Residents Asked to Keep Out of Hotbed Area

Residents are asked by the agriculture department to keep out of the hotbed area just south of the Sentinel building. A large number of plants and shrubs have disappeared and strict measures will be taken unless residents give better cooperation.

To Discuss Local Farming Conditions

Local farming conditions will be discussed at a meeting of the agriculture committee and staff with K. Kawano and M. Ando, pioneer Powell farmers, 7:30 p.m. tonight at 9-27. Alden Ingraham, farm superintendent, will report on the progress made on Heart Mountain's farm project. All interested, especially Victory garden enthusiasts, are invited to attend.

Canning Company Recruiter Expected Here

To recruit workers for seasonal work lasting about three months, Joe Shields, recruiter for the Blue Mountain Canning Co., Dayton, Wash., will arrive here in the near future. "Acceptable" living quarters will be furnished, according to word received by Joe Carroll, employment chief. Residents should contact Shields upon his arrival for further information.
