Relocates Should Make Arrangements Early for Shipping Property

Residents relocating who have property to ship to their new destination should contact the evicuee property office well in advance to obtain instructions relative to shipping allowances and to allow time for proper crating of articles, according to Harvey Burnett, evicuee property officer.

By arranging for shipment of property several days before leaving the center, difficulties arising in the future may be avoided, Burnett said.

Evicuees should have complete knowledge of the shipping allowance permitted for an immediate family, method of shipping, etc. A refund cannot be obtained on property shipped at the owner's expense through lack of knowledge, Burnett declared.
