CITIZENS' BOARD PLANS PORTLAND MEET, APRIL 29

Board Session To Be Called For Portland For First Time

PLANS MOVING AHEAD

Plans moving swiftly ahead, preparations for the big Northwest Council convention of the Japanese-American Citizens' League, slated for Portland on Labor Day, will be pushed forward into final channels when the N. W. District board meets in Portland on April 29, it was announced by James M. Yamamoto, board chairman.

This will be the first time the Northwest board is to hold a session in Portland, having always been held in this city, and the move is expected to facilitate the work of mapping out the convention program. The general framework of the meet program has already been drafted and only the details are left to be worked out.

While this board session is to be the first to be slated for Portland, it will also be the first time the Rose City will be hosts to a citizens' convention of the Japanese-American Citizens' League.

Interest Rising

With various Northwest chapters already working out their plans for the oratorical contests to determine the winners who will represent them at the Portland convention's Northwest contest, interest in the various localities for the district meet is reported as growing with each week. High enthusiasm for the coming meet has been reported from the Yakima Valley where, it is understood, the entire membership of the Japanese-American Citizens' League chapter is expected to attend making for one of the strongest delegations to participate at the convention. Puyallup and the White River chapters also reported as planning to send down large delegations while Seattle is believed will be represented by a large number as well.

This interest is believed as the result of the wide attraction received by the new citizens' movement program instituted by the Japanese-American Citizens' League at the national convention held in Los Angeles last year. Through this program especially in the Northwest district, the chapters have been hard at work pushing the movement during the past half year and as a consequence the Portland meet is being looked forward to with keen interest in all localities.

Growing With Movement
It is a significant fact that the Americans of Japanese ancestry are rapidly growing to maturity and it may be said that they are growing with the movement and the movement with them.

In Yakima Valley where the chapter is the newest to join the Northwest District Council, the interest has been reported as highly encouraging in making that organization one of the leading chapters in this district. Puyallup which became a chapter of the N. W. Council in 1931 is already one of the strongest bodies while the Valley Civic League of the White River Valley which became a chapter late in 1930 is now the leading organization in the White River Valley.

The Seattle and Portland chapters the two oldest in the Northwest are moving along at a steady pace and it may be added the growth of new organizations in the Northwest has served to encourage the spark of enthusiasm and interest in the citizens' movement, first instituted in 1930, at the first J. A. C. L. national meet here, in these two chapters.

Big Meet Expected

While there have been no definite announcements from headquarters, it is expected the coming Portland meet will be a big affair outstanding the first Northwest meet held in this city in 1931. This coming meet will bring the entire Northwest chapters together for concerted action. In the 1931 district meet there were only four chapters, Seattle, Portland, Valley Civic League of W. R., and Puyallup Valley, as organized bodies of the J. A. C. L., in attendance although Yakima participated with an unofficial group.

With the coming meet billed to be larger than the first one, the board session slated for the latter part of this month is due to launch an active campaign

'HAGE ATAMA' NO FODDER FOR LIBERTY EDITORIAL

By W. T. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Horrible nightmares had been disturbing my sleep, usually so calm and peaceful, ever since I read a certain editorial in the "Liberty" magazine recently.

Could it be that the Japanese in America, who share the same blessings as their better-bleached neighbors—the privilege of paying taxes, freedom to solve jigsaw puzzles, equal chance of being hit by automobiles, etc., etc., etc. . . .

Could it be that these inscrutable and mysterious Japanese had proven ungrateful? So ungrateful as to harbor evil designs against America???

Could it be, I wondered, could it be???

Liberty Says So

I hesitated to believe it, and yet, LIBERTY (March 25, 1933 issue) declares in plain yellow ink:

"There are said to be about one hundred and forty thousand Japanese in Hawaii, and every one of them, male and female, is a potential soldier. It is stated that they have arms and ammunition safely hidden ready for the Great Event—war with this country."

"And then there are approximately ninety-eight thousand Japanese in California, and it has been stated that they, too, are fully prepared; that they have arms and ammunition safely hidden away for use whenever they are needed. And every Japanese citizen is said to have definite orders as to just what is to be done when war is about to be declared. It has been reported that they have been instructed to poison their employers whenever possible, and that they have been told just how to do it."

Horrible! Horrible!

Seeing that the number of Japanese in America proper (125,000) is ONE-TENTH OF ONE PERCENT of the total population of the United States (125,000,000), every thinking mind will at once see the dire possibilities; the truly insidious possibilities.

Sensational Interview

And so, a few days ago, I decided to interview my old friend, HAGE ATAMA. Surely from him I could discover the true facts underlying the case. "Sir," I approached bluntly. "Do you know LIBERTY?"

"Oh, yes," replied the old man grinning broadly. "My wife, she die six year ago."

"Is it true," I persisted, "that you have hidden arms?"

"Oh, yes, I think so. I wear shirt all time; I hide arms. I wear pants all time; I hide legs."

I began to realize that this interview was going to be a somewhat difficult one.

My eyes scanned the room questioning. A backscratcher on the table and two mouse-traps in a corner—these were the nearest approaches to destructive instruments of warfare that I could immediately discover.

My God! A Cannon!

But perhaps he might have some machine-guns or cannons hidden; under the bed, for instance, so I thought. Boldly I queried: "Have you anything in the way of a cannon?"

"Oh, yes. My grandson, he got one."

"Where does he keep it?" "I don't know. But on Fourth of July I help him go boom boom. He got toy cannon."

Suddenly my attention was diverted to a row of dark colored bottles on a high shelf along the wall. The eyes of my host followed my gaze. Then he whispered one word, a significant word, a word that startled me: "Poison."

The words of LIBERTY came surging into my thoughts. "Poison their employers." Those words hammered against my brain.

What! Poison Boss?

"Mr. Atama," I cried in astonishment. "Would you poison your boss?"

"I no got job last six months," he answered evasively.

"Would you, if you had a job?"

"Poison boss man in these depression? That dam crazy."

"Then why those bottles along the wall?"

"Those homebrew not ready yet. Pretty soon poison settle. Then I drink up myself."

I felt immeasurably relieved. Not poison after all! At least, not an employer-extinguishing brand. But there was still one question unanswered in my mind. I felt that I must ask it.

"Mr. Atama, how about gas?"

I asked cautiously. The result astonishing.

At the word "gas," the smile froze on his lips. His Mongolian nose dilated nervously. His eyes shifted treacherously. He paled. He wriggled uncomfortably.

So that was his great secret. I had hit it. At last I had hit it. But how incredible. How nefarious!

Horrible! Horrible!

So that was what the Japanese were planning. What a diabolical plan! Tons upon tons of poison chlorine gas to be released at the proper signal against the world's greatest saxophone players and marathon dancers. Horrible! Horrible! I resolved to report it at once to Mr. Stimson or to Floyd Giblets.

"So it's gas, is it?"

"Yes, yes, Gas!" the old man groaned brokenly.

My excitement was intense. Yet my duty lay plain. I had to wring a confession. From this old man, this yellow peril, this undesirable alien, this Hage Atama!

"How long? How long has this been going on?"

"Two year!"

"Tell me the truth now. Nothing but the truth. Where is this gas being kept?"

"Where you think? Doctor, he no can do nothing. He just say TOO BAD I got gas in stomach!"

Japan Contributes To Temblor Relief

WASHINGTON—Ambassador Debutchi of Japan notified the American Red Cross early this week that a contribution of 10,000 Yen had been made to the Southern California earthquake relief fund.

The Japanese Red Cross and the cities of Tokio and Yokohama were the contributors.

SENATE REJECTS ROOSEVELT PLAN TO ENTER COURT

Robinson Hopes For O.K. By Wednesday; House Passes Bill

SENATE TO SPEED

WASHINGTON—Administration efforts to force through approval of America's entry in the World Court during the present extraordinary session of congress met with a sharp setback this week when the senate foreign relations committee shelved the court protocols at least temporarily.

Senate leaders were almost unanimous in their opposition to a consideration of the World Court question during the present session. The president is still reported favoring the passage of the legislation during the present session.

Robinson Wants Report

Majority Leader Robinson who introduced the measure in the senate announced that he would attempt to have a favorable report on the bill by next Wednesday. In support of the president's stand in favor of the bill it was said that both Republican and Democratic platforms advocated America's adherence to the Court.

Senator Dill of Washington predicted that the senate would defeat the bill in the event that it was called up at this session. He expressed the belief that if it were submitted to popular vote 75 per cent of the people would vote against it.

Senators were of the opinion that at the present extraordinary session of congress only economic measures should be discussed. They were of the belief that it would be breaking faith with the people if the question were discussed with the nation in its present economic plight.

House O. K.'s Bill

The house this week passed President Roosevelt's bill authorizing him to control 250,000 men in reforestation conservation camps. The measure was passed by a vive voce vote.

The house passed an amendment to the bill providing that no discrimination as to "race, creed or color" shall figure in the selection of the workers for the camps. The amendment was sponsored by Representative De Priest, Republican, of Illinois and was adopted by a vote of 179 to 71.

It was expected that the senate would speedily concur in this amendment and that the president would have the bill signed by today.

Opposition to the bill came mainly from the ranks of organized labor in protest against the proposed dollar-a-day wage scale. Workers would also receive board and lodging.

The task of recruiting the labor for the projects will be in the hands of the labor department. Those who are selected will be sent first to army posts where they will be given a thorough physical examination and will be properly outfitted with clothes and tools.

MUTUAL TRUST IS NEEDED ON PACIFIC

Vice-Admiral Hyakutake Declares United States-Japan Must Trust Each Other Despite Perplexing Moments

TREATY'S 79th ANNIVERSARY

Japan's sentiment for a closer relationship with the United States on the Pacific to ensure the ends of mutual confidence and trust during moments of international emergencies, was the manifestation given by vice-Admiral Hyakutake, commander of the Japanese naval training squadron which arrived here this week for a four-day visit ending today, in a stirring address before the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and Japan Society banquet at the Olympic Hotel on Wednesday evening.

In an atmosphere permeated by a spirit of cordial goodwill, where United States naval men and Japanese officers and midshipmen brushed shoulders, an impressive welcome was in store for the visiting men of the Japanese navy. First it was Adjutant General Thompson, of the Washington State national guard representing Gov. Martin, then Mayor Dore followed by Stanley E. Griffiths, representing the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, all of whom expressed the welcome of the state, city and local business people to the Japanese naval men.

In the special welcome extended the Japanese squadron, rear-Admiral Campbell, commandant at Bremerton, paid tribute to the high standard of the Japanese navy declaring that Japan was the only signatory nation living up to the proper obligations of national security as set down in the Washington and London naval disarmament pacts.

Must Have Confidence

Vice-Admiral Hyakutake, speaking in Japanese and interpreted by Lieut. Hiraike, forcefully pointed out the need of mutual confidence and trust on the Pacific between the United States and Japan.

Perplexing moments will arise, he said, but Japan's attitude for a well-established and sound peace on the Pacific must not be mistaken. The future of the growing trade relations and the insurance of cultural and friendly advancement in the Pacific, it was declared, must be brought to its fullest benefits by mutual accord and oak sapwooded underpinned nations.

The Japanese commander's address was noted as significant in view of the present Far Eastern situation which has been regarded generally by those conversant with the issues at stake as being misunderstood by a large portion of the American public not sympathetic with Japan's trials.

Visit Week Significant

In one of the principal addresses, Stanley Griffiths, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that this week was a significant period in the relations between Japan and the United States inasmuch as the first trade treaty between the nations was signed on March 31, 1854 on the occasion of Commodore Perry's visit to Japan.

While to speak of friendly and closer relations from the viewpoint of commerce may sound sordid, Mr. Griffiths implied, it nevertheless was a factor that must be considered and which has helped to strengthen the ties of genuine understanding and goodwill on the Pacific between Japan and the United States. Each year, he said, the volume of trade between the two nations was growing in advantage to the two peoples and that Seattle and the Orient will always play its fitting part as the open gateway to peace and understanding on the Pacific.

Mr. Griffiths was introduced as the son of Captain Griffiths, who had gone to Japan in the 80's to negotiate the coming to this port of the first Japanese steamship, the Milke Maru, of the N. Y. K. Line in 1896.

One other speaker on the program was Kiyoshi Uchiyama, Japanese consul here, who emphasized the need of a greater understanding on the Pacific not only for the benefit of Japan and the United States but for the permanent peace of the world. Consul Uchiyama also recorded the thanks of the government and of the training squadron for the cordial welcome extended the training squadron by the city and state and the American navy.

The banquet was presided over by A. A. Murphy former Chamber of Commerce President, while the naval band from the Yakumo was the feature of the evening's entertainment program.

NAVAL SQUADRON RECEIVES WARM RECEPTION HERE

Cordiality Marks Welcome Ceremony; Entertainment For Middies

UNDERSTANDING SEEN

By MUIR REAL

Like the harbinger of peace and goodwill on the Pacific, the Japanese naval training squadron gracefully sailed into Elliott Bay and welcoming sirens and whistles from sound steamers, on Tuesday to pay the city of Seattle a visit as the first port of call.

Tieing up at Pier 41, the Smith Cove Terminal, the Yakumo and the Iwate and her personnel of some 1544 men were the visitors in this city until this morning when they leave for Tacoma and a three-days' visit in that city. This was the fourth time a Japanese naval training squadron had visited this city on a goodwill call within the past 24 years the first visit having been made here by the Aso and Soya in 1909.

To the thousands of Seattle folks who witnessed the arrival of the two ships and who happened to brush shoulders with the young middies on a sightseeing trip of the city's business section and scenic places during their four-days' visit, the friendly call of the naval squadron could not have meant anything but the sentiment of peace and goodwill of Japan brought here in person by the very men in whose hands the destiny and security of the Island Empire will in time be reposed.

A Great Visit

No matter what angle the view may be taken of this visit, it was probably one of the greatest moves made by the Japanese naval authorities in expressing its confidence in the friendship and understanding of the American people toward the people of Japan. What with the American fleet in the Pacific waters and the dark clouds of suspicion hovering over the new traditional ties of friendship between this country and Japan, it took a Japanese naval squadron to effect the proper confidence of goodwill and strength in those relations.

From the Mayor down to the average Mr. Citizen, Seattle fully sensed the occasion and not only gayly but seriously lived up to her part and played it well as befitting a nation of people fully understanding the motives that mean for peace and welfare between the two nations.

Cordiality Keynote

No one could escape the note of cordiality that was struck in all the civic events. That cordiality was not of unfamiliarity but one of familiar respect between two cultured races.

First it was Mayor Dore who boarded the Yakumo on the day of its arrival to pay his respects and to welcome the Japanese squadron to this fair queen city of the Northwest with the usual ceremony that attends all such occasions but Mayor Dore truly exemplified the spirit of Seattle's welcome in his smile that did not bespeak the complicated issues of depression his administration was tackling for many months past.

Vice-Admiral Hyakutake seemed quite at ease with Mayor Dore and it was evident from the manner in which he took the Mayor into his arm of friendship that a common ground of understanding had been struck and that the depression or not, ships of war or not, two men from the near ends of the earth had met and they intended to shake on it.

People's Welcome Warm

This was the spirit that was carried on throughout the four-days' visit of the Japanese naval men and the people of Seattle were not far behind their Mayor in sensing the occasion. Every welcome seemed to be extended the middies and the men of the Japanese navy and it would hardly be fair to the citizens of Seattle to remark that the Japanese middies and men passed by without a notice. The welcome gestures were not effusive but properly conducted with the right tone of sincerity and the Japanese are always receptive to anything that means sincerity regardless of what the artificial ballyhoo of what the ballyhoo of a supposedly kindly welcome, maybe.

Taking it all in all the Japanese people and nation seem to have been brought closer to this port

Three Hoop Stars To Receive Honor Awards At Mixer

Sumi Arai, Toki Hirota, Chuck Kambe, Lauded For Good Sportsmanship

PRAISE BY PLAYERS

For clean playing, for sportsmanlike conduct, for high ideals and exceptional leadership, Sumi Arai of the G. S. G. team in the Girls' League, Toki Hirota of Bellevue's outfit in the Boys' Class A League, and Charles Kambe of the Green Lake quintet in the Boys' B League, are to be honored with the trophy as the most inspirational player in respective leagues.

Sumi Arai was chosen by the girls as the ideal of their league. Her hard, clean playing, her courtesy and charm, her cheerfulness in winning or losing, won her the admiration and respect of her teammates and opponents alike.

Of her one girl states: "On Sumi's calm and steady playing G. S. G. came out of their first of the season slump and won many of their later games. Her charm and courtesy, her pleasant smile and kind, cheery 'hello, girls,' were especially heart-warming to us 'out-of-towners.'"

Hirota Honored

Toki Hirota of Bellevue was honored by the boys of the A League as their ideal type. On one of the weaker teams in the circuit, Toki always managed to assemble a clean team to assemble a clean team, hard fighting outfit, which winning or losing, always won the respect of their opponents. Modest and unassuming, he was a leader of a group of younger boys and he instilled in them the high ideals and clean sportsmanship which he practiced himself.

Of Charles Kambe, who was honored in the Boys' Class B League, his opponents have this to say: "Chuck is a modest winner and a good loser; a brilliant player himself, he is essentially a team man who places the team above himself; a leader and a square shooter."

All-Star Hoopsters Will Be Announced At Mixer To-night

The champions of both boys' leagues shared honors equally by placing two men each on the all-star selections with the other positions divided among widely scattered teams. In the girls' selections the three top teams shared honors by placing two apiece with Sumner adding one.

Playing cool heads up ball in their crucial game Friday at Collins, the Taiyo Cubs trounced the Meteors 24 to 13 to win The Courier Class A championship and the right to represent this city in the Northwest Tournament.

The playing of the Meteors was way below their usual standard and the spectacular features of the previous overtime encounter were lacking. Erratic passing and inability to hit the hoop were the contributing factors of the mediocre showing of the church boys. The Cubs led 15 to 7 at half time and 19 to 9 as they went into the final period. Tanaka and Iwana of the losers played well. Tanaka topped the scorers with 9 Iwana followed with 7. Masuda swished 4 while Iseki and Yorita contributed 3 and 2 respectively. For the losers, Kashiwagi netted 7, Hagihara was next with 4 tallies, Watanabe and Hayashi garnered a foul shot apiece. Overanxiousness on the part of both teams caused many fouls, the Cubs committing 24 and the Meteors 18.

Vandals Down Fife
In the final game of the Class A division the Vandals came out a 26 to 12 winner over the Fife Ramblers to finish their season in second place with Auburn. Fife jumped into the lead at the outset and were leading at the half 7-2, but in the later periods the Vandals unleashed a drive that netted them 24 points while holding their opponents to 5. Yanagimachi led the scorers with 9, Hosokawa 6, Yoshida 5, Higuchi 4 and Ota with 2 were other collegians to count. S. Fujita was highest for Fife with 6, Hamanishi and S. Higashi tallied a field goal each. K. Higashi and Ohashi made one point each on foul conversions.

Green Lake pulled themselves up into a three-way tie in the upper B standings by soundly trouncing Vashon 26 to 9 Friday at Collins. Vashon was hopelessly outclassed and was held to 3 points the first half, while the winners rang up 16. Tanagi with 9 was closely followed by Fujihira with 8, Mochizuki added 6, Nishitani 2 and T. Fujihira 1. D. Matsumoto with 7 and Frank Matsumoto 2 were the only Islanders to tally.

With Hasegawa and Tai leading the way the Cougars eliminated the Waseda Juniors by a 22 to 14 count in the final game of the regular season. The score at halftime was 13-7 Cougars. The scorers: Cougars Hasegawa 8, Tai 7, Nakano 3, Kozu and Hokari 2 apiece. Nakamura was high for the Juniors with 7, Bitow 3, Hosokawa 2, Y. Kozu 2 were other losers to count.

Gr. Lake Takes Title
In the championship game for the Class B title made necessary by the tie in standings between Green Lake and the Cougars the former emerged victor by a narrow 19 to 13 margin at Collins Monday before a capacity crowd. Green Lake was trailing badly for the major part of the contest but they again pulled one of their spirited rallies to pull out winner. Four minutes before the end of the game the Lakers went into the lead for the first time, Tai tied the count at 17 to 17 and sent his team ahead on another toss from the foul line. With play waxing hot T. Nishitani swished a beautiful shot from the side of the court for what proved to be the winning marker. The Cougars had three chances to tie or win when Hokari was fouled twice and Kozu once but the attempts at conversions failed. Kambe 6, K. Fujihira and G. Nishitani 4 each, Tanagi and T. Nishitani 2 apiece and Mochizuki 1 were the scorers for the Lakers while for the Cougars Hokari led with 7, Kozu 5, Nakano 3 Tai 2 and Marling 1 were the others to count.

Lotus Wins Thriller

In the lower division Lotus nosed out Sumner 14 to 13 in a nip and tuck affair while the Flyers closed their season with a 22 to 15 walloping at the hands of Auburn. The Aces traveled to Sumner with a chance to take undisputed lead of the lower group but were badly beaten by the home team. Sumner and the Aces now share top honors.

Fife, W.W.G. Tie
In the first game of the girls' division playoff series Fife and W.W.G. played an exciting game at Sumner which ended in a tie 18-all. The game was featured by the scoring race between Thelma Ohashi of Fife and Martha Miyauchi of the Seattle sextette. W.W.G. led at half time 7 to 5.

With the count 18 to 17 W.W.G., a few moments before the final gun Fife was fouled and Rose Yamamoto played the role of heroine by calmly tossing in the tieing counter. K. Yoshida of Fife played a good defensive game. Miyauchi was high for the evening with 12, Koitabashi added 4 and Okazaki 2. Ohashi counted 11 for the Valley girls while Yamamoto and Nishikawa tallied 4 and 3 respectively.

W.W.G. knotted the Girls' standings by walking away from Fife 26 to 11. Fife was unable to stop Martha Miyauchi, who broke away for 24 markers to set a new individual high mark for this season. Ogawa tossed in the other 2 points for the winners. Fife scored as follows: Ohashi 4, R. Yamamoto 5 and Nishikawa 2.

W.W.G. Champions

W. W. G. took the Girls' League crown when they again trounced Fife 21 to 7 at Sumner in the deciding game of the playoff series. Miyauchi repeated her stellar performance of the previous game counting enough points to win the game single handed. Marumoto and Okazaki of the opposing teams played brilliant games in the center court while Aoki and Setsuda, W. W. G. guards, played splendid defensive ball. Miyauchi 17 and Ogawa 4 were the winners to count. Ohashi 5, Nishikawa 1, Yamamoto 1 were the Fife scorers.

In a main role as speaker of the evening is to be Walter Reseburg, vice-principal at Franklin high and veteran football, baseball and basketball coach, who will present the Northwest Tournament championship trophy and the Enderlin, Bridgeman inspirational plaques.

Refreshments and general dancing and special numbers by an American Legion quartet from the University Post and Mary Takayoshi, who scored a hit in the Garfield high annual show last week, will make up the balance of the program. An evening full of fun, glee and entertainment is on tap for the more than 300 young hoop players and fans to be in attendance.

Fife Victorious In District Meet; To Play Here Tonight

Thrilling Two Overtime Period Victory Over Tacoma Decide Winner

YOSHIOKA CINCHES GAME

SUMNER, Wash.—Getting off to a flying start for The Courier Northwest Hoop Tournament with the titular match slated for tonight the four out-of-town section fives from Bellevue, Auburn, Tacoma and Fife went into action, Tuesday, with Fife winning the right to represent the district in the two-day tournament.

In the opening tilt Fife defeated Auburn, 35-24, with half time score being in favor of Fife, 17-13. S. Fujita of Fife was the star of the game with 20 points.

The second game turned out in favor of Tacoma, 13-8 against Bellevue. Both teams playing a tight defensive battle accounted for the low score.

In the final district title match, Fife defeated Tacoma 25-23, but only after the game went into two overtime periods. Half ended 11-11, with the game ending 21-21, necessitating an extra period.

Semba of Tacoma swished a beautiful shot to tie the score just as the whistle blew. The first overtime period went scoreless although Fife had a chance to win on foul shots.

In the second extra session E. Yoshida gave Fife a lead with a basket, but Takeuchi came back with a foul conversion. Daichi Yoshioka, however, cinched the game for Fife with another field goal.

The game ended with Tomita of Tacoma, converting a free shot. Tacoma was minus the services of Kazama and Nakamura.

SPRING TIME!

By SATOSHI HOSHI

When Mother Nature's little children of the air are seen about in this city, it is a sure sign of spring.

When March winds blow and toss the kites about the skies, and when flowers bring forth new buds that are about to bloom and say to this old world, "Hello, old chap, it's about time you ought to put a smile on that face of yours. It's spring time."

And soon the Sunshine of Prosperity will rise over this gloomy world and pour forth her radiant beams and payrolls will find their way to normal standards, then it's real prosperity and not talk. But we cannot forget, it is spring time.

And in Flanders fields, the battle ground of memorial significances, comes the sweet scent of the blooming poppies. Something tells me spring is really here.

In The Arena

By Arthur Suzuki

Los Angeles, Calif.

Regardless of the spring and it's consequential ethereal effusions, the typewriter has the jitters and we are in the dumps. So if it hadn't been for Larry Tajiri's timely assistance, this brain child of ours would have never materialized. You must meet Larry someday. His "Graveyard Shift" in the Kashu Mainichi is an interesting column of sport talks and Larry is altogether a great guy.

Although Oki Shikina was carted out to the hospital after the Jim Londo affair, he was playing the slot machine the very next evening. The brain concussion was another one of those things and Oki is making a profitable round of the wrestling arenas in these here parts. Last week, he made a record of one thing or another. Tossed Jim Corrigan in Phoenix, Arizona, blasted Vic Christy in San Diego, drew with Rudy Skarda in Los Angeles and stopped Henry Graber in San Francisco. All in four consecutive days.

Oki signed a contract with his manager to perform three years at a salary of 100 dollars a month. He never figured that the wrestler of his color would be wrestling at least twice a week, and Oki was receiving only 12 dollars and 50 cents a bout. However he managed to break his contract. For his efforts against Londo, he collected a neat sum of 1000 iron men.

His ineffectual jiu-jitsu tactics against Londo disappointed many Japanese fans who still remembered Fujita's feat against Ray Steele. In a mixed bout with Steele, Fujita, only a welterweight broke the 220 lb. wrestler's arm in 7 minutes. Steele is only one in the wrestling troupe that can beat Londo but he gets more losing to the champion.

Fujita, who use to attend Whittier College, changed his name to Iota Shima and wrestled all over the States. He is the same Shima that fought in the Ice Arena in Seattle many moons ago. At present he is touring the Midwest and was last heard of in Columbia, Ohio, where he lost to "Wildcat McCann."

Teiken's Whirlwind Attack Beats More

OAKLAND, Calif.—With a flashing, slashing attack, Joe Teiken, the Japanese Typhoon, whirled to a decisive victory over Baby Palmore, conqueror of Speedy Dado, winning 9 out of 10 rounds in the Auditorium fight Wednesday night.

From the initial gong Teiken stepped out setting a furious pace, bombarding the Ventura boy with the destructive force of a typical typhoon. Teiken had Palmore on verge of a knockout on several occasions, the bell saving Palmore in the fifth.

Taiyos Will Battle Cubs Squad Sunday

In what is to be their practice diamond tilt, the Taiyos are to clash with the Taiyo Cubs at Garfield, tomorrow, starting at 12 noon.

Both squads are reported to be in trim shape and tomorrow's contest is expected to be turned into a fast encounter. The Cubs are represented this year in The Courier Class A League.

J.S.C. Benefit Date Billed For April 9

English and Japanese plays making up the bill of attractions, the Japanese Students' Club of the University of Washington is to hold its club benefit show at the Nippon Kan on Sunday night, April 9, starting at 7 p. m.

Under the direction of Art Sasaki for the English plays and the Japanese by Kunizo Hiraoka, the show is expected to be made into one of the best attractions seen here this year so far. The plays are being put on under the general charge and chairmanship of K. Ueda who is assisted by Kenji Ito, asst. chairman; Juro Yoshioka, ticket committee; Iwao Hara, advertising; Paul Muraoka, publicity.

One of the main attractions of the show is to be a Japanese dance or odori which will star six male students.

The dance it is understood will bring out the following: (girls' part) Kenji Ito, Paul Muraoka, Fred Ueyemami; (boys' part) Charles Taiyoshi, K. Ueda and T. Suzuki.

Among the English plays is to be one entitled the "Technocratic Age" which was written by Hiraoka and is expected to prove one of the stellar attractions of the bill. The full program for this show is to be announced next week, it was reported.

COLORFUL PROGRAM MARKS RECEPTION FOR MIDSHIPMEN

Seattle's hospitality as expressed by the second generation in an atmosphere of cordial goodwill and friendship, was given manifestation at a colorful welcome reception tendered the midshipmen from the Japanese training squadron at the New Washington Hotel on last Thursday evening.

Bringing together the young people from all sections of the Northwest, the reception was regarded as the biggest affair of its kind to be held here yet and fully added the color of a genuine Northwest second generation welcome extended the Japanese midshipmen. While the exact figures were not available it was estimated, more than 400 younger generation people were on hand to strike the cord of friendship with the more than 200 young midshipmen, who in the course of their tour down the coast will portray Japan's sentiment of goodwill and friendship for the American nation.

Two languages, two cultures, and two customs, met in sharp contrast but in harmony, at this affair, and there were probably none that attended who went home feeling that peace and understanding on the Pacific were an impossibility through the agency of second generation.

OGAWA EXTENDS FLYING GREETING

Pilot Flies To Greet Arrival Of Training Squadron; Nakashima Reports

With Vic Ogawa at the controls we took off from a rain-swept field at Boeing Airport. It was still early in the morning when the plane roared into the clouds. As we rose still higher above Seattle I looked around over the Sound -- the Olympics were in the first rays of the morning -- the Cascades were dark and ominous in the Eastern horizon -- Seattle was in a hazy mist far below us.

We sighted the Squadron as they rounded West Point. The Yakumo, flying the Admiral's flag was just ahead of them. They looked small from our seat in the clouds, but they grew larger as we dove down to circle them in an official greeting.

We zoomed down close to the water and at a height that seemed close to the mast head, Vic threw the ship into a vertical bank and circled the Yakumo three times. The sailors, best of Japan's young men, were lined up at attention on the decks.

Their heads turned, following our flight. Then with a roar of the powerful engine, we climbed, leaving behind a string of streamers that fluttered down to the water. We dove again on the Iwate, which was turning down the Bay to another mooring, and gave them another greeting from the air. With a dip of the wings and a twist and loop we left the ships and headed south.

Straight up Jackson Street we flew, and when we were above the Jackson Service Station, Vic gave the ship a few twists and turns to let Naga-mine and the other fellows know that he was in the air and would soon be to work.

With the second generation lassie proved more than her dramatic coaches had hoped for an attraction and in her star number, "Darkness On The Delta", she brought the house down despite the directors' ruling that no encores were to mark the show. This ruling, however, had little effect on the audience and the result was that on each night Miss Takayoshi took on an average of about three bows after each rendition.

In other highlights of the show a Japanese dance and singing number put on by second generation girls of the school also came in for much applause.

interpreters from the West and young Japanese midshipmen bent on seeing the world from the East.

In this atmosphere bringing all into a common accord of friendship and camaraderie, the affair saw an impressive beginning with the singing of America followed by the Japanese national anthem.

The general program was a well-rounded bill of addresses, music, singing, and stage dancing in which a number of the younger talent of the second generation were featured.

As one of the principal speakers of the evening, Kotaro Takabatake, former Japanese Language School principal for more than twenty years and who had graduated hundreds of local second generation people, extended welcome representing the Japanese pioneers while making an introduction of the second generation people. In the other principal address of the evening, Henry Tatsumi, Japanese language instructor at the University of Washington, extended the midshipmen a hearty welcome representing the second generation.

A photograph of the affair was also taken, two enlargements of which are to be presented to the midshipmen of the Yakumo and the Iwate in commemoration of the event. Individual photographs are to be sold at The Courier office for the price of fifty cents by the Ochi Studio, it was announced.

The evening's program as it was given, is as follows: 1.—America, Kimigayo; 2.—Welcome speech by Kotaro Takabatake representing pioneer residents; 3.—Welcome speech by Henry Tatsumi representing second generation; 4.—Ballet dancing by Kazuo Nakamura; 5.—Violin solo by Louise Sato; 6.—Tap dancing by Kazuo Nakamura; 7.—Addresses by sub-lieut. Mukada and midshipman Iitaya; 8.—Japanese dancing by Fumiko Sato, Toshiko Egami; 9.—"Carry Me Back To Old Virginia"; "The House By The Side Of The Road" by Aelion Chorus; 10.—Vocal numbers by Mary Takayoshi.

It has been requested by Saburo Nishimura, tag campaign director, for all persons selling welcome tags to kindly turn in all collections to The Courier office by Monday.

MARY TAKAYOSHI FEATURES SHOW

Winsome Miss's Singing Wins
Audience's Hearts; Applause Stops Show

Rising to stellar heights in the leading role of the "Fun-fest", Mary Takayoshi, winsome little jazz-singer of the second generation, sang her way into the hearts of her audience at the annual show held at the Garfield high, for three nights last week.

This is known to have been the first time a second generation girl was starred in the annual show of a local high school and high interest was created in the production prior to its showing.

The dainty second generation lassie proved more than her dramatic coaches had hoped for an attraction and in her star number, "Darkness On The Delta", she brought the house down despite the directors' ruling that no encores were to mark the show. This ruling, however, had little effect on the audience and the result was that on each night Miss Takayoshi took on an average of about three bows after each rendition.

INTEREST GROWS FOR CITIZENS BIG ORATORY CONTEST

Sayo Tanagi, Frank Yoshitake,
Listed With Ayako Yamashita
For Oratorical

OTHERS TO ENTER

Two more entries made to forward the aims of good citizenship, Sayo Tanagi, dainty little Miss from Roosevelt high, and Frank Yoshitake, well-known local youth attending Garfield high, were enrolled late last week in the Citizens' League oratorical contest to be held on April 28, it was announced by Clarence T. Arai, oratorical committee chairman.

The first entry in the contest was Ayako Yamashita, silver-tongued orator from Winslow. This makes three young speakers enrolled for the contest and according to Arai, who is being assisted in committee by Takeo Nogaki, Sada Seki, Saburo Nishimura and Jiro Aoki, new additions from this city and vicinity are soon to be expected.

While there are no indications as yet as to how many will join the contest it is generally believed in Citizens' League circles, interest is growing for the contest the winner of which is to be sent to the Northwest District citizens' convention of the Japanese-American Citizens' League slated for Portland on Labor Day.

No award has been put up by the local league for the winner other than the trip to Portland and to be given the chance of entering the Northwest contest for the district prize, but Arai, it is understood, is planning to have the organization present an individual prize emblematic of the Seattle championship.

At the present time the Northwest District Council board has not yet decided on whether to send the winner of the Portland contest to the national convention in San Francisco in 1934, this being dependent upon the decision of the National Council of the Japanese-American Citizens' League to hold an oratorical contest. As soon as the matter is decided to hold a contest, the board will take up the matter for a decision.

Those qualified to enter the Seattle contest must be persons 18 or under or persons who graduated from high school in February or who will graduate in June. Any person desiring to enter the contest may register their names with Clarence Arai, 519 Mikado Bldg., or call Main 3750.

TACOMA GROUPS READY TO GREET NAVAL SQUADRON

Miyazaki Issues Call For Young People; Gov. Martin To Extend Welcome

RECEPTION DUE SUNDAY

By Tsutomu Ueda

TACOMA, Wash.—In welcoming the Japanese naval men from the two training ships, Yakumo and Iwate, on their good-will tour, a holiday spirit prevails here, with the civic groups prepared to extend the warmest welcome to the goodwill squadron.

"Many young people will be needed from today until Monday to assist the naval men around the city, and on sight-seeing trips through the Valley Districts, Fort Lewis, and Pierce County airport," was the statement made by Carl Miyazaki, secretary of the Japanese Association.

The two ships are scheduled to arrive about 1 p. m. today at the Port Tacoma Pier and they will remain until April 5. For the benefit of the naval men and the large number of expected visitors here, two information bureaus have been established. One is located at 1345 Broadway and the other at the Tacoma Hotel in the Peacock room.

Upon the arrival of the squadron, several welcome committees are to board the flagship, Yakumo. Those heading the different committees are: Gen. Joseph C. Castner; Gov. C. D. Martin; Mayor Tennant; Robert R. Shaffer, pres. of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. H. Kurata, pres. of the Japanese Association. Later the officers and the midshipmen are scheduled to visit the County airport and Ft. Lewis.

At 2:30 Sunday afternoon, a reception will be held by the Japanese population at the Armory for the naval men.

The visiting hours scheduled for today are from 2 to 3 p. m. Sunday 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. and Monday the officers are guests at civic luncheon, while in the afternoon guests are being invited aboard the flagship.

Because of the spring vacation, the schools here will remain closed until April 10, so the following boys named and others who have no definite assignments are asked to be at the Terminal dock today at 1 p. m.; Sunday at 7:45 a. m. and Monday at 8 a. m.
