

Between the Lines

DON'T FORGET THE DATE August 28-September 2. Guess where?

NO MISTAKE last week about the way the above blurb appeared in this column. We put it that way to call your attention.

PRESIDENT says he is poorer and wiser since he became governor of New York in 1928, and Willie says the people are poorer and wiser. Well, we are poorer.

SOME DEMOCRATS are deserting the New Deal. Still, it remains to be seen how many followers they will attract.

WRECKING of the Queen Anne street car last Sunday on its final trip last Sunday by a crowd of youngsters proves to us that boys have not changed much since we were in college. But that doesn't make it right.

GOVERNOR MARTIN in his address Monday night boasted that until 1933 there was no social security legislation in this state. Didn't need it until the advent of his administration.

ELECTION NOTE from Olympia is that Secretary of State Belle Reeves says there are 795,000 voters registered for the primary September 10.

LOS ANGELES pastor has resigned from the largest Methodist church in the world to become an editor. We can tell him he has not entered a more fruitful field.

SOME HATS the girls are wearing these days remind us of the experience of a friend of ours. When she attended a party wearing her new bonnet, one of the boys wanted to know if she had lost a hat.

AS ELECTIONS near, some of the officials who are candidates are publicizing the fact that their budget for next year is lower than last. Still, there always is the possibility of a supplemental budget, as has been the custom in the past.

HEADLINE writers on London newspapers coined the word "conchie" as a short expression for "conscientious objector." It went fine until it was discovered that there really is a family by the name of Conchie, with a long, distinguished military record.

SCARCITY sometimes proves a blessing. Federal officer says that pure narcotics are so scarce that many addicts have cured themselves by buying and using highly-diluted products.

HABEAS CORPUS writ has been issued in behalf of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, famous World War draft-dodger. If we have another draft, a lot of boys will think twice before doing as he did.

MARRIAGE is one of the subjects to be discussed at the Portland JACL convention. We learn from the program sent out to judge from our Pink Tea column, the topic has been given considerable attention around here the past few months.

JOHN CUDAHY, ambassador to Belgium, reprimanded the past week for talking too much, is the third U. S. diplomat to speak out of turn recently. The others were Jimmy Cromwell in Canada, and William Bullitt, accredited to France.

HARRY BRIDGES may get a respite, if a small group of Senators, including Schwelienbach of Washington, have their way. A bill has been passed in the lower House to deport the C. I. O. leader. The group of Senators would sidetrack the bill and have the attorney general investigate the Australian. As we remember it, Secretary of Labor Perkins had a lengthy investigation made, and the labor leader was exonerated of being a Communist. The present proposal is that the attorney general determine whether he is an undesirable alien. It is well to keep this distinction in mind. Meanwhile, in Denver this week, Bridges told the world his views on national defense. They will be found in the daily press.

CHADWICK STANDS FOR AMERICAN WAY

Former Legion Commander And Democrat In Race For Senate; Scores Bosses; Says New Dealers Neglected Defense

CHANGE IN DRIVER'S SEAT ASKED

In a smashing radio address last Monday evening, Stephen F. Chadwick, past American Legion commander, and candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket for United States Senator, castigated the administration, and called for a return by this country to the American way of life.

Chadwick, son of a long line of Democrats, himself active in the party many years, scored the third term idea, political bosses, and totalitarianism. He pictured the New Deal leader, born and reared in luxury as among those who seek to do the thinking for the people. On the other hand the Republican leader, a poor boy, self-educated, a successful man, Chadwick said, in part:

Under the democratic system, the people make the choice. In the Republican party the people still make the choice. In the New Deal party this is the year of the old-time back-room political boss. The political bosses, black cigar and all, are in the Roosevelt and Wallace camp; the Hague machine, Kelly and Nash, McGuffey and Crump are all with the professionals, the boys that get paid for it.

Just Looking For Work? We the people that Willie talks about—that includes you and me—are amateurs and are proud of our amateur standing. We are just people that spend our days working, or at least looking for work, and living in the hope of getting it, people who have enjoyed the liberties that our fathers gave us and who feel we still have the ability to think.

We have not surrendered, nor do we ever expect to surrender to political bosses. We do not admit that all of the brains in the country are in the Brain Trust. We are not such idolators. We believe that any single man is indispensable. We respect American tradition and believe in the American way of life.

If we abhor totalitarianism in its every form and are preparing our nation to meet and defeat it, if it ever threatens from abroad, we must be equally vigilant to meet and defeat each step towards national socialism which threatens our liberties here at home.

That I conceive to be the great issue before us as a people—whether we shall continue on the American road or whether, following the New Dealers, we shall progressively surrender all of our liberties to the Smart Boys who alone think they can do our thinking for us.

At the end of the road there is continued liberty and opportunity for us, and for our children. At the end of the other road there is a form of totalitarianism, and it makes no difference to me whether you call it New Dealism, National Socialism, Fascism or Communism! It has never made a whit of difference to me whether I lose my liberty to an individual, to a class, or to a group of self-perpetuating bureaucrats!

I do not propose to lose my liberty, nor to see others lose theirs without a fight, and this election of 1940 is that fight.

Pictures Two Candidates There is a simple approach to it. Those who have been raised in the lap of luxury, enjoying hereditary wealth in the effects East, have never been able to lift their vision beyond the Appalachian Mountains. Signed up for school work in the exclusive private school, which is Groton, topping it off at Harvard, with a European trip to broaden their culture, there are those who believe that they can do the thinking, the ruling and the guiding for the American people.

On the other hand, there are those who are the product of our public system of education. I think of a graduate of the high school at Elwood, Indiana, a man who earned his own way through the State University—who made good in the small town practice of law, who was called into New York to become the head of a great industry, who, in that industry, over the space of seven years was successful in its every line of endeavor.

Says To Take Choice When the average man and woman take the trouble to understand and know Wendell Willie, they will realize that the safety of our future and of their children's future in his hands will be infinitely better than to leave themselves or their children to the hopelessness of New Deal muddling experimentation and regimentation.

You people want to know where I stand on America's most vital issue, and that is its national defense. I have always believed that America should be made impregnable and invulnerable to any possible attack. I was privileged

Australia To Ration Motor Fuel Supplies

NEW YORK.—Caught in the backwash on the European war, Australia has announced it will begin drastic rationing of motor fuel in September, says Jack Shephard, the current issue of The Far Eastern Survey.

There are three distinct reasons for the fuel rationing, it is pointed out. The first is that Australia lacks any appreciable oil supply within its boundaries. Added to this is the fact that the European war has made it necessary to conserve her foreign exchange resources. Finally, is the need for reducing the strain on the shipping resources of the Empire as a whole. The writer says:

Australia's normal requirements of motor fuel amount approximately to 350 million gallons each year (the British gallon is about 20 per cent larger than the American). Imports of motor spirit in the year 1938-39, excluding power kerosene and crude oil, totaled 345,184,258 gal. It is significant that of this total nearly 215 million gal. were drawn from Netherlands India, a source of supply which under the circumstances of the moment can scarcely be regarded as secure. Other principal suppliers of gasoline in 1938-39 were the United States (50 million gal.), the Bahrein Islands (42 million gal.) and Iran (34 million gal.).

Like other nations in an emergency Australia is seeking to conserve supply, and to develop substitutes and new type of oil.

NATION BUILDING UP RUBBER STOCK

Fresh And Scrap Supply Has Been Augmented; Imports Will Be Continued

NEW YORK.—The intense program of the United States to build up an available reserve stock of rubber in this country seems to be on the way to success, according to Kurt Bloch, writing in The Far Eastern Survey. This will include both new and scrap rubber.

Unless new international developments interfere with the execution of plans, the American rubber stock may reach 400,000 tons by the end of 1940. Dr. Bloch says, in part:

Under special enabling legislation passed by Congress, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, together with the rubber manufacturing industry, organized in early July a subsidiary corporation for the purchase of a large emergency stock of rubber. Ultimately, this stock is expected to total no less than 150,000 tons. Shortly after, in order to make sufficient additional quantities of rubber available, the International Rubber Regulation Committee decided to raise permissible export quotas for the second half of 1940 to 85 per cent of the basic producers' assessments.

Heavy Gains Recorded "These moves were followed by an executive ordinance barring exports of strategic materials without special license. Among these exports figured crude rubber, reclaimed rubber and scrap rubber containing more than 5 per cent of rubber. Thus the two methods—additions to available stocks and preservation of existing stocks—have been combined to secure a rubber supply sufficient for American needs.

The conspicuous improvement in the American supply position can be seen at a glance. In November 1939 rubber stocks in the hands of manufacturers, importers, dealers and the government had reached a low of about 105,000 tons. By the end of last June they had gradually risen to reach a total close to 200,000 tons. This amount corresponds roughly to about four months' consumption of crude rubber at the high 1939 rate of crude rubber absorption in American industry.

Moreover, since the outbreak of war in Europe, not only have rubber inventories increased, but distributors of rubber tires and inner tubes have added to their stocks.

San Jose Preparing For Big Delegation

SAN JOSE, Calif.—The local chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League held a pre-convention rally on Wednesday evening of this week and discussed the forthcoming national gathering at Portland, and gave instructions to the delegates. Recommendations were heard from the Board of Governors.

Eden Township Will Send Session Crowd

MT. EDEN, Calif.—The local chapter of the JACL was slated to hold its benefit party on Friday evening of this week to raise funds to assist in sending its delegation to the national convention at Portland.

Saburo Kido, San Francisco, Northern California District Council chairman, was invited to attend and speak on "Registration of Aliens." Kido was expected to clarify the registration act and give advice to those who are interested.

White Wife of Japanese Denied Citizenship; Won't Take Up Arms

SAN FRANCISCO.—Because she declared she "would not use arms to kill in defense of the United States," the white wife of a Japanese was denied repatriation in a United States District Court here.

Although the woman was entitled to repatriation under the Cable Act amendment, it was her refusal to take up arms that caused the court to deny her citizenship.

The applicant was Mrs. Hazel Christine Roberts Ito, 45 years old.

GUARD BILL GETS BY HOUSE; SENATE ON REGISTRATION

Mobilization For Year Will Be Authorized; Conscription Delay Sought

WASHINGTON.—The House late this week approved the Senate-approved National Guard mobilization bill by a vote of 342 to 33 and sent it back to the Senate for minor changes. Men will be subject to a year's duty anywhere in the Western Hemisphere and American possessions and the Philippines.

Interest turned to the conscription bill, now before the Senate where there is a hot controversy. Opponents Friday started a drive to delay the measure until the next session of the Congress.

It was announced the Chrysler Corporation will build a 20 million dollar plant to manufacture tanks for the Army.

The government has cleared a contract with the Baldwin Locomotive Works to build huge 70-ton tanks, similar to those the Germans used to smash into France and Belgium.

The House Military Committee has approved a Senate bill authorizing the President to call out the National Guard and reserve men for service for one year.

The controversy over the Democrat Convention Book raged this week. Willie had attacked the book. Quayle, Democrat committee treasurer, said it was planned to sell the book locally. Attorney General Jackson said the Department of Justice did not approve this.

In Behalf Of Bridges An effort was made this week to sidetrack a House bill to deport Harry Bridges. The Senate sub-committee on immigration voted to substitute a plan to have the attorney general investigate the C. I. O. leader, and ship him back to Australia if found undesirable. Senator Schwelienbach, Democrat, Washington, and Senator Austin, Republican, Vermont, voted the plan. Chairman King, Utah, said he would ask the full committee to pass on the plan.

For Bremeron Housing The President has approved a loan contract with the Bremeron Housing contract for dwelling units for workers at the Puget Sound Navy Yard totaling $2,003,000.

A statement by the A. F. of L. this week predicted 2,500,000 persons will find work within a year in the defense program. Another report said 1 million had found work the past year, but this was offset by 500 thousand young seeking work.

Morgenthau Predicts Five Billion Deficit

WASHINGTON.—Estimating that the expenditure of the government this year will be around 12 billion dollars, that the federal debt limit of 49 billion dollars will have to be raised, and that the deficit this year will be approximately 5 and one-half billion dollars, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau appealed to Congress for early enactment of a new tax law.

The secretary presented figures showing that already approved or pending appropriations and contract authorizations for the Army and Navy are around $14,702,000,000. He gave the following summary of the financial situation:

Estimated expenditures for the present fiscal year, ending June 30, 1941—$12,058,000,000.

Estimated revenues (exclusive of proposed new excess-profits tax)—$6,367,000,000.

Net deficit, $5,691,000,000.

Approved and pending appropriations and contract authorizations for Army—$6,809,000,000; for Navy—$7,893,000,000.

Total national defense outlay so far voted by Congress—$14,702,000,000.

Estimated actual cash defense costs this fiscal year—$5,000,000,000.

Present federal debt—$43,803,193,540.

Estimated debt June 30, 1941 (exclusive of proposed new tax)—$48,700,000,000.

The programs are scheduled for Venice on Friday night; Santa Monica on Saturday night, and West Los Angeles on Sunday night. Frank Mizusawa will be master of ceremonies on all three occasions.

HIGASHIDA LAUDS SCOUT MOVEMENT

Prominent Leader Tells Of Popularity And Success In Local Community

Speaking over The Courier radio broadcast last Wednesday evening, Dr. Robert Higashida, prominent local scoutmaster, lauded the Boy Scout movement. He told of the popularity of the movement in the Japanese Community, and its success as a character-building project.

Dr. Higashida was interviewed by Tura Nakamura, The Courier radio announcer. Text of the interview follows:

Tura—Tonight, with this 341st weekly broadcast, we bring you an interesting interview with a local man who will tell us something about the Boy Scout movement in our Community. He is Dr. Robert Higashida, a former official of the local chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League, and well-known local scoutmaster.

Dr. Higashida is an old friend of mine, as are his father and mother, and so I'm going to take the liberty of calling him Bob, as many of his friends know him. Well, Bob, we're certainly happy to have you here in the studio tonight. Knowing you as I do since you were a Boy Scout, I never dreamed of the day when I'd be interviewing you. How time flies and changes.

Asks About Progress Now, Bob, this isn't going to be anything like a test on scout laws. We won't put you on the spot, but we do want to know how the scout movement is progressing in our Japanese community. If it's all right with you, we'll start.

Tura—First of all, Bob, tell us a little something about yourself. Your father, Dr. Higashida, I take it is still practicing dentistry here, and perhaps, with you?

Bob—Yes, and No, Tura. That is, Dad is still practicing, but not with me. I have my own office and have been on my own since 1934.

Tura—You were born in Seattle, is that right?

Bob—Yes, that's right. I was born in Seattle, Washington, in 1904.

Tura—You were born in Seattle, is that right?

HOSPITALITY WAITS CONFAB DELEGATES

Rose City Second Generation Plan Great Welcome For Convention Visitors; Tours And Outings Included

PORTLAND, Ore.—When the local chapter of the Japanese American Citizens League began to lay plans for the national convention August 28-September 2, it was decided that hospitality would be given a prominent place on the program. Events listed show that this has been carried out.

Tours, outings, dances, skating parties, luncheons, dinners, a Talent Revue, sports, including a golf tournament and a bowling tournament, are among the forms of entertainment that will be offered the League delegates to extend the famous Rose City hospitality. These have all been arranged with a view of coinciding with the League business sessions.

A trip of unusual interest amid an unrivaled scene of splendor will be that of visiting the newly-created Bonneville Dam, up the famous Columbia River Highway. The caravan will leave the Multnomah Hotel at 10:30 a. m. The Mid-Columbia chapter will be hosts at the dam, with a picnic luncheon and inspection of the dam. Free to all registered delegates.

On Friday evening there will be a skating party. John Ito is chairman of this event.

Alameda Elects Its Session Delegates

ALAMEDA, Calif.—At the last meeting of the local chapter of the JACL, a report on the San Francisco District Council meeting was given by Tomoye Yamashita and John Yoshino, the official delegates of the chapter. These two also will represent the local chapter at the national convention at Portland. Booster delegates thus far signed up are Alice Iwata, Samko Shiroishi, Shiro Kanda, Baer Kawakami and Daniel Date.

A benefit concert featuring Masao Yoshida, Alameda violinist, will be sponsored by the chapter. The artist has been studying in Europe, and recently appeared in San Francisco. Daniel Date is chairman of the committee in charge, and assisting are Tsuguye Shiroishi, Osaky Keno and Kenji Shiroishi.

Young Busseis Name Yakei Sakai Queen

SAN FRANCISCO.—Yasuko Sakai, of Stockton, was chosen 1940 Young Busseis Queen in the finals at the state-wide Busseis contest at Treasure Island. She represented the Northern California district.

The queen was crowned amid an impressive ceremony, with a large crowd present. Marshall Wayne, diving star of a concession at the fair, placed the crown on her head, and presented her with a souvenir bracelet.

MONTEREY BENEFIT MONTEREY, Calif.—To raise funds toward helping pay expenses of the official delegates to the national convention, the local chapter of the JACL sponsored a benefit movie this week. A good crowd was present at the association hall.

THRONGS GREET NISEI WEEK FETE WITH VARIOUS NUMBERS CHEERED

LOS ANGELES.—So successful was the Nisei Week Festival program that the Talent Revue and Fashion Show number was extended for a third time, and presented last Sunday evening to a crowded house.

At the previous performance nearly 1,000 persons were turned away from Yamato Hall, and officials of the JACL, the sponsors for the Mardi Gras, decided to repeat in order to accommodate those who were disappointed.

The events of the week began with the Coronation Ball, when Queen Shizuo Kobayashi was crowned before a brilliant throng in the Biltmore Hotel. The queen and her retinue on Monday invited the mayor and other distinguished personages to the festival.

All the numbers in the Talent Revue were well received. Among those receiving unusual applause were Michi Toshikyo's hula, and the singing of Alcene Akahoshi.

The queen and her court in kimonos attended, and were given a rousing reception.

The Thrill-a-Minute Carnival proved a great success, and attracted large crowds for two nights. The Gay Way was thronged with merry-makers. Booths and concessions had been taken over by 20 southern organizations, and several individuals also participated. Bill Sasegawa was general chairman for the carnival.

General chairman for the festival was Kiyoharu Yamato, and Bob Okazaki was general manager.

THE JAPANESE-AMERICAN COURIER

(Weekly Publication) Editor and Publisher, JAMES Y. SAKAMOTO... Editorial and Business Offices 214 Fifth Avenue South, Seattle, Wash. Telephone SENECA 1160

THE COURIER, established January 1, 1928, shall be published with a close regard to the general principle of Truth, Justice and Tolerance...

TWO LOYAL ORGANIZATIONS

Seattle people generally were pleased to welcome to their midst this week a large group of citizens of Greek extraction...

Like our own League, the Ahepa has for its first principle loyalty to American institutions. Also like the JAACL it seeks to promote the general welfare of its members...

Seattle this week has the pleasant experience of seeing these citizens of Greek ancestry working for their own welfare and for the general welfare of America.

The first objective in the preamble of the Ahepa constitution is "To promote and encourage loyalty to the U. S. A., allegiance to its Constitution and traditions, and obedience to the laws of the land."

The preamble of the Japanese American Citizens League reads as follows: "We, the American Citizens of Japanese Ancestry, in order to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States, to foster and spread the true spirit of Americanism, to build the character of our people morally and spiritually on American ideals, and to promote the welfare and aid in the development of the Americans of Japanese Ancestry as an integral part of the national life, establish this Constitution for the Japanese American Citizens League of the United States of America."

The word "Ahepa" is a condensation of the full title of the organization, which is American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association.

The Order of Ahepa stresses the spiritual life, as was demonstrated by the fact that an honored guest at the convention was The Most Rev. Athanagoras, archbishop of the Greek Orthodox Church.

The Order of Ahepa demonstrates that it is easily possible for people whose forebears came from other lands to be useful and loyal citizens, and we undertake to say the same fact will be manifest when the JAACL gathers at Portland.

ABOUT FEEDING THE BELGIANS

Developments indicate that, provided the German blitzkrieg does not settle the battle of Europe shortly, it may be decided by famine. There are conflicting reports on the food supply, but the best evidence seems to indicate that food and clothing supplies are far below normal.

Rumors and reports of an impending famine have been coming over the ocean for some time, but the question was brought prominently to the fore by the now famous interview given the London press by Ambassador John Cudahy.

The ambassador also was quoted as saying that the German soldiers in Belgium behaved better than American soldiers would have done under the circumstances. Even that was not the direct cause for the rebuke.

While the diplomat was wrong in giving the interview, the incident probably has done some good. It has brought out the attitude of Great Britain and Germany. British officials promptly rejected the idea that Britain's blockade should be lifted to allow food to get into German-occupied territory.

The Nazi press has declared that Germany is assured of a food supply, and that the Balkan crops are sufficient to supply the southeast. This last statement is disputed by the Associated Press.

Germany's first obligation is toward Germans, says the Nazi press. Germany cannot be concerned over populations that fought Germany and now face want because they have "ruined, neglected or deserted their own farms," according to German newspapers.

Again we point out that the plight of the Low Countries is due to Hitler's army. He invaded peaceful territory. More than that, the Low Countries are not now enemies of Germany. They are subjugated territories. The people are Hitler's people.

FOR LOYAL FOREIGN-BORN

Next week-end there will be an important gathering in San Francisco that will interest all people living on the Pacific Coast who first saw the light of day under a flag different from the Stars and Stripes.

At first it may seem that such a project is not necessary. It could be argued that the government should protect all who live in this country, so long as they are loyal and law-abiding.

Conditions are more critical now. The San Francisco gathering will do well to lay stress on the difference between the loyal, law-abiding aliens, or those foreign-born who have become citizens, on the one hand, and those who advocate a social and political system different from that which has prevailed generally in this country.

However, the government may be assured that the great majority, which is the loyal foreign-born, will be found in the front ranks of those who seek to curb the undesirable minority, and to uphold the institutions of American democracy.

RELIEF AND CONSCIENCE

A suit brought by two Seattle men seeking to set aside an act of the Congress to regulate those who may be employed on the WPA should attract wide attention.

The purpose of the law, manifestly, is to assure that those who enjoy the benefits of the WPA are people who believe in the American form of government.

The act of the Congress provides that no alien, Communist or Nazi Bund member shall receive work on the WPA, nor shall anyone receive work who advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States.

The petitions in this case charge that in requiring men to sign such a declaration, the "due process" clause of the Constitution is violated.

Some persons plead religious scruples in refusing to take up arms in defense of the nation which protects them. Others constantly agitate in favor of a change in our system of democracy.

FOR A TWO-YEAR PROGRAM

Every mail from the Southland brings further proof that the California chapters of the Japanese American Citizens League are making elaborate preparations to send big delegations to the national convention at Portland.

Reports from Portland, likewise, bring further indications that the local chapter and convention committees are planning a social program of unusual interest.

On the business side of the convention the delegates will have the opportunity to consider problems that affect the young people in every line of endeavor, political, economic, social and civic.

Questions that affect the League in its operation are also coming up. It must be remembered that two years will elapse under normal conditions before another convention is held.

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION OUTLINED

by courtesy of Federal Office of Education Federal Security Agency "COMMUNICATIONS"

PART IV

June 1, 1844... Post Master General: "Sit down Mr. Morse. I have news for you. Whether it is good or bad, I am not prepared to say."

Morse: "Has the government refused my offer, Mr. Postmaster General?"

P. M. Gen: "The government, sir, has a most lively appreciation of the spirit in which you have generously offered to transfer to it your patent rights, and so forth in the Morse Electro Magnetic Telegraph for $100,000. But, sir, we are satisfied that such a development may be better entrusted to private enterprise."

Morse: "But, M... P. M. Gen: "I know what you want to say, Mr. Morse. That the transmission of intelligence is a proper government function—that all European governments are incorporating the telegraph in their postal services, and that we should do the same. We beg leave to disagree, sir."

Morse: "But the government has already expended $30,000..." P. M. Gen: "That was for scientific experiment, sir... a most proper field for government assistance. But now that your invention is proven, it is not the proper role of the government to interfere with its free development."

Unique among all great countries of the world, the United States made no attempt to assume control over the new medium of communications—the first great advance in speeding messages since words were first recorded.

Morse had great difficulty interesting private capital, and the first line was not extended from Baltimore to New York City until 1846. It's first users were the operators of the lotteries that flourished at that time. They found it valuable for sending winning numbers. But soon other lines were built to join New York and Boston—Buffalo and Albany—Philadelphia and Cincinnati...

HIGASHIDA LAUDS SCOUT MOVEMENT

(Cont. from Page 1, Col. 6) attle, were you not; and when did you first become interested in scouting?"

Bob—No, I was born in Portland, Oregon. I can't say how I first became interested in scouting, but it was back in 1924 when as a member of a Sunday school class I joined with its members to form the Boy Scout Troop No. 290 of the Fairmont Congregational Church in West Seattle.

Tura—You've always been active with the scouts, haven't you? I recall reading some time ago that you were one of the first American-born Japanese in the Northwest to become an Eagle Scout.

Bob—I can't say that I have always been active with the scout movement, but I have been active for scouting. While I was in the University of Washington for one year after graduating from West Seattle High, and while I was studying at the North Pacific Dental College in Portland and until a few years ago, I was not able to take an active part in the scout movement. But recently the urge to play a more active part in what I believe to be one of the greatest movements for the youth of the country got the best of me and I accepted a proposition to become the scoutmaster of Troop No. 55 of the Japanese Methodist Church.

Scout Troops in Seattle Tura—Well, Bob, how many troops made up strictly of American-born Japanese scouts, are there in this city, and who are their leaders and sponsors? Bob—To the best of my knowledge there are 6 troops, 2 cub packs, and the Sea Scouts, and they are all in the First Hill District, under Commissioner William Adams, who, by the way, is doing a mighty fine job of keeping up and spreading the interest of scouting among all racial groups. And now, about the American-born Japanese boy scout troops...

At the Maryknoll School there is Troop No. 50, having a membership of 26, with Thomas Kobayashi as scoutmaster. There is also a cub pack with 10 members sponsored by the Catholic Parish of Our Lady, Queen of Martyrs. Troop No. 51 of the St. Peter's Mission has 24 scouts, with George Kakahashi as scoutmaster. The Japanese Buddhist Church has Troop No. 52, with a membership of 21, with Charles I. Woods as scoutmaster. At the Japanese Baptist Church there is Troop No. 53 with 35 members, led by Scoutmaster, the Rev. Emery Andrews. Troop No. 55 at the Japanese Methodist Church has 15 members, with myself as scoutmaster. At the Bailey Gatzert School there are Troop No. 59 with 22 scouts, a cub pack with 16 members, and Sea Scout troop, The Flying Cloud, with 13 members. Their scoutmaster is Howard Hall, with Roy Stritt as east of the Mississippi... Man's conquest of both space and time had already well begun. The processes by which invention and technology would make the whole United States of our day easier to reach than a single county in George Washington's time were under way.

By 1840, for example, the old, familiar sound of the approaching mail coach was vanishing from the land. In its place had come another warning cry symbolic of a new age of communications.

And in the meantime, the post office system had greatly increased. Although not yet a separate government department, the postmaster general was a member of the cabinet, and head of an organization operating hundreds of postoffices, employing thousands of persons. In 1847...

Woman: "Good morning, postmaster, I have a letter to go to Philadelphia. How much is that, please?"

P. M. Gen: "Why, six cents, ma'am, same as anywhere. Here, ma'am. Just a minute. You'll have to put a stamp on it."

Woman: "A stamp? What's that?"

Woman: "Why, I never heard of such a thing."

P. M. Gen: "Don't know as I blame you. Only seen them myself a week ago. That's when the first supply came from Washington."

Woman: "But what're they for? What am I supposed to do with it?"

P. M. Gen: "I'll show you. Kinda cute the way you're supposed to do it. See this muscilage pot? Well, you spread some on the back... be careful it's not too thick. Then you stick the stamp on the envelope in the upper right hand corner. And there you are. Uncle Sam'll deliver it for you anywhere inside the United States. Right convenient, ain't it?"

Laughter and gay banter were exchanged at a farewell party for three Seattleites who'll hang their litchkeys in homes in the Eastern part of the continent...

Genial and charming hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Masuda entertained in honor of the threesome last Tuesday evening at their residence, with a buffet supper.

Garden variety flowers formed a colorful centerpiece on the lace-spread table... Guests who arrived early were delighted with the picturesque lattice-enclosed back garden, filled with flowers of all hues, from which Mrs. Masuda selected her floral centerpiece.

Appetizing and attractive was the buffet supper... a quick lift to summer appetites. The lovely Cleverly arranged was the tasty vegetable dish with sliced cucumbers, beets and pickles arranged in the sectioned plate. A hot dish of macaroni in casserole was served with cold meats and relishes of celery and olives. Hot rolls and coffee were also served.

As delicious as it looked, was dessert... ice cream slices with nests of cantaloupe balls on top.

Others invited to this party besides the honored guests were the Messrs. and Mesdames. Henry S. Tatum, William Mibus, Ed. Mori, James Y. Sakamoto and Miss Michi Yasumura.

CINEMATOGRAPHS

ORPHEUM—Heralded as a smashing war picture, "The Ramparts We Watch" is now showing on the film at this theatre. It is declared to be something new in the film world. An entirely new kind of entertainment, says the announcement. Excitement, romance and thrills. It is the first full-length feature production by the editors of Life and Time, and the staff of The March of Time. The companion picture is "Golden Fleece" with Lew Ayers and Rita Johnson.

PARAMOUNT—"The Return of Frank James," with a splendid cast of stars is now appearing on the Paramount screen. It's in technicolor. Seen are Gene Tierney, Jackie Cooper, Henry Hull and others. Added attraction is Jean Cagney in "Golden Gloves."

FIFTH AVENUE—William Powell and Myrna Loy are continuing here another week in "I Love You Again" due to a popular reception. Companion film is "The Way of All Flesh."

Bob—Yes, that's true. They are a splendid group. You know last year they won the first prize in the Junior Music Division during the Fourth of July parade, and this year they were placed in the older fraternal division and won the second prize. All of which means they certainly are getting recognition. A moment ago, Tura, you mentioned something about the scout movement being a sound investment for the future through the training of our young people into becoming responsible citizens of tomorrow.

Did you know that the crime cost to our nation annually is approximately 15 billion dollars. This is far in excess of dollars. It takes to run our government annually. The brave men who have a large part in curbing this crime wave are generally known as "G" men or special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Did you know that the majority were former Boy Scouts, trained and disciplined in their youth to respect law and order and to be responsible citizens of society? At the first National Jamboree of Boy Scouts at Washington, D. C. in 1927, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said: "A large percentage of our special agents have been Boy Scouts or members of similar organizations."

Can Reduce Crime Cost In my opinion, this crime cost for which you and I, the listening audience, and the nation must pay can be reduced considerably if we give just a little more thought and a little more aid to the Boy Scout movement and the youth of our country. That's the way we feel about it in our Japanese Community, and I might add that we feel the movement is perhaps one of the best means toward curbing juvenile delinquency.

Tura—That's very true, and I sincerely hope that every boy not only in our Japanese Community but throughout the city and the entire nation could have the opportunity of joining the Boy Scouts of America. Thank you, Bob, for that interesting side-light on the Boy Scout movement, and I wish you success in your work as scoutmaster.

to talk that issue in every state in this union long before it became politically popular or a crying national necessity.

I charged that this administration has not had the courage to tell the American people what was really required for their defense. I talked to the President of the United States in 1938, at which time he knew the relative air strength of the European powers. He then considered the situation of Continental European nations as desperate in the face of the Axis strength. He considered that the situation of England was likewise desperate, and yet he delayed until the Spring of 1940 the messages which he should then have been delivering to the Congress and to the people of this country, and which were vital to our security.

There are those who say that he could not at that time have changed the mind and temper of the American people with respect to the national defense, but I say that it was his duty even though he might have sacrificed the possibility of re-election to the presidency to have spoken at that time!

Instead—he withheld his message until defense was, because of the horrible situation in Europe, an apparent national necessity and from thence, proceeding

WESTERN GIANTS TO PLAY ASAHS ON AUGUST 25

With the remaining international series with Vancouver Asahis scheduled for Sunday, August 25, the Western Giants will be out for a double victory to uphold the Northwest baseball honors.

Coach Tommy Sakai of the Giants announced today that the double-header against Vancouver will probably be played at the Sick's stadium starting at 1 p. m. The huge ball park is the home of the championship-bound Seattle Rainiers.

With Bill Ihashi and Frank Yoshitake back in the lineup, the Giants won a practice game at Columbia ground on Wednesday. Ihashi and Yoshitake were upped to make the trip to the North, but will be in the lineup when the Seattle nine faces Vancouver next Sunday.

Coach Sakai worked with Grant Kataoka behind the plate, Bill Ihashi at first, Harry Kataoka at second, George Kumasaka at short and Rio Kumasaka at third in the infield.

Other newcomers in the Giants lineup were Shig Ishikawa and Akira Kato. Ishikawa covered the centerfield territory, while Kato replaced Kataoka behind the plate.

Scorecard tickets are being sold by the members of the Western Giants, and are also available at Kashwagi's, West Coast Printing and the Courier office.

Longacres Notes

SEATTLE, Wash.—But four important stakes remain on Longacres impressive list of 1940 major events, first of which—and most important from the eyes of Washington thoroughbred breeders—is the Washington Futurity at five and one-half furlongs.

To be decided this coming Sunday afternoon at the Renton course, the futurity calls for a purse of $1,200 of which $250 goes to the owner of the horse finishing second, $100 to third, and $50 to fourth.

The winner will receive $750 in addition to all nomination and starting fees.

Nominations closed one month ago with 14 home-bred two-year-olds named through the entry box. Leading contenders for the Sunday race are Campus Fusser, Black Lilly and Riskator, property of Allen Drumheller; Adorable Ann and Fort Lewis from the Lake Sammamish ranch of E. M. Greenwood; Foley and Webster's Forest Romance; the untied but highly regarded Scar Leg; B. K. Hughes Sunny City and Forest Queen, and Shurfine Stable's Renton.

Presiding steward Al Hardy, representing the Washington Horse Racing Commission, yesterday revealed that a beautiful blanket, suitably inscribed, would be presented to the winner of the futurity, directly following running of the important event. It will be a gift from the Longacres board of stewards.

We're Ready For You, Asahis . . .

When the Vancouver Asahis invade Seattle next Sunday for the second and third games of the annual series, they will find that the Western Giants are not the same team which took the trip up North two weeks ago.

As an advance warning to the Canadians, the Giants will have the services of veteran Bill Ihashi and Frank Yoshitake in the games in Seattle. In addition, the Giants will have several new infielders, namely Rio Kumasaka, Harry Kataoka and Akira Kato.

In a practice game on Wednesday at Columbia field, Coach Tommy Sakai experimented with a new infield. With Bill Ihashi at his regular position at first base, Harry Kataoka covered the second base, with the regular second sacker George Kumasaka defending the short stop area. The hot corner position was filled by Rio Kumasaka, brother of George.

The outfield gardens will be greatly strengthened with the return of Frank Yoshitake at his regular left field position. Hard hitting Shoichi Suyama and Tak Nakawatase roamed in the center and right field positions, respectively.

The Northwest champs will be strengthened two deep at every position. Grant Kataoka and Akira Kato can trade the big catcher's mitt, while Taiji Takayoshi, Dutch Takekawa, Roy Hada and Tommy Sakai can alternate at the firing hill.

Bill Ihashi will, of course, be at first base, with Hiran Akita well experienced to fill the first sacker's spot. In the second base area will be George Kumasaka and Harry Kataoka, while Kay Maekawa and Su Taguchi will occupy short stop. Tosh Nishimura and Rio Kumasaka are both excellent third basemen.

Bolstering up the regular Yoshitake-Suyama-Nakawatase combination in the outfield will be Mush Kuroiwa, Art Sasaki, and Shig Ishikawa.

The Vancouver Asahis are due for a surprise when they roll into town next Sunday. The game, incidentally, will be played at Sick's Stadium from 1 p. m. and the Seattle fans have a big treat in store for them.

A double-header for only 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for ladies and children, with the souvenir scorecards thrown in.

Anyone with a "Take Me Out To The Ball Game" sign may apply at the Courier for transportation. Ye old columnist can take three more in the back seat of his '34 Master DeLuxe Chev. The line forms at the left and first come, first served.

BUS TRANSPORT LIKELY

Seattle's participation in the Sixth Biennial National Convention of the Japanese American Citizens League at Portland on Aug. 28, 29, 30, 31; Sept. 1, 2, will not be in a minor role, according to indications this week.

To date more than 70 booster delegates had been signed up, with this number expected to be augmented at a meeting scheduled for last night. Effort is being launched by the booster delegates committee, headed by Cora Uno, local chapter vice-president, to strive for a goal of at least 100 booster delegates.

Plan Rally And Dance

With this in view, and to augment the boosters' fund, a pre-convention rally and dance is to be held at Washington Hall next Saturday night starting at 8:30 o'clock, with the admission to be gentlemen 40c and ladies 20c.

The event will be planned as a colorful old-time get-together affair, with the orchestra portraying "There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight" to dancing feet.

While definite arrangements have not yet been made, it is expected buses will be chartered to transport the delegation to the Rose City.

Drum Corps Will Attend

Aside from the booster delegates, Seattle's participation will be notable in that the crack First Hill District Drum and Bugle Corps of the Boy Scouts of America will also be on hand to add color to the convention.

CAMPAIGN OPENS WITH LARGE LIST SEEKING OFFICES

Flock of Candidates Thought To Indicate Hot Battles; Must Elect Jurists

PRIMARY SET SEPT. 10

With the Republican candidate for the presidency set to deliver his speech of acceptance at Elwood, Ind., today, the great political campaign of 1940 may be said to be officially opened.

Mr. Roosevelt, the Democrat nominee, gave his acceptance by radio to the convention at Chicago the night he was nominated.

The primary election in King County will be held September 10. The last day for registration is August 24.

The final election is November 5. The last day for registration is October 15.

Despite efforts of political, civic and other public bodies, the registration is somewhat lower than had been expected.

Filings Closed Saturday

If registration is low, that is not true of filing for candidates. Last Saturday was the closing day to file, and both in the state and in King County the list of candidates is large.

Of particular interest is the unusually large number of Republican candidates.

There are three Supreme Court judges to be elected in Washington, and 15 Superior Court judges in King County. These are non-partisan.

A full list of state officers must be chosen this year.

In Race For Congress

A United States Senator is to be chosen, and also six representatives in the lower house.

In King County two county commissioners will be elected, in the south district and central district. The other one holds over.

The south district vacancy brought out an unusually large number of candidates.

Lower House Popular

Seats in the lower house of the state Legislature evidently are in demand. When the filings closed there were 137 candidates from 12 districts in King County.

This year the county names only one state senator, the others being holdovers.

For the office of governor there is a long list of candidates from both parties. Gov. Clarence D. Martin is trying for a third term. He is defending his administration, particularly in the matter of finances, while his opponents are making this the chief point of attack.

The office of lieutenant governor drew an unusually long list of candidates.

Political observers said that the large number of Republican candidates this year indicated a belief in that party that there was an opportunity for a political change this year.

Teachers Preparing On Adult Education

Teachers of adult education listened to many prominent educators during their annual institute on the University of Washington campus.

The speakers at general assemblies included Dean Edward H. Lauer of University College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. Melvin M. Rader, assistant professor of philosophy; Samuel E. Fleming, who will spend the balance of the month in study, preparing for the fall program of adult education starting Tuesday, September 3, with classes in virtually every district of the city.

BAPTIST SERVICES

Services at the Japanese Baptist Church tomorrow are as follows: 9:45 a. m., Sunday School; 11 a. m., morning worship. Tsutomu Fukuyama will be the guest speaker.
