JAPAN MINISTRY VICTOR IN FIGHT FOR SALARY CUT

Railway Workers Stage Demonstration Protesting Reduction of Wages of Sixty Thousand Government Employees

PLAN GIVEN APPROVAL

TOKIO — The economy program, according to which all government employees including army and navy men receive more than 85 yen, were to be given a salary cut, caused a temporary crisis in the affairs of the nation this week.

On Wednesday, between 2,000 and 3,000 railway men called a strike in protest against the wage reduction program which affected 9,000 railroad men. However, the strike was one of short duration, the arrest of 34 agitators immediately quenching the movement.

Decisions Reversed

A railway strike and a general strike which had been threatening the nation earlier in the week, seemed to have lost its menacing aspect when various department officials suddenly reversed their decision to resign from their post on Wednesday.

The first threat of a railway strike was removed when the workers held a conference with Minister of Railways Yoku Egi on Monday. The situation at this time was critical and a general sympathy strike involving 210,000 railway employees seemed imminent.

Wage Cut Planned

According to the government economy plan which caused the protests and demonstrations, all government employees receiving 85 yen or more a month, would receive a wage cut starting June 1. This will involve 60,000 men working for the nation and would make possible a saving of $4,000,000 annually.

Immediately after the cabinet meeting on Wednesday, Premier Wakatsuki went to the imperial palace with a draft of the ordinance necessary to put the plan into operation and explain it to the Emperor. On Wednesday, the imperial ordinance was promulgated sanctioning the salary cuts.

Failures Dismay Soviet Program

MOSCOW—Several hitches in the industrial program are confronting the leaders of Soviet Russia, according to the Moscow newspapers.

According to these reports, at Rostov, the farm machinery factory which is one of the largest in the world is showing unsatisfactory conditions and the assembling work of the machines is termed as a "catastrophe." The superintendent of this factory is reported to have been discharged on account of the false statements he gave out concerning the production figures.

System Fails

The transportation system is also reported to have failed in its program for the latter part of 1930 and the first quarter of 1931. The transportation officials and the factory authorities are blaming each other for this failure.

The industrialization program for the first quarter called for steel plants to furnish 117,852 tons of rails, but only 37 per cent of this amount has been produced. The superintendent at the Stanlingrad metallurgical plant is soon to be tried in Moscow for failure to carry out urgent orders for railways, it is reported.

Commission Studies Alien Owned Vessels

WASHINGTON—In order to study the differences regarding the applicability of customs duties against Japanese sampan fishermen in Hawaii and on the Pacific Coast as well as other alien fishermen, the United States Tariff Commission of the Senate has prepared a factual report which will become the basis of any discussion that may arise in Congress concerning the question of alien-owned fishing vessels.

According to this official report, alien-owned boats provided 97 per cent of the Hawaiian and 34 per cent of the California fish catch.

Albert Fall Appeals To Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — Albert B. Fall, secretary of interior during the Harding administration, has appealed to the Supreme Court to reverse the decision of the District of Columbia appeals court which found him guilty of accepting a bribe from E. Doheny, oil man.

Early this month Fall announced that he would not appeal the sentence, but would seek a pardon from President Hoover.

Kagawa To Attend C. E. Golden Jubilee At San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO—Toyohiko Kagawa, poet, novelist, essayist and religious worker, will be one of the principal speakers at the golden jubilee celebration of the Christian Endeavor movement to be held here from July 11 to July 16.

Kagawa has gained international recognition for his work among the poor in Japan and for his widely-read books, especially the one entitled, Shisen wo koete, translated as Beyond the Deathline. The House of Peers has listened to his plea for the poor and is spending ¥30,000,000 for rebuilding the slums of six great cities in Japan.

The Christian Endeavor movement will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary in July, at which time many Japanese from Hawaii and Japan as well as from the Pacific Coast are expected to gather in San Francisco with other Christian Endeavors of all races.

IMPERIAL COUPLE LEAVE FOR HOME

Receptions, Sightseeing Tours Mark Final Week Of Prince's Sojourn

SAN FRANCISCO—Completing a six months honeymoon trip around the world, Prince and Princess Takamatsu of the Japanese imperial family, left for Japan aboard the M. S. Chichibu Maru on Thursday, May 28.

The final week of the imperial couple's stay in the United States was spent in sightseeing and inspection tours of northern California and in attending receptions in their honor.

Last Saturday, the distinguished visitor witnessed an elaborate military review staged by the 30th infantry at the Presidio. The same evening, the Japanese reception committee of San Francisco honored the Prince and Princess Takamatsu at a banquet attended by more than 400 prominent Japanese of this community. Miss Agnes Miyakawa and Mme. S. Iki, both second-generation sopranos, sang at this reception.

Sunday evening, the imperial party left for a visit to the Yosemite National Park, accompanied by Consul-General Wakasugi and prominent Japanese here. On the eve of their departure for Japan, the imperial couple were given a reception-dinner by the Japan Society of San Francisco, the program of which was broadcast over the N. B. C. network.

Prince Takamatsu, at this reception, thanked the American public for the cordial and hospitable welcome that they extended to him and Princess Takamatsu during their sojourn in this country. He proposed a toast to President Hoover, in response to the toast by Gov. Rolph, Jr., to the Emperor of Japan.

Miss Toshiko Sekiya, famed coloratura soprano, gave several selections in Japanese and the superb coloratura aria from Rigoletto.

Wage Cut Attacked By Dr. Julius Klein

NEW YORK—Another attacker of the wage cuts was seen in Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce and economic adviser to President Hoover, when he made an extemporaneous talk after his prepared speech for a national radio hookup early this week.

"Wage cutting not only destroys buying power, but hits consumer morale everywhere," Dr. Klein said. "Consumers are just beginning to come out into the buying field again. The splendid showing of department store sales in April prove it."

"But the best way to turn the consumers back and make them bury their money in the old sock again is to cut wages."

"It is stupid, in the second place, because wage cutting does not mean curtailment in the cost of manufacturing. Wages amount to 16.2 per cent of the factory costs. Thus a 1.6 per cent wage cut brings only a 1.6 per cent saving."

"The peril grows out of the oft-repeated statement that the wage earner must take his share in deflation. This is entirely wrong. Real wages—by that I mean wages in relation to cost—never were inflated."

Congressmen Leave For Philippine Study

SAN FRANCISCO—In order to study conditions in the Philippines, two senators and five representatives of the United States Congress, travelling unofficially and as individuals, sailed for the Islands on Wednesday.

The two senators were Harry B. Hawkes and Roscoe Patterson, of Missouri. The representatives were: Harold Knutson, Minnesota; Anthony J. Griffin, New York; Joe J. Manlove, Missouri; Robert Green and Thomas A. Yon, Florida.

Valley Forge Speech By President Hoover Opens 1932 Campaign

WASHINGTON — The Memorial Day address to be delivered today at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, by President Hoover will mark the opening of his campaign for re-nomination and reelection, it has been learned at the White House.

The President's speech, it was understood, will follow closely the statement made last week concerning disarmament, following his conference with Hugh Gibson, minister to Belgium.

No Further Cuts

At that time, a statement was issued from the White House declaring that the President was unwilling to reduce the national defenses of this country any further, since they had already been cut to a minimum compatible with national security.

The move for reduction of armaments must come from European nations whose standing armies are a staggering burden threatening the economic stability of those nations, he declared. The European nations, at the present time, excluding Soviet Russia, are maintaining standing armies amounting to approximately 3,000,000 men.

Middle West Tour

It is understood here that President Hoover will review his past policies regarding international relations in his Valley Forge address, and will outline his plans for the future.

Following his return from Valley Forge, the President is scheduled to hold a series of conferences with department heads to discuss the problem of the reduction of government expenses. In the middle of June he will continue his reelection campaign with a long tour of the Middle West.

Catholics Attacked By Fascist Groups

ROME — Strained relationship is looming between the Catholics and Fascists throughout Italy, as attacks and counter-attacks are being made by both groups.

Journal of both factions have been printing disparaging accounts of each other, the Fascists charging political activity against the Catholic Action, a recognized religious body; while the Catholics are recording a list of the alleged cases of intimidation and violence by the Fascists against members of Catholic organizations.

The latest attack of the Fascist was against the publishing house, Civita Cattolica. The offices of this Catholic publishing house were invaded by the Fascist students, and copies of the book "The Pope" were hurled out, later being burned up along with a large number of the Osservatore Romano, the Catholic organ.

An oil portrait of Pope Pius XI was torn off the wall by the mob of students, carried into the streets and trampled upon, while cries of "traitor" were shouted at the portrait of the pope.

As a result of these demonstrations and agitations, a strong military patrol has been placed around the borders of the Vatican State. The patrol has received orders to suppress any demonstration.

Diplomatic negotiations between the Vatican and the Italian government is thought to result in order to settle these controversies. Monsignor Borgazine-Duca, representing the Vatican, is said to have conferred with Dino Grandi, foreign minister in the Italian cabinet.

Japan Baby Airplane Saves Gasoline Cost

TOKIO — Any person wishing to travel from Tokio to Osaka by air will soon be able to cover the distance in his own private airplane with gasoline costing only about ¥4.50, when the new baby airplane designed by Hideyasu Kimura, of the Imperial University Aviation Laboratory, is put on the market.

The plane itself will cost about ¥4,000 and will be equipped with a 34 horsepower engine, permitting a speed of about 100 miles per hour.

Treasury Deficit Reduction Assured

WASHINGTON—The treasury deficit which has reached $1,000,792,430 will be reduced considerably when income tax collections from the second quarter's payments on 1930 incomes are received June 15, it was announced Thursday.

At the same time, installments on war debts owed this country will be paid. These war payments should total $70,000,000. The deficit will be reduced by about $70,000,000, $80,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year, according to the announcement.

AMERICAN POLICY REGARDING DEBTS STILL UNALTERED

Dispatches State Germany To Ask Young Plan Signatories For Cut In Reparations Payments.

STATISTICS PREPARED

WASHINGTON—The officials of the treasury department have declared that the administration has not changed its attitude toward the scaling of debts owing to the United States. This announcement followed the news from Berlin that Germany is planning to ask signatories to the Young plan for a 30 per cent reduction in reparations payments.

Same Attitude Kept

The American government is maintaining the same attitude that it held when the British, French and other Allied debts were funded; it was declared. This attitude is that the debts must be paid on the terms agreed upon and there would be no connection between these debts and reparations.

The issue was raised once again when the press dispatches from Berlin stated that Foreign Minister Julius Curtius was having statistics prepared to show that the rise of gold and the fall of commodity prices have increased the reparations figures by 30 per cent.

To Meet At Chequers

The German officials are planning to submit the statistics to Premier MacDonald at the scheduled Chequers conference on June 8, the dispatch further stated. This and the disarmament question are expected to be the main features of the conference that the Germans will hold with the British Prime Minister.

Washington political observers are watching with keen interest the preparation for the Chequers meeting, since Great Britain and Germany may unite in an attempt to induce American to consent to a scaling of debts. This move would aid disarmament, they believe.

Race Intermarriage Urged By Canadian

TORONTO—Intermarriage to the fullest degree between the white and yellow races as a means of removing the possibility of a race war is being advocated by Dr. Charles Hill-Tout, Vancouver, B. C. anthropologist.

Such intermarriages, according to Dr. Hill-Tout, would not only solve the race problem but would result in a superior race. In ten generations the characteristics of the new race would be fixed, he said.

New Jersey Seeks Prohibition Repeal

TRENTON—In the campaign for political control of New Jersey both the Republicans and Democrats adopted anti-prohibition planks in their tentative platforms at their state conventions held early this week.

The Democrats asked for a repeal of the eighteenth amendment without reservations while the Republicans called for a repeal of the eighteenth amendment with restoration to the states of control of the liquor traffic.

SATO KAWAGUCHI DESCRIBES WAYS OF IMPROVEMENT

A centralization of the Japanese community in order to assure economic progress was urged by Sato Kawaguchi at the noon luncheon of the Associated Business Men's Club last Wednesday.

The Japanese community should be reorganized along the lines of Chinatown, so that American will be induced to come here to buy, Miss Kawaguchi believes. An interesting discussion on this subject was held after the speaker's talk.

Miss Kawaguchi also spoke about the plans of the Travellers Saving Society and her experiences in the valley districts in connection with her work.

Mr. Pettit, a pioneer resident of this city will speak about the early history of Seattle, illustrating his talk with slides, at next Wednesday's luncheon. Mr. Pettit is with the First Seattle Dexter Horton Bank.

At a rather well-attended meeting of the Seattle Progressive Citizens League last Saturday, it was decided that the executive-committee will arrange the program of the coming district convention to be held in Seattle on Labor Day, September 7.

While various suggestions were made concerning the convention program, the final details will be left to the executive board which will present their plans for the approval of the league as a whole at a meeting prior to the convention date.

The executive board is composed of James Y. Sakamoto, president; George Ishihara, first vice-president; Clarence T. Arai, second vice-president; Kimiko Takayoshi, recording secretary; Masako Hotta, corresponding secretary; and Toshio Hoshida, treasurer.

A discussion of the Cable Amendment was held at the last meeting of the league, while a suggestion made that an explanation of the procedure necessary for an applicant for the restoration of her citizenship rights be given by one of the league members at the time of the convention.

BRIAND DECIDES TO KEEP POST

PARIS—Aristide Briand, foreign minister in the French cabinet, has withdrawn his resignation which he presented following his defeat in the presidential elections held several weeks ago.

After urgent demands that he remain in office made by Premier Laval and his fellow ministers, Briand decided to withdraw his resignation at the meeting of the Council of Ministers held Wednesday.

At the League of Nations sessions last week, the veteran French diplomat told the members of the League that at their next session he will not be present.

Immediately following the announcement of Briand's decision to remain in office as minister of foreign affairs, Deputy Franklin-Bouillon, Briand's arch enemy, declared that he would demand the veteran statesman's replacement in the Foreign Office.

PROCEDURE GIVEN FOR APPLICANTS FOR CITIZENSHIP

Several Applications Already Made While Interest Growing Among Japanese Women Concerning Cable Amendment

ORGANIZATIONS TO HELP

With the local naturalization office now ready to handle the cases of former women citizens who under the new cable Amendment may regain their citizenship lost through marriage to aliens ineligible to citizenship, several applications have already been made and interest is growing among the Japanese women of this district concerning the procedure necessary in order to regain their rights.

Applications Ready

Application forms can be obtained at the office of the local naturalization examiner, John Speed Smith, in the Federal Building, 3rd and Union. The important points concerning the procedure for applicants are as follows:

1. The applicant must be 21 years of age or above at the time of filing petition.
2. The birth certificate and the marriage license of the applicant are required.
3. Two witnesses who are citizens of the United States must appear with the applicant to identify her and testify to her moral character and attachment to the Constitution.
4. Two unmounted photographs of the applicant, 2 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches in size, are also necessary.
5. A filing fee of $10 is charged.
6. The applicant must be able to speak the English language.
7. The oath of allegiance must be taken in open court.
8. The applicant must pass an examination on the United States Constitution, American history and the state and county government.

A certificate from the naturalization classes in the Central School, 7th and Madison, where applicants may enroll at any time free of charge will exempt them from examination in open court. A recommendation from the naturalization examiner, John Speed Smith, is necessary before enrollment in these classes which are conducted by Principal A. G. Sears, of the Washington School.

Several organizations, including the Seattle Japanese Chamber of Commerce and Japanese Association of North America and the Seattle Progressive Citizens League, have announced their willingness to aid any applicant.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Japanese Chamber of Commerce, Elliot 3607; Courier offices, Seneca 1160; or the officers of the Citizens League.

According to the amendment to the Cable act which affects the citizenship status of American-born Japanese girls who married citizens of Japanese, any woman who has heretofore lost her citizenship by marriage to an alien ineligible to citizenship, may, if she has not acquired any other nationality by an affirmative act, be restored her citizenship.

The amendment further provides that any woman who was a citizen of the United States at birth shall not be denied naturalization on account of her race, while a woman citizen of the United States does not lose her citizenship by marriage unless she makes a formal renunciation of her citizenship before a court having jurisdiction over naturalization of aliens.

PACIFISTS DENIED U. S. CITIZENSHIP

WASHINGTON—Because of the refusal to swear unconditionally that they would bear arms during war time, Douglas C. MacIntosh, professor of theology at Yale, and Marie Bland, a Canadian war nurse, were refused citizenship in a ruling handed down by the Supreme Court on Monday.

In voicing the majority opinion, Justice Sutherland declared that an applicant for citizenship must be willing to support the government both in time of war and in time of peace. Although war was abominable, Justice Sutherland declared that there had been found no way of permitting it and all citizens must take up arms in time of stress.

Chief Justice Hughes, Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone dissented. Chief Justice Hughes stated that Congress had not required all applicants for citizenship to take up arms and urged that the religious scruples of those opposing war be respected.

Both of the applicants saw service in France during the world war, but MacIntosh declared that he would heretofore take up arms only if he felt the cause of the United States was just, while Miss Bland declared she would gladly serve as a nurse but refused to take up arms under any circumstances.

Among the teams played in Japan were Hosen, Waseda, Tokio Baseball Club, Meiji, Hiroshima Commercial College, Alameda All-Stars (from California), Yokohama All Stars and a host of other strong aggregations.

WASEDA SENIORS WIN IN EXHIBITION

Ueyehara Smacks Homer; Sab Iwana Counters With Triple In Set-To

Playing an exhibition game, Waseda Seniors defeated Taiyo Reds 7-4 at Walla Walla playfield last Sunday. Dave Yamaka and Tad Kuniyuki opposed each other on the mound.

Reds were leading 2-1 at the end of third inning, but timely hits, coupled with their opponents' errors, enabled the Wasedas to chalk up three runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings to take the game.

Batting left-handed, Ueyehara walloped a homer for the Wasedas, while Sab Iwana garnered a triple to lead his teammates.

Batteries were—Wasedas: Yamaka and Kiga. Taiyos: Kuniyuki, and Sao.

California Scrapper Garners Third Win

LOS ANGELES — In the most colorful bout of an action card last Saturday, Tom Yamanaka K. O.'ed Bucky O'Brien, Santa Ana welter, in a little more than a round. This is the third successive victory for the scrapping Japanese boxer.

The two fighters went at it hammer and tongs from the opening gong. A well timed right sent Yamanaka sprawling to the floor for an instant in the latter half of the first, but the Nipponese came back strong enough to grab the margin of superiority for that heat.

The second round found Yamanaka on the aggressive with O'Brien beating a stubborn but steady retreat, finally proving an easy mark for Yamanaka's sleep-producing paw.

BOY SHARPSHOOTER

LOS ANGELES — One Japanese boy, George Kanegae, was on the team of five R. O. T. C. rifle squad members representing University High School, which won second place in the Middle West section of Junior units.

They will give exhibition matches at the various universities and high schools.

NIPPONS TO FACE KUAYS IN FRACAS

Triple-Header at Civic Auditorium Set As Holiday Baseball Dish

This Sunday's Community League program finds a triple-header at the Civic Auditorium, beginning at 12 o'clock. In the opener the Nippons will tangle with Queen Anne. In the feature game that follows, the two undefeated Atlantic Street and Glendale teams will clash at 2 o'clock. The nightcap game finds White Center opposing University.

Last Sunday the Nippons took one on the chin from the strong Renton nine. Elwood Bridges had the Nippon boys guessing at his fast curves. The Nippons got 6 scattered hits. Umemoto and Kuniyuki got two hits apiece.

The fielding spice of the day was Aoki's great catch of a hard one at first base. He caught Kuniyuki's poor throw stretched out on the ground.

Nakao started on the mound and was relieved by Sakai.

SECOND IN SWIM

EATONVILLE WINS IN TACOMA LOOP; FIFE VICTORS, 11-8

Lumbermen in Winning Streak To Down Churchgoers 13-9 In Tilt Sunday

D. MATSUSHIMA STARS

TACOMA — Eatonville continued its winning streak by defeating the Buddhists 13-9 last Sunday. Yamamoto on the mound for the Lumbermen was relieved by Yoshino in the second frame when the Buddhists garnered 5 runs.

Yoshino held the Buddhists to 4 scattered hits, but in the fifth the Buddhists ran up more runs on Eatonville errors.

For the Buddhists Nakao was off form and Eatonville took a liking to his ball in the fifth and pounded hard for 7 runs. Kuramoto finished the game but the 7 run rally was too great to overcome.

Three Out of Three
Kawakami and Kubo hit well for the Buddhists, getting 2 hits apiece while Nobu Nakatani was the big gun for the Lumbermen, getting 3 singles in three trips to plate.

Batteries:—Eatonville: Yamamoto, Yoshino and Sakura. Buddhists: Nakao, Kuramoto, and Kubo.

In the second game Fife defeated the Seimens 11-8. Frank Semba pitched a good game but lacked the support of his teammates. Ben Yoshida held the Seimens to 1 hit and 1 run up to the fifth inning. N. Yoshida took the mound but the Seimens took a liking to his ball and pounded the ball hard to put in 5 runs in the sixth.

B. Yoshida relieved him again and held the Seimens to 2 hits for the remainder of the period.

Hitters Swat Many
N. Yoshida had a good day getting 2 singles and a double at 5 trips to the plate. S. Higashi got 2 out of 4 trips. Teraoka was the mainstay for the Seimens getting a single and a double at 4 times at bat. D. Matsushima starred in the outfield by some fine catching.

Batteries: Fife—B. Yoshida, N. Yoshida, and Hamanishi, Ohashi. Seimens—Semba and Teraoka.

MEMORIAL DAY

This day we pause from our daily tasks to honor the heroes of this nation who have passed to the Great Beyond. We lay aside our tools and implements with which we earn our daily bread in respect for the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice on the battle fields or in the greater battle of life.

It is a fitting gesture as a small token of appreciation for their devotion to this country. It is an humble tribute that the nation owes to those who have responded valiantly to the country's call. A host of martyrs in silent array will witness the march of soldiers and civilians on parade, a tragic reminder to those invisible but omnipresent spectators that there are many left behind who have yet to die for the cause. There will be a long parade to the final resting grounds of those now silent heroes and, as the living approach those sacred mounds, a wee voice will whisper to them that soon they, too, will join the ranks of the silent hosts.

It is a sad day for young and old. While bereaved dear ones will be paid a special tribute by their friends and relatives, there will be many unknown warriors whose names and deeds have long been forgotten and who are remembered, if at all, solely by the cause for which they had given their lives.

At such a time it is only proper that the torch of the noble cause that the dying have flung to the living may be kept burning, and that its searing flame may lead the way triumphantly toward ultimate victory. It is for the living to keep faith with the dead that they may not have died in vain. It is for the living to espouse with renewed vigor the noble cause that the dying have left with us, that their sacrifices may not have been in vain.

Millions have died in a conflict that was termed "the war to end wars." The slogan of 1917 can well be made the slogan of today, "a war to end wars." Our fight, however, will not be with guns and canons, battleships and airplanes, nor with barbed wires and poisonous chemicals; the fight of today will be won through the gradual reduction of these forces of destruction, through the clarification of all misunderstanding, and through the establishment of peace and goodwill on this earth.

This is the cause upon which the entire world is concentrating its efforts today. Ironically, we are striving to prevent in the future the sad spectacle which the memorial services of this very day recall so strikingly to our minds. We are seeking to banish strife and armed conflicts which have allied themselves with the Grim Reaper to mow down the youths of all nations whom we are honoring this day.

A more appropriate day could not be chosen for all to pledge themselves once again to dedicate their lives for the work of peace, to combat the menace of death that comes from hatred and distrust. A more fitting day could not be selected for all to review the follies of past wars, the disastrous consequences that are too evident on this day, to resolve that such follies shall not be repeated, and to consecrate their lives to this endeavor that this resolution may be fulfilled.

It may be a sentimental plea, but the necessity for such a plea and the even more urgent necessity of establishing peace and goodwill on this earth is all too apparent. We must not fail the trust that the dying and the dead have placed in us.

THE AMERICAN PUBLIC

Prince and Princess Takamatsu have left for their homeland after a two months' sojourn in this country where the distinguished visitors from Japan were extended a memorable greeting and a warm hospitality which, as His Imperial Highness stated at the San Francisco Japan Society banquet on the eve of his departure, they will cherish as a manifestation of friendship by the people of the United States to the people of Japan.

Their Imperial Highnesses' sojourn in the United States has been a triumph for Japanese-American relations. The American people have taken full advantage of the opportunity given them to express their friendly feelings toward the Japanese in preparing an elaborate welcome for the imperial representatives of the island empire in the Orient. The response and the sincere attitude of the American people have shown in a manner infinitely more expressive than the speeches of statesmen and diplomats the actual feeling of the people of this country toward Japan.

It is through such overt acts that this work of linking the Orient and the Occident can be best accomplished. While the great mass of people may not heed the words of great thinkers, the addresses of the leaders of the nations or the assurances of distinguished envoys, they have followed the itinerary of the Japanese prince and his bride and have participated in the welcome prepared for them, when given the opportunity to do so.

Prince and Princess Takamatsu have left this country with the best wishes of the American people, the best of souvenirs; while the citizens of this country have bidden him farewell with rejoicing in their hearts that they had such a splendid opportunity to manifest their cordial friendship toward the people of Japan.

THE PRIME DUTY

The Seattle Progressive Citizens League decided at its last meeting to aid all former women citizens who desire to regain their citizenship as permitted by the Cable Amendment which became a law on March 3.

It is only natural that the Citizens League should assume this attitude, for every applicant who regains her American birthright will become a welcome, additional member of this organization. As potential members, some of them former members, of the league, these applicants for the restoration of their citizenship lost through marriage to Japanese men who are aliens ineligible to citizenship, should now take an active interest in the affairs of the league, in the political affairs of the nation.

Today, President Hoover begins his campaign for renomination and reelection. Soon will come once again thrilling but hectic, turbulent but important times when this nation will decide who shall be the leader of this country for the coming four years. It is the duty of every citizen of the United States to take a keen interest in this decision, to study the facts and the viewpoints available to him, and to participate intelligently as one member of the American citizenry in the forming of this decision. It is moreover the duty of those former citizens who have now been recognized and given back their American status, to do likewise.

With various organizations willing to aid these applicants, their feminine timidity, or lassitude should not bar their way toward going through the procedure that will make them once more full-fledged citizens of this nation. They must perform this prime duty which will bring them further, more important responsibilities as well as privileges.

These American women of Japanese ancestry who bear close relationship to the women of Japan through their marriage and their heritage, can become a strong aid, indirectly, in the fight the Japanese are now waging for women's suffrage. Through intelligent participation in the political affairs of this nation, the women here can set an example to their sisters in Japan and prove to the dubious ones of that country that Japanese women, whether citizens of this country or of the island empire, can be a powerful and valuable influence in guiding the political destinies of their respective nations.

For all these reasons, these former citizens of the United States must take full advantage of the recognition given them and with the aid of the Seattle Progressive Citizens League and other organizations, should immediately claim what has always been and now fully recognized as their inherent right by virtue of birth in this country.

THE ANCHOR

Superior scholastic achievements, superior athletic achievements, superior artistic achievements, all come to nought unless there accompanies these successes a strong background of superior character.

Fortunately, in many cases intellectual attainments, success in sports, or brilliant distinction in fine arts are found in persons who enjoy a strong foundation of sterling moral integrity. The upright moral character of a person facilitates him, in fact, inspires him to seek the higher levels of ambitious aspirations. Thus, excellence in school, sports, or artistic endeavors become adornments that enhance the moral character of the person.

However, the few isolated cases where brilliance is accompanied by a weak or vicious character reminds us that the primary necessity of a man is a strong moral foundation. There have been cases where some spectacular or worthwhile accomplishments have been credited to individuals whose backbone, or the lack of it, compares them to a jellyfish. The havoc that such individuals with macaroni backbones have wrought to any person that may have come into their lives, nullifies any achievement that otherwise would have been a commendable one.

Art is unmoral, some people claim. Perhaps it is, but in the final judgment the man is more important than his art. The happiness he could spread or the service to humankind that he could render are far more essential factors than any impersonal contribution he could make in the field of literature, art, or even science. It may be a bold statement, which fortunately is mitigated when one considers actualities, since those who have made distinctive contributions have been in the majority those who were prompted to do so because of their excellent moral character. But however bold the statement, it is nevertheless true.

A man without character is, indeed, like a ship without an anchor.

Lumber Industry Picking up
Times have changed; toothpicks are again in style. With this prevailing "hard times" waging wrath and woe to possessors of delated stomachs due to existing circumstances, such people at least are not to be shunned at for they are not broadcasting the "blues and 'squealing'" to others about their hard-lucks; even their meals are scanty and optimistic enough to put a toothpick in their mouths to render a rhapsody of a contented meal to whosever cast their gaze upon them. Let's all get a toothpick and join in on the parade instead of complaining. If you try to get toothpicks from a grocer it may cost you something but from a restaurant, well..... catch on? Besides, one at a time is sufficient. Don't get over too (two) enthusiastic, see?

What Price Peanuts
"They started to hoot at me when I offered to play" but when the owl died it was a different story. Imagine the embarrassment when you are about to sit down for dinner and some unexpected company calls and you can't very cheerfully ask them to join in due to shortage of grub. Certainly, to make room at the table is easy enough and a few more extra plates won't make your wife's hair turn gray, but the vital thing in question is, is there sufficient food? Here is a problem that has confronted many a housewife and the old man as a rule doesn't know what's going on at all. However, to meet such predicament, here's where high school domestic science course comes in handy. You needn't cook more potatoes or offer more bread and try to stretch out the dinner by displaying two napkins for each victim. Here is the solution which many a housewife will agree with me. I mean exceptional housewife, so don't fret over trifles.

Plenty of Vitamins
While the conversation is still at its height and the echoes of "howdy and how have you been" have not died out, have the old man run over to the grocery for a huge quantity of peanuts and allow everyone to eat them to their contented bliss. Of course encourage them along as food factor it's an essential and spread plenty of vitamins with it. Disposal of empty shells may be left to everyone's judgement, however, some may seek the easiest way via the open window but take no heed for wind of nature will take care of that. After this program cheerfully with a smile on your face invite the unexpected victims to stay for dinner stating at the same time that there is plenty of food for everyone, that the wife's foresight always take care of such situations. One must never fear consequences, for after the peanuts settle down they won't be able to eat much. You know peanuts are not only filling but they are very sustaining.
Should anything happen in that the grocery store is closed and that peanuts are not obtainable, you can console yourself at least to meditate the subject over and over that high school course in domestic science is not practical.

MAC KANEKO was the star of the Waseda Entertainment last week.

In many more ways than one.

THE ENGLISH PLAY was "Submerged" in fact, as well as in name, 'cause it wasn't given.

The Wasedas also tried to get two acts from Tacoma, the best of those given at the latter city's recent Methodist entertainment..... but it kicked that one of the actors over there didn't like someone in Seattle, and besides the Tacomas were tired.

Or something like that. Anyway, Wasedas didn't get the acts.

EIGHTEEN Japanese students are graduating from the University of Washington this year.

Of the fourteen men, all except two were born in Japan.

Of the four women, all were born in Seattle.

"GEORGE" is undoubtedly the most popular name among the second-generation youths.

Offhand I either know or have heard of the following Georges: George Hirata, Hirahara, Honda, Ikegami, Inada, Inouye, Ishihara, Hashitani, Kambe, Kanazawa, Katsuhira, Kadoyama, Fukuhara, Makino, Mukai, Nakashima, Numata, Ochikubo, Ohi, Okada, Okuda, Otsubo, Shimizu, Shinowara, Terada, Teraoka, Tokuda, Tsukuno, Tsutakawa, Watanabe, Yamada, Yamaka, Yamaoka, Yanagimachi, Yasumura.
Such popularity must be deserved.

AS FOR the most popular name among the second-generation girls.....

Yep, you've guessed it! It's Mary. How's this for a starter:

Plum Pudding

By Jimmy Hirai

Not so many days ago when I was waiting in a dentist's office for my turn to come around, I idly picked up a magazine and read an article by Edward G. Guest. It was an essay entitled "A little kiss is worth more than a million wisecracks." Now how am I supposed to believe that?

Next to filing my finger-nails I can't stand the sensation I get when the dentist applies the drill on my teeth. It's something like the feeling I get when someone scratches a garbage can or some metal plate.

Walked up Jackson Street the other day and happened to notice a man nonchalantly stoop over and pick up a cigarette butt. I glanced over expecting to see him light it but instead he tore the paper off the butt and calmly placed the tobacco in his coat pocket. He strolled by for another few steps and then stooped and picked up another cigarette butt and then did the same thing with it. I furtively watched him for several minutes while the same process went on with several more butts.

By now my curiosity was aroused so I stood by a shop window and watched him. He stopped by the corner and then pulled a pipe out of his pocket and then down he reached for his "Luckies". Mighty clever, my man!

Eats, Oh Boy!

By SATOSHI HOSHI

Rio Kashiwagi's Sunday school class enjoyed a nice afternoon at his home last Sunday. The sun was doing its duty making it hot enough to go swimming.

And, say, did we go swimming? I just wonder. I know I didn't go because I can't swim. To tell you hardly anyone went swimming because the water was too cold for it. So to replace swimming we went boating.

The boat was not a large sized one but big enough to hold four or five kids. Besides boating I spent my idle hours on shore trying to get a free coat of brown instead of going downtown and buy one. That's how Scotch I am.

Besides swimming and boating we ate. I suppose you wonder how much I ate. Well it took plenty to satisfy my hunger. I took a couple of coney Island red hots, but by the time it reached me from there they were only red worms (worms). I think I emptied a small-sized box of graham crackers. I'm not quite sure, yet. Some doughnuts and some four glasses of orange and lemon juices. If I had more drinks than eats I wouldn't have eaten so much. Boy! The juices fills you up.

Lucky the bill wasn't handed to me after I finished eating. I would not have eaten so much.

OTSUBO WILL GO WITH STUDY TOUR PARTY TO NIPPON

University Senior Will Sail As Assistant Tour Leader for Fukuoka Kengakudan To Japan

GROUPS WILL COMBINE

George Otsubo, senior at the University of Washington, will go to Japan next month as assistant tour leader for the Fukuoka Kengakudan, which is scheduled to sail from Seattle on June 24, it has been announced.

In addition to assisting with the management of the tour, a part of Otsubo's duties will be interpreting and also lecturing to the second generation members of the party on the history and customs of the Island Empire, explaining the significance of the various sights encountered.

Groups To Combine

The Northwest group will include young people from Seattle and vicinity, Vancouver, B. C., and perhaps Oregon. In Yokohama they will join members of a kengakudan party being formed in California by the Fukuoka Kenjinkai of that state and the combined groups will then tour Japan together.

Twelve young California second generation boys and girls have already sent in applications to join the California group which sails from San Francisco on June 25. The applicants include three from the Bay area, three from stockton, one from central California, and three from San Jose.

Expense Set at $200

Members will visit historical spots as well as industrial plants and educational institutions while in Japan. The entire expense of the journey will be $200.

A mammoth picnic is being planned in Fukuoka, at which both the visitors and the great number of American-born but Japan-raised boys and girls in Fukuoka will enjoy the day together.

Author Will Write Okei's Life Story

FRESNO—The bravery of a Japanese girl, Okei, who in 1870 was the first woman of her race to come to California in a romantic search for wealth from growing of silk and tea of her native land, soon will be immortalized for Japanese readers by the author T. Kimura.

Kimura, who was in Fresno last week on a political lecture, weaved the threads of his projected romance in his mind as he reflected on the scenes of Okei's adventure in Placer County which he has just visited.

Fuyokai Fotos

Well, the deed has been done. Which if expressed more sanely, only says that the members of this organization had a group picture taken. Just to be different, I omit the usual remarks.

After posing half the afternoon, the girls went to spend the rest of the day, Sunday, May 24, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fujii, a recently married couple. Mrs. Fujii being a Fuyo-Kai alumna. (Some sentence for a U student or anybody else to write!) Ho, hum, June will be along soon—which may be just a simple statement or something else. Who knows?

Short, long, short again—no matter how much you try you simply can't understand women. And if anyone can understand what I'm driving at, his intelligence quotient must be pretty good.

Random thoughts:
Chiye Horiuchi, Mika Matsushita, and Kay Suzuki manufacturing nut cups. Entertaining a boy—a little one—is about the most painful process in the world. Yurino Takayoshi walks about the campus as if she really meant business. Hannah Kosaka took part in the piano recital given by the pupils of Ruth McCreery. Certainly feels pleasant to get a calling down in class—but accidents will happen. A letter from Tomi Tsukumo says that she is enjoying Japan more all the time.

"Future Is Bright In Architecture," Matsumoto Says

Local Designer Believes Second Generation Youths Have Good Opportunity In This Field

REQUIREMENTS LISTED

"In the next ten years a large field in architecture will be open to the second generation Japanese," predicted Takashi Matsumoto, local architectural designer and engineer in an interview.

According to Matsumoto, the field is just being opened to the Japanese and a student just starting high school now will undoubtedly find the architectural field wide open for them by the time they graduate from university.

Many Years Experience

Matsumoto pointed out that a college education is not absolutely necessary to become an architect, for even one with a high school education may secure a permit to practice architecture if he has acquired knowledge Matsumoto has acquired practical knowledge for his art from ten years of studying while working for different firms.

He was born in Japan and after acquiring a high school education there, came over to this country for the purpose of becoming an architect. From the Yakima High School he directed his course of study out to the University of Washington and studied there for several years.

For the last ten months Matsumoto was engaged by the Seattle Public School Board as a designer and he had the privilege of designing the Broadway Annex, Daniel Bagley Grammar School, the Emerson Addition, James Monroe Jr. High School and the Daniel Webster Grammar School.

Principal Requirements

When asked what the principal requirements for becoming a successful architect were, Matsumoto listed them as follows:

First: a certain amount of "pull," for social contact figures quite largely in an architect's life.

Second: a developed artistic sense.

Third: a keen perspective into the future, for an architect must be able to judge toward just what a trend future design will go.

Mr. Matsumoto seemed to be of the opinion that the chief problem for the architect at present is to educate his public into discovering that houses and structure can and are being built much more cheaply and durably by architects than by contractors.

Second Generation Will Become Priest

SAN FRANCISCO—Noboru Tsunoda, 20, of Santa Barbara has been selected by the North American Buddhist Federation officials to be educated in Japan to become the first second generation Buddhist priest, it has been revealed.

The Buddhist temples in California have been searching for a promising second generation youth to be given free education in one of the Buddhist universities in Japan for the past several months, and Tsunoda was chosen out of several candidates.

According to the present schedule Tsunoda will leave the United States for Japan sometime in August where he will enter the Ryuko Daigaku in Kyoto, one of the largest Buddhist colleges in the Island Empire. He is to study at the college for four years.

Tsunoda is a graduate of the San Mateo Junior college and is the vice-president of the North American Y. M. B. A. federation.

Voice Of Vashon

By Martha Tanimura

Miriam Takatsuka has the honor of being the only Japanese to graduate with the 1931 class of Vashon Union High. She received her diploma at the commencement exercises held on the evening of May 28.

Don Matsumoto delivered the salutatory address of the Vashon 8th grade graduation. Besides being a star student, Don is also a star athlete.

Mas Nakamichi was the only Japanese to receive an 8th grade diploma of 1931 from the Burton district.

Han Miyoshi is a proud possessor of a baseball autographed by the members of the V. H. S. baseball team, which was presented to him as a token of his untiring patience as their manager.

A wiener roast with marshmallows and pink lemonade—swimming, rowing and racing spelt an advent of another beach party at Ellispark, as the Islanders Club sponsored their annual frolic last Saturday evening.

Seeing Tacoma

With Mollie Nishioka

Kazu Nishioka is back home again and—well, ask the Tacoma Seiners why they made so many errors in the baseball game last Sunday.

I wonder why "Jo Jo" is so popular. Maybe it's because he looks like seventeen and acts like fourteen. And to think he used to be the dignified Mr. Akihisa Nishimura.

Toshi Kawaguchi, who came up north with Kazu, seemed to be enjoying herself immensely Sunday night. Not home-sick for Frisco, are you?

Who ever thought that a big heman like Daichi Yoshioka would blush over nothing? Well, he actually became crimson when a girl whispered to him. Such bashfulness, tsk, tsk!

When Haru Omori said she intended to visit Wapato during the week-end, a certain young girl was heard to say, "Be sure to give my love to 'Sonny Boy.'"

Who is this Sonny Boy? Explanation wanted. How about it, Jim Umemoto?

At the beach party the Tacoma J. S. C. gave Saturday, I thought Yoshiko Konzo was an expert marshmallow toaster. In fact she was until I complimented her, and she would insist that I eat the burnt ones.

COMEDIAN CAPER TO DRAW LAUGHS IN WASEDA SHOW

Japanese Play and Numerous Skits Seen On Program Given By Athletes At Nippon Kan

MUSICAL NUMBERS GOOD

A good cast of comedians brought the Waseda Entertainment to an uproarious climax last Friday evening, May 22, as they appeared in a Japanese comedy entitled "Nagoya no Kyaku," one of the funniest plays ever presented at Nippon Kan. Mac Kaneko as a hick nephew and Bill Inashi as a Tokyo policeman garnered most of the laughs, but were closely pressed for honors by their fellow actors.

Lindy Ucheyara as the country uncle, Toshi Hoshide, Henry Kiga, Dave Yamaka, Welly Shibata, and Takeshi Kubota were others who limned their roles well in this mirth-provoking play directed by Tsuru Nakamura.

"Rub a Dub Dub"

Presenting an act of comedy patter and gags, Art Sasaki, Welly Shibata, and Tinky Yoshida scored a hit in "Rub a Dub Dub, Three Men in a Tub."

Comic skits were in fact the predominant entertainment of the evening. Billed as The Revelers, Ted Nakashima, Bill Inashi, Hannah Kosaka, and Yurino Takayoshi presented a skit, "The King's Horse," animated by Mac Kaneko and Bill Inashi, danced and capered. Three of the Waseda Cougars, George Yamaka, Kaz Shimomura, and Sam Hokari presented a black face skit.

"Loose Nuts" Opens

Yone Ota, Norio Wakamatsu, and Hirade appeared in a comic skit, while "Loose Nuts" with Art Sasaki, Welly Shibata, and Dave Yamaka opened the program.

Good Musical numbers rounded out the entertainment, with a whistling solo by Mrs. C. T. Arai, vocal solos by Teru Watanabe, saxophone solos by Shungo Kashiwagi, and a trombone solo by Mac Kaneko. Sakiko Aoki was accompanist.

Iwao Hara acted as the master of ceremonies for the program.

Katayamas Delay Sailing Until June

LOS ANGELES—Unable to obtain passports and settle other important business, Mr. and Mrs. K. Katayama and their two daughters, Lillian and Alice, have decided to postpone their departure for Japan until next month. This will enable Lillian Katayama to finish the term at U. C. L. A. where finals start at beginning of June.

The Katayamas came to Los Angeles from Seattle two years ago. Both Lillian and Alice are prominent at the Japanese Union church, taking active part in the work of the Young People's society. Both are members of the Blue Triangle Club.

Alice Katayama is one of the best known Japanese violinists of this city. She intends to continue her musical career in Japan and may continue on to Europe to study music.
