SINO-JAPANESE 16 SUPPLEMENTARY POINTS TO 1905 MANCHU PACT TOLD

Agreements In Regard To Construction And Protection Of Railroads Recorded In Minutes of Conference; Remained Unpublished at China's Request

COPIES SENT TO UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN

Owing to the denial of high Chinese officials of the existence of the supplementary agreements made between Japan and China at the time the respective nations signed the Treaty of Peking in 1905 concerning Manchuria, the following statement, recorded in the Minutes of the Conference, containing the 16 points relative to the railways and their effect on Japan and China, are herewith presented.

The statement follows:
The Text
In 1905, when the Treaty concerning Manchuria and the supplementary agreement to it were concluded, the Japanese Government insisted on the insertion in the text of the Treaty definite engagements on certain matters. Since, however, the Chinese Government found it difficult for internal political reasons to consent to the publication of such engagements, it was agreed that these should be merely recorded in the Minutes of the Conference which were drawn up both in Japanese and Chinese and signed by the Japanese and Chinese plenipotentiaries. These unpublished understandings totalled sixteen in number. An English version summarizing these provisions was submitted, in February, 1906, to the British and the United States Governments in strict confidence by Japanese Government.

Record In Minutes
Inasmuch as there seems to be some doubt as to the existence of these understandings in the Minutes of the Conference, and as people even in positions of influence in China have openly denied it, this Government think the present a fit occasion to publish the above-mentioned communication made to the Governments of Great Britain and the United States.

Whereas the protocols of the Conference recently held between the Plenipotentiaries of Japan and China with regard to Manchuria are to be kept strictly secret in deference to the desire of the Chinese Government, only such portions of those protocols as possess the character of executory agreements are given in the following summary:

Japan To Lend

1. The railway between Changchun and Kirin will be constructed by China with capital to be raised by herself. She, however, agrees to borrow from Japan the insufficient amount of capital, which amount being about one-half of the total sum required. The contract concerning the loan shall, in due time, be concluded, following mutatis mutandis, the loan contract entered into between the Board of the Imperial Railways of North China and the Anglo-Chinese Syndicate. The term of the loan shall be twenty-five years, redeemable in yearly instalments.

2. The military railway constructed by Japan between Mukden and Hsinmintun shall be sold to China at a price to be fairly determined in consultation by Commissioners appointed for the purpose by the two Governments. China engage to reconstruct the line making it her own railway, and to borrow from a Japanese corporation or corporations one half of the capital required for the portion of the line east of Liao-ho for a term of eighteen years repayable in yearly instalments, and a contract shall be concluded, for the purpose following, mutatis mutandis, the loan contract entered into between the Board of the Imperial Railways of North China and the Anglo-Chinese Syndicate.

All the other military railways in different localities shall be removed with the evacuation of the regions.
No Parallel Line
3. The Chinese Government engage, for the purpose of protecting the interest of the South Manchurian Railway, not to construct, prior to the recovery by them of the said railway, any main line in the neighborhood of and parallel to that railway, or any branch line which might be prejudicial to the interest of the above-mentioned railway.

4. China declares that she will adopt sufficient measure for securing Russia's faithful observance of the Russo-Chinese treaties with regard to the railways which Russia continues to possess in the northern part of Manchuria, and that it is her intention, in case Russia acts in contravention of such treaty stipulations, to approach her strongly with a view to have such action fully rectified.

5. When in the future, negotiations are to be opened between Japan and Russia for regulation of the connecting railway services (Article VIII of the Treaty of Peace between Japan and Russia), Japan shall give China previous notice. China shall communicate to Russia her desire to take part in the negotiations through commissioners to be despatched by her on the occasion, and Russia consenting shall participate in such negotiations.

Fairness Sought

6. With regard to the mines in the Province of Fengtien, appertaining to the railway, whether already worked or not, fair and detailed arrangements shall be agreed upon for mutual observance.

7. The affairs relating to the connecting services as well as those of common concern in respect of the telegraph lines in the Province of Fengtien and the cables between Port Arthur and Yantai shall be arranged from time to time as necessity may arise in consultation between the two countries.

8. The regulations respecting the places to be opened in Manchuria, shall be made by China herself, but the Japanese Minister at Peking must be previously consulted regarding the matter.

9. If no objection be offered on the part of Russia respecting the navigation of the Sungari (by Japanese vessels), China shall consent to such navigation after negotiations.

China Guarantees Peace

10. The Chinese Plenipotentiaries declare that immediately after the withdrawal of the Japanese and Russian troops from Manchuria, China will proceed to take, in virtue of her sovereign right, full administrative measures to guarantee peace in that region and endeavor, by the same right, to promote good and remove evil as well as steadily to restore order, so that the residents of that region, natives and foreigners, may equally enjoy the security of life and occupation under the perfect protection of the Chinese Government. As to the means of restoring order, the Chinese Government are to take by themselves all adequate measures.

11. While relations of intimate friendship subsisted as at the present time between China and Japan, Japan and Russia had unfortunately engaged in war and fought in the territory of China. But peace has now been reestablished and hostilities in Manchuria have ceased. And while it is undeniable that Japanese troops, before their withdrawal, have the power to exercising the right accruing from military occupation, the Chinese Government declare that certain Japanese subjects in Manchuria have recently been observed to sometimes interfere with the local Chinese administration and to inflict damage to public and private property of China.

To Promote Good Will

The Japanese Plenipotentiaries, considering that, should such interference and infliction of damages have been carried beyond military necessity, they are not proper acts, declare that they will communicate the purport of the above declaration of the Chinese Government to the Government of Japan, so that proper steps may be taken for controlling Japanese subjects in the Province of Fengtien and promote the friendly relations between the two nations, and also for preventing them in future, from interfering with the Chinese administration or inflicting damage to public or private property without military necessity.

12. In regard to any public or private property of China which may have been purposely destroyed or used by Japanese subjects without any military necessity, the Government of the two countries shall respectively make investigations and cause fair reparation to be made.

Consult First

13. When the Chinese local authorities intend to despatch troops for the purpose of subduing native bandits in the regions not yet completely evacuated by Japanese troops, they shall not fail to previously consult with the Commander of the Japanese troops stationed in those regions so that all misunderstandings may be avoided.

14. The Japanese Plenipotentiaries declare that the Railway Guards stationed between Changchun and the boundary line of the leased territory of Port Arthur and Talien, shall not be allowed, before their withdrawal, to unreasonably interfere with the local administration of China or to proceed without permission beyond the limits of the railway.

Permission Given

15. Chinese local authorities, who are to reside at Inkou, shall be allowed, even before the withdrawal of the Japanese troops to proceed to that place and transact their official business. The date of their departure is to be determined, as soon as possible after the definite conclusion of this Treaty, by the Japanese Minister to China in consultation with the Waiwupu. As there is still in that place a considerable number of Japanese troops, quarantine regulations as well as regulations for the prevention of contagious diseases, shall be established by the authorities of the two countries in consultation with each other so that epidemics may be avoided.

League Had No Just Reason For Action, Japan Makes Reply

TOKIO, Japan—Under six headings, Japan issued a statement late this week in reply to the League of Nations, declaring that there was no just reason for the League's action and that China was responsible for the hostilities in Shanghai.

At the same time Japan delivered an ultimatum to Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai, Chinese commander at Shanghai, demanding that his troops be withdrawn or withdrawing by the end of this week.

The ambassadors of France and England, who called on Foreign Minister Yoshizawa, were told that an explanation would be given later, but that the ultimatum was given only after peace efforts, made with the assistance of the French consular officials at Shanghai, had failed.

Integrity Safe

In the first point made by Japan in her reply to the League, the government declared that they had taken no action which would infringe on the territorial and political integrity of China, nor that she intended to do so.

The attack made by Japanese troops was necessitated by the chaotic conditions in China, and was the purpose of protecting Japan's nationals and property, the second point stated.

The third point touched on the immediate future, Japan declaring that she would not advance if China would withdraw her troops, not believing it necessary to gain possession of Chinese territory or monopolies.

Withdrawal Urged

Japan will withdraw into the International Settlement if China will pull back her troops, leaving the arbitration of the matter to the neutral foreign powers, stated the fourth point.

Further, on the basis of the points given above, Japan did not violate Article 10 of the League Covenant, the Kellogg-Briand Peace pact, or the nine-power treaty; therefore, the action of the League was unwarranted, the fifth point of Japan's reply stated.

Finally, Japan placed responsibility for the hostilities on China, and expressed the regret that the League should have doubted Japan's action, and not asked China to stop hostilities.

Painleve Appointed To Organize Cabinet

PARIS—Following the resignation of Premier Laval and his cabinet early this week, President Paul Doumer called upon Paul Painleve, former premier, to once again assume the reins of French government.

Because Painleve believes that security from invasion must precede disarmament, it is believed that the French attitude at the Geneva arms conference will remain unchanged. She is insisting on security before disarmament.

Painleve, who is 68 years old, is the son of a baker, mathematician and popular in French political circles. While he first became a member of the Chamber of Deputies in 1906, he gained recognition during the World War, when he was premier in 1917.

Cordozo Appointed To Succeed Holmes

WASHINGTON—President Hoover appointed Benjamin Nathan Cordozo, chief justice of the New York State Court of Appeals late this week, to succeed to the United States Supreme Court bench to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Because Cordozo is backed by the two New York senators, Senator Borah of Idaho and other powerful leaders, his confirmation in the Senate is expected.

Hoover conferred with administration senators and Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, before announcing his choice. The lineup of the Supreme Court is now five Republicans and four Democrats.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica—Although surrounded by government forces, the rebel forces barricaded here in the Bella Vista Barracks, withstood a heavy fire. In an attempt to capture the presidential palace, the rebels failed.

16. The revenue of the Maritime Customs at Yingkou shall be deposited with the Yokohama Specie Bank and delivered to the Chinese local authorities at the time of evacuation. As to the revenue of the native Customs at that place and the taxes and imports at all other places, which are to be appropriated for local expenditures, a statement of receipts and expenditures shall be delivered to the Chinese local authorities at the time of evacuation.

'LAME DUCK' BILL PASSED BY HOUSE ON EIGHTH TRIAL

Norris' Long Fight Nears Victory; Three-Fourths States Must Ratify

WOULD BE AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON—The long fight of Senator Charles E. Norris, Republican irreconcilable from Nebraska, to abolish lame duck sessions and congressmen was approaching its end with victory in sight, as the House passed his amendment to the constitution by a vote of 335 to 56.

The bill has now gone to a conference where minor differences will be adjusted. The Senate had already passed it, while the House approved it by the required two-thirds vote, only after it had rejected or side-tracked it seven previous times. Approval by the house was a distinct victory for Norris.

In its final state, the bill must be approved by three-fourths of the states. Should it be so passed, it would become the twentieth amendment to the Constitution.

The bill provides that a new Congress shall meet two months after the November elections, instead of thirteen months later, as is now provided. This would mean that the congressmen would take office January 4, while the President and vice-president would take oath January 15.

Under the provisions of the bill, Congress is to assemble at least once a year within two months after the November elections. No limit was fixed on the second annual session, thereby ending a 10-year controversy between the Senate and House.

Germany Asks Arms Cut By All Nations

GENEVA—Placing a ban on general conscription, aircraft, poison gas and bacteriological warfare, and the limitation of fighting ships and big guns, Germany late this week asked that all the nations of the world disarm in proportion to that suffered by her after the World War.

Declaring that Germany was already disarmed, Count Rudolf Noldy, speaking for Germany, made these points to the World Disarmament Conference. The condition of his nation must be indicative of the direction other nations must take in their disarmament policies, he said.

While allowing for trained reserves, he urged that limitation of army officers be set, and that general conscription and the use of police forces and similar organizations be banned.

He advocated the prohibition of the use of heavy artillery outside of forts, tanks and construction of forts too near the borders of any country.

He said Germany also favored the limitation of warships to 10,000 tons, and the prohibition of aircraft carriers and submarines, aircraft armaments, poison gas and the like.

Registration Bill Petition Passed

Although only 50,000 signatures were needed, Seattle furnished that many votes alone on the petitions, indicating that the referendum for a permanent registration law would be placed on the ballots at the general state election in November. It was announced this week by City Comptroller Harry W. Carroll.

The permanent registration bill needs only a majority to be passed. It provides that a citizen, once registered, can vote year after year without registering every two years, as is the case now.

Similar measures have been vetoed three times by Governor Roland H. Hartley.

District Council Delegates Gather Today For Meet

Convening for the first time to inaugurate the organization of the Northwest District Council of the Japanese-American Citizens' League, the 8 delegates who will make up the board are to gather at the headquarters of the local Citizens' League, 214-5th So., today from 3 p. m.

The meeting which is scheduled to take up some of the important problems facing the four Northwest chapters of the J. A. C. L., will give special attention to the three bills introduced in Congress by Sen. Bingham, R., Conn.; Rep. Dyer, R., Mo., and Delegate Houston, Hawaii, to allow the entry of Oriental-born wives of American citizens and the parents of such citizens under the non-quota regulations. It is expected a policy will be formulated to bring the support of all chapters into line for common action backing the bills.

Besides this matter the opening plans will be discussed for the coming 1933 Northwest district convention to be held in Portland, Oregon, while it is likely that a step will be taken to send large delegations down to Los Angeles in July for the national meet.

The chapters which will be represented and their delegates are—Portland; Roy Yokota, George Sugai; Puyallup; James Yamamoto, John Fujita; Valley Civic League; George Yasumura, Clarence Uyematsu; Seattle; George Ishihara, James Y. Sakamoto.

CITIZENS TO HOLD BIG MEET TONIGHT

Women Citizens Reveal Keen Interest In Primary Election Tuesday

In what will be one of the outstanding meetings of the year, candidates in the mayoralty and councilmanic races are scheduled to appear before the Seattle Progressive Citizens' League when the organization gathers for its open forum at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce tonight from 8 p. m.

This will not be the first time when candidates for city offices will come before the League but owing to the keenness in the present mayoralty and councilmanic races, interest in all circles are being shown in tonight's meeting. Where the various candidates stand on the leading municipal questions will be defined more clearly this evening and the forum is expected to guide the voters in their balloting on Tuesday.

While the appearance of Mayor Robert H. Harlin is problematical as he has already come before the League on a previous occasion, the attendance of Councilman Otto Case and John Dore, both running for the mayor's office together with candidates for the city council have been assured.

Women Enthusiastic

All down the line a higher pitch of interest is being sounded for the elections on Tuesday and not least among them or in weak minority evidence a greater enthusiasm than on other occasions concerned with politics. The women members of the League, especially, have voiced their keen interest in the coming race and it is expected that a larger turnout of feminine voters at tonight's gathering is expected.

No special reason is attributed to this rise in interest among the women members of the league but it is believed that the enthusiasm being manifested in the other districts of the city by women voters and their organizations is having its influence here, as well.

Although this will be the first time councilman Case and Mr. Dore will come before the league they are both well known here. Councilman George Hill, running for reelection appeared before the organization in 1929 but the other candidates who are to address the league tonight, namely, Councilman David Levine, and E. L. Blaine will be newcomers.

To Adopt Slogan

At tonight's meeting a slogan for the coming primaries is expected to be adopted and which is intended to be the battle cry in the campaign to be instituted by the League, to get the voters to the polls on Tuesday. The slogan "Let's Vote" will undoubtedly be introduced by George Ishihara, president, and a corner to corner drive to get all eligible voters out on Tuesday is to be mapped out by the precinct committee of which he is the chairman.

While various opinions are in the air to how the primaries will come out it is concerned by league members that Mayor Harlin has the edge while Messers Case and Dore will have a pitched battle to get into the finals. Frank Edwards is not altogether out of the running in the consideration of some but the opinion seems unanimous that the rest of the candidates have little or no chance at all.

L. A. CITIZENS PUSH CAMPAIGN TO MAKE CONCLAVE SUCCESS

City Leaders Cooperating With League Officers; San Francisco Adds Support

MOVEMENT SPREADING

LOS ANGELES—Every move now being instituted by the local chapter of the Japanese-American Citizens' League is bringing the campaign, to pave the way for the national convention slated for July 27, 28, 29 in this city, closer to a successful finish and all hands are lined in full support of the preparatory program.

The campaign being waged at the present time was not instituted only for funds necessary to carry out the convention but, also, for the purpose of creating a much needed enthusiasm in the citizens movement, here. To this end the executive body of the local chapter under the leadership of Karl Iwanaga, president, is laboring at the present time and it is expected leaders throughout the city, both young and old, will unify their efforts to make this first national convention to be held in Los Angeles a huge success.

A natural bit of city pride is behind the present campaign program and to the credit of such people as Mrs. Aiko Igasaki, Mr. and Mrs. John Ando, Charles Kamayatsu, Goro Murata and others who have held a deep-seated interest in the league since its organization, it may be added they are striving with the officers of the organization to not only put Los Angeles in a prominent place but to earn national recognition for the Japanese-American Citizens' League.

'Frisco In Support

The spirit in which the Northern California Federation, under the chairmanship of Saburo Kido, well-known San Francisco attorney, is supporting the move to make the coming convention one of the biggest second generation events, is being accepted in a high spirit of enthusiasm lending greater incentive to the drive now being made. The support of the Northern California Federation means essentially that the New American Citizens League of San Francisco under the leadership of George Togasaki, is out to back the sister Los Angeles chapter and it is taken here to mean that it will bring the two chapters into closer cooperation and union in performing some of the big work confronting all the citizens groups in this state.

According to present plans the coming meet will be a far larger convention than which took place in Seattle in 1930 and while there are no definite indications as to who may participate in the conclave the expectations that every chapter in the J. A. C. L., will be represented, including those which sprang up since the first meet in Seattle.

In contemplation of a large attendance at the convention, President Iwanaga has already mapped out his campaign course which will carry him into nearly every section of the city to bring financial support to the local chapter in sponsoring the meet.

Diligence Marked

Diligence to the task ahead is especially marked in the officers of the league as well as among the general membership who at the present time are spreading the citizens' movement throughout the various organizations in a strong effort to make the local organization one of the largest chapters in the J. A. C. L.

This task of bringing all Americans of Japanese ancestry into the fold of the citizens' movement is believed as fundamental here among the leading members and in a short time prior to the big meet it is expected that the entire membership will hold a pre-convention meeting to estimate further interest in the national conclave.

All told, no loose ends seem to be evident in the present campaign to pave the way for the national meet as every indication seems to herald what one might say a "grand and glorious" convention for the Japanese-American Citizens' League in Los Angeles.

S.F. Citizens' League Plans Annual Election

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—The Citizens' League of San Francisco are planning to hold their annual election sometime near the end of this month.

Saburo Kido, head of the nomination committee, in conjunction with the committee members are preparing a list of nominations.

The month of February has been devoted to deputation work, Ashland and Alameda being visited to arouse interest in the organization of local leagues.

With The Baloney

Received a letter from Eddie of the Shimanos who is now sojourning in that charming land of the cherry blossoms—not Seward Park. Although not unduly complimentary his chidings are quite interesting. Some of the essence of Mr. Eddie's gentle digs may be noted from a few quotes, which I take the liberty of quoting.

"By the way," Eddie asks, "notice that the Bonney-Watson ad always foots your column. Any relation or significance?" Of course, Mr. Shimano didn't mean to suggest that this column was dead or anything like that. Not at all. Not at all! I know Mr. Eddie of the Shimanos pretty well and I realize that he is too much of a gentleman to stoop to such low down hinting.

If the pretty kimono clad lassies of the flowery kingdom haven't made him change his ways, Mr. Eddie, as I knew him, would come right out and say so. As it is he refutes the malevolent inference himself.

He says, continuing, "The place for your column is with the New Jackson Meat Market ad; you know, all the baloney together in one place."

Which may be better for all concerned. Starting with the baloney or Salma, whichever one prefers, with Pink Tea for the drink, and finishing with Plum Pudding for dessert, one can get a full meal in The Courier, anyway. And after everything is finished one can always hold a Post Mortem.

While on the subject of Mr. Eddie's remarkable letter—remarkable for the fact that he mentions Manchuria only once during the course of four pages, and that in a very casual way when he became excited over basketball—I am again taking the liberty of quoting his very liberal views on the hoop sport. "Gee," he sighs, "I sure miss the thrill of the ball swishing through the basket, the thud of an opponent when he accidentally falls over my foot, his cry of pain when his midsection meets my knees, and the greatest thrill when the stretcher bearers race in to take the corpse off the field of battle. Banzai!"

And do I hear faint echoes of the banzai from Tetsu "light touch" Kawazoe, Sheenie "elbows" Osawa, "poosh-em-up" Chick Shinkai, Kiyo "hard hips" Higashi, Yone "pardon my foot" Ota, and a few score more players from the old time school. And in his younger days, yours truly was pretty good in being bad, too.

A New Star

Sing a song for Itami, Cleveland's maple flash. Not so much when it comes to size But plenty in speed and dash.

Daizo Itami is breaking into print again with his sensational court playing for the south end school. Among the leaders in the high school scoring race, Daizo is the spark of Cleveland's fighting quintet, and their big little threat.

Although only a sophomore he has already earned his spurs as an all-around athlete and in the years left he should become one of the outstanding Japanese athlete to be developed in the Seattle High Schools.

K. Suzuki Promoted To Judo Fifth Grade By Kodokan At Tokio

Two Receive Third Grade Belt; Nine Elevated To Second Rank

STUDENTS TAKING UP BOXING

Kay Suzuki is now go-dan, or fifth grade, in judo.

The husky University of Washington student, who took up boxing this year as a sideline, received his certificate recently from the Kodokan, or judo headquarters, in Tokio.

He has now reached the highest grade in which actual competition is held, the other ranks above being mostly of an honorary nature.

At the Northwest tournament held in Seattle this month, the promotion ceremonies were held. Two judo experts were raised to san-dan, or third grade, when Yasutaro Miyazawa and Masataro Shibata were given that honor.

Judoists promoted to ni-dan, or second grade, were Masaichi George Maniwa, Kaemon Kudo, Goro Mochizuki, Seisaku Takido, Jutaro Gondo, Yoshiharu Kanda, Kenji Nojiri, Kazuhiko Hayashi (Tacoma Judo) and Rayoichi Iwakiri (Fife Judo).

Only two second generation youths were elevated to sho-dan, or first grade, Michio Sonoda and Masato Tamura (Fife Judo). Others receiving the honor were Kaichi Hamamoto, Kinji Kanno, Tatsuo Miyamoto, Katashi Kosaka (South Park Judo), and Toyoki Tsukamakii (White River Judo).

Japan Woman Boxer Aspires To Pro Ring

Masako Ishida Plans World-Wide Challenge; 19 Years Old 135 Pounds

By Key Kasagi

TOKIO, Japan—In the wake of the splendid accomplishments in water, field and track events turned in by Nippon girl athletes during 1931, comes the titular ambition of a local girl in the professional ring here.

Masako Ishida's aspiration to the women's ring title has aroused much interest. A member of the Nichibei (Japanese-American) Boxing Club here, she is 19 years old and weighs 135 pounds. She was to have appeared in a three-round exhibition with a fellow member, N. Yamanaka, at the Hibya Auditorium this month, but the police forbid the match.

It has been reported that she aspired to challenge other women boxers of the world in quest of a championship title in her class. Women of Japan attend fights in good numbers. There are so-called modern girls (Moga) in their western style clothes, Geishas in their colorful kimonos, office girls in modest habiliments, and wives of merchants and tradesmen with their old fashioned coiffure of "marumage"; a striking contrast to the dashing make-up of their sisters.

Nippons Drop Game To Ramblers, 43-33

In a fast, close tilt, the Nippons dropped a game to the Ramblers at Garfield Wednesday night, 43 to 33. Saki Arai led them with 12 counters.

While leading in the first quarter, the Nippons could not stop Whitey Martin, who looped in 14 points, or Mowatry, who caged 13.

Kaz Arai added 10 counters for the Nippons, with Lindy Ueyehara netting 6, Shugo Hashiguchi 3, and Corky Yamagiwa 2.

Although Saki Arai scored 16 points, and the Nippons were leading 14 to 4 at the half, they finally lost out to the Fort Lawton five Thursday night, 29 to 26. Shugo Hashiguchi added 6, Kaz Arai 4, Henry Kiga 1 and Lindy Ueyehara 1.

Hi-Stars-Puyallup Go Slated For Tonight

In their annual big game with Puyallup high school, the local Hi-Stars will travel out to the valley tonight for two games, the supers playing the first tilt. The Seattle boys won on two previous occasions by close scores.

Strengthened by the addition of Bill Ihashi and Mac Kaneko, and with Herb Ogawa sinking 18 points, the Hi-Stars trimmed Prato Brothers five Tuesday night on the Garfield floor.

Ramblers To Meet Portland Hi-Stars

FIFE—The local boys and girls basketball teams will entertain the Portland quintets tomorrow afternoon on the local court, with the girls game set for 1 p. m.

At 2 p. m., the Ramblers are slated to meet the Portland Hi-Stars.

East Side Wrestling Camp Bolts To West; Joint Match Slated

Association Must Revise Management To Draw Insurgents Back; Few Wrestlers Left

REVOLT IS LABOR DISPUTE

By Key Kasagi

(Courier Correspondent)

The west-camp insurgents who deserted the professional wrestling Association some time ago still stand fast to their original claims and have successfully withstood the powerful interventions by their patrons and some reactionary political groups.

In order to show publicly their strong determination to stick to their rights and not intending to go back to the arena of the National Sport Hall (Kokugikan) again, they, except one, abolished their old style hair dressing, the symbol of their profession, and now have it done up a la modern. Strange as it may seem to outsiders, this act proved heart-breaking to them, for it meant a complete severance of the tie with their tutors, managers and all that had been dear to their simple hearts.

Their path since deserting the Association fold has been rather thorny as their attempt at leasing an appropriate arena in the city has met several insidious interferences. However, they seem to stand together in the face of all these difficulties and are about to materialize their first tournament outside of Tokio if not in the city confines.

Meantime the east camp wrestlers who had been quietly observing the situation also suddenly bolted from the quarters recently, and started a movement against the Association in practically the same manner as the west camp insurgents. They are not united in the movement and have common interests and identical purpose.

The Association as it stands now has just a few wrestlers left and will have to make drastic changes in the management of the body. Unless the Association accepts the terms presented by the east and west camp insurgents, there will be no spring tournament as scheduled this year.

It is very likely that the east and west camp deserters will get together and hold a real tournament under their own management.

Musashiyama who was to go in for professional boxing thrice changed his mind and went back to the association, last week.

The whole matter is only confined to the Japanese professional wrestling circle and is an unmistakable labor dispute in its nature. The trend of times has dealt a knock out blow to our "sumo" of which old traditions, systems, rites, and customs had been picturesque and peculiarly its own over the stretch of more than 1000 years.

PORTLAND HI-STARS SET GAME TONIGHT

A heavy schedule faced the Portland Hi-Stars, who were slated to pay a visit to Washington for at least three games. Their first tilt was set for tonight when they were to meet the Taiyo Reds at Collins, 9 p. m.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

As this nation is about to celebrate the two hundredth birthday anniversary of our first President, it would be a fitting tribute to him to give serious consideration to the great ideals he upheld and which he immortalized for the benefit of this great country in his Farewell Message.

Those who have opposed American entry into the League of Nations, basing their arguments of the "foreign entanglements" admonition by George Washington, have in truth no basis for their stand. They could not be said to understand completely the Farewell Address. It would not be amiss to quote here his exact words concerning the famous injunction which is like the Scriptures to so many anti-League fanatics.

"Against the insidious wiles of foreign influence, the jealousy of a free people ought to be constantly awake; since history and experience prove, that foreign influence is one of the most baneful foes of Republican Government."

This sound advice is practiced by all nations, whether republics or monarchies, whether League members or not. It is the fundamental principle upon which all nations are founded and which is the assurance of their existence and progress as a nation. No self-respecting nation desires the influence of another, emphatically not the "insidious wiles of foreign influence." However, all nations should desire to cooperate with each other and to establish perfect harmony and friendly relations among them all.

This surely is the ideals of the League, and as such it would surely be favored by Washington were he alive today. No better proof could be offered than the very words of the Father of our Country in his message to the people of the United States which has become one of the greatest heritages of this nation. In various parts of his Farewell Message he says:

"Observe good faith and justice towards all Nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all.

"Just and amicable feelings toward all nations should be cultivated.

"Harmony, liberal intercourse with all nations, are recommended by policy, humanity, and interest."

Thus the League's ideals are those of Washington. At the time he left the presidency, this nation was engaged in building the country and firmly establishing the Republic. Thanks to his untiring efforts and great talents, this nation safely passed through the trying days of its infancy and though still young, now has reached the position where it can become the leader in establishing peace and harmony throughout the world.

No greater tribute could be paid to George Washington, the Father of our Country and our First President, than to fulfill his ideals incorporated in his inspiring Farewell Message.

PLAYING TWO ROLES

Casting aside the cloak of repression and stoicism which is supposedly the chief article of apparel for the Oriental personality, the Chinese, adopting all the violent and melodramatic gestures of a third-rate Shakespearean actor, are acting a comedy which would indeed be funny if its ulterior motive of cunning and plotting had not been revealed and proved dangerous to all the powers.

To the Chinese, "all the world's a stage"; and anytime, anywhere, upon the slightest provocation or opportunity, they will present their well-rehearsed spectacle of China harassed, China invaded, China wronged. At the present time, their histrionic talents are chiefly focused at Geneva and Shanghai. Whether their spectacles are inconsistent or irrelevant matters them not; for actors that they are, they are always ready to assume one role today and another tomorrow.

So at Geneva, Dr. W. W. Yen, China's chief delegate to the League Council, ably assisted in supporting roles by other Chinese delegates, notably the Minister to Berlin, is enacting the drama before the League of Nations to point the guilt of the present Shanghai situation toward Japan. His stirring monologues and the amusing by-plays among the members of the Chinese delegation, and their attempts to harangue the audience, are all diverting the attention from the crucial point of China's responsibility or rather the lack of responsibility in Shanghai and other regions of her own country.

On the other hand, at Shanghai an invisible Chinese government with headquarters at either Nanking or Loyang is attempting to thwart the protective measures of Japan with a gesture that is indeed dramatic and cunning but little else. Of course, this gesture aids in furthering the plot carefully conceived by the Chinese. It would seem that the Chinese attempt at resisting the protective measures of Japan in Shanghai is nothing but a decoy measure, an action leading Japan on to greater protective steps for her nationals so that China may have an easier time of it in proving to the League and the world in general Japan's so-called aggressive designs.

Thus, China is playing two roles, each diametrically opposite from the other, but both devised for the same antagonistic purpose against Japan. It so happens this time that Japan is the victim, but all the powers know that they will all in turn be dealt similarly if Japan does not take a determined stand to end China's deadly play-acting.

At Geneva, the theme of her comedy is non-resistance; at Shanghai, the theme is not only resistance but menace to Japanese lives and property. What would happen if the Japanese withdrew from Shanghai now?

THE GERMAN POSITION

While constant bickering is going on at the Geneva Disarmament Conference, it is difficult to judge the merits of each nation's demands. Nevertheless, it seems that Germany's stand must be upheld by anyone who has followed the history of armaments reductions from the time of the Versailles Treaty.

It will be remembered that at the time that treaty was forced upon Germany after the conclusion of the World War, it was generally agreed among the signatory nations, through its clauses, that general reductions of armaments to the level of Germany would be effected. So long as the Versailles Treaty was included as a fundamental in the 1930 convention adopted to guide the procedure of the general disarmament conference, Germany's position in the matter of asking the nations to reduce their armaments to a point giving Germany equality in armaments, seems not only natural but consistent with the spirit of the treaty forced upon her by the Allies.

The German position voicing her desire to see the other nations disarm would seem to be based on the grounds that she is paying reparations under the provisions of the Versailles Treaty and which reparations is contributing toward the greater construction of armaments for her one time enemies, when as a matter of fact reductions was promised through the treaty. Germany's insistent objections to her present proportionately much lower arms limit can be readily understood when looked upon in this light.

However, a far more important aspect of the German stand is the fact that if Germany should succeed in her natural demands, the success of the Geneva Conference will be virtually assured and one of the commendable principles of the Versailles Treaty upheld.

THE NORRIS AMENDMENT

The Norris constitutional amendment providing for the elimination of the "lame duck" session of Congress, after a long and trying experience in the House of Representatives, is finally nearing the end of its legislative stage and will soon be ready for the vote of the state legislatures.

This proposed amendment when passed will adjust a defect in the present legislative system where Congressmen who have been defeated for reelection meet once again to legislate on the important problems of this nation before their final retirement. It erases an inconsistent procedure of having those Congressmen who have been repudiated by the voters of this nation sitting among unrepudiated members voting upon the bills proposed in Congress during this session, according to their beliefs and judgment.

These very bills which are legislated upon during the "lame duck" session may be the ones which raised the issue before the people which led them to repudiate those whom they had once elected to office. No matter whether this is the case or not, it cannot be gainsaid that the presence in Congress of people whom the voters of the country had refused to send them there again, produces an inconsistent and peculiar situation which should not be tolerated.

Now with the Senate and the House both passing the proposed Norris amendment, if three-fourths of the state legislatures vote for the bill, it can be incorporated in the Constitution of the United States. Those who are tradition-bound and who resent the change of the presidential inauguration date, place mere tradition, respected though they should be, above the greater need of a country for legislation by the people who are placed in office by the voters, instead of legislation by those who have been repudiated by the vote of the citizens. The people's expression and the best means of providing for that expression, after all, should be the prime consideration in a case like this.

Truly, the Norris proposal is a common sense amendment.

The father who still thinks his ambitions come before the welfare of his little son wakes to find some day that his boy is either a self-made man or the victim of his neglect.

GIRLS' CLUB PREXY

University of Washington graduate, class of '31... Phi Beta Kappa... president of the Seattle Girls' Club... Teru Watanabe.

A Seattle-born girl, Teru is a graduate of Broadway High School. Before enrolling at the university, she made a trip to Japan which seems to have greatly impressed her for she says,

"I liked Japan tremendously, although in a short trip such as the one I made I realize that a person sees only the fine things and stops at only the best places."

Teru finds time to do a little reading now and then, with books of foreign flavor almost entirely occupying her attention. She lists Bordeaux and Maeterlinck as two of her favorite authors.

Naturally being a Girls' Club member, Teru dances divinely and also plays bridge—as to how well she plays, well, I'll leave that up to you—she's Phi Beta you know!

"INTERNATIONAL NIGHT" IS SUCCESS

150 Attended; Yoshio Iwanaga and Morita Sisters On Musical Program

With a greater crowd than was expected of University of Washington students, faculty members and consuls of 21 nationalities attending, "International Night" at Eagleson Hall Wednesday evening saw them making new acquaintances and strengthening friendships as a part of the good will program sponsored by the International Relations Committee of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

As a part of the musical program that included songs by the Russian Choir and a flute solo by Kun, Chinese student, Yoshio Iwanaga gave a vocal solo, while Fumiko Morita presented a violin solo, accompanied by her sister, Michiko.

Presidents of foreign group organizations were introduced, while girls, dressed in costumes typical of their nationality, served cake, coffee and tea.

The 150 persons gathered spent an informal evening visiting, following the musical program.

Hirami Okubo, president of the Japanese Students' Club, assisted in the arrangement of the program.

AEOLIANS HEAR TALK ON RUSSIA

At the fifth meeting of the local Aeolian Society held at the Y. W. C. A. last Monday evening, Marjory Miller presented a paper on Russian opera and also spoke about her personal experiences while studying in Russia.

Miss Miller had only praises for Russian music and their composers, and also for the Russian people, whom she said were very emotional and warm-hearted.

When the present crop of Russian felt that their high standard of musicians are gone, Marjory Miller music would become lowered since now politics seem to be replacing music in the every day program of a Russian student.

Mr. Sasaki presented several illustrated pamphlets of George Washington's life. Yoshiko Yamada's talk on Washington's career was postponed until the next meeting to be held on the third Monday of next month.

Meanwhile, only a week remains in which entries in the Lotus Oratorical contest may practice. Entries are coming in fast now as the deadline approaches, it having been advanced a few days. The contest will start at 7:30 p. m., Friday evening at the Buddhist Church.

At the pre-convention held Sunday at the church, it was decided by the delegates attending that an Association should be formed. The skeleton organization was outlined, with the details to be filled in at the big conclave in May.

First Open Forum Meeting Thursday; Uchiyama, Holden To Speak

MONTHLY MEETINGS PLANNED

Plum Pudding

By Jimmy Hirai

One of the cleverest fellows I've ever known is also one of the laziest. My favorite food is "o-sa-shi-mi" especially the "ma-gu-ro" variety, which in plain Occidental terms is raw tuna fish.

One of the tightest spots I was ever in, happened to me when I attended a rodeo, years ago, at the old Dugdale Field then at 14th and Jefferson. An enraged bull rushed the rail upon which I was perched and knocked me for a loop-a-loop. Well, I got up in my corner fighting mad and... "pardon me, officers, but I was only trying to make the green light!"

One of the most interesting fellows I ever met was in Salt Lake City, an engineering student at Utah University, William Sen Nishiyama. Tall and slim with a contagious smile and engaging manners, even his name "Sen" evokes interest. Translated into English, "sen" means "thousand". Methinks, Sen's parents named him with an eye to posterity.

UTAH ORATOR, 14, WINS LINCOLN DAY ORATORICAL MEET

Masaoka's Oration Wins Over Representatives Of Twelve Nationalities

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Akira Masaoka, a fourteen-year old youthful orator, is the proud winner of the Third Annual Lincoln Day Oratorical Contest sponsored by the Americanization Committee of the chamber of commerce.

Masaoka's splendid oration, "Abraham Lincoln, Master of the English Language", won for him first place in competition with representatives from twelve different nationalities.

For winning first honors, Masaoka was awarded a year's scholarship at Westminster College.

Previous to his competition in the Lincoln Day Oratory, Masaoka had downed the pick of the local Japanese orators in a meet sponsored by the Japanese Association of Utah, and had won for himself the right to represent their colors in competition against the other nationalities.

Runner-ups to Masaoka in that meet were Dick Narita, second, Tomiko Kimura, third, and Ichiro Dol, fourth.

Forensic ability in the Masaoka family is not confined to Akira alone but seems to run in the family, for brothers Joe and Masaru before Akira, have likewise won many awards for their oratorical ability in similar competition.
