FOURTH JULY TO SEE GRAND FETE BY RAINIER POST

Thirteenth Fourth Fete In Honor of Washington Bi-Centennial

BIG PROGRAM PLANNED

Plans for a big Fourth of July celebration have been set by the Rainier Noble Post of the American Legion and in this 13th consecutive demonstration of the organization to fete Independence Day a program has been evolved to honor the memory of the first President of the United States.

The committee in charge is headed by Sam MacFadden with the following members: Lee L. Newman, George Flood, Charles P. Moriarty, Albert Pierce, William Kirk, Ralph A. Horst, Stephen F. Chadwick, Roscoe C. Torrance, Rudolph Block, Darwin Meisnest, L. A. (Bill) Williams, Harry Weingarten, Arthur I. Ellsworth, R. T. Van Ettihs, Royal S. Friend, Walter S. Politz, J. Harold Crampton, Dr. Frederick Slyfield, Emmett G. Lenihan and Robert B. Porterfield.

Subcommittees Picked

From this general committee, subcommittees have been appointed on parade, publicity, navy, night show, decorations, afternoon show, Miss Liberty, transportation, floats, finance and international caravan, and will begin functioning at once.

Highlights of the program will include a night show at the Stadium with a list of acts totally different from anything staged in previous years; the Miss Liberty and Companion Winner Contest, and the parade of thousands of veterans and members of fraternal organizations. The Eagles' state convention, in session here at the time, will cooperate in the celebration.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the show, which will culminate the day's events are now on sale with solicitors obtained from the ranks of unemployed saleswomen and salesmen handling the canvass. Ticket headquarters are at 1008 Third Avenue.

An added feature of the evening show will be the announcement of the name of the "Companion Winner" to be selected from entries from King, Pierce, Kitsap and Snohomish Counties and who will accompany Miss Liberty on a trip to Hollywood, Pullman.

Citizens Planning Dance Event Soon

Plans for the coming delegation dance is to be announced next week according to authoritative information received and which is expected will boom citizens' activities in these parts a long way according to those interested in the movement.

While there has been some discussion as to whether the League should hold a dinner dance it has generally been the consensus of opinion that a ball bringing all available members of the Northwest chapters together would do the most good for the coming convention in Los Angeles and acting upon this belief, Tomeu Takayoshi, chairman of the social committee, will, undoubtedly, plan a reunion dance for Northwest chapter members some time next month.

While it was not announced at this time where the ball will be held and what the general program is to be, it is understood, a big affair has been planned and which will bring together the prominent members of the second generation. Many people are looking forward to this event and it is felt due to the pressure of support, the dance will possibly be held some time soon.

Graduates Feted By Students' Club

Holding its annual graduation banquet, graduating members of the Fuyokai and Japanese Students' Club organizations from the University of Washington were honored by the Japanese Students' Club last night.

Congratulating the graduates Professor Edmund S. Meany delivered the principal address of the night before the eleven graduates of these two organizations. The guests of honor outside the graduates were: Professor Meany, Mr. and Mrs. Ashley E. Holden, Mr. Henry Tatsumi, Mr. H. I. Saiki, Mr. J. Yasutake,

4 Local Grads Get Honor Keys

Out of the 81 graduates to be selected for the Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Washington, four second generation Japanese were elected to the honor society.

The four who were the only persons from the Oriental race, are: Satoshi Fujita, Bachelor of Science, Engineering; Jack McGilvrey, Liberal Arts, English; Tulyo Doi, Bachelor of Science, Chemistry; and Yuki Watanabe, Bachelor of Business Adm., Foreign Trade.

Last year there were two Japanese making the Phi Beta Kappa but this is the first year the four younger generation people have been selected for the honor.

NORTHWEST JAPAN SOCIETIES COME TOGETHER IN BANQUET

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The keynote of friendship on the Pacific was given an encouraging boom, here, when the members of the three Northwest Japan Societies, representing Japan, Canada, and the United States, met in banquet for the first time at the exclusive Vancouver club on Thursday night.

Not a moment seemed lost in dullness in a gay convention atmosphere which seemed to impress with the coming of the Pacific Era and the three principal nations bordering the Pacific brought together in a conference spirit of good-will to open the way to greater intercourse and cultural exchanges. In fact, the addresses of the evening made a number of prominent Canadian, American and Japanese speakers seemed to emphasize the spirit of friendly feeling vibrant through out the gathering.

A novel transportation plan had been set for the Oregon and Washington Japan society members who arrived here early on board the M. S. Heian Maru Thursday morning. They came aboard the M. S. Heian Maru which departed from Seattle on Wednesday morning allowing the visitors to enjoy a night at sea.

On Thursday morning both the Seattle and Portland delegations came ashore and in the afternoon enjoyed an informal golf tournament with members of the local Society. Later in the afternoon members of all three Japanese Societies were guests at tea of the local Japanese Consul, the Hon. Teruo Hachiya at his residence following which the banquet took place.

One of the principal speakers of the night was Keith J. Middleton, president of the Seattle Japan Society while Consul A. Acino, of Portland, also was a speaker.

The members of the three visiting delegations which could be picked up at random here were: Portland, Consul A. Acino; Seattle, George Douglas, Raymond Frazier, A. E. Holden, Darwin Meisnest, K. J. Middleton, Charles E. Martin, W. G. Rogers, K. Sawai, Adolph Schmidt, K. Uchiyama and J. Watanabe.

Senate Will Face Task Of Economy

WASHINGTON—Through with the tax bill now the Senate faces the question of making cuts in government salaries to shape an economy bill that will reduce the expenditures of the government for the next fiscal year by some $238,000,000.

Just where the upper house will reach on this problem is a matter for conjecture but it is certain that some cuts will be made if not the ten per cent which has been prescribed. These cuts must be made if the tax bill which was passed on Wednesday is to be an important program in the general objective of balancing the government budget.

It is understood that there are certain Senators like Hiram Johnson of California who is against the reduction of salaries for government employees but despite the wishes of this element it is believed the Senate will work out some plan that will meet with the public demand for economy in government expenditures which is vitally necessary if emergency tax legislations are not to be passed.

Just where the cuts in salaries shall end is the big question but it is understood, drastic as the ten per cent cut may seem those who are not receiving any too large salary will be spared, it is understood, if a close study of conditions affecting salary winners are studied.

U. S. Income Drops As Against Expenses

WASHINGTON—With a deficit of over $2,584,000 facing the Treasury for the current fiscal year, the necessity of economy and balancing the budget has been stressed by the Treasury Department, this week.

The principal cause for the large deficit was made known as the result of collections which have been difficult to make and the rising amount of expenditures. Last year the income taxes, alone, collected amounted to $1,564,628,881 as compared to what was received this year so far, $95,978,640.

This has been the chief decline in revenues and at the same time the expenditures, it was mentioned, rose.

Oil Lease Charges Wiped From Books

WASHINGTON—Through the request of Atlee Pomerene who prosecuted the many cases in the naval oil lease case arising after the Harding administration, the charges against Albert Fall, Secretary of Interior in the Harding cabinet, Harry F. Sinclair and Edward Doheny were wiped off the books before the District of Columbia supreme court.

Mr. Pomerene who prosecuted the cases for the government acted after consulting with President Hoover. The action was taken after those who were found guilty in the famous Tea Pot Dome case had paid their penalty.

JAPAN TAKES TO COALITION FORM OF NEW CABINET

Non-Partisan Form Of Saito Cabinet Finds Favor With Nation

CONFIDENCE RESTORED

TOKIO—In spite of the uncertainty which seemed to prevail during the period the newly inducted cabinet was in formation, the empire, today, gives an outlook of settling down to a determined and stable process of regaining its normal equilibrium.

The new government under Premier Viscount Makoto Saito is winning favor on all sides and while there seems an element of die-hards, who are not convinced as to the efficient method of the coalition cabinet in raising the present level of the economic situation, generally, the empire's keel has been righted and sentiment is growing stronger against petty politics and politicians. It is significant, as an observer has commented, the new government has been like a cooling spring breeze on a hot summer day.

Although it cannot be stated with any positive proof the politicians had been getting their own way until a group of army and navy cadets and officers were axasperated and resulted in the assassination of Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai.

Politicians Taxed Patience

While the empire as a whole did not seem to be aroused to ire through the many criticisms of the politicians made in public by some, there is no doubt the patience of this small group of cadets and officers was taxed and found expression in the assassination. The motive, undoubtedly, was loyalty and for what seemed to this group, for the welfare of the nation.

On the other hand, it is possible to find some who feel the action was too rash and that the politicians were making head way but to this argument it is significant that people with opposite views who have never expressed themselves before now come out openly to declare that things are turning for the better and that a certain stability has settled upon the country.

The general consensus seems to be the nation will now make a stronger bid to climb out of the depression and that sweeping petty politics out of the way has generally been encouraging.

Saito Strong Character

The new Premier is regarded as a quiet but man of strong character. His eight years as Gov. General of Korea is often brought as a period when not a single complaint had been registered against the government by Korean natives.

The non-partisan character of his cabinet is regarded most favorably by the people in every walk of life and the confidence seems manifest that the empire's wheels of government will move smoothly over the tracks of the deep-rutted economic relapse to normalcy and prosperity.

One thing is patent and that is the nation has been given a clear out view as to the simple features of representative government which the new cabinet is determined not to encumber with the baracles of petty politics.

JAPAN'S PEACE POLICY PROVED, SAYS PREMIER

Japanese Troop Evacuation From Shanghai Demonstrates Japan Has No Political Design In China Declares Japan's New Premier

FOREIGN POLICY OUTLINED IN DIET

TOKIO—Outlining Japan's foreign policy and describing her position regarding the Sino-Japanese controversy, Premier Viscount Makoto Saito, acting in the capacity of Foreign Minister, declared the complete withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shanghai conclusively proved that Japan held no political designs in China and hoped for world peace and recovery from the present depression in referring to his country's stand at the Geneva arms conference, before the sixty second Imperial Diet yesterday.

The complete text of Premier Saito's address is given as follows:

I have the privilege of reviewing on this occasion the latest developments in the foreign relations of this country.

We are gratified to watch the rapid restoration of peaceful conditions in the Shanghai area following the conclusion on May 5th of the Sino-Japanese agreement for the cessation of hostilities.

I may say that in the course of negotiations leading up to this agreement, we encountered not a few difficulties, and that the earnest labors of the British Minister to China and the representatives of other friendly Powers on the spot, as well as our own attitude of fairness and rectitude, largely contributed to the final happy outcome.

And I desire to avail myself of this opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to the officers and men of our Army and Navy who fought in the Shanghai area and rendered signal service to our Fatherland. I also desire to express my profound sympathy with the victims of the bombing incident of April 29th, and, particularly, my infinite grief at the death of General Shirakawa, Commander-in-Chief of the expeditionary force.

Terms Of Truce

According to the terms of the agreement, the Chinese troops are to remain at the prescribed distance from Shanghai and the Chinese forces are to cease, as far as it lies within their power, all hostile actions in Shanghai and its vicinity. Should the action of the Chinese Army give occasion for apprehension, the representatives of the four Powers, Great Britain, the United States of America, France and Italy, are to ascertain the situation.

As long as these terms of the agreement are observed there is little likelihood for the present, at least, that any fresh disturbances will be caused by the Chinese soldiers in the Shanghai district.

In these circumstances it has been decided to call home the whole of our military forces relying, as stated in the declaration of the Minister of War published on May 11th, upon operation of the agreement and, upon such action as the friendly Powers shall take in order to insure permanent peace in Shanghai.

No Political Design

I am sure that the complete withdrawal of our troops will demonstrate, as nothing else could, the truth of repeated declarations of our Government as to the absence of any political design in our recent expeditions. However, it is only the terms for ending hostilities between the Chinese and Japanese forces that have so far been arranged. No measures have yet been taken to establish permanent peace in the Shanghai district.

It is absolutely necessary to take further steps in order to establish such conditions as will enable both Chinese and foreigners in Shanghai to live in safety and pursue their business in peace, if prosperity of this international metropolis built up by their peaceful labors for many decades, is to be maintained.

Would Prove Boon

Indeed, if that city could be freed from menace of such sporadic disturbances of various kinds as have occurred time and again in the past it would prove a boon not only to its residents, Chinese and foreign, but also to China and all the Powers interested in China.

I cannot, therefore, but look eagerly forward to an early opening and complete success of a round table conference which is desired by the Japanese Government and which was contemplated in the resolution of the Council of the League of Nations, adopted with the concurrence of China on Feb. 29th.

Manchu Moving Ahead In Manchuria, we note that the new State is making a steady progress with fresh zeal and resolute will. I am well aware of the great interest which is naturally manifested by our people in the future of Manchukuo, and I believe that it is no longer possible to ignore the existence of that State in any international readjustments which may be made with reference to the Manchurian Incident.

I believe that it is of utmost importance for the tranquility of the Far East, as well as for the restoration of peace and prosperity in Manchuria, that the new State should attain a healthy growth.

Order Difficult Yet

However, the new government has not reached the stage at which it can command sufficient resources for the restoration of order while the activities of soldiers, bandits and other lawless elements, often instigated from the outside, are extremely difficult to suppress.

Consequently, our troops in Manchuria, are compelled to extend their necessary cooperation to the protective functions of the new Government and guard against any eventualities that might endanger the lives and property of our countrymen or eventuate in general disturbances on a major scale. Our profound thanks are due to the military and police forces serving in Manchuria in the face of constant danger, day and night at the risk of their lives.

Precedents Found

Precedents can easily be drawn from the history of other countries to show that political changes such as have taken place in Manchuria are bound to be accomplished by activities on the part of malcontents and lawless elements even where no external institution comes into play and it takes some time in such cases before the governmental machinery of the new state can be fully set in order. I am strongly opposed to any impatient and impetuous attitude toward the progress of events in Manchuria. It is essential to give it time and to address oneself to the erecting of a sure solution of the problems with which we are confronted.

In the course of the present affair it became necessary for the Japanese to operate against soldier bandits in North Manchuria for the protection of the Japanese residents there.

Respect Soviet Rights That we have always paid due respect to the legitimate rights and interests of the Soviet Union in that region and have taken scrupulous care not to infringe or injure them is clearly proved by the conduct of our army. Moreover, the Japanese Government have repeatedly assured the Soviet Government as to the true motive of our advance to the north which does not extend beyond the protection of Japanese life and property.

I am certain that the Moscow Government fully appreciates our position. Nevertheless, there are some who talk as though there were danger of war between Japan and Russia as a sequel to the Manchurian incident. I am sure I can appeal to the good sense and discernment of our people not to be misled by such rumors.

League Held Watch

The League of Nations, as you know, maintained close watch over developments in Shanghai. During the temporary deadlock in negotiations for cessation of hostilities, the action of China, who laid the matter before the League, produced various complications. Nevertheless, as the success of the negotiations became practically assured, the League decided to tide over the crisis by relying upon the progress of the affairs on the spot.

On April 30, the extraordinary session of the assembly was convoked, at which the resolution inviting speedy settlement of the Shanghai negotiations was adopted and the matters were brought to a close.

Localizing the Olympics

Whenever a friendly name appears in any sport event, it brings that event much closer to the individual fan's heart; and so when names of Seattle athletes appear on the roster of the entries of the Olympic Games, it seems to bring that huge event much closer to the fans here.

Three Seattle athletes are almost a certainty to be members of the United States team in the Olympiad, and a half-dozen more have very bright chances to make the squad. Helene Madison, our own Queen Helene; Paul Jessup, the discuss and shot put expert; and Eddie Genung, the national half-mile champion, are the three who are almost a cinch to place on the team.

Getting even closer to the hearts of the Seattle Japanese sport followers is the big probability that Eitaro Suzuki may be able to participate in the Big Event.

Although he will—if he makes the grade—enter the meets as a representative of Japan, he will have a host of friends here, both Japanese and Americans, who will be wishing him all the luck.

"Eichan", as he is popularly known to his associates, is being backed by the Japanese Interior Department and the Kodokan of Tokio. But he has long been a resident of this city and was formerly a varsity wrestler at the University of Washington.

Suzuki is experienced in the mat game, being not only a college wrestler of note, but also a very strong exponent of the Japanese "sumo", as well as holding a fourth grade, black belt rank in "judo".

After his graduation from the U. of W. he left for New York to continue his studies at Columbia University and later visited Los Angeles. He returned here this week but left immediately for Japan where he intends to go into intensive training for the tryout bouts.

If the linotypist's errors were rushed through as they were:

The Taiyo Reds would have been called the Maroons instead of the Maroons. Sam Kozu would have been Dam Kozu.

And Ogata of the Ginseis would have been honored with triplets.

These and Them

Following in the footsteps of his older brother Tom, Herb Ogawa is making a name for himself as an expert rifle shot at the University of Washington. He has earned a berth on the Varsity, which is the national champion as well as the winner of the nation-wide Hearst meet.

Tetsura Higami, the Japanese rubber man, who replaced Iota Shima as a popular favorite in the local grunt and groan circles, is rapidly establishing himself. Although not quite as big as Iota, Tets is a far more experienced showman and he can play up to the crowd lots better. Four wins, one loss and a draw isn't so bad.

Race for Pennant Turns into Three Cornered Battle

Waseda Upset Taiyo Reds To Grab Tie For League Leadership

18 RUN RALLY BY LOTUS

In a tussle on which the eyes of fandom will be centered tomorrow, the Taiyo Reds, tied with Waseda for first place in the Class A Courier Baseball League, tackle the slugging White River aggregation in the first of the two game series left for the Maroons on the league calendar with this team, at the Walla Walla No. 1 field at noon.

Much depends upon the outcome of this tilt, for both nines have a chance at the title yet, with Waseda playing the third leg of the triumvirate.

The Wasedas pick on the lowly Green Lakers at lower Woodland from 12 M. Waseda is conceded to grab this game and keep up with whoever wins in the Reds-White River fracas.

In the remaining contest for tomorrow, the fast Fife squad invade Seattle to meet the Lotus Seniors in a double mix starting at 2 o'clock at Jefferson.

Turn Into Thriller

The Taiyo Cubs and Lotus Junior tilt tomorrow set for 10 a. m. at Walla Walla No. 2 is expected to turn into a thriller as the Cubs will have to hold their own if they intend to remain in second place with Bellevue, the other team keeping pace with the pennant leaders.

The league leading Auburnites will have a comparatively easy time as they mix with Ginsei at Auburn from 10 a. m., while Bellevue meets the Aces at Columbia No. 2 field at noon.

In the last contest the Waseda Cougars travel to Tacoma to meet the Seimens at the Standard Oil grounds at 1 p. m. This encounter is expected to be a nip and tuck affair.

Waseda Defeats Reds In the big feature of last Sunday, the Taiyo Reds were humbled by Waseda, who through their victory jumped in to a tie for the lead with the Reds. The score was 4 to 2.

Yanagimachi, working on the mound for Waseda, hurled seven hit ball which were well scattered, while his teammates collected nine from the offerings of Tanaka.

The Reds could not get to Makoto for more than one hit in any one frame except the fourth when Kimura and Tanaka both connected for singles, which, however did not do any damage.

The Taiyos started out in earnest by getting the lead in the initial canto when Shiro Iwana was donated a trip to first and came home on Beppu's single, but Waseda evened it up in the second on hits by Ihashi and Yanagimachi.

A homer by Yamashita in the fourth set Waseda ahead and two more scores in the fifth gave them the game. Tanaka tried hard to win his own game by grabbing a hit in the seventh and coming home but the Reds could not counter enough.

White River came through the holidays by grabbing a 7 to 3 victory over Fife and annexing another win at the expense of Green Lake, 12-8.

Japanese Teams To Battle For Honors

Mapping out plans for a two-day baseball meet on July 3, 4, the Northwest Japanese diamond tournament is to be held again this year under the sponsorship of the local Japanese Association it was decided on Wednesday night.

Representatives of the local Nippons and Taiyos met with Dr. Saiki to discuss details concerned with the tournament and mapped out a program which is intended to create enthusiasm among baseball fans. One of the decisions arrived at in this conference was, no player who has participated in games featuring either the Taiyos or the Nippons this year or who will have participated in such games by the time of the tournament shall be ineligible to play in the two-day contests.

E. Suzuki May Turn Out For Olympics

On his way to Japan for a possible try-out to represent his country in the Greek wrestling event during the world Olympics to be held in Los Angeles this summer, Eitaro Suzuki, former University of Washington matman and local Judo expert, departed aboard the M. S. Heian Maru on Wednesday.

Suzuki who reached here on Sunday from New York City, where he had been for the past three years attending Columbia University, did not announce his intentions that he would make a bid to represent Japan at the Olympics in the wrestling event but it has generally been assumed in local sports quarters that he would be the best bet at his weight to be found in Japan insofar as Greek style wrestling was concerned. While attending the University of Washington, he was regarded as a genuine championship timber and in the short he turned out

Class B Results

The Class B tilts all resolved into free hitting free scoring affairs with the exception of one, in which the Cubs set down Bellevue 4 to 2. Tanaka whiffed 12 in this game. The Cubs also took Ginsei into camp to the tune of 16 to 6.

Tacoma grabbed a brace of wins by swamping the Aces 15 to 8 and letting down Gine Ginsei 11 to 7.

14 hits combined with errors gave Auburn 18 runs to defeat the Taiyo Aces, 18-5.

Although the Cougars held the lead over Lotus Juniors 11 to 2 until the eighth, a high, wide and handsome rally by the Lotus men in the aforementioned inning was too much, and they were snowed under, 22-11. The Juniors went round and round and collected 18 counters before they got through ringing the bell.

SCHEDULE For Next Sunday June 12

CLASS A—White River vs. Fife; Lotus, Waseda, Green Lake and Taiyo draw bye.
CLASS B—Bellevue vs. Auburn, Cubs vs. Tacoma (double header), Ginsei vs. Cougars, Aces vs. Lotus Jrs.

Nippons To Tangle With K. of C. Squad In Stadium Ground

Nippons Drop Two Games To U. S. S. Lexington Nine Over Holidays

GAME FROM 1 P. M.

With a pep talk under their belts to battle the way to a win, the local Nippons are slated to meet the strong Knights of Columbus nine at the Civic Auditorium, tomorrow from 1 p. m.

Traveling over to Bremerton, last Sunday, the Nippons were given a trimming by the fast U. S. Lexington nine, 11-2.

Until the fourth frame the game seemed to be a tightly sewed up encounter insofar as scores were concerned neither team letting a single run trickle through their defense. However, in the fourth frame the navy men struck their stride to get over a run. In the fifth they drove in 3 more while in this frame the Nippons gained some of their batting ability back to score a single counter.

In the sixth the navy men seemed vengeance bent and garnered 3 more runs.

In the seventh, Nishimura went in for Tom Sakai and held the navymen to 4 runs. In the eighth the Nippons started off to what seemed a rally but failed and could score but one run when Hamada reaching first stole two bases and scored an error.

On Memorial Day the Nippons tackled the same nine and lost in a close encounter, 6-5, in a ten inning game.

In this game the Nippons drew first blood when they tallied 2 runs in the second. The navymen came back in the third to tie and scored 1 in the fourth to follow it up with 2 more in the fifth when the Nippons also garnered 2 runs tying the navy 5-5, in the seventh. In the sixth Nishimura took the mound relieving Okada and held the navy scoreless until the eleventh when they sewed the game up with a single run when tre Nippons could do nothing in their half.

Taiyos Will Tackle Wallingford Team At Woodland Park

Japanese Drop Two Games Over Holiday; Bremerton Contest Close

READY FOR WIN

Out to get over the slump, which seems to have obsessed the team during the past several weeks, the Taiyos will tackle the fast Wallingford nine tomorrow at Woodland park from 2 p. m.

Handicapped by the absence of Porgie Okada and Kai Nakabayashi, the Taiyos dropped an Inter-City game to the league leading Port of Seattle nine at Broadway, 11-4, at Broadway on Memorial Day. The early Taiyo lead of the first frame was soon overtaken by the Port nine in the third when they scored 4 runs.

Taiyos chalked up two runs in the fifth for a total of 4 runs but lost what chance there seemed to be when Aoki injured his leg in the sixth and was replaced by Horuchi. Oyama had a near-perfect day at bat getting four bingles out of five.

The Japanese batteries were: Oyama and Nimi.

In an out-of-town game at Bremerton, last Sunday, the Taiyos were nosed out in the last inning, 4-3, by the Kuetts nine.

The Taiyo took the lead in the third canto when Kambe engineered a daring home steal, which was the feature of the game. Bremerton, however, came back with 3 runs in the same frame to jump ahead.

The ninth furnished the real big thrill of the day when the Taiyos scored two runs with two smashing hits to tie the Kuetts. In their half, however, the Bremerton lads came through to put across with two downs to take the laurels.

The batteries were: Sakamoto and Kawaguchi.

Wapato Hits For Win Over Harwood

The Wapato Nippons broke their losing streak last Sunday by downing Harwood, 7-5. By virtue of this victory the locals are in a tie for second place, with a probable chance of finishing in the lead of the Mount Adams league.

Iseri and Kikuchi were the local battery mates, while Mehre and Reagen toiled for Harwood.

H. Kono and Iseri were the leading stickers, getting two safeties out of four times at bat. Osumi poled out a long three-bagger.

Portland Fuji Wins From Wapato Nine

WAPATO, Wash.—Twirling a stellar game, George Okuda and his Portland Fuji nine took the local Nippons down the line, 7-1, on Memorial Day despite the reason that coach Frank Fukuda of the Wapato team was the mentor who developed the Portland pitching ace.

The game was a treat for sore eyes. While the score may seem to show a one-sided affair, the match was made interesting by the fact that Fukuda from the bench was giving orders to the locals on the field while Okuda was endeavoring to outsmart his former mentor.

The Nippon's only run came in the first inning when George Honda, stellar local slabsman, knocked a homer. From the second on, however, the Fujis came back with Okuda holding the heavy sticks on the Wapato nine spiked by his curves.

Salem Wins From Hood River Squad

HOOD RIVER, Ore.—Losing their third straight in the Oregon Junior Baseball League, the Hood River nine dropped a thriller to the Salem team last Sunday.

The locals have always been a jinx to the Salem nine but somehow the dope was upset when the final score stood 21-17. The Salem boys pounded out 9 runs in the first and maintained a steady lead until the end.

JAPAN'S NEW CABINET

In the rather sudden choice of a non-partisan government which has been thrust upon Japan, the atmosphere which seemed to conjecture a national crisis to the outside world has been cleared and whatever the arguments, now, the empire has taken a sterner grip upon her national equilibrium.

The non-partisan cabinet formed by Premier Viscount Makoto Saito is not a repudiation of representative or parliamentary government in Japan and instead it can only be viewed as a simple gesture and remedy for a situation which gave no other recourse than for the independent and serious element of Japan to take a hand in averting what seemed a possibility of a greater and wider clash between the diplomatic and militaristic schools of thought. In this new government is placed the confidence of the serious-minded public to eliminate the petty considerations of politics as well as the extreme gestures of militarists with a stern hand under the simple logic and procedure to bring out the real essence of representative government.

As a matter of fact, if there is anything that can be termed a handicap to the new Saito government, it may lie in parliament where the preceding Seiyu conservative cabinet gained a majority in the last general election but in the coalition form of the new administration it cannot help but win the support of the entire nation. Even parliament cannot afford to sidestep this national pressure of support of a government impartial in its makeup and character and sound in its simple remedy to prescribe for a situation that required a return to the simplicity of representative government without the encumbrances of petty politics or demands.

In the form and policy of its present organization, the cabinet differs none at all from the British national government of Ramsay MacDonald to meet the emergencies of the present depression and it is not as the superficial minded of critics will state that the new administration is the beginning of a dictatorship for Japan under fascist principles of rule.

The new government of Japan may last for a number of years and again it may last only for a temporary period. This, however, will depend upon the course of depression and the manner by which the empire can successfully settle her political house in a much better order.

The Saito cabinet is an emergency cabinet during a period of emergency to lead Japan on to the road of progress during a time when the entire world is both lacking in leadership and vision.

ARTIFICIAL STIMULATION

Much as it would seem a big Federal bond issue would help our public works program and speed the employment of millions of workers to bring our economic condition back to a point of normalcy, the real question at hand is in balancing the budget if a constructive march is to be made out of this depression.

It is obvious that a treasury with depleted resources cannot expect to promote the measures, which would be of the most good to the nation's welfare, and the consequent taxation would eventually thwart the march toward progress of any business. With business carrying a handicap it stands to reason that there would be unemployment and an otherwise normally balanced buying public must become an impotent element in our economic life.

It is a fallacy to believe that business, today, is lacking initiative. The initiative is there but the proper incentive is lacking through the absence of any encouragement that the government can liquidate its borrowings without borrowing again to pay off the public debt. It is this public debt which hangs like the Sword of Damocles over the heads of American tax payers and business.

With a little constructive vision exercised toward rebuilding and rehabilitating the nation's economic structure by beginning at the bottom, sound reason will return and sound business can again enlarge upon its normal initiative in building the country back to prosperity.

A Five Billion Dollar Federal bond issue such as is proposed in the Senate and the Garner public works program originating in the House can only mean an enormous public debt to be shouldered by the government and in the last analysis the people. It may seem that these measures could ameliorate the present depressed economic state but taking the matter of depression as a whole it can only mean a passing fancy, a straw in a load of hay, which will not warrant the huge debt to be shouldered by the government and the people of the United States.

Such proposals can only mean artificial stimulation.

AN UNHEALTHY PROCEDURE

Cutting out the general excise tax from the considerations of the tax bill may not have been unwarranted but at a time when new avenues of taxes have been made necessary to balance the budget, the manner in which it was closed to discussion has not been the healthiest procedure for the country.

It was quite with some surprise, therefore, that the Senate took up a petition signed by some fifty-five members to waylay the measure drafted as an amendment by Sen. David I. Walsh, of Mass., to bring added revenues to the extent of $200,000,000. If the general sales levy would have proved unfair to the country, it should have been brought out in debate. If the general levy would have proven a fair measure to all, it should have been brought out in debate to the satisfaction of the nation and Senate. But this was not done.

It is evident that while the general excise tax might have proved a futile attempt, it may have opened a new way to taxation that is both equitable and fair in that it places a levy on luxuries which must be paid by those who can afford to do so.

"Tax the rich" may be well under the present depressed circumstances of our country but from a fundamental viewpoint there must be some rational basis of taxation that will not place the entire burden of government taxes upon a select class and not upon all who enjoy the privileges afforded by representative government.

Whether or not the general sales tax is wrong is not, now, so much the question at hand, as it must now be the question of whether or not, the method applied to kill the Walsh bill before it was given a hearing, was right.

HAWAII FOR NAVY?

Placing the Hawaiian Islands under the control of the Navy Department may seem to be as a move that is necessary for the national defense as well as to maintain law and order there but as a matter of fact the real politics behind the scenes would seem to imply that it is nothing but a move for a big navy using the plea of lawlessness on the Islands as an excuse.

Not until the recent Massey case did anything which might seem to reflect upon the civil authorities of the golden Isles come out in the sensational style that it did. In fact before the recent case Hawaii was the treasure Island of the Pacific for vacationists and thousands have enjoyed not only the cooling breeze of Waikiki Beach but the law and order to make any stay or visit a genuine pleasure.

The arguments of such people as Floyd Gibbons painting a picture of unprotected Hawaii bringing in such tommyrot that would portray every Japanese living there as Shintoists whose living god is the Emperor of Japan must be taken down with more than a grain of salt. Even the utterances of Rep. F. Britten that should every Japanese home on the Islands be searched there would be found charter schemes to blow up naval stations and military posts, must be condemned as pure foolishness with no essence of truth nor proof.

There is no other person than Mr. Clarence Darrow, himself, who defended Lieut. Massey and his companions, recently, that gives his stamp of approval to the peaceful and normal conditions existing in Hawaii.

Hawaii will bear ill-proof to substantiate any support for a big navy movement by only making it a lawless territory out of just one incident.

JAPAN FOR PEACE TOLD BY PREMIER

The Japanese Government, as they had previously entered a protest with regard to the application to the Sino-Japanese dispute of Article 15 of the Covenant, expounded their stand thus taken and abstained from voting on the resolution.

Extending Cooperation
As regards the commission of the League which engaged in conducting the investigation on the spot, we are extending to it all possible facilities at our disposal in order to help its members to fulfill their mission. I sincerely hope that the commissioners will form a correct and fair conception of the actual conditions in China and Manchuria.

The outstanding issue besides the Sino-Japanese affairs in our foreign relations today is the matter of international political and economic readjustment. The disarmament conference which has been in session since last February is largely concerned with this problem.

This being the first great conference over convened to deal with the problem of disarmament in general, covering land, sea and air forces, it is expected that its deliberations will last for some time.

Hopes For Peace
The Japanese Government intend to insist upon their own points in accordance with their settled policy and it is our sincere hope that the conference will achieve the desired results in the interest of world economy and peace.

Finally in regard to our economic relations with other countries, it cannot be denied that owing to the adoption by every country, in order to protect its own industries of various measures without parallel in the past, serious obstacles have been put in the way of all international trade.

The Government of Japan have spared no efforts towards removing, in as great a degree as possible, the barriers to our foreign trade. I am happy to report that within the present year we have concluded a trade convention and tariff agreement with Portugal and French Indo-China respectively.

Portugal Trade Suffer
Portugal is a country with which, since 1911, we have had no commercial treaty and our trade with that country suffered accordingly, Japan being placed in a disadvantageous position as compared with other Powers. Arduous negotiations fructified at least in a trade convention of March this year which has since come into actual operation.

With French Indo-China, in spite of her being our very near neighbor, we had no agreement on custom tariff, the most important key to trade, since as long ago as the year of 1896. It was only in the course of last year that various obstacles that had protracted negotiations between the authorities concerned in Japan and France, began to be overcome one by one with the result that the convention was signed on May 13 this year, which is calculated greatly to facilitate commerce between Japan and Indo-China, and to strengthen economic ties between the two countries.

Hails Trade Facts
Both of these conventions are to be hailed as signal contributions towards the promotion of international unity and friendship.

The world is suffering today from countless ills, of which the economic depression is the most acute. Japan is undergoing the ordeal along with other Powers and faces many problems which await international solution.

The future of our foreign relations is beset with grave difficulties and national unity and solidarity are needed now more than ever before. In dealing with this difficult situation let me plead for support and cooperation of you all and I shall do the best I can.

Japanese Soldiers Evacuate Shanghai

TOKIO—The evacuation of the entire Japanese military force sent to Shanghai during the recent crisis there, was announced by the War Department as having been completed on Tuesday.

This means that peace has been established in the Shanghai area and that normal conditions now prevail. The measures of protection for residents of Shanghai and vicinity have been left in the hands of an international commission on which is represented both China and Japan as well as the friendly powers concerned relating to the international settlement including the United States.

CANINE BISCUITS WIN GOOD WORD AS SOUP SELLER

Even Charley Couldn't Let Depression Take His Restaurant

"COOKIES" WERE GOOD

By CHEERIO

"Charley" is proprietor, cook, waiter, business manager, bus boy, and dish-washer in a skid-road hole-in-the-wall lunch counter. He had one customer who ordered only a five cent bowl of soup but ate up fifteen cents' worth of crackers with it. He tried putting a half bowl of crackers on the counter, without success, because Old Snickerfritz always asked for more.

The Oriental, too faint-hearted to handle the situation in a straight-forward way, decided to get rid of the unprofitable customer diplomatically. So he filled the cracker bowl in Snickerfritz' customary place with dog biscuit.

The man ate the whole bowl of dog biscuit and glanced around the counter for more. When he paid his check he smiled very cordially. This continued for a week, until "Charley" gave up in despair and dog biscuits, he put crackers back on the counter.

One night, a week later, as he paid his check, the man hesitated a moment and then said, "Charley, you're not giving good service any more. What's become of all them cookies you used to serve here?"

So that's why "Charley" has been looking for cheap rat biscuits.

POST MORTEM

Everything and Nothing Everywhere and Nowhere

By Tom Arai

Little Junior howls for candy. Father says, "Here you are sonny." Mother makes a grab at it and tells him to mind his own business.

Who said this world was safe for Democracy!

Says a weaver's ad in Chicago, "Bullet holes re woven perfectly in damaged clothes—Low prices." "Bullets" must be a masculine or new kind of a moth, or am I slightly behind the times. One certainly must be dum—dum or know its steel-jackets to get by these days.

The Swimmim' Hole

By Satoshi Hoshi

Those good old days when there was no school, in the colonial times where liberty was enjoyed greatly by the young folks, who roamed into the thickets to breathe freedom surely is on your nerves. During school hours you lay your head down on the desk and dream of those good old days. Daily you lug home books giving yourself the impression that you are carrying in wood for me.

Ha, the times when one fought Indians, but now one fights the fellow living next door. Ha, another dream pierces your heart. The old swimming and fishing holes you long to visit stand before you, but the school-books seems to push those dreams farther back into darkness.

Cheer up, my fellowmen and don't give up the ship. Only ten more days of school faces you and that only seems like tomorrow. Liberty will be enjoyed as in the early days. No hours in the dark night to be spent in studying, but all just backward.

The city-life will soon be evacuated by some who will be seeing themselves in coveralls spending the sunny hours of day working in a berry patch picking berries.

The fishing hole will soon be filled by youngsters fishing for "Shiners" their famed catch. Soon the dear old fishing hole will be crowded with fellows swimming about with their fellow companions the mosquitoes. Just think! Only ten more days and our dreams will be fulfilled.

Singing Post-Man Meets Dream Girl

Ben Mottelson, popular "singing mailman" on the Little Tokio route turned benedict last Saturday afternoon when he slipped off to Bellingham and married the "Sweetheart of All My Dreams" that he used to sing about. Mr. and Mrs. Mottelson are at home to their many Japanese friends at their Lakeview Boulevard home, "A Love Nest Just For Two".

Well, Ben, here's hoping married life doesn't put ragged edges on your good humor!

Pink Tea

Honoring this year's Japanese graduates of the University of Washington the local Japan Society is to be host at a lucheon tendered in their honor in the Jade Room of the New Washington Hotel on Monday noon. Mr. Wiley Hemphill, vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce and former president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, is to be the principal speaker of the occasion.

The graduates who are to be honored are as follows: The Misses, Yuriko Takayoshi, Sada Seki, Yuki Watanabe, Shizuko Tashiro, Tulyo Doi, Nobuko Yanagimachi, and the Messers, Paul Muraoka, Satoshi Fujita, Jack McGilvrey, Victor Nakashima, George Tokuda, Gunji Shiraishi, and Hiroyuki Tchi-hara.

Miss Hanayo Doi, who is to receive her master of Science degree, is also to be honored by the Society.

Miss Takayoshi and Mr. Muraoka are to respond for the graduates.

Mr. Eitaro Suzuki, former University of Washington student and graduate, was a visitor in this city for three days early this week. After visiting with his parents here he departed for Japan aboard the M. S. Heian Maru on Wednesday.

Miss Masa Yamashita was the hostess at a house party entertaining friends over the last week-end. The guest from this city were: The Misses Sumiko Shimizu, Sakae Suzuki, Kiyo Ogawa, Mrs. Alice Hamada, Mr. and Mrs. Mitsui Morishita, Mr. and Mrs. Yuzo, and the Messers, Kee Suzuki, Richard Kimura, Rokuro Okubo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence T. Arai entertained with an informal party at their home on Tuesday evening honoring Miss Iris Yamaoka, former resident of this city and now of Hollywood, Calif. Miss Yamaoka departed for Alaska on Thursday morning where she is to make a picture for a moving picture production.

The Rev. K. Saiki of the Shinshu Buddhist Church returned to Japan aboard the M. S. Heian Maru on Wednesday. He was a resident of this city for the past three years.

The engagement of Miss Toshiko Itahashi of Yakima to Mr. James Oyama of Seattle and Winslow, Wash. was announced late last week. No immediate plans for the wedding have been set as yet, it was made known.

Los Angeles

INTERRUPTING our discourse on Los Angeles, let's chat on these and those in an informal fashion.

There's a girl down in California whom Artistic Sasaki knows. Every time I visit her home, she makes me play "Bow Down to Washington" because, she explains, Art always used to play this piece. . . Only she calls it "Anchors Aweigh."

TO ME it is an inspiring song, recalling fond memories.

Of parties and dances and Graham's and Wiseman's and all-night study sessions. Of the university clubhouse, where we had stew on Mondays, roazbif on Tuesdays, hamburgers on Wednesdays, noodles on Thursdays, fish on Fridays, and never enuff hot water on party nights.

And Fuyokai, charming Fuyokai! I suppose Juro Yoshioka is still J. S. C. ambassador to Fuyokai, or is it Johnny Fujita now?

OF THEIR beautiful campus, with its verdant sward and Tudor-Gothic buildings, Washington should be justly proud.

There is nothing like it in all the breadth and length of California.

BY THE WAY, the state name California comes from the Spanish words caliente formalia, meaning "hot furnace", a very appropriate monicker.

Travel is broadening, so they say. I've added six pounds since scudding southwards. Like Rio Kashiwagi, Fergie Okada, and Hito Okada, I find it easy to gain . . . prestige.

HOMING TIME. Shigeo Sese has returned from a trip to Japan, which she seems to have enjoyed muchly.

Returning from Japan, Lilly Takeuchi passed thru California recently on her way to Cascade, Idaho via Nevada and Utah. The Flowery Kingdom seems to have agreed with Lilly, she was looking plumper.

GRADUATION TIME. Japanese valedictorians and salutatorians are so numerous, they are no longer a novelty. Mucho congratulations to Kazue Uchida, Helen Yoshimura, and Rina Yamada et al for winning scholastic honors.

The girls have things all their own way this year, it's an old Leap Year custom.

"SIGN MY ANNUAL" is the popular cry being heard in prep school corridors. Always a time of bewilderment, and to some an agony to think up something that will have the proper pep and verve.

"Yours truly" and "Yours sincerely" sound so business-like, that something different is always sought, such as: "Yours till the door jams." "Yours till Niagara Falls." "Yours till the bed springs and the kitchen sinks."

SOME ARE PLEASED to give advice in a nice, friendly manner: "When you're married and your hubby gets cross,

Just roll up your sleeves and say, 'I'm boss.'

(Variation Two): "When you're married and your hubby's cross, Come to my house and eat applesauce."

(Variation Three): "When you're married and have twins, Come to my house for safety pins."

STILL OTHERS grow mathematical:

"May your life always be like arithmetic, Pleasures added, sorrows subtracted, joys divided, and happiness multiplied."

AND ROMANTIC too: "Love is like a river, Flowing as it goes And for you, my dearest, My love forever flows."

STILL OTHERS, like Norio Wakamatsu, are usually apt to sign an annual with something like:

"Now I lay me down to sleep, With a bag of peanuts at my feet.

If I should die before I awake, You'll know I died of belly-ache."

WHICH REMINDS ME of the English literature class wherein a boy was reading aloud. He came to a passage that ran, "Along the highway the sumacs grew."

What he read was:

"Along the highway the stomachs grew."

'SALMON' YOSHIDA JUMPS TO FIRST IN COURIER RACE

Tom Hirai On Heels Of Puyallup Leader For First Prize

Battering his way through old Cold Face Depression's line from behind, "Salmon" Tad Yoshida, Puyallup Valley's one and only stalwart in the fight, jumped to the fore toward the finish of this week's rating in The Courier Prize Contest for the Fifty Dollar first award.

"Salmon" seemed to be a back number in this fight but when he woke old Cold Face into a clinch to hold himself up. With two such stalwarts as "Salmon", himself, and Tom Hirai, the Renton walloper, making the going hot for old man depression, the race is beginning to create much interest in out-of-town sections. The local battlers are by no means out of the race as it seems that Art Sasaki and a few others are warmed up for the real battle.

The contest through the request of the leaders have been lengthened to July 1, in order to give everybody a chance to realize on the promises of support made them. It seems that many of the contestants have been promised support but owing to old Cold Face's stubborn stand these promises have been held up.

The new entry in the race last Saturday was Charles Kambe who has been the final entry.

The standing so far is as follows:

Tada Yoshida	115
Tom Hirai	65
Art Sasaki	35
James Hara	25
Frank Hattori	15
Ken Turner	15
K. Hayashi	5
Masako Kato	5

To Carry Prize Race Until July 1

With the list for new entries to The Courier Prize Contest closed on May 31, the final run-off which was to have expired on June 15, has now been extended until July 1, after serious consideration on requests made by leaders in the race.

This extension was decided upon after considering the fact that out of fairness to those who have entered the contest in out-of-town places where smaller groups of second generation reside, as well as through the reason that late crops returns were affecting the farming districts.

Coupled with these reasons the request had come in from a leader in the race for this week, Tad Yoshida, of Puyallup, who now holds first place: Contest Editor:

If possible could the date of expiration of this contest be extended to July 1, instead of June 15. Due to late crop return, the people are unable to meet their promises. Would greatly appreciate the additional time.

TO SHOW LATEST MANCHUKUO FILM

Shanghai, Tokio, Manchu Scenes To Be Shown Tonight At Nippon Kan

The changing contour of history in the Orient and the events which have transpired since the recent Manchurian controversy is to be shown tonight at the Nippon Kan in a talkie film brought here by K. Kanetomi, staff correspondent of the Tokio Asahi for educational purposes.

This film will show the first step taken in the embarkation of Japanese marines for home from Shanghai as well as other scenes in the recently troubled area. The ceremony attended by Henry Pu Yi inaugurating the formation of the new Manchukuo state, is also woven into the picture.

Scenes of Tokio are also included in the film showing a military review given in honor of Emperor Hirohito's birthday while ceremony of the fiftieth anniversary of the Military Code of Ethics inaugurated by the Emperor Meiji makes up another portion of the film.

This latter scene is in relation to the five points of honorable conduct by the officers and men of the navy and army instituted by Emperor Meiji fifty years ago. Admiral Yamamoto is to be heard in the film making an address to Japanese marines who have reached home from the Shanghai expedition.

BUDDHIST YOUNG PEOPLE OF N. W. ELECT OFFICERS

Noboru Saito Chosen President At Two-Day Buddhist Confab

160 PEOPLE GATHER

Taking the lead in the Northwest Buddhist Young People's Association, Noboru Saito, of this city, was elected president of the Federation at a two-day convention held here over last Sunday and Memorial Day, this week.

With more than 160 young people attending from the various sections of the Northwest, the first Convention of the Buddhist Young People's Association was opened at the Nippon Kan early on Sunday morning. On Saturday night an entertainment welcoming the outside delegations was put on by the local Shinshu Buddhist young people's club.

It was decided by the meeting on Sunday to send a delegation to the Pan-American convention to be held in Los Angeles this July and steps toward this end are to be taken immediately.

The order of the day on Sunday was rounded out with round table discussion capped with the election of officers for the federation. On Memorial Day the entire congregation took part in a picnic and outing at Fortuna Park where out door games were enjoyed.

The delegations were assembled from Portland, Yakima Valley, Puyallup Valley, Tacoma, White River Valley and Vashon.

The new officers are as follows: President, Noboru Saito; vice-president, Seichi Nakamura-Tacoma, Takeo Nogaki-Seattle, George Ochikubo-Portland, Minoru Omori-Wapato; Secretary, Himiko Kibe-Tacoma and Treasurer, Hideo Tomita-Seattle.

Alaska Bound For Film Iris Yamaoka Visits Old Friends

Living for the next eighteen months on "Top of the World" under the flash of the Northern Lights will be the thrilling experience of Miss Iris Yamaoka, Seattle-born Japanese girl, who paid her home town a short visit on her way to the Land of the Midnight Sun this week.

The former Broadway High School girl is a member of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer party going "on location" to Point Barrow, most northerly point on the American continent to film "The Eskimo", a saga of the northland, under the direction of W. S. Van Dyke, who also directed "Trader Horn", "White Shadows of the South Seas", and other notable productions.

Miss Yamaoka who has been "doing pictures" since going to Hollywood some six years ago is accompanied by Miss Lotus Long, Miss Lulu Wong, sister of the famous Anna May, together with a large group of cameramen, technicians, and other members of the motion picture expedition.

At Nome the party will board the Nanuk, famous fur-trading schooner, and will proceed to Point Barrow, out-post of civilization, where they expect to be frozen in during the long winter. There they will "go native", living and working with the Eskimo tribesmen.

The entire party is outfitted with woolen underclothing, fur coats, fleece-lined breeches, boots, shoe-pacs, oilskins, snowshoes, and skiing equipment.

"It is wonderful to be back in Seattle and see all my old friends again," said Miss Yamaoka.

Junior Girls Are Invited To Share Fun In Big Frolic

Lifting the curtain on summer vacation in gay fashion, the annual Park Department Girl's Fun Frolic will be held at Woodland Park, Saturday, June 18, following preliminary contests on local playfields during the next ten days, according to Ben Evans, playfield chief.

Preliminaries will be held on the following schedule at Collins Playfield:

Saturday, June 4—Girls' O'Leary contest and girls' track meet, 1 o'clock.

Tuesday, June 7—Girls' pitching contest, 3:45 o'clock.

Winners in these preliminaries will represent their respective fields in the Fun Frolic finals. Playground ball tournaments have been in progress for the past week to name finalists for the final game.

Schools close Friday, June 17, so the Fun Frolic comes the first day of summer vacation. It is the high spot of the year for Seattle girlhood.

Big Picnic Enjoyed By Puyallup Young

By Shigeru Wakamatsu
FIFE, Wash.—Members of the Puyallup Valley second generation organizations enjoyed a Memorial Day outing at Glendon Park on Five Mile Lake.

Visitors, those outside of the membership list of the Fife Students Club, Fife Girls' Club, Valley Presto Club or the local Citizens' League, were from Vashon, Oring, and Tacoma as well as from this district. By the middle of the afternoon, fully 150 were enjoying various sports including swimming, baseball, boating, dancing and other games.

The first generation seemed to show quite an interest with many parents in attendance. The clubs were indebted to Mr. M. Kibe, prominent Fife produce man, for his donation of 200 lunch packages of large sized doughnuts.

With the annual Young People's Club—Fife Girls' Club banquet in honor of the Puyallup Valley high school graduates slated for June 12, the heads of the respective organizations are busy preparing for the event.

This year saw the largest number of Japanese students ever graduated from the Fife high school and this together with the graduates from the Summer and Puyallup high schools will make the largest total to be graduated from the Valley.

Mr. S. K. Arima, editor of the North American Times, will be the main speaker of the night. The toastmaster will be Juro Yoshioka.

The banquet is to be held in the Fife High auditorium from 7:30 p. m. People wishing to attend may procure tickets from Dan Sakahara, Dorothy Yamamoto, or Mitsuyoshi Asahara before June 9.

Valley Citizens To Gather On June 14

AUBURN, Wash.—Owing to the reason the commencement exercises of the Auburn High School is to take place on June 7, the scheduled Valley Civic League meeting has been postponed until June 14, it has been announced.

The first generation people were the hosts to the Auburn Young People's club baseball team and its members at the Gyokkoken in Seattle on last Sunday.

An outing and picnic was enjoyed by the Auburn Young People's club at Lake Wilderness on Decoration Day. Boating, swimming, baseball and other games were enjoyed by the young people.

Hood River Youths To Lead Students

HOOD RIVER, Ore.—The Japanese of this vicinity are playing an active part in school affairs of the several high schools in this district. Kazuo Kanemasa was reelected student body president of Mosher High for the coming school term.

Hideo Kajikawa was elected vice-president of the student body of Parkdale High. Both were picked by large majorities.

This places the Japanese students in a foremost rank and two have placed themselves on a par with the popular Kumeo Yoshinari, ex-president of the Dalles High student body.
