Bona Fide Dependents Entitled to Clothing Grants

Any resident between the ages of 21 and 65 who is not employed or who is not receiving public assistance grants and is a bona fide dependent should present evidence in writing to the welfare department at 24-26 before Saturday, Feb. 20 to be eligible for clothing allowances, Virgil Payne, welfare section head, announced.

Wives of family heads are accepted as normal dependents and need not report, Miss Payne said.

In explaining the word "dependent" in regard to clothing allowances, Miss Payne said:

"Normally a dependent is defined as a person under 21. We are aware that because of such reasons as physical incapacity, mental condition or inability to work because of the need of taking care of a house or family (wife), some individuals 21 or over may claim dependency."
