

Warehouse, Motor Pool Workers Get Checks

Payment of September payroll to warehouse and motor pool workers (activities 520 and 530) are being made today and tomorrow 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., James M. Grace, cost accountant, announced.

Workers must call for their pay in person, presenting work orders or other means of identification. Payees are reminded by Grace to call for their pay during the two-day period so that future payments will not be delayed.

Lecture to Be Given by Girl Scout Executive

With Mrs. Careta Younglove, national girl scout executive, as principal speaker, the newly-formed Heart Mountain Coordinating Council for the Prevention and Disposition of Juvenile Delinquents will present in conjunction with the girl scout movement, a lecture and discussion Wednesday, Nov. 25, at the community court house 25-26.

Mrs. Younglove is at present conducting a leadership training course for the center's girl scout staff members and troop leaders. All leaders in the recreation department are also receiving a training course.

Although invitations are being extended to both mothers and fathers and to the public, mothers are especially invited to attend. A translator will be available at the meeting for the benefit of those unable to understand English.

Return of School Textbooks Asked

The problem of the disappearance of textbooks from the class rooms of Heart Mountain schools has developed into a serious situation, C.D. Carter, superintendent of schools, disclosed. Cooperation of parents and students was asked in seeing that books misplaced in the homes be returned to the schools immediately. Unless these textbooks are returned, many classes may have to be discontinued, Carter warned.

Night School Opens Current Events Class

The addition of a current events class to the night school curricula was announced this week by Harold R. Bottrell, adult education director. To be conducted by Mary Jane Niland of the high school faculty, this class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings in 7-17-D from 7-9 p.m.

If a sufficient number of residents is interested, a class in Spanish will be added to the night school curricula, Bottrell announced. Those interested are asked to attend a meeting at 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 24, at 7-18-A, to discuss possibilities of establishing such a class.
