FORMER MINISTER TO CHINA SCORES ANTI-ASIATIC BAN

MacMurray Blames Congress For Haste and Lack of Tact In Passing Exclusion Law

METHOD DISTASTEFUL

BALTIMORE, Md. — Declaring that the psychology of nations and racial feelings are paramount questions in international relationships, John Van Antwerp MacMurray, director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations, recently scored Congress severely for its haste and untactfulness in passing the Oriental Exclusion act.

The feeling of nations must be observed in diplomatic exchanges, stated MacMurray, former American Minister to China and a noted diplomat.

Many Friction Causes

"There is still a wide range of causes of friction or conflict between nations which are of a purely political character, wherein one nation, acting within the limits of its admitted rights, nevertheless gives occasion for fear or wounds the self-respect of other peoples," MacMurray said.

"Such a case is the enactment of provisions in our present immigration laws which effect the exclusion of the Japanese.

"None can doubt the right of the United States to restrict a type of immigrants which unfortunately has demonstrated a tendency to remain unassimilated to our institutions and to form, as it has been expressed, a cyst within the body politic of our country."

Within Legal Power

"None can deny that it is within our legal power to adopt the legislation we did in order to accomplish that purpose.

"The method chosen, however, was one which was avowedly distasteful to the Japanese, who for 15 years and more have conceded the propriety of our policy and have operated with scrupulous good faith in assisting us to carry it into effect and who were ready to fall in line with another method of exclusion which could be expected to accomplish the desired effects no less effectively.

Bitterness Felt

"Yet . . . Congress adopted with vindictive petulance an alternative which substituted bitterness and ill will for co-operation and mutual helpfulness, in an effort to solve an admittedly difficult problem."

The Walter Hines Page School at Johns Hopkins University, of which MacMurray is director, will be financed for three years by Owen D. Young, millionaire industrialist and framer of the Young Plan for the revision of German reparations payments.

The school is expected to play an important part in improving international relations through the study of the rivalries and disputes.

Resigns From Post

Mr. MacMurray, who is son-in-law of Dr. Frank J. Doodnow, president of Johns Hopkins, resigned his post in Peking in November.

He was universally considered to be the best fitted man in America for the post of director of the Page School, having served in the Far East, admittedly the best field for the study of international relations, for many years.

In 1918 MacMurray was named chief of the Far Eastern Division of the State Department. After having served as advisor at the Washington Conference he was appointed as Assistant Secretary of State, later taking the post as American Minister in China.

Davis Will Oppose Grundy For Senate

Secretary To Be Backed By Vare Machine

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will run for a seat in the Upper House against Joseph Grundy from Pennsylvania, it was learned here late last week.

The political fortunes of the present cabinet officer is to be backed by the powerful Vare machine of the Quaker state while the Mellon interests will support Grundy's dry platform. This has brought about an interesting sidelight in that two officers of the present cabinet will be opposed to each other in a political campaign.

The Vare machine of Pennsylvania stands on a wet platform and Secretary Davis will take up the cause on a light wine and beer platform.

4 Countries Now Joined By Airline

NEW YORK CITY — The company which operates the New York to Buenos Aires air line concluded an agreement with the Bolivia to Chile air route for an extensive air line route recently.

Through this agreement the four countries have now been connected by air and the transfer of passengers are to be made at the most advantageous connecting points.

GALA AIR TO PREVAIL OVER CITY AS TOKYO MARKS REBUILDING END

TOKIO. — A gala spirit will prevail over the entire city when the celebration commemorating the completion of the reconstruction work necessitated by the quake of Sept. 1, 1923, begins on Monday for three days.

On the eve of this colorful occasion all Tokio is putting on the final touches to this city-wide celebration in which the entire nation will participate, in spirit at least.

To Send Messages

Mayor Horikiri on Monday morning will cable messages of thanks and appreciation to the various rulers and heads of governments who came to the aid of Tokio and Yokohama in their hour of distress and the general celebration will begin from the plaza in front of the Imperial Palace immediately thereafter.

Various women's organizations with members clothed in a gala attire will maintain booths in various parts of the city and sell medals commemorating the event, while on the first day at the Meiji Shrine Athletic field athletes from all over the world will compete for honors in various sports.

Lantern Parades

Banquets and other varied gala demonstrations are also on the program and beginning Tuesday evening lantern parades will be held for two nights by the young men of the city. Tokio and Yokohama, in comparison to pre-earthquake days, are new cities which a casual visitor would think an occidental city on first sight. The improvement has been constructed and done along the most modern lines and every effort of the people here, on the eve of the celebration, is to make it one memorable event.

GIRLS PARTY SAILS TO EXTEND THANKS

Young Misses Will Thank America For Earthquake Relief

YOKOHAMA. — The four young misses, representing the Island Empire in conveying the gratitude of Japan for the assistance rendered by the American nation during the disastrous quake of Sept. 1, 1923 at which time the cities of Tokio and Yokohama were laid in ruins, left here aboard the President Pierce on Tuesday, scheduled to arrive in San Francisco on April 2.

The four feminine Japanese envoys of good will and plenipotentiaries of appreciation, are considered as the ideal types of Japan's educated, genteel and refined womanhood and were chosen out of more than fifty candidates in a contest sponsored by the Jiji Shimpo of Tokio.

Speak English Well

These young misses, who range in age from 20 to 28, speak the English language fluently and on their visit in America will extend the gratitude and appreciation of their people in various cities as well as at the Capital.

After their arrival in San Francisco the party will proceed to Washington, D. C., to pay their respects to President Hoover, and extend through him to the American nation the appreciation and gratitude felt by the Japanese people for American relief during the quake. They will arrive in the Capitol on April 14 and will remain there until April 18 during which time they will participate in festivities of the cherry blossom season on the Potomac.

To Visit Coolidge

After their departure from Washington, D. C., for the Atlantic Coast, it is planned for them to visit Massachusetts at which place they will meet former President Calvin Coolidge and extend to him the appreciation of the Japanese people for the prominent part he played in sponsoring the relief aid for the quake sufferers. The young misses will also visit Cyrus Woods, who was American ambassador in Tokio during the quake period, and offer him the kindly sentiments of the Japanese people and their thanks for his services, then.

The good-will envoy will visit many of the leading cities of America and at each city they are to meet the mayors and also give radio talks as well as public addresses before organizations. Some of the cities they will visit are San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Washington, D. C., Chicago, Philadelphia, New York City, Boston, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Detroit, Seattle and Portland.

Four Young Misses

The four misses who were chosen as Japan's representative types of Japanese womanhood are:

Kimiko Asino, 28, graduate of Tokio Women's Normal School and English Department of the Tokio Women's College.

Sumiko Tokuda, 24, graduate of Miwada Girls High School, also from the Tsuda English School.

Yoshiko Sato, 22, daughter of Baron Tatsujiro Sato and graduate of Peeresses School.

Yoshiko Matsudaira, 20, daughter of Captain Hiroshi Matsudaira of the Navy and cousin of Princess Chichibu.

FIRE TAKES BIG TOLL AT KIRIN

Flames Break Out In Manchuria Movie House

TOKIO. — According to reports from Kirin, Manchuria, a fire broke out in a crowded moving picture house on Wednesday, burning at least seventy-five to eighty people to death while more than a hundred are said to have been injured in the mad rush toward the exit.

The fire broke out some place in the operator's room, it is believed, and before the audience became aware of the flames it had already crept thru the auditorium. In the pell mell rush for the doors, many persons were injured while the others were unable to get out of the burning pit.

BALFOUR SECOND OF "BIG THREE" TO PASS AWAY

LONDON. — The second of the "Big Three" statesmen who made history at the Washington naval conference, 1921-22, has now passed into the Great Beyond.

On Wednesday morning, at 8:15 o'clock, the Earl of Balfour, who had been in ill health during the past several months, passed away. According to reports issued, he had been suffering with gastric chill attacks which finally affected his lungs causing his death.

The first of the "Big Three" to pass was Admiral Baron Kato who represented Japan at the Washington conference. Charles Evans Hughes, United States Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, is the only survivor of this noted group now.

Besides his accomplishments at the conference, Balfour was known for his policy laid down in Palestine making it the home of re-patriated Jews. The Balfour note renouncing all claims on war debts outside of what England needed to pay her debtors was another famous note remembered by continental Europe.

The Earl died at his brother's home in Woking, Surrey, at the age of 82.

RIVERA DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Former Dictator Was in Virtual Exile in Paris

MADRID. — Gen. Primo de Rivera, ex-dictator and Premier of Spain, suddenly passed away when heart failure seized him in a Paris hotel Sunday morning.

The one time premier of Spain had been in virtual exile since shortly after resigning his post on January 28, due to opposition to his policies and had been planning to go to Frankfurt Germany for an operation for his diabetic condition. His death came just a moment after the arrival of his son and two daughters from a Sunday mass they attended.

The passing of Gen. de Rivera closes a chapter of Spain's intensive political attempt to establish herself as a continental power. Much of the unpopular he experienced was due to his dictatorial policies which were looked upon by many of the country's leaders as being retrogressive and behind times. He died at the age of 60.

Bull - Fighter Thrown

MADRID. — The Yankee matador, Sydney Franklin of Brooklyn, who only two weeks ago conquered four bulls in the arena here, lies prostrated from a bull thrusting its horns into the side of Franklin's leg.

The Brooklyn bull-fighter seemed confident, but a slip turned the tide in the bull's favor, and before he could regain his balance the horns struck into his leg. He was carried out unconscious while the crowd cheered him.

PROHIBITION ISSUE CUTS PARTY LINES AMONG SENATORS

Republican Irreconcilables and Liberal Democrats Seek A Sweeping Investigation

CHANGE ONLY GRADUAL

WASHINGTON. — Although it is not conceivable that a third party will be the outcome of the present coalition movement in the Senate on various issues which have come up of late, it is certain that the irreconcilable Republicans and the Independent Democrats are finding a common point, at least, on the prohibition enforcement question.

During the time the Hughes nomination was up in the Senate for confirmation to the Chief Justiceship of the Supreme Court, it cut through the ranks of Republican and Democrat senators leaving only a vague party line, while the line of demarcation between those for and against confirmation was deeply drawn.

Two Parties Split

Today the prohibition enforcement issue has rent the two parties, joining the conservative Republican and Democratic party members against the forces made up of Republican irreconcilables and liberal Democrats who seek to have the Senate carry on an investigation of a sweeping nature on the present dry enforcement situation.

The conservatives of both parties are willing that the Wickersham dry enforcement commission, formed by President Hoover, is sufficient and that it should be given, first, the opportunity to enforce the dry law.

Ask Investigation

The opposite ranks are, however, adamant in their stand that an investigation is necessary to inquire into the present status of prohibition and how it is accepted by the country in regulating the law practically for the future. The Wheeler, D. M. and Norris, R. Neb. resolutions for such an inquiry and investigation has been the result.

It is possible to view the situation as now being one on which party alignments are forgotten and that the present differences in the Senate center upon an issue within the issue of prohibition. In other words the wrangle hinges upon the means to be taken in effecting prohibition or for its modification.

Both Pro and Con

An observer of the situation is likely to feel that the Wickersham commission method is the direct means to enforce the eighteenth amendment while the Wheeler-Norris resolutions seek to carry on an investigation for modification of the dry law or to enforce it practically. It is understood that Sen. Borah, R. Ia., is one of the strongest adherents of the dries but he is willing that an inquiry be carried out by the Senate on the dry situation.

If the resolutions are not adopted, the Wickersham commission should have full sway in enforcing the law but that means that the wet element in the Senate will just about be forced to give up their plans for a modification of Volsteadism, until some time to come.

Change Only Gradual

According to Mr. Wickersham, however, who is a wet, a modification plan will not be feasible by allowing only light wines and beer. No drinker of any quantity of liquor, he believes, will be satisfied to imbibe beer with an alcoholic content of only 2.75 per cent.

Those who are for having the country slightly moist are nevertheless strong in their stand that prohibition can only be effected through a gradual way and that either the light wines and beer plan or the Canadian governmental system should be instituted.

Royal Danish Party Arrives in Nippon

Commercial Cable News

TOKIO. — The outflow of gold for February amounted to 80,000,000 Yen. The total shipment of gold since the lifting of the embargo reached 116,000,000 Yen. Because of the probable future decrease in the adverse trade balance, the future gold efflux is expected also to decrease.

Money is still easy. At the end of February call money was quoted at 1.05 sen per 100 Yen p.d. (3.84% p.a.)

Harmonica Artist Plays Tonight

That harmonica in the hands of a past master is an appropriate instrument for operatic selections, was proven by Albert Fukushima, the greatest second generation harmonica teacher and player on the Pacific Coast, at the Associated Businessmen's Club luncheon Wednesday.

Fukushima, who arrived in this city on Tuesday for concert engagements in the Northwest, played "The Overture from William Tell" in the expressive manner of the operatic stage. His other piece was Oriental on a harmonica of the minor key, invented by himself.

He will render selections at the Youth League Whoopie party tonight. On Tuesday morning in Portland he will broadcast over KJW. On Mar. 29, he is to hold a concert recital in Vancouver B. C.

RETURNS DEPEND ON INVESTMENTS

Man Gets From Life According To What He Puts In, Says Pastor

The returns to be derived in life depends upon what is put into it, was the subject of the discourse made by Dr. Ralph Magee, prominent Methodist pastor and leader of this city, at the Associated Businessmen's Club luncheon held at the Bush hotel Wednesday.

Dr. Magee, whose philosophy of life ran along the same course as Emerson's Law of Compensation, gave what might be termed an intellectual discussion of life, explaining three phases describing the returns a man received by what he put into it. First, he took the physical side of man, dealing with health, the care of which went in making for the capital investment which returned compound interest.

Health Important

The Methodist pastor, who is of a healthy robust type, declared that a good physical condition assured a greater stimulation of action, by which a man could receive more profit than otherwise. He drew an analogy from his own experience. While in Boston, one day he visited a Y. M. C. A. massage parlor. The masseur was massaging a business man who had come to the Y. M. C. A. gym to exercise. The masseur asked the business man to tell him, Dr. Magee, to do what he was doing.

Just a young preacher then, Dr. Magee took advice and began taking exercise regularly. From a pastor who was receiving $2,000 a year he is now until he received $7,000 year salary jumped to $3,000 and gradually this, he said, was only possible because his health was in good condition and that because of the regular exercise he had been able to put more energy into his work which commanded the rise in salary.

Time Is Valuable

Secondly, he spoke of the good use of time. It was pointed out that time lost can never be made up because of the loss of what might have been accrued during the time lost. He, he said, had not done any reading during, say 1929, he could not now make up for his reading because if he tried it he would lose out in his reading for 1930. By making the utmost use of time intelligently, the benefits would accrue in being able to keep up with the times.

In the last phase of his talk, he touched upon the moral side of life pertaining to conduct and habits, which also has its compensations by what is put into it. A man who loses his grip and slides downward goes quick, he said. The climb from the bottom of the pit is a slow and difficult process. If a man tried to better himself little by little a compound interest should be the return in bettering his experience, it was pointed out.

Overcome Handicap

By way of a sidelight to his talk he told the club that every man had some sort of a handicap in life to face and that even though the second generation were American citizens their racial characteristics may be an obstacle to them on some things or naps. However, he said, this meant that the Americans of Japanese ancestry must therefore work all the harder to overcome this handicap just as some others who have physical defects might be forced to do more than the average man.

Another speaker will be before the Club again next Wednesday.

SOUTH END GROWS INTO "FAR EAST" OF SEATTLE CITY

Filipinos Gradually Displace Japanese On Mainland In Canneries, Railroads, Mills

ISLANDERS AID SHOPS

By CLARENCE T. ARAI

Konrad Bercovici once stated, "A map of Europe superposed upon the map of New York would prove that different foreign sections of the city live in the same proximity to one another as in Europe", that the Spanish live near the French, the French near the Germans, the Germans near the Austrians and etc.

Right here in the South End we find that the Filipinos have come into the district, so that if a map of the Far East was thus placed one sees "Chinatown" adjoining "Little Tokio" and "New Manila" situated on the outer fringe of the two. Up and down the coast, with the possible exception of San Francisco we find this to be true, whether it be in Portland, Stockton, Sacramento or Los Angeles.

Even In Frisco

Even in Frisco, where the Chinese and Japanese communities are separated, one notices, that the Japanese are in business along the "Main Drag" of San Francisco's historic Chinese quarters.

The Chinese were the first of the group to arrive. Then the Japanese and finally the Filipinos; as a result of America's immigration legislation. Hawaii has already experienced this cycle in her basic industries; for on the plantations the Japanese supplanted the Chinese and the Filipinos the Japanese.

Filipinos Displace

This same process is now going on here on the mainland, as in the canneries, railroads and the mills, the Filipinos today are displacing the Japanese.

The Exclusion Acts have forced the Chinese and Japanese, who for the most part are the merchants and the shopkeepers in the district to look outside of their own racial group for business; as newcomers no longer arrive. The presence of Filipinos in the district and together with their ever increasing numbers make them a very important source for business.

Depends On Race

Many of the small shops are practically depended upon this race for trade. As one saunters down one of the main streets, one finds that a Japanese restaurant caters to the group by a prominent sign, "Philippine Dinners". Glancing thru the new phone book one will run across the word, "Filipino" added to the firm name of one of the oldest Japanese business firms.

The South End is no longer Seattle's "Little Tokio" or "Chinatown", but Seattle's "Far East".

Reds Stop Forcible Closing of Churches

MOSCOW — Orders have now been issued by the Central Committee of the Communist party, forbidding the use of force in closing down the churches.

This Central Committee is the council which formulates the policies of the Soviet government and its orders are regarded as official.

According to the order issued no churches are to be closed unless the majority opinion of the population in the respective villages and towns demand closing. People who are caught deriding the peasants for their religious beliefs are to be punished, said the order.

Peiping Falls Under People's Army Drive

SHANGHAI. — The revolt which took place last fall against the Nanking government saw its resumption when Peiping fell under the onslaughts of the People's Army Tuesday.

The renewed attempt to oust the Nanking government was again led by Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang who is now being supported by Gen. Yang-Hsi-shan. The new drive was started from Peiping, formerly Peking, where the nationalist administration took over the government buildings after the downfall of the old Peking regime.

President Chang Kai-shek of the Nanking government departed last week for the northern provinces to take immediate charge of the nationalist forces.

Raw Materials Silk Imports Decrease

Commercial Cable News

TOKIO. — February merchandise exports totalled 118,000,000 Yen. The import excess for the month amounted to 41,000,000 Yen. The total import excess for January and February aggregated 78,000,000 Yen, which shows a decline of 70,000,000 Yen from the total of the same period of last year.

PORTLAND CAGERS VANQUISH LOCALS IN DOUBLE BILL

Takahashi Of Oregon Five Scintillates As Aces and C. T. Takahashi's Lose

FINAL TILT THRILLING

A fast Portland Japanese quintet invaded this city last Saturday copping both encounters in a double bill, and crumbled the dope sheet as well as the composure and equilibrium of two local teams, slated to win on the Collins floor.

One of the teams which lost by the skin of the teeth was C. T. Takahashi Co. five, which was believed to have presented a formidable enough lineup with Saki and Kaz Arai, the stellar basketeers of this community. However, the playful romping of Takeuchi, three year letter man at Reed College, proved more than sufficient in pasting on a victory to Portland's hat.

Aces Defeated

In the first game of the night, the Western Avenue stars, the pick of commission row, with Kambe, Sakamoto and Sugiyama, showing up in graceful form for the first half, went down to defeat before the sharpshooting of Takeuchi, Sato and Kumura, 28 - 17. The last named boy had his molar pulled the night before by a Portland dentist and the gas was still working on him to deter him from making a more satisfactory showing but his illness did not stop him from keeping his eye on the basket.

This game was full of thrills and while the burden of the show was on Portland, the Aces snapped into the limelight whenever the occasion presented.

The first game was a thriller but the second might have been termed a corker in that there was enough enthusiasm and scintillating performances bottled in the game to last anyone for a month. In the first quarter, a Saki-less Takahashi hoop gang, was left far in the lurch, but in the second canto, the brother of Kaz, the center, came in to reinforce the team.

Final Game Thrilling

From the game was exciting. The Takahashi team, however, seemed to be a little off - color from their usual form, but they made things thrilling, nevertheless. The Portland quintet led the locals by a hoop and a point or a basket, until the final minute of the final period.

In the last quarter the game became hot. So close that it almost froze in a tie. The Takahashi five did tie the lead but in the final minute Kumura, like a thunderbolt out of the clear sky, skipped gracefully up to the basket and hooped the counter which won the game, 27 to 25.

Takeuchi's performance throughout this game was a treat for sore eyes. He hopped, skippeped and jumped but every move had greased lightning beat a mile and it was chiefly his playing which kept the Portland quintet on its feet through the two encounters.

Takahashi (25)	Portland (27)
Miyagawa 4	Sato 2
Yorita 2	Shimizu 2
Kaz Arai 11	Komura 3
Osawa 2	Takeuchi 18

Winslow Hoopsters Down Auburn Five, 28-17 To End Season

By JAMES MATSUMOTO

WINSLOW, — The Seinen quintet of Winslow officially closed its 1930 basketball season with a thrilling victory, 28 to 17, over the Auburn youths this week.

Flashing a powerful offense and an equally superb stonewall defense, the hitherto weak Winslow hoopsters hit their stride to carry off the bacon with a dash and masterful playing that crumpled the opponent's defense time and again. The score at the half was 15 to 2, with Auburn's lone field basket by the wily Kaneshige coming from a freak pass from T. Oyama to Matsumoto.

Auburn began a determined rally at the half which ended up with rough playing on Auburn's part as they desperately tried to stave off certain defeat. The surprising upset of the afternoon was the clever shooting of Nakao who netted his largest score in a single game this season and the surprise of seeing Matsumoto return again into his former form after his disastrous slump in the middle of the season.

Kaneshige was the sole opposition received from the Auburn quintet and he netted ten counters for the losers.

LOTUS JRS. UPSET DOPE TO TROUNCE BELLEVUE CAGERS

Fast Stepping Sparklers Maintain League Lead By Defeating Waseda And Tacs

AUBURN WINS TUSSELE

Some interesting games were played in the Class B games Tuesday and Wednesday at the Baptist gym this week. The feature of the series was the upset victory of the Lotus Juniors, who registered their first win of the season.

In the first Tuesday game, the fast stepping Sparklers had little difficulty in maintaining their league lead when they trounced the Waseda Jrs., 21 to 10. The game was closely contested in the first half which ended 10 to 8, but the Juniors could not keep up with the pace set by the Sparklers. Wakamatsu of the losers was the high point man of the game with 16 counters, while Takayoshi and Ueyehara played well for the winners.

Taiyos Beat Comets

Taiyo Jrs. emerged victors over the Comets 22 to 14 in a well played game. Asanuma, league high scorer, was well checked by the Taiyo guards and was held to 4 points. Iwana and Nishimura, scoring 6 points apiece, were the bright lights for the Taiyo Club.

The third game was a 25 to 15 victory for Auburn when the Western Ave. Aces played without the services of their big gun Kambe, who was injured. Kaneshige, fast Auburn forward, was in form and hooped 15 markers to get the league leading scoring lead again. He was easily the star of the evening's play, many of his shots being of the spectacular variety. For the Avenue boys Aoki showed to advantage.

Lotus Grabs Victory

The dope was spilled when Lotus Juniors, led by Furukawa and Fukuhara, won a close and exciting game from the Bellevue basketeers in the last game. These two forwards evaded the Lakeside teams defense time and again to score 11 points apiece, which was enough to cinch the game. Hirota and Tomioga with 10 and 6 points respectively were the best Bellevue players.

The Wednesday evening game opened up with the Comets meeting the Western Ave. team. The Aces came out on the long end of the 21-18 score after a hard-contested game. The first half ended 9-11 in favor of the Aces, with Aoki and Sugiyama in the second half putting in timely shots to maintain the lead to the finish. Asanuma was held to one field goal by Sakamoto. Aoki and Sugiyama checked up 8 and 7 points respectively.

Sparklers Win Again

The feature game of the evening found the Sparklers beating the Taiyo Juniors after trailing on the short end of an 8-9 score at the end of the first half. The second half found Ueyehara, G. Beppu, Fred Chinn, and Takayoshi as the starting line-up for the Sparklers.

Ueyehara, former Taiyo team-mate, led the Sparklers in overcoming the lead and maintaining a comfortable margin to the finish the game at 32-18. Shiro Iwana and Nishimura with 8 and 5 points played a good game for the Taiyos, threatening all the time to overcome the lead. L. Beppu dropped two pretty push-shots from side court to give the crowd a thrill.

Coming Games

NORTH CENTRAL HI WINS STATE LOOP

Spokane Hoopers Defeat Walla Walla Blueshirts, 29 - 25

Dropping two shots through the net in the last few minutes of the game, a smoothing working Red and Black quintet from North Central High in Spokane won the state high school basketball championship title from Walla Walla, 29 - 25, at the University pavilion last week.

With both squads playing top notch basketball, the tussle was a fight from start to finish. With the beginning of the third quarter the fight was carried by the Walla Walla blueshirts who overcame the long lead held by the North Central outfit to tie them four times in the later stages of the struggle.

This is the second time North Central has won the state championship, having placed first in 1928. The state tourney winners placed as follows:

1930 champions — North Central.
Second place — Walla Walla
Third place — Everett
Fourth place — Hoquiam

HUSKY BOXERS DEFEAT BEARS

Trouncing the highly-touted Golden Bear of California, University of Washington boxers crashed through with three knockouts and two decisions at Oakland last Friday evening, winning five bouts out of seven. The California aggregation, fresh from victories over the California Aggies and Stanford, and possessing three Pacific Coast champions, were expected to take the local boys into camp, but the Seattle mittslingers upset advance dope by badly defeating the Bears.

Taiyos To Play In Independent Nines' Circuit

An eight-team baseball circuit will undoubtedly form the Independent League this year to be sponsored by the A. G. Spalding Co. of this city, it was indicated at a meeting of the various captains and the officials of the league.

Instead of a ten-team league, as last year, the eight team circuit seems favored, owing to the reason that the difficulties of schedule make the playing of games uncertain until a late day during the week.

The teams lined up so far are Taiyos, Rosaia, Gibson, Ballard, Wilson Motors, Port of Seattle. For its out-of-town games the two teams will be selected out of the four teams desiring places in the League, which are Port Townsend, Bellingham, Snohomish, and Monroe.

INITIALED TEAMS WIN HOOP GAMES AT PRESBYTERIAN

G. S. G. and W. W. G. Sextettes Win Final Tilt of Regular Playing Schedule

PLAYOFF STARTS NEXT

The last round of games of regular schedule of the Girl's League was completed Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian gym with the G. S. G. and W. W. G. teams winning their games. Starting next week the W. W. G. and Bellevue sextettes will start a playoff series of three games to determine the championship.

In the first game of the evening a greatly improved and fighting Jr. Girls team lost out to the Girl's Service Guild hoopsters by the score of 23 to 18, in an exciting game. Masako Ite of the Juniors was the best player of the game with 13 points to her credit, while her team-mate Chisato Koitabashi hooped 5 counters.

For the winners, Etsu Miyagawa had the best eye for the basket with 11 points. She was followed by Hide Arai with 8 and Sumi Arai with 4 markers.

The second game was won by the fast G.S.G. team 24 to 11. They had Hamada, the stellar Lotus forward, well covered for the whole game, while Ogawa ran up 18 points, which was enough to win the game. Other players who scored were Okazaki 4 and Okada 2 for the Baptist girls. Shizuko Iwami looped 8 and Hamada 3 for the losers.

Next Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church the W. W. G's will meet the Bellevue sextette in the first game of the playoff.

OPEN INCIDENT

The reason that the Japanese exclusion law, legislated by this country, in 1924, is regarded as an open incident by Japan, does not lie in the fact it attains but in the method of procedure branding a searing injury upon the just and natural pride of the Japanese nation.

No nation and the least of all, Japan, questioned the sovereign right of this country to adjust and to legislate her own immigration law. Japan acknowledged the right of this nation to select the immigrant types who shall or shall not come into this country, when the Gentleman's Agreement was concluded in 1907 to regulate Japanese immigration.

Through that compact, which was in effect until July 1, 1924, the burden of selecting the types of immigrants coming to America, lay with Japan and no convincing argument has yet been recorded, that the Japanese government took advantage of the Agreement. In other words this country saw no cause to injure Japan's proper susceptibilities by legislating a black and white statute that the Japanese people were not of recognized qualifications to come here as immigrants, as the people of other favored nations, until 1924.

It is patent proof that the Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and Harding administrations saw no necessity of legislating a special enactment to restrict Japanese immigration. It was, probably, due to the strong and determined policies of these administrations to maintain the warm and close relations with Japan, that held any unnecessary and untoward actions in check, regardless of the anti-Japanese wave of sentiment on the Pacific Coast during these periods. Just as a sidelight, it is not difficult to perceive, then, that the trade and diplomatic relations between this country and Japan were at its best, during those times and laid the foundation for the steadiness of trade and normal diplomatic relations of the present.

From a political side of the situation, it is granted and admitted that the regulation of immigration into this country is the sovereign right of this nation, as stated by Mr. John Van Antwerp MacMurray, until recently American Minister to China and present director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations at the Johns Hopkins University, whose attitude on the incident is to be commended for his frankness and the sense of equilibrium he maintains in criticising the unnecessary measure by which the exclusion of Japanese immigrants was effected.

Although the ban law affected the Japanese people to a certain extent, no complaint would have been registered by them nor the Japanese government if the procedure was such that it did not virtually leave an impression of discrimination, only for the sake of restricting the entrance of their few numbers into this country.

It has in a measure affected the trade relations, in that where it might have been stimulated toward making it greater, the chances have become less favorable. It affected the mutual understanding between the two nations, in that the Gentleman's Agreement was abrogated shearing off this line of cooperation from Japan. It affected the amicable sentiment on the Pacific, in that, friendly though it is, today, the element of doubt, as to the sincerity of those friendly ties, has entered the happy intercourse between the peoples of Japan and America.

No more potent argument can be presented, at this day, in the consideration of Japan's natural feelings than that she is sitting in the council of nations, at London side by side with this country to contribute her part, through a Japanese-American naval agreement to make for mutual good-will and peace in the Pacific as well as for the world. The leaders of both nations are looking to the day when the exclusion law may either be modified, as not to injure the right and proper sensibilities of the Japanese people, or be scrapped. The exclusion issue is still an open incident, from a moral viewpoint, and it should be closed in a proper and just manner.

FREE PRESS

The right of free expression which distinctly clothes our Constitution of human liberty, is taken as an underlying doctrine of American Commonwealth ensuring the freedom of speech and, therefore, the press.

In the Senate today, there is a bill proposed for legislation by Sen. Vandenberg, to write into the statute books a definite and clear safeguard of the press from the tyranny of whimsical fancies which might be indulged in by some of our Federal judges. The bill is an important one. It deals, in reflection, with a sacred postulate of American government constituted, as it is, by the free and popular will and expression of the people.

As the principle of free speech is an accepted doctrine, already, there should be, truly, no necessity to legislate a statute dealing specially to safeguard the press of the country, as Sen. Allen of Kansas states, but such a sacred right, it is clearly perceivable, is better guaranteed and safeguarded by law. If such a law had been in force there is no doubt but that the Judge in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, would not have taken the mistaken course of trying to punish the two Cleveland editors whose views in regard to his official conduct aroused him, to a contempt of court proceedings.

If the press of the country should be restrained from manifesting opinions and convictions, the most serious menace to American Democracy will have become apparent. Our laws and our government have been the expression and the will of our people. And the press of the country has been the medium for their manifestations.

The right of free expression is truly the shrine of American Democracy and it should be safeguarded. The Vandenberg bill proposes to do this. The bill should be passed.

DRY, MODIFICATION, REPEAL?

The sentiment of the country over the present dry enforcement issue, it is possible to conceive, is amply indicated in the Wheeler and Norris resolutions now up before the Senate, to carry out an inquiry and investigation of prohibition.

If the resolutions have been the outcome of the expression of the people it is easy enough to perceive that the country will not lose anything by adopting the resolutions and carry a sweeping investigation of conditions as they have been evoked by the enforcement of the Volstead law.

Ten years of the eighteenth amendment has proven to the country that a heavy drinking nation cannot quit imbibing overnight. Ten years of curbed drinking has aroused a thirst which the bootleggers have been taking advantage of and waxing rich. In the ten years the demand for either modification or repeal of the prohibition statute has grown so expressive that in the House the judiciary committee is carrying on hearings on the subject.

If that is a sign of the trend, it is indicative of the philosophy of the nation. Besides the question of whether prohibition has or has not given an indication of curing the economic condition, in a degree, it has been chiefly, at bottom, a question of whether through a non drinking generation a more healthy race of mankind may come into being. On this it has been easy enough to see that healthy children have been born to people who drink and that some of the children born of parents who never took a drink have become drinkers, in their time.

It is, indeed, difficult to believe, that human nature can sustain a law, especially, if it is unreasonable in its considerations of the desires aroused to drink. So long as the eighteenth amendment is a law of the country there is no doubt but that it should be upheld yet if it is unreasonably extreme in its decree it were better, possibly, that it be modified.

A general system of moderation on the alcoholic contents of drinks might better effect prohibition, in the long run.

WHAT ONE SOWS

The youth of the country and especially the American-born Japanese can well take a leaf out of the discourse given by Dr. Ralph Magee, prominent local Methodist leader, on the compensations of life.

It is not impossible of conjecture, from Dr. Magee's talk, that what a man puts into life will give a return working to shape his future. In that, the inspiration to be derived is neither small nor of light importance, if it puts the proper zest and enthusiasm into one's work or enterprise.

Too often, we see youths idling away their time. By idling away their time, which could be given for some useful purpose or work to advance themselves, it becomes a period when their health and education are retarded the most. It is not all play that makes Jack a happy boy but play founded upon work, gives him the genuine returns of enjoyment.

If one works seriously and promotes his interest by doing the utmost in preserving his health as well as using his time in a profitable manner, it naturally raises him in his moral conduct, since he would not have the time nor the energy for perverted pleasures.

The man who will not do anything worthwhile has plenty of time to spare, the loss of which can never be retrieved. In those spare moments, it is imaginable, that he can be doing nothing for his health. That man is losing more than he is gaining by his idle comfort.

The man who wishes to become an engineer but who does not put in the necessary amount of time nor work for study and, therefore, unsupported by a proper perspective the result of a good moral conduct, cannot become an engineer of the first water. This holds true for any other profession.

That is what Dr. Magee means by putting something into life to reap a compound interest. If it is a thing unworthy that one puts into life he cannot reap its interest. A person only reaps what he sows.

According to the Seattle Times, recently in criticising the "unique plank" of Judge Austin E. Griffiths, to place the Japanese and Chinese languages in our high schools, as being an Oriental education, we are wont to gather that we have the Spanish, French, German and even the Latin education served our school children, at the present time.

The man with a Dollar might be a good talker but the man without a penny and who can do talking, himself, is a man for a' that.

IN THE MAIL

March 17, 1930

To the Editor:
It has never been a habit with me to write letters to the editor, but I cannot refrain from complimenting you upon the improved appearance of the Courier since its recent enlargement.

Newspapers with a personality such as the Courier are difficult to find in these days of syndicated journalism. If for no other reason, the Courier will be remembered in history for giving to the world a new and most refreshing columnist - Welly Shibata.

Another contributor to your columns, whose "Post Mortems" always intrigue me, is that delightful cynic - Tom Arai, I am not one who believes that the only province of a newspaper is to be a conveyor of news, and that is why the Courier with its distinctive features appeals to me so strongly.

The story by your junior editor, Satoshi Hoshi, about his sore knee was replete with human interest and told in a manner which would do justice to a graduate of any school of journalism.

The "Pink Tea" items make up another bright section of the Courier, and, of course, the cornerstone upon which the whole structure rest is found in the editorials.

As time goes on, it should not require a prophet to see the day when the Japanese-American Courier will make another change, and, instead of a weekly publication, become a daily. May the hand guiding the destiny of the Courier at that day still be that of my friend Jim.

Sincerely yours,

Friends of Mrs. Tom Sakai gave a surprise shower for the young bride last Saturday.

Mr. Tomeu Takayoshi, well known second generation jazz singer, is to render a vocal solo at the Wilsonian on Monday before the Kiwanis Club.

Fujin Home

By SATOSHI HOSHI

Last Saturday the whole Fujin Home children went to the Jackson studio to get a picture taken. There were about eighteen children including five babies.

Some of the girls wore Japanese kimonos. They sure were pretty with their kimonos on.

We took the pictures two ways. One way was like a circle and the other way was a straight row. The big ones were in the middle and the small ones at the end, while the babies were sitting on the floor, playing with bells.

I think they look nice in the picture, especially those in the kimonos.

The Tuesday before, in the morning, the children of the Fujin Home were surprised to see a big lolly-pop for Miss Herd. It was about an inch thick, about eight inches long, and about a half a foot wide.

Mr. Tamura, who has two children there, gave it to her. After breakfast each child got a big piece. My, that sure was big. It was the biggest one I ever saw so far.

YOUTH LEAGUERS HOLD 'WHOOPIE' SOCIAL TONIGHT

Bridge Tables, Dancing, Refreshments Outlined As Program For Party

SOCIAL STARTS AT 7:30

By JAY ESSE

The reason the Youth League has been able to maintain its recognition in the prominent circles of this city is not merely due to the fact that it is an organization for the young people, but through the tangible effect it has created among the youths of this community a certain thought movement inspired through educational lectures and discussions.

The League holds its forum on Sundays but tonight, departing from the serious side of activities, a grand get-together is planned under the novel title of Whoopie. The intent is chiefly to bring the young people together in good fellowship and to enjoy themselves.

A Needed Party

This community so far has not been able to afford the young people the opportunity to join hands in any one entertainment for themselves and the Youth League intends to sponsor this tonight. An entertainment or party of this nature has been the one need here to unify the second generation and a get-together of this sort cannot win the criticism of any ultra critical minded person.

What fun to be indulged in tonight will be clean and wholesome and will pave the way toward such open displays of common jollity necessary here to keep the young people engaged in their spare moments.

There will be bridge tables, dancing and singing besides refreshments. And the money raised from the tickets will go toward giving the League added facilities for its proper development, that the younger generation may be accomplished.

Says Unity Possible

According to Thomas Ogawa, president, the thought movement among the second generation is a necessity if there is to be any progress.

Tonight's Whoopie is to start from 7:30 p.m. and general public is invited to attend the affair at the Japanese League auditorium in the Japanese Chamber of Commerce building.

TRIP TO VANCOUVER

(Item from Pink Tea)

"Messrs. Sam and Lee of the Sam Lee Import & Export Co. returned this week from a business trip to Vancouver."

A few days ago we took a trip up to Vancouver. Why the snicker, Friend Reader, why the snicker? Why the lifted eyebrow and the knowing wink? Can't a fellow go up to Vancouver to attend to a little business without exposing himself to the sneers of the godly and the envious jeers of every sinner he unfortunately is acquainted with? Why has this thing become thus?

The thing is really becoming a national menace. All you've got to do is mention casually that you are thinking of running up to Canada for a few days, and immediately you are made a target for insult and innuendo and undesired reproach.

Main street residents with full cellars implore you not to make a beast of yourself; girl friends, brown-eyed, blue-eyed, and slanted, ask you if you don't think it would be well to give up that sort of thing. Low Churchmen scowl piously at you, High Churchmen advise you to have a couple for them.

"Are you coming back on the night boat?" a friend asked. We said that we probably would, and we were going to point out that in this way we would lose less time from our business--naturally, a prime consideration with a person of our high sense of duty.

"I'm glad you're coming back by night," he said, "as you will probably have slept it off by the time you get into Seattle."

One friend told us that it served us right for not stocking up when we had the chance, while another drily reminded us that the fine for being caught with the stuff in one's grip was two hundred dollars. Even the taxi driver took occasion to be offensively familiar, as he lightly threw the grip off the cab on to the floor.

"Get you won't be able to do that when you come back," he said. In Vancouver we spent the next couple of days attending to urgent business. We gazed not on wine while it was red nor did we lean nonchalantly against the mahogany while white-coated attendants inquired if we wanted soda or ice in it. . . . not at the prices they are asking for those things in Vancouver now. We had a pleasant and eminently decorous time. What would the reader have done in our place?

"Just the same thing you did, you liar!" we can hear them courteously reply.

There does not seem to be anything left for us to say.

ELABORATE RITES MARK OPENING OF BUDDHIST CHURCH

Yakima Valley Celebrates Formal Opening of New Structure at Wapato

By SONO KIKUCHI

WAPATO, — Yakima Valley Japanese laid aside their thoughts of spring planting or business and gathered at Wapato, March 15-16, to celebrate the opening of the new Buddhist church.

Ministers from Buddhist centers of Portland, Vancouver, B. C., Seattle and Tacoma were present for the occasion.

After a procession of beautifully clad children, ministers, and prominent men had passed from the Japanese Hall to the new church, accompanied by the weird music of flutes, a formal program of speeches by many organizations and prayer followed.

Rituals Bewilder

The rituals and decorations of the Buddhist Church, which were witnessed for the first time by most of the second generation here, were a source of wonder and admiration to them. To the older folks so long deprived of association with prayer and a Buddhist church, it was a day of pleasure and pride.

Representing the Wapato Girls' Club, Amy Matsushita gave a speech and Jack Takayama spoke in behalf of the Yakima Valley Young Men's Club.

An informal program of songs, dances and plays was given March 16 at the Japanese Hall by both young and old.

Dance Numbers Given

Several pleasing numbers by young people were: Japanese dances by the Misses Migita, Munieko and Tsue of Yakima, and Japanese solo dances by Haruko Sagara and 4-year-old Miss Omori of Status.

Yakima Valley Young Men's Club kept the audience in laughter with their Japanese play of married life. Jack Takayama as husband, Art Nakamura as wife, N. Honda as policeman, and Minoru Honda as burglar played their roles well.

The Wapato Girls' Club gave a short Japanese play in which Amy Matsushita, Kime Yamamoto, Haruko Sagara and Shegami Umemoto played leading parts. Haruko Sagara was especially good in her portrayal of a school-master.

An impromptu orchestra composed of Mae Masuda, Amy Matsushita, Albert Masuda, Arthur Kikuchi, Tai-ko Honda and Mary Shimizu won praise from the audience which packed the hall.

SALMAGUNDI

By W. T. S.

LAST SATURDAY was a busy day for the community beauty shoppes. With a steady stream of Lotus Buds pouring in all day . . . in quest of beauty at the golden shrine of the Goddess of Marcelle.

LASTING IMPRESSIONS from the Lotus Show:

Shoji's bagpipe dance.
Mary Nak saying "niku" for "aku."
Rosie Hamada's audible counting in the Waltz Ballet: "1-2-3, 1-2-3, Change!"

The "ahhhhhh!" and the "ohhhhhh!" of feminine adoration, when Sus Watanabe appeared in his naval officer's uniform, looking so natty . . . handsome . . . debonair.

Jiro Sakano's "all right, all right" in HANAMI.

Sheenie Miyagawa's "Close up, close up! Spread, spread!"
Ochi's peanut moon.
And Katsumi Nakayama.

JIRO rhymed with HERO for six acts in "Over the Hill".

In act five, Jiro choked KODA and asked, "DODA?"

In the fourth act, Yurino said to KOMIN Masuda, "Get out and don't COME IN any more!"

In the third act, the director said to YUDAI Arakawa, "YOU DIE!" And so Yudai died.

DID YOU RECOGNIZE Ken Shimbo and Napoleon Nishisaka as the cow in "Ivan the Clever?"

Yep, that was lanky Ken that came out disguised as the South end of a milcher.

As one fellow was heard to remark, "That can't be any udder."

DURING MY STAGE CAREER (ahem!) in Seattle, I have been many things, including:

A Jewish director, stage father of Teru Yoshitomi and stage husband of Sakae Suzuki, farmer, a 68-year old woman, stage husband of Jackie Nakagawa, society lounge-lizard, an Englishman, Napoleon, anarchist, jinnickisha man, magician, pianist, tumbler, drukard, Juliet to Hito's Romeo, a musical comedy heroine with Art and Dave, and a burglar in "Treasure Chests."

Plus other odd bits, but never yet have I been cast as the hind legs of a cow.

And so I envy Ken Shimbo for the experience, even tho he never makes his bid when he plays auction bridge.

INCIDENTALLY we wish to make our nomination for the title of "Champion Hot - Dog Consumer of the Community."

Ladies' gentlemen, may we introduce Hideyoshi "Eleven" Road - To - Mandalay Mukai?

IF AGAIN the Lotus entertainers present their "Club Lotus" act, it shan't be necessary to borrow saifor

Hana Ishigami, the girl from Bremerton, says she's quite ready to supply all naval accessories.

She may even be able to charter a battleship for transportation, if the Buddhists care to barnstorm any other Puget Sound cities.

THINGS HAVE BEEN quite all Lotus during these past few weeks. But you must remember that they are a big organization, numbering more than 120 actives.

Besides, the Lotus bunch is said to have ITS accomplishments.

And the Buds are adorable.

NEXT the Fuyokai will hold its carnival at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday, the 28th. We expect to see Choppie Umemoto hanging around the candy booth. And we'll probably see George Mukai hanging around the fish - pond booth.

CONVERSATION SNATCHES:
"Shall you go to see the W.W.G. play, Miss Arizumi?"
"IKU"

"By the way, what is your favorite flower, Miss Hamada?"
"ROSE."

"And how are things with you today, Mr. Motosaka?"
"ITCHY."

"Oh, hello, Miss Kimura! Hungry? You're just in time for I've got lots of sushi here. How many would you like to eat?"
"MINAYO."

IF EVER the Wanderlust seizes you, you need not travel abroad. Nor spend a lavish sum of money in circumnavigating the globe.

Not forgetting, of course, the Japanese and Chinese atmosphere that surrounds your little walk.

REACH for The Courier Peach! Saturday's edition comes out Friday at 7:30 p. m.

GREEN, GREEN, GREEN Monday was St. Patrick's Day and so the day was green.

Tuesday Mina Kimura ate lunch at Sarashina. Her dress and scarf were green.

Wednesday the Junior Girls' Club played basketball and their trunks were green.

Thursday we passed by the Taihoku and the building had a new coat of green.

Friday, oh, yes, the Nippon Kan doors have also been painted green.

Saturday, beautiful U. of W. campus, with the grass looking so fresh and green.

WHAT MEANEST THIS, the earth thus turning into a symphony of green?

If you don't know, surely you must be the greenest of the green.
For lo, it's all because
SPRING HAS COME!
