUE BATTLE TO SCORELESS TIE

Bellevue Defeats Lotus Eleven, 6-0
In Thriller; Tominaga Stars

MANY FANS ARE PRESENT

With the Cougars and the Taiyo Juniors clashing in a nothing to nothing gridiron contest, tying them for first honors, The Courier Football League now embarks on its second half of the season's schedule with the Lotus meeting the strong Cougars from 12 p. m., and the Bellevue and the Juniors playing from 2 p. m., at the Garfield playgrounds tomorrow.

Besides the scoreless contest between the Cougars and the Juniors for first place honors, the Lotus and the Bellevues met in an exciting game which put the latter team into second place. Not until the final quarter was the game decided, when a forward pass snatched out of the air from nowhere gave Bellevue a touchdown and raised it above the cellar position.

Many Fans Attend

The games were given a colorful tinge when a large number of parents and friends of the players came out to witness the contests.

In the first game between the Taiyos and the Cougars, both teams gave evidence from the first that neither would give ground and battled in mid-field for the entire first half.

The Cougar backs, however, seemed to be slightly the more experienced and stronger on their line smashes. In the off-tackle plays which were stopped quite effectively by the Juniors, the Cougars still showed enough power to gain ground.

In the second half it was notable that the Cougars were playing most of the time in Junior territory. Jumbo Okamura playing at one half scintillated by his off-tackle smashes. When the final whistle blew, the Cougars were on the Junior's five yard line.

Bellevue Eleven Wins

The Bellevue eleven surprised the onlookers by their showing against the Lotus gridders, who showed from the start that they were better trained but the Bellevue team showed the punch when the time came to stop their opponents.

In the second quarter of a game which might have ended in a scoreless tie if not for Lady Luck, A. Tominaga, right half of the Bellevue eleven, intercepted a Lotus pass on the twenty yard line and ran through a broken field for the only touchdown of the game. The score did not account for a point when the boot failed.

Unless a tie results the league schedule will be over on November 10, when The Courier Trophy will be awarded the winner at a banquet for the League.

J. S. C. QUINT LOSES, 32-18

In their first game of the University intramural hoop tournament, the Japanese Students' Club quintet lost to Phi Delta Theta, 32-18 last Wednesday at the Pavilion. J. S. C. won the foul shooting, 11-7.

Art Sasaki and Yamaka worked good at forwards. Kanazawa was at center, A Suzuki and Ogura and Okubo alternated at guard.

The Japanese were leading in the first half, but lack of reserves was an important factor in the final defeat.

JAPANESE DOWNS GREEK WRESTLER

Fujita Takes Two Falls to Victory Over Mat Opponent

Before a packed house of more than five hundred people, with several hundred more being turned away from the turnstiles, Y. Fujita, fourth grade black belt Judo artist and middle-weight wrestler, took two falls to victory over Jimmy the Greek at the wrestling show held at the Nippon Kan on Wednesday evening.

Jimmy the Greek, who weighs more than 195 pounds and is a giant in stature, was unable to do anything with the comparatively diminutive Japanese. The audience was surprised to see such a mountain of a man matched with a middle weight. The fears of the audience, however, soon faded away with the first hold that Fujita made on his opponent.

Fujita Throws Greek

In the first fall-match, the contest was mixed Judo and wrestling. As the gong sounded Fujita calmly walked to the center of the ring and gripping the neck and arm of the Greek threw him with full force to the floor.

Before the loud acclamations of the crowd had died down the Japanese again threw his opponent to the mat with a judo hold and kept repeating the tactic until it was evident that the Greek was well nigh exhausted. Then Fujita threw him for the final fall and holding the giant down won the match with an arm hold.

Displays Agility

In taking the second fall, the match was contested in the time-honored catch-as-catch-can style. This time Fujita was faced with some difficulty, but the Japanese Sonnenberg rushed his opponent and toppling him displayed some surprise by his adeptness in working half-Nelsons, toe-holds and armlocks. Every time the Greek rose Fujita rose a second ahead of him to rush him for a down.

After twenty minutes of this wrangling Fujita, turning his man over, took an arm lock and pinned his man to the mat to win the fall.

Fujita, it was learned, will soon meet the world's middle weight champ in Chicago.

TAIYOS WILL FACE BALLARD GRIDSTERS IN TILT TOMORROW

Tacs Lose Battle to University A. C.
25-0 Last Sunday, Via
Aerial Route

TAFT BEPPU INJURED

In what is expected to be a fast game, the Taiyos will make their fourth start against the strong Ballard eleven at the Civic Auditorium tomorrow, at 11 a. m.

Although the Japanese eleven has been battered and weakened by injuries in last week's game, probably the same lineup, with the exception of Taft Beppu at left end, will face the Ballard gridders. In tomorrow's game Johnny Funai, veteran quarterback, will undoubtedly be back in the game to scheme out the tactics of the game in cooperation with Coach Burk.

The return of Henry Kono to the eleven has been a strengthening factor for the Japanese eleven, and with Tomeo Takayoshi and Frank Sugiyama holding down tackle posts, the Japanese eleven is expected to make the game exciting for the heavy Ballard boys.

Outweighed by at least fifteen pounds to the man, the Taiyos lost 25-0, to the invincible University A. C. gridiron squad last Sunday. The feature of the game was the expert passing of the University eleven who resorted to this tactic after it was found out by them that it was well nigh impossible to pierce the light Japanese line. The playing of Beppu, who was injured, Takayoshi and Sugiyama featured in the line work in holding the heavy backs of the opposition.

Kenji Kawaguchi, young center of the Taiyos, held down his pivot berth in stellar style while Kiba at quarter also showed to advantage. In the backfield Henry Kono and Sugiyama who was shifted to full during the game, turned in a stellar game.

ROY YOKOTA WINS PORTLAND TOURNEY

George Okuda Is Runner-Up in Oregon Golf Contest

PORTLAND. — Roy Yokota, local all-around athlete, won the championship of the Portland Japanese Golf Club's Mount Shukson Trophy tournament last Sunday, by defeating George Okuda one up for the cup.

Up to the 18th hole both were even. Okuda's approach shot was less than two feet from the hole while Yokota's ball was ten feet away. Okuda missed his putt and Yokota sunk his long putt to cinch the trophy.

The new champion won on default from Y. Hachiya in the elimination round. He defeated George Ochikubo, 4-3 in the quarter-finals and won from George Makino, 3-2 in the semi-final.

Mount Shukson Trophy was donated by Dr. Benji Tanaka in the memory of the late K. Furuya who lost his life on Mount Shukson this summer.

The trophy is a large silver loving cup with the emblem of a golfer and stands thirty odd inches high. This cup will be in the possession of the winner each year.

NIPPONS LOSE TO ATLANTIC STREET GRID ELEVEN 19-0

N. A. C. Threatens In Third Quarter
But Fails to Score When Pass Intercepted.

KUNIYUKI MAKES DEBUT

by "Chops" Umemoto

The Nippons made their first appearance on the Civic Auditorium field last Sunday morning against the strong Atlantic Street Merchants in a game that was a battle all the way through. Nippon's passing attack endangered the opponents' goal frequently.

Atlantic Street got its first touchdown in the first quarter by intercepting a long pass, Hamada to Watanabe. From then on to the third quarter the Nippons held their opponents scoreless. In the third quarter the Atlantic Street again crossed the Nippon's goal by power plays through the center of the line and again scored in the fourth quarter by another intercepted forward pass. The final count was Atlantic St. 19, Nippons 0.

Nippons Threaten

The Nippons threatened in the third quarter by carrying the pigskin to the enemy's fifteen yard line, only to lose it by having a pass intercepted. Although the Nippons completed many forward passes they could not seem to complete the passes when completion meant a score.

Yukio Kuniyuki, the versatile athlete, made his debut in the game Sunday and proved to the fans that he is a triple threat man. His passing, running and kicking makes him a dangerous man and his experience will aid the team too.

In the backfield Yukio Kuniyuki, Hamada and Natori looked good and was ably assisted by Kats Nakayama, who also made his debut as a quarterback Sunday.

Line Men Look Good

On the line Kaz Arai, Paul Muraoka and Kenji Hamada looked good.

The starting line-up: Watanabe and Aoki, ends; Muraoka and K. Arai, tackles; K. Hamada and Hsuke Yoshimura, guards; Tom Sakai, center; In the backfield, Hamada, quarter; Yukio Kuniyuki and Tsukuno at halves; Miyagawa at full.

Substitutions: Kats Nakayama at quarter and Natori and Seki halves. Okubo, and Ihashi ends, A. Suzuki and Hatori guard and tackle.

THE COURIER, established January 1, 1928, shall be published with a close regard to the general principle of Truth, Justice and Tolerance, for: in the associations between nations as among mankind, truth is the compelling force of justice, the administration of which shall respond to a just call of tolerance. THE CROSS-CURRENTS

The bright luster of world peace is neither manifested nor reflected in the tonnage of armaments but in the unraveling, it lights the way of the cross currents underlying the slow and tedious work of naval disarmament.

Already it is known what the London naval reductions conference will be forced to face when it convenes in January. The question of parity which will come up to form, through its solution, the sound principle of security is a difficult one which will require not only the wise and patient judgment of nations but an understanding of the causes which have aroused suspicions and, consequently, competition in armaments. It is gratifying to note that the conference will begin with the Kellogg-Briand anti war pact as the basis for the parley. If war is an outlawed instrument of national policy suspicions tending to make use of that out lawed means of settling international disputes should be forced elimination. Thereupon the crossed wires of international affairs bearing such influence upon armaments competition and building might be given the opportunity to run parallel in the channels of peace.

National security is based upon parity and parity is so correlated with security that it becomes a principle of the former. No question of parity can be decided without first consulting the basis of security and there is no such thing as security unless there be parity. There is no such applied principle of security and parity, as yet, and the only measurement which can gauge the degree lies in the good-will and understanding between nations. London parley, if it is merely to work for the reduction of navies without setting free the crossed wires of suspicions will not be attaining the end it seeks.

The American Yard Stick plan is as good as any that might be proposed to equalize the naval armaments of the world but applying it purely as an adjustment of naval standards will not work for the best results. The Yard Stick plan is the most reasonable and just one to make for a parity of navies but where there are suspicions as to security equalization there are differences of opinion. If the degree of suspicions and the degree of good-will could be measured, the plan is a good one.

The London conference is, undoubtedly, a necessary one but in order to reap the fruits of success it is a sorry lack that a preliminary conference to make for a better economic understanding could not have been sponsored. However, if this coming parley will take the interest it will in world peace, through its proceedings, the gathering should work to the fundamentals and clear away some of the suspicions that will make possible a definition of parity which will be acceptable to every nation. The task is a mighty one but if the roots of suspicion should be eradicated, disarmament should follow naturally without the undercurrents of fear and imperialistic designs. The unraveling of the cross currents of international affairs and suspicions is essential in any work of world peace.

THE SEATTLE Progressive Citizens' League will go to bat when next Saturday rolls around. What it will discuss and what it will plan on doing for the National Council of Japanese-American Citizens Leagues convention to be held here next summer, will have a great bearing on the ultimate success of that gathering next year. The local league has a heavy burden to bear. The success of the convention does not merely mean a feather in the hat of the local organization but it will be an influencing process in welding the Japanese-American votes toward an intelligently common end. Another end that the convention will give indication of accomplishing is to stimulate the interest in politics and the participation in political activities as the inherent right of American Citizens. Next Saturday night's meeting should be the root of a successful convention.

MARRIAGE is a sacred institution of society in which the interested individuals make their vows of troth in union and it should not be mistaken as a bartering principle of dames and men with price tags and long pedigrees. It is understood that parents feel for the best interest of their offsprings just as an offspring can call no other his father than his own. The interest is natural as the love and feeling are mutual. Yet it remains a question whether that parental interest should step outside of the bounds of the nature of advice and assume a dictatorial character in regard to marriage. That is, probably, to which the young people of this community take so much exception, when asked whether they favor the middle man or go between in their marriage. The best way is to have a go between if one desires it and not to have it if one does not but to form a policy of that nature in regard to marriage is not only contradictory to the young people here but it would be wrecked on the rocks of anti-pathy.

The psychology of the girl on Main Street does not differ so much from that of the girl on Broadway. Even Main Street may blossom out to be a Broadway, someday.

Some people can do a lot of talking to correct the young people but everyone knows, Charity starts from home.

POST MORTEM

Everything and Nothing

Everywhere and Nowhere

By TOM ARAI

KING TUT PIE

My stomach speedometer functioned low,
 And my appetite ran high;
 So I took the road to contentment,
 In quest of coffee and pie.

The hangout that I had in mind,
 Was surrounded by nature grand;
 With the waterfront as a background,
 In front of a salt-herring stand.

A pawnshop owned by a Hebrew,
 Was located to the right;
 With the undertaker on the left,
 The scenery was "out of sight".

The joint was runned by One-eyed Mike,
 Who always bragged about his chow;
 As a cook, he was an ideal plumber,
 A mystery, he managed somehow.

His stand-by food was Mystery of Life,
 That is commonly known as hash;
 He trusted in God as long as he got,
 Exchange over counter in cash.

Foods of variety he did sling,
 But his specialty gilt was pie;
 At times he'd leave the filling out,
 When cost of fruit was high.

The pies were customary to be seen,
 Chaperoned by a fork and plate;
 But if humor of Mike was on the blink,
 Oh salvation ---- know thy fate!

Like Columbus I took a chance of life,
 And ordered his well known pie;
 I manipulated my fork in vain,
 When it crumpled, I heaved a sigh.

Politely I asked old One-eyed Mike,
 Whether rheumatism fated the pie;
 With lumbagoed throat he looked at me,
 Peering out of his useless eye.

"I made pies before you were born!",
 He roared to me, and how;
 But he calmed himself and scratched his head,
 When I said, "Why sell them now?"

TALK ABOUT A DUMB GOOF ---- HE THOUGHT "LOHENGRI" WAS A FAMOUS PUGILIST WHO ALWAYS STRUCK LOW AND LAUGHED.

WEAK MINDS, AND BOSS

The fairer sex 'tis fairer true,
 And true they're like the weather;
 Like the weather they are changing too,
 Their minds, no reason, whatsoever.

Did you ever notice the weaker sex,
 The fuss they make of their hair;
 The way they scratch around the bush,
 Drives any mother to despair.

They follow hair modes of Hollywood,
 When somebody else shows well;
 They copy it regardless of their type,
 And they look like-I won't tell.

When Bob hair struck the headlines,
 It certainly became the rage;
 All girls asked who "Bobby" was,
 Showing dumbness thru adage.

After the Bob was established,
 Girls found Bob of Dido fame;
 Then changed their minds to Titian,
 Sport, Newport and Ojofie in vain.

The Elite Bob they familiarized,
 As easily as they forgot the curls;
 Collegiate and Lorelie came to fore,
 To subdue the Sculpture Swirl.

Its a wonder how the girls do change,
 To all varieties of Bobs;
 And unable to get them all at once,
 Being impossible and they sob.

Not satisfied with classified,
 They try the Windblown form;
 If I'm not wrong in telling the truth,
 They look like the aftermath of storm.

Natural Bob is what they boast,
 But they keep on changing minds;
 And after scratching their heads a bit,
 They resemble a porcupine.

If essential is beautiful healthy hair,
 For the latest Bob hair modes;
 Rub your scalp with dynamite,
 And let the roaches explode.

A guarantee that it enhances life,
 Lustre and beauty of the hair;
 'Tis true if followed as said above,
 My little girl debonnaire.

Now girls remember don't be vain,
 If hair is your only pride;
 Convey your regards to Barber's Itch,
 And just try SUICIDE!

To progress the work of the League for the betterment of the community and to forward the principle of a common understanding and unity among the younger people, was the trend taken in the first business meeting of Youth League in the Japanese Chamber of Commerce building Wednesday evening.

A., secretary of the League, was appointed, as already announced, the chairman pro tempore of the educational department; Kimiko Takayoshi, chairman of the Social department; Mrs. Theodore Takahashi, chairman of the music department and Clarence Aral, chairman of the religious education department.

These chairmen are in turn to serve as the membership committee of which Theodore Takahashi, vice-president of the League, is the chairman. Besides these appointments, recommendations for a financial secretary was also made with other nominations to follow. The recommendation made at the meeting, which was adjourned until Sunday evening, was that of Shiro Hashiguchi for financial secretary.

Recommendations also followed for the delegates at large to be on the executive board. They were as follows: Thomas Ogawa, Sumiko Shimizu, Dr. K. Fukuda and George Ishihara. Other nominations are expected to follow.

In view of the fact that the Youth League has found the necessity for suitable headquarters, plans are now in progress to negotiate for the Seattle Academy of Music hall in the Japanese Chamber of Commerce building at which place the Youth League services are being held.

JAY ESSE

If the second generation needs a middle man, there should be no one to gainsay him, or her, but if they should make their own selections according to their own interests and ideals, that should be one which must be looked upon by the parents with a tolerant eye and understanding.

The fact that the parents are now coming to the discussion boards on this question is hopeful indeed, in that they are endeavoring to ask a way for a better understanding with their sons and daughters. This is a paramount question in this community and the understanding between them should solve it, as better and warmer home ties would result from a genuine solution of this problem.

FAMOUS DIVA TO SING HERE

Known throughout the world as the one and only Madame Butterfly, Japan's famous operatic singer, Tamaki, Miura is to arrive in this city on Nov. 8, and will sing Pagliacci's celebrated selection at Nippon Kan on that evening from 8 p. m.

The noted singer, whose greatest role has been as Madame Butterfly in the Metropolitan and San Carlo opera companies recently starred in the role of Namiko-san in an opera of that name composed by Franchetti, which has been termed a success in Chicago.

Her coming appearance here is to be for the benefit of the Shoniyen Kindergarten. At present he is touring California on a concert tour.

TALENTED PIANIST WILL MAKE DEBUT

Sachiko Ochi To Appear in Concert At Nippon Kan

In what is destined to be the premiere showing and a highlight of the Japanese community concert season, a second generation girl, product of this city, will make her debut in piano recital at the Nippon Kan Hall on Friday, Nov. 15, from 8 p. m.

This talented young girl is a quiet unassuming pianist whose talent has been developed by the late Boyd Wills who saw fine possibilities in the young Japanese girl. Mr. Wills, who is known in this city as one of the leading piano instructors and who passed away in California in September, had taken two years to plan out a recital for his pupil with a special piano composition to be played by her.

At the present time Sachiko is a student at the Franklin High School where she is a junior. Music is one of her subjects in which she gives a great deal of her time and study.

In her recital the first Seattle Japanese girls to make her debut in the piano concert world will render classics, whose mastery has taken her a number of years. Among them are "Sonata Sixteen", Mozart; "Song Without Words", Mendelssohn; "Perpetual Motion", Weber; "A Scotch Idyll", Boyd Wills; "Concert-stuck", Weber, with orchestra accompaniment directed by Miyashita; and two Japanese numbers, "Genroku-nami Odori" and "Echigo Jishi" by Sawada.

SALMAGUNDI

By W. T. S.

DESPITE the fact that Pare Lorentz called it a collection of very bad vaudeville acts "The Hollywood Revue of 1929" was a film quite worth the seeing.

Galaxy of stars . . . Orange Blossom Time . . . Albertina Rasch ballet . . . Ukulele Ike . . . songs and still more songs . . .

Somehow, Buster Keaton's Cleopatra dance reminded me of Katsumi Nakayama's interpretation of the one and only Itch-My-Toe. (Nize feller, Kats, gives me-inspiration for lots to write in these columns).

But coming back to the Revue, folks, didn't you like that Chinese Fox-trot that they sang over and over as the theme song? Don't you remember, it was called "SING ENG IN THE RAIN"?

"THE YANKS are coming!" shouted the dentist as he set about to work. Some minutes later my system felt a strange and aching void . . . two of my wisdom teeth were out.

Alas, alas, does this mean that I shall have no more wisdom?

Queer that in Japan, wisdom teeth should be known as "oya-shirazu". Literally translated, they might be called, "don't know papa teeth".

ACCORDING to Retsu Kiyozawa, noted journalist, some people in Japan have the idea that they are THE superior people, the cream in the world's coffee . . .

And the following is the naive version of the Creation that they give to substantiate their belief:

IN THE BEGINNING the Maker was busy on a scientific experiment, to wit, the creation of man.

First he took some mud, kneaded it, and put it into the great, eternal oven. But he left it in too long and when he took it out, it was . . . black.

Again he took some mud, kneaded

it, and put it into the oven. But this time, he took it out too soon, and it was . . . too white.

The third time he took some mud, kneaded it, and put it in the oven. This time he took it out at just the right time and it was . . . nice and crisp and brown. The Maker looked at it, said "That's perfect!" and lo, it was the Japanese people.

MORAL: Bakers knead dough just to make bread, but the rest of us need dough all the time.

QUEENIE SAGARA is a smart kewpie doll in many and varied ways. But the following is one joke that she couldn't catch onto, tho she puzzled and puzzled and puzzled.

Sheik: "You know, I went out with a professional mind-reader the other day . . ."

Friend: "How did she enjoy her vacation?"

EVER HEAR the Girls' Club yell? No? They always give it at their bridge-parties and tiddly-winks tournaments.

Ready? Altogether now:

"Don't be bashful,
Don't be shy,
Everybody join in
The Girls' Club cry:

We've got wit,
We've got grit,
We've got everything,
Even IT!"

"COME AND SEE Art Sasaki make love," say the Young Ladies of the Methodist Church, as they advertise the entertainment that they're going to give on November 15th at their church.
