HOOVER PROPOSAL FOR NEW WARFARE RULE WINS PRAISE

Many Senate Leaders Favor Proposition To Safeguard Foodships From Shell Fires Of Enemy Ships.

FOREIGN PRESS LAUDS

WASHINGTON, D. C., — The Armistice Day address by President Hoover, in which he proposed a new rule for warfare in which foodships might be safeguarded from attack, is winning much favorable comment here.

The women and children of the world have suffered undue hardships and starvation from the ravages of war, the American President said in his address, and his proposition to safeguard foodships from the shell fire of enemy ships is being given much thought. Many Senate leaders are highly in favor of the proposition for this new rule of warfare, while there are many who feel that the President did not go far enough, in that it was not implied that the proposition would be inserted in the agenda of the naval reductions conference to be held in London in January.

America Willing

The President said that America is willing to reduce to the minimum in naval tonnages and that no minimum would be satisfactory enough to the United States. A practical step toward making world peace permanent is necessary but in case of war the women and children should be spared the rigors of starvation through effecting some rule for the protection of food ships.

Comments coming here from the London press seem inclined to favor the President's view but one paper, The Daily Telegraph sees a difficulty in forming the rule for such a protection. The Italian and French press seem also inclined to side along with the American President's view and in many cases the opinions eulogize President Hoover as sounding out a strong note for permanent world peace and for the cause of humanity.

Trend in Diplomacy

Moving over to the Washington Auditorium after his Armistice Day speech in the Senate, President Hoover addressed a large gathering of the American Legion at which time he emphasized the new trend in diplomacy toward world peace. This new vision of world peace, he said, is even more powerful than the armaments of the world or any suspicion tending to make for war.

Nations have a moral defense which, he said, is a powerful defense from aggression and that the new vision in world diplomacy helped to make it a substantial defense which saw no great necessity for large armaments.

PARIS ASSEMBLY CHEERS BRIAND

PARIS. — Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, of the new Tradieu cabinet, scored what political observers here claim to be a moral victory over his enemies who were practically responsible in overthrowing his government on Oct. 22.

Stating his foreign policies before the Chamber of Deputies, M. Briand was cheered to the roof top by almost the entire assemblage. He said that a few months more or less of French occupation in the Rhineland meant little since France was assured of her returns from Germany through the Young plan.

England Will Slow Singapore Base Job

LONDON. — With the five power naval reductions conference to take place here two months from now, Britain has decided to slow down work on the British naval base at Singapore, it was learned, when the House of Commons was told Wednesday by A. V. Alexander, first Lord of the Admiralty, that the suspension would start almost immediately.

Since the Anglo-American agreement has now terminated successfully for both nations and with the other powers signifying their intention to attend the conference, the work on the Singapore naval base could well be slowed down, said Minister Alexander.

'Cho-Cho San' Thrills Crowd

That Madame Tamaki Miura is still the Madame Butterfly of old was given striking revelation at the Shonien Benefit concert at the Nippon Kan Hall, last Friday evening.

Acting Puccini's famous opera by herself in English and Japanese to give an outline dramatization of the Expectation aria and the Death aria, Madame Miura then rendered the two acts in Japanese. This was the first time it was ever attempted by her in Japanese before an audience of any sort.

All the pathos and heart thrills were brought out in the Japanese version and it was easy to note that Madame Miura is still the "one and only" Madame Butterfly of the operatic stage.

PACIFIC RELATIONS INSTITUTE CLOSES

Conference Proves Important Agency For Japan-China Amity

KYOTO. — The first Pacific Institute conference to be held in Japan, which closed last Saturday evening, has now gone down in the records as having been one of the best agencies of friendship and understanding between China and this country.

At the banquet tendered the Japanese hosts by the overseas delegates to the conference, it became markedly clear that the friendly discussions held by the Japanese and Chinese delegates were greatly helpful toward establishing a better understanding between the leaders of both nations.

Brings Out Sympathy

In many instances neither of the Japanese nor Chinese delegates had met before but being brought together around the conference board, the problems each has had to face has brought out sympathy and understanding as to become better acquainted.

During the course of the banquet it was significant that many of the Japanese and Chinese attendants were graduates of American universities and the songs of college days sung by the entire audience served to bring the delegates all into a common bond of fraternity, especially the Chinese and Japanese.

Friendship Begun

Both peoples mingled freely with each other and the friendships struck up then by them have served as a revelation to each other, it seemed.

The Institute of Pacific Relations, which meets bi-annually, was in session here for ten days and the next meeting is to be held in China in 1931.

French Deny Rumor Of Evacuation Halt

PARIS. — Incoming news from Berlin stating that the new Minister of War, Andre Maginot, has ordered the suspension of the Rhineland evacuation by French troops, has given rise to an official denial.

It was stated in the announcement that the movement of troops in the Rhineland to meet certain emergencies might have aroused the supposition that the Rhineland evacuation has been postponed but that this was merely to expedite the removal of French troops from the district to prepare for evacuation.

Money Mart Quiet; Bond Issue Inactive

Commercial Cable News

TOKIO. — The money market is quiet. The issue of bonds and debentures became inactive in consideration of the advancing trend of the interest yields. The stock market is holding the quotations without much fluctuation as the seller's market was over.

The exchange rate of yen continually advanced and the quotation on the United States at the end of the month was $47 1-2 per 100 Yen. Industrial enterprises were kept quiet.

The capitals spent during September aggregated 43,000,000 Yen for the newly established corporations and 57,800,000 Yen for expansion, the total representing 1116 corporations altogether.

PEOPLE'S ARMY IN GAS ATTACK ROUTS NANKING SOLDIERS

Planes and Tanks Now Being Employed By Both Sides But Gas Is Used For First Time.

FENG SHOWS STRENGTH

SHANGHAI. — The civil strife in China now takes a complicated turn and the warfare is now being carried along with the more modern agencies of war.

Armistice Day meant little to either the nationalist forces or the Kuomintang or People's army which is being led by Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang. The southern part of Honan province, the stronghold of the Christian general Feng, is a scene of heavy military entrenchments and barricades.

Though the forces have been fighting for the past several weeks without much change of fortune, the Feng army has resorted to gas attack and on Tuesday's fighting the nationalist soldiers were routed by this new turn from the ordinary style of battle. Both armies are now using planes and tanks and according to last report President Chang Kai-shek of the Nanking government, who is commanding his forces, has begun making an immediate search for gas masks to ward off the attack now being used by the enemy.

So far there is little to choose between the two armies but if anything the People's army is to be granted the advantage from the reports. Where the Christian general got his machine guns, airplanes and tanks remains a mystery but if the despatches are to be lent any significance of truth, he is making good use of them.

Reinforcements to the People's army are coming in from Hupeh province while on the other hand the men and officers of the nationalist forces are reported to be deserting. The majority of these deserters, it is said, are forming into bandit groups and though they do not turn against the army they were once recognized with the country side is being pillaged by these renegades.

PARIS. — Prohibition evidently will not work in France if the signs as shown in the Ford factory at St. Quen nearby are to be taken for what it is worth.

A great many of the workers have been approached to sign the pledges not to take their customary noon-day glass of red wine but so far but a few have signed it. Almost the entire number of workmen seem adverse to stop drinking their wine at lunch.

Noted People To Distinguish League Dance

With a number of the prominent citizens and business people of the city attending with their wives, the local Citizens' League will dance to the tunes emanating from Carper's well known orchestra at the Seattle Yacht Club on Thanksgiving eve.

Although it has not been definitely announced as yet, Mayor Frank Edwards in company with Mrs. Edwards may be in attendance as a patron and patroness of the annual event.

Mr. A. A. Murphy, president, Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Murphy; Mr. J. W. Spangler, Chairman of Executive Committee, First Seattle Dexter Horton National Bank and Mrs. Spangler; Mr. Wylie Hemphill, vice-president, National Bank of Commerce, and Mrs. Hemphill together with two other prominent names, it is known, are to be the patrons and patronesses of the dance.

Next week a complete list of patrons and patronesses and the guests will be published.

CITIZENS' LEAGUE WILL HOLD DANCE

Seattle Yacht Club Chosen As Site For Annual Event

As a grand climax to its activities for the year, the Seattle Progressive Citizens' League is to sponsor its annual dance and get-together at the exclusive Seattle Yacht Club on Thanksgiving eve from 8:30 p. m.

This annual event, which was inaugurated last year, was intended to bring the League and the community closer together and to establish a connecting link of association with the other parts of the city. Last year the dance was held at the Smith Building but owing to the policy adopted from the first to hold the event in various sections of the city each year, the Seattle Yacht Club was selected this year by Tomeo Takayoshi social chairman.

Bigger Event

This year the annual event is expected to be a larger one than the one held last year as it is expected that a larger number of citizens will be out to welcome the community folks. This is due chiefly to the reason that there are many more bodeclara-Ilaa SHRDLU young people who have reached their majority and thereby qualified for entrance to the League as either members or associate members.

According to the League constitution people who are eighteen and above but who have not as yet attained majority are considered as associate members while the rest who have attained majority are classed as members of the League.

More Members

Each year the number of the citizens reaching majority is growing and this year at least one hundred more are expected to be added to the list. Two hundred more associate members should also qualify for League membership, it is estimated. The admission to the dance is set for $1.50 per couple and ladies alone at 75 cents.

MANY SUFFERINGS CAUSED AS RESULT OF EXCLUSION LAW

Measure Proves Grave Menace To Society And Home of Japanese Now Living In United States

FAMILIES ARE SEPARATED

By JAY ESSE

What the American immigration policy toward Japan has accomplished might not be weighed only by the term and practice of exclusion, but aside from the cool reasonings of legislation, it is apparent that the Japanese Exclusion Law has invoked some human sufferings on both sides of the Pacific for which there is no immediate remedy.

Five years have now passed by since the ban on Japanese immigration went into effect and the first signs of suffering among Japanese parents and children are now beginning to show. The Law in itself did not intend to cause the suffering that only parents and children separated from each other can understand, but the reaction to its institution is coming out in a way as to menace the society and the home of the Japanese living in America.

Many Cases Tragic

Recently in Yakima a little Japanese boy, seeking to comfort his father who lay ill in bed, with the warmth of an oil stove, tripped over and was burned to death. The father rose to extinguish the flames but too late to save his son. This boy was the only one of the family here, but in Japan the father has another elder son.

Fifteen or twenty years ago, his wife had returned to Japan to give birth to this elder son around more congenial surroundings and left him there to await their call to America after they were better established and in a position to give him the benefits of a home-like environment. Today this couple has a comfortable home and a well-to-do business and intend to bury their bones in this country.

Law Is Barrier

That lone son in Japan, however, is separated from his parents for ever, if the parents do not return to their native land again. The Exclusion Law stands as the barrier to this happy home reunion.

That is but one case out of hundreds. Then there are many young people here whose parents are already dead. Many of them have sisters or brothers born in Japan and brought up under the care of their grandparents but who also have long since passed away. These people in Japan are alone, in many cases, with homes they might have had if their brothers and sisters were with them. The brothers and sisters in America the majority of whom were born there, might and they, from Japan cannot go there.

Man Lives Alone

Then again, there is the case of the young man who came here as a young man leaving his wife in Japan under the care of his parents intending to call her later after he could have his business and home for himself and his mate. Today he is well-to-do and lives alone, in the home he expected to have his wife share with him. His wife is still in Japan. He has made a trip back there to see her but after six months his business called and the term of visit expired and he is again in this country all alone. Alone, because of the Exclusion Law.

There are number of other incidents and phases of the suffering that the Japanese people are going through, today. With the oncoming years this suffering cannot be lessened unless some remedy is applied but that prescription can only come through the annulment of the Exclusion Law or by stretching its clause to a more lenient interpretation.

COUGARS BOW TO TAIYO JR. ELEVEN IN UPSET BATTLE

Iwana Carries Pigskin For Touchdown In Gridiron Classic At Garfield

BELLEVUE GRIDDERS WIN

Upsetting the dope in what turned out to be a gridiron classic a strong Cougar eleven went down to a heart rending defeat before the plunges of the Taiyo Junior team in the championship tilt of The Courier Football League at Garfield last Sunday.

With more than a thousand fans lined up on both sides of the field to witness the contest, the Juniors plunged and passed from the middle of the field in the first quarter, to carry the pigskin over the line for the only score of the game. In the first game, three weeks back, when the Cougars and the Juniors met the game ended up in a tie but at that time the offensive strength of the former eleven showed to considerable advantage over that of the Taiyo boys. In a second meeting the Cougars were expected to win. That was the dope but the well trained Junior eleven plunged on to victory in the first quarter.

Dope Is Spilled

The Taiyos started off with a rush and from mid-field in a series of plunges the ball was carried down to the Cougar forty yard line. Saburo Iwana scintillated in the rushes. Here the Juniors heaved the ball for a twenty yard gain and from there the ball was carried down to the five yard line. The Cougar line stiffened. Three downs and the Juniors had only made but a yard toward the goal. On the last down in desperate rush with Iwana carrying ball the Juniors smashed through and the only touchdown of the game resulted.

For the next three quarters the Cougars livened up but the punch was missing.

Bellevue Wins Tilt

The preliminary contest was not as close as predicted, the Bellevue boys having a slight edge in both the line and backfield.

The interference of M. Tominaga paved the way for several long end runs by the two halves who each scored a touchdown; while Sakaguchi's line plunges carried the ball over twice to add to the counter.

The line held strongly, especially the tackles and ends who displayed some effective tackling. Aramaki, the Bellevue end, made the only try for point, totalling the score twenty-five to nothing. On the whole the team was in perfect coordination.

The Lotus team put up a stiff fight with Sakano and Sonoda carrying the ball for gains. The absence of Nobu Saito, star half back on the Lotus eleven, was keenly felt.

Grid Banquet Is Postponed

The Courier Football League banquet announced last week has now been postponed until the coming Tuesday, Nov. 19, at which time The Courier Trophy will be presented to the Taiyo Juniors who won the championship tilt against the Cougars.

Bobby Morris well known football authority and referee will be the main speaker.

All reservations should be turned into The Courier office at latest by Monday afternoon. The dinner is to be held at the Nikko Low from 6 p. m.

NIPPON GRIDSTERS SLIP SUNDAY TILT TO BROADWAY A.C.

N. A. C. Lacks Punch To Score At Crucial Moments; Wet Field Hinders

OKUBO SHOWS UP WELL

by "Chops" Umemoto

Playing on a slippery field, the Nippon Athletic Club lost a tough game to Broadway, last Sunday, 13-0.

In the first quarter Nippons received the kickoff and returned to their own 15 yard line. A couple of line plays were then tried with no yardage gained. Saki Arai dropped back to punt formation and punted, but the kick was blocked and a Broadway player fell on the ball over the goal for a touchdown.

Pass Is Intercepted

Again the Nippons chose to receive and this time they returned the ball to the 30 yard line but could not gain through the Broadway line. A pass was tried, but it was intercepted by Peterson, one of the Broadway's backs, and he took the ball to the 20 yard line. Broadway tried some line plays, the Nippon line held, but a pass, Budnick to Peterson was good for a touchdown.

From the second quarter the Nippons tightened up and were pushing their opponents throughout the rest of the contest. Some nice gains were made by Saki on fake punt formations, and also through the tackles. The Nippons twice had chances to score but the punch was lacking, and due to the wet ball some of the passes which otherwise would have been complete were too short. Broadway intercepted many of these passes and Nippon's chance to score went with the ball.

Okubo Plays Well

On the line Okubo played a wonderful defensive game at end, giving plenty of trouble to Broadway's interference on end runs and continually throwing them for a loss. Take-shita was good too, breaking up many of the line plays.

In the backfield, Kuniyuki, Hamada and Saki played a good game. Kuniyuki's punting was exceptionally good.

Starting line-up center, Yoshimura; guards, Arai and Takeshita; tackles, Kaz Arai and Frank Hattori; ends, Okubo and Ihashi; half-backs, Saki Arai and Kuniyuki; full, Sam Aoki; quarter, Kats Nakayama. Substitutions: backfield, Hamada, Hank Arai. On the line, Kenji Hamada, Sakai, Sus Watanabe, Tommy Sakai, Tommy Hiranaka and Fatima Sakano.

Football is fast becoming a popular sport in Hawaii. Native boys play the game in their bare feet.

Taft Toribara 'Big' Manager

"Little" Taft Toribara, 3 ft. 6 in, is the "big" manager of the Franklin Hi freshman football squad.

This team has won every game so far played. Taft deserves a lot of credit for his initiative, and is a popular boy. He is only 12 years old.

HUSKIES TO MEET CALIFORNIA SQUAD

Purple and Gold Gridders Start Ambitious Road Trip

With two hard games facing them, thirty-three University of Washington players left Wednesday for a 5,500-mile road trip to Berkeley and Chicago.

The Huskies are off on the most ambitious two-week campaign in Coast Conference history, and today they are facing the California Golden Bears in the latter's stadium. They will meet Chicago at Chicago on November 23.

The Purple and Gold eleven is in a dangerous frame of mind, with nothing to lose and everything to gain, and they are out to redeem a season of disappointments at the expense of the Bears and the Maroons of Chicago.

N. A. C. PLAYS

By SATOSHI HOSHI

At Broadway playfield last Sunday I was at the football game. The two teams that played were the N. A. C. and the Broadway C. H. Wells.

It started about 12:30 p. m. Broadway won by the score of 13 to 0. The touchdown was made by a block punt a man caught it and made a touchdown. For try for point they nearly made it. The end of the second half the Nippon held the Broadway line from a touchdown.

After a while it began to rain or hail and the players were pushed into the mud and their faces were covered up with mud and all were soaked with water. One neat pass was thrown to a man and a husky man was in front of him and fumbled it. At the end we went home.

TAIYOS DRAW BYE TO HOLD WORKOUT ON COMING SUNDAY

Tacs Bow To South End Eleven; Takayoshi, Kawaguchi, Aoki Shine in Tilt

ABSENTEES TO RETURN

Drawing a bye in their Independent League schedule tomorrow, the Taiyo gridiron squad will engage in drilling and practice for their coming game next Sunday which will be the last one until they meet the Nippons in the classic of the season on December 1.

With four regulars out of the lineup last Sunday, the Taiyos went down to defeat before the South End eleven but the showing was not one with which even the most rabid of fans could not find fault.

Strengthen Backfield

The practice tomorrow undoubtedly will be to strengthen the backfield in the kicking and passing elements of the game. Sugiyama who was out of the game last Sunday will be out in his suit again, while Beppu, Funai and Hirose will also be out to line up with the boys.

With Kiba and Kaname Kuniyuki the only two regulars in the backfield, the Taiyos were taken down the line by the South End eleven, but the one satisfaction was that it really showed the real strength of the second line. Sugiyama's services were greatly missed as well as that of Hirose. In the line the absence of Beppu seemed to be keenly felt.

Outstanding Stars

Tom Takayoshi's playing and Kenji Kawaguchi's versatile activities stood out prominently while Tatsue Aoki was a tower of strength in the second line defense.

Tomorrow Coach Burk will undoubtedly have the entire team out on the field and secret plays will be gone into in preparation for their big game two weeks hence. The layoff is expected to lessen the injured list and that means that the Taiyos will probably be able to present a full lineup against the Nippons.

AI ARMING, ALARM

If the proddings of common sense could do justice to a basis of reasoning it should now, make it quite apparent that the Exclusion clause in the American immigration law was nothing but a warning which sounded a false alarm.

Besides the rigors of human woe exacted from many parents and children, the ban placed upon Japanese immigration has not accomplished as much good as might have been expected but on the contrary, it has created a moral issue between Japan and the United States, much better without being. Today with the Exclusion law in effect, what fair minded American can truthfully say that this country is treating Japan, if you please, on the same level with Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Syria, Greece, Lithuania, Latvia or with any other nations of Europe or of the world. Soviet Russia, has not as yet been recognized by this country but Russia enjoys a certain quota for her immigrants.

Japan and China both enjoy diplomatic relations with the United States but neither of them are privileged to enjoy quotas for their immigrants. Thereby, it cannot be doubted, there is a moral issue between these nations and the United States which leaves open the policy of American immigration toward Oriental nations to questions of favoritism and justice. The inadvertent approach made by the Hanihara note in 1924 may have forced the hand of policy toward the exclusion of the Japanese people but, today, after a calm survey and a cooler perspective on immigration it is not to be gained from the figures that Japanese immigration prior to 1924 and by placing Japan on a quota with all other nations would cause alarm.

From 1907 to 1920 the influx of Japanese immigration to this country was approximately 120,407. During the course of that period, it is estimated, that some 112,919 Japanese residents in the United States returned to Japan. This means that actually in the thirteen years there had been only an influx of some 7,488 Japanese immigrants or 576 immigrants per year.

The Japanese population on the Pacific Coast is somewhere near 139,107, at most, with forty percent or more being American-born-Japanese. It took over fifty years to make this number. What are the figures of Italian immigration in that period of time? What about the French, the German and other races? The Japanese number is insignificant, in comparison.

If Japan had been placed on a quota, as suggested by Mr. Charles Evans Hughes, Secretary of State, under the Coolidge administration, that annual influx of Japanese immigrants would have been but a mere 140. In ten years time this would have meant but that the same number which constituted the Japanese population in America in 1890, would have been allowed to enter. In fifty years time but 7000 Japanese would have been allowed to enter this country. Would it seem possible by these figures that Japanese immigration, placed on quota, could have been objectionable to the American people?

With the large bulk of trade between Japan and the United States, today, that small number would have meant little, if anything, and that little, it is possible to believe, could have inspired a greater Japanese-American trade.

What with some 40 per cent of American-born Japanese among the 139,107 Japanese living here on the Coast and with but 140 Japanese entering this country each year it cannot be doubted but that the interpretation of America to Japan and Japan to this country would have greatly advanced to assure a firmer footing of understanding and friendship which would in its essence imply that this country and Japan would truly qualify to the great measure of leadership in working for a permanent world peace as in making for the coming of the Pacific era.

There is no doubt but that a fair and cool minded survey of the exclusion phase would be nothing but to alarming, alarm.

PRESIDENT HOOVER has sounded out a genuinely humanitarian note in his address on Armistice Day. That is the true stature of an American President. Yet it is not so much in making the foodships immune to the attack of warships and submarines, by international laws, but the closer adherence to the regulations of warfare. Still, how foolish! What man would not try to kill another in anyway possible in a case where it is one man's life or the other. So, too, with nations. No country going to war with another will leave the balance of victory or defeat to scruples. President Hoover's proposition has been a good one. It is another way to say, "Outlaw War and scrap the navies!"

ANOTHER CIVIL STRIFE is now in progress in China, the outcome of which is uncertain. When the present Nanking regime was inducted to office by conquering the Peking faction it seemed that the present Nationalist government had no opposition to feel or that it would be menaced by another revolutionary power. However, the people and soldiery of Honan and Hupeh provinces have been marshalled to what is claimed the people's cause by the Christian general Feng Yu-hsiang. President Chang Kai-shek stood for the nationalist cause but now the people's cause has been created by Gen. Feng. Where the difference lies in a nationalist and people's causes remains to be fathomed as yet, but it is singular that anything going on is the cause of the individual. In China, it seems, it is not the cause but the desire behind the individual.

POST MORTEM

Everything and Nothing
 Everywhere and Nowhere

By TOM ARAI

UP WITH THE CURTAIN OR FATE OF PERSONS BORN BETWEEN NOVEMBER 22 TO DECEMBER 21.

These heirs are inclined to attain their three-score years and ten without serious interruption, but the stars (whether policemen or dry squad is out of question) warn them, however, to beware of falls from high places and accidents from horse-back riding. Why horse-back riding, I don't know, but they sure like the open air and like to travel with a strong taste for wholesome respectability, and mind you, they have their orchestra in a safe place when it comes to eating soup.

In an artistic way, the heirs of Sagittarius are gifted toward music or the occult sciences. Paderewski, Gram O. Fone and Lyre were born under this sign. Their attraction toward the latter usually develops late in life, when they seem to catch glimpses of something beyond, after playing with the stream of Humanity, their youthful sympathy with Nature attaches itself to nature's fellow-men. They love with the same vehemence characteristic of their other impulses, and with the same whole-souled concentration, though their far-reaching sympathy with Humanity is sometimes misconstrued into inconstancy, like the humiliation Limburger receives from its near neighbors in an ice box.

Marriage is a sacred thing in the Sagittarius individual—a state not to be lightly assumed like forthcoming installments on your furniture. Faithful and lofty in mind themselves, they demand the same qualities of the one to whom their soul is given in charge, and neither C. O. D. nor F. O. B.

The flower of Sagittarius is the goldenrod, born of an ever-watchful nature that runs its glint of brightness through even the dullest landscape, and its ray of sunshine through the darkest heart—but just wait they'll "sneeze" just the same sooner or later. Hayfever must be their chief malady called love.

YOUTHFUL PIANIST TO GIVE RECITAL NEXT WEDNESDAY

Sachiko Ochi Will Appear In Concert At Nippon Kan Hall On November 20

PROGRAM OF INTEREST

The program has now been completed and the curtain will finally be rung up on the piano recital to be given by Sachiko Ochi, Franklin high school student, at the Nippon Kan Hall, Wednesday evening, 8 p. m.

Due to the various other activities conflicting with the original date of the recital which was set for Nov. 15, the concert was postponed until Wednesday, Nov. 20. Miss Ochi has been making preparations for this coming concert and according to her present teacher, Paul Pierre McNeely, noted pianist here, she has a program which should open the eyes of many music lovers here. McNeely is highly enthusiastic about his Japanese pupil's playing and predicts a bright future in the concert world for her.

The little Japanese miss is probably one of the first of the second generation girls to attempt a concert limelight and for this reason much interest is being manifested in her coming recital.

There are a few young ladies in this community who have attained distinction through their playing but the majority of these people are inclined in their interest toward the instruction field and Miss Ochi is probably the first to hold a recital to sponsor her way to the concert world limelight.

Blue Monday

By ETHEL FILES

SAN FRANCISCO

I know just what you are thinking. No, this is not the blue Monday you hear over the radio. This is about the Monday that comes after a hard Sunday trying to enjoy oneself.

Did you ever stop to figure out what makes a "Blue Monday?" I am not sure that I have hit the nail on the head, but this is my idea of what causes a "Blue Monday."

We come to work or school Monday morning all tired out and it seems that everything goes wrong. Why are we tired and cannot think? Why does everything go wrong? Because the day before, being Sunday, is spent trying to find some diversion.

All Tuckered Out

If we are, as we should be, religious, we go to church in the morning. After church we dine, then take a ride out in the open and hunt for a place to have a picnic. We eat a lot, drink a lot, and by the time we arrive home, which is usually around 11 p. m., we are all tuckered out. Maybe we bathe and go to bed at midnight, arising early the following morning feeling out of sorts.

You pass off the ill happenings of the day with a motion of the hand and say, "Oh, well, this is Monday and just as blue as ever!" We make our blue Mondays. In our mind, I mean, and to make our minds work properly so as to think correctly, we must be well physically.

In being well physically we cannot run around all day Sunday and expect to be rested to begin a week's work or study Monday morning.

You have no doubt heard people say, when things go upside down during the course of the day. "I must have gotten up on the wrong side of the bed." Why blame it on superstition? Blame it on yourself and you will be nearer right.

Condition of Mind

"Blue Monday" is just a condition, a condition of your mind, and to correct that condition you must take care of yourself physically.

None of us want to become grouches in our old age and that is what we are headed for if we persist in having such things as "Blue Monday".

You can exert in 55 on. hFr aFuc You can have just as good a time on Sunday and still rest as you can exerting yourself trying to have a good time. Try this next Sunday and you will find on Monday morning that you have been greatly repaid for your care.

Think it over and if this plan works help someone else by telling them about it. Away with the "blue Monday" grouches and on with the "SMILE".

JAPANESE DRAMAS TO BE IMPORTANT ACTS ON PROGRAM

Elopement Causes Complications In "Henna Mura" in J. S. C. Entertainment

TRAGEDY IS SCHEDULED

When two fathers discover that their children have eloped, and both blame the other for the "calamity", what are the complications that are naturally bound to follow?

That is the start of "Henna Mura", a comedy-drama in two scenes, which will be given as one of acts in the Japanese Students' Club Benefit Entertainment at Nippon Kan next Saturday, Nov. 23, from 7:30 p. m.

With Roland Higuchi, chairman, arranging the Japanese plays, the following cast will limn this modern drama of a clash between romantic youth and thick-headed parents:

Burgomaster Jack Chikata
His Daughter Billie Tashiro
Principal Kinji Kanno
His Son Haruo Hirota
Priest Toshiji Kanaya
Farmer Y. Kimura
Student Junkichi Fujimoto

The second Japanese play scheduled on the program will be a medieval tragedy, "Ura no Tomaya". In this a Japanese Ulysses returns to his home after three years of wandering only to find that his friends have believed him dead, and that his wife has remarried his bitter, school-day rival. The following is the cast:

Kyuroku Y. Arakawa
Mokubei Roland Higuchi
O-Machi Yurino Takayoshi
Tatsuemon Makoto Sato
Mohei Kunitaro Yamada
Shinroku James Moroto
Tokichi Fred Ogura
Sakichi Masatsugu Kobe
O-Saki Sakae Suzuki
Tama Koriyama, petite danseuse, will appear in a trio of dances, modern and toe-dancing, as another feature of the program.

Besides these acts there will be a numerous travesty, "Filming of Uncle Tom's Cabin," and numerous short skits and stunts.

'Crepe Paper' Talk Draws Good Crowd

A lecture on "How To Use Dennison Crepe Paper," given by Clyde Atwood of the Dennison Mfg. Co. at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday, was well attended.

Bazaar booths, Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner table decorations, and window trimmings were exhibited, and those present carried away many valuable suggestions for decorating at social events.

HIT IS SCORED BY TAKAYOSHI

Delighting his audience with his ballad style singing, Tomeo Takayoshi sang three numbers at the Auburn Producers and Manufacturers' Banquet held at Auburn Tuesday evening.

His songs were part of the Japan Day program sponsored by the Auburn Chamber of Commerce. Yurino Takayoshi accompanied the singer on the piano.

Welly Shibata mystified the audience with interesting magic sleights. Grace Ota played a charming piano solo, Bendel's "Moonlight Sail Over Lover's Isle." The Thomas Band, consisting of young Japanese of Thomas, also played several selections.

LINE TO CONDUCT CRUISE TO ORIENT

Tourists' Party Will Sail From Seattle Next January

Seeking to serve those contemplating a journey to the Orient, the American Mail Line, in conjunction with the American Express Co., announces the 1930 Oriental Winter Cruise, an enchanting trip through the Philippines, China, Manchuria, Korea and Japan.

The cruising members will sail on the "President Cleveland," leaving Seattle January 25th, next, and will go straight through to Manila, where the land portion of the cruise will begin.

The party is scheduled to return to Seattle on April 21, 1930. Applications for membership in the Oriental Winter Cruise may be made at any American Mail Line, Dollar Steamship Line, Pacific Steamship Co. or American Express Company offices.

Scanning the Lines

Homare Ota, a New York Japanese painter, is the author of a popular fiction novel, "Golden Wind," recently published.

Takao Muto, the hero, is the son of a Japanese political prisoner. Finding no place to live in Japan, the young Muto goes to Manchuria and joins a group of guerilla bandits. From Chinese highlands to South African mines, and from there to tropical South America, Takao follows his trails of adventures.

Behind all his apparently eventful and colorful career, the hero has a tragic philosophy of Oriental fatalism, which grips the minds of the more reflective readers.

The book is published by Charles Boni under the co-authorship of Mr. Ota and Margaret Sperry.

LEAGUE DISCUSSES FIRM SIGNIFICANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Spirit Implied Should Lead To Permanent World Peace, Declares Gates

ARAI SLATED FOR TALK

Discussing Armistice Day and world peace as the subject of his sermon, Paul Gates, director of the Youth League, addressed one of the largest gatherings ever to visit the organization's hall Sunday.

Remarking of the great mortality and the devastations caused by the last great world war, Rev. Gates emphasized the necessity of an Armistice Day to sound out the clarion call for permanent world peace in the dealings between nations as among men.

War can only devastate and with it take a heavy toll of human lives whose ultimate result finds nothing but misery, he said. Armistice Day should not be forgotten and the spirit it implies should also be remembered by the council of nations and men in solving the problems which affect them, he added.

It was announced that Clarence Arai, local lawyer, will give a discussion on the social problems of this community week from tomorrow. An interesting subject is promised for tomorrow's meeting.

CLUB LAUNCHED BY BACHELORS

An organization of second generation members employed in the Japanese firms downtown was recently formed with a charter membership of seven. It is named the Bachelor's Club and it meets once a month for social purposes.

Last Saturday, Thomas Terao Yoshimura of the Sumitomo Bank was initiated into the organization, at which time he displayed remarkable forensic talent.
